Shoppers Look To Small Stores

Many Marin residents plan to patronize small, independent food stores if the butcher's strike and subsequent lockout of union workers results in widespread closures of large supermarkets.

Most of those interviewed by the Independent-Journal in a random telephone survey yesterday did not seem panicky or even particularly dismayed by the prospect of market closings. Several said they would use food in freezers or cupboards.

Retired or active military personnel said they would be unaffected, since they can patronize the commissary at Hamilton Air Force Base which is scheduled to reopen tomorrow.

Some persons commented they might starve if grocery stores closed en masse, but these were in the minority.

Here are residents' answers to the question: "What will you do if all the supermarkets shut down?"

E. L. Neilsen, 18, student at the College of Marin, 2300 Sir Francis Drake Boulevard, Fairfax — "We'd go hungry like everybody else, but we do have enough food in the freezer to last about two weeks."

Patricia Gilbert, 43, housewife, of 20 Martin Road, San Anselmo — "We would eat less. We probably would use some of the things we are always buying and never use. We have a couple of days food in the freezer, so we could get by for awhile."

Betty Fern, 40, housewife, of 562 Thyme Place, Terra Linda — "I guess we will just have to work out of the freezer. We are lucky here in Terra Linda because we have a good independent grocer."

Friedrich Philipps, 72, retired, 85 Buena Vista, Stinson Beach — "I'd have to look around. They can't close all the stores, that would be a catastrophe. My wife is in Mill Valley now. She usually shops at Lucky or Safeway. I'll have to see what she brings home."

Fred Turner, 77, retired property owner, 111 Prospect Avenue, Sausalito — "I've had the foresight to have a freezer stocked with perishable goods and a pantry you wouldn't believe. But I hope to goodness they get their wages and working conditions sorted out. I sure hope they can."

T. Howell Breece, 57, College of Marin professor, 141 Woodward Avenue, Sausalito — "I would say we would go to the city or to Berkeley. I don't think the gasoline shortage prevents that yet. I am assuming this is not a Bay Area strike. If that is the case, I should hope that the government would intervene. It would be an intolerable situation."

Mrs. Milton R. Stewart, 22, housekeeper for Marin County Juvenile Hall, 2130 Redwood High-

Corrections Department Created By Supervisors

Approval came on a motion by Supervisor Robert A. Roumiguiere, who, along with Supervisor Peter R. Arrigoni Jr., opposed the new department when first proposed earlier this year.

The board's action, following seven months of sometimes stormy debate, took less than 30 seconds, leading one observer to comment after the meeting that "it must have been greased."

End Of Prohibition Didn't Stop Stills

By REBECCA LARSEN

Bootleggers were alive and well and living in several eastern states long after the repeal of prohibition on Dec. 5, 1933, according to a Novato resident who spent 10 years knocking over stills.

Special Agent Brenton G. Thorne, now head of the Bureau of Alcohol, Tobacco and Firearms in San Francisco, said he found plenty of moonshiners to chase even 20 years after the enforced dry spell was over.

With a kidney-shaped swimming pool in his backyard and a station wagon in his driveway, Thorne seems more the typical executive down the block than a modern day Elliot Ness. He said neighbors and friends are amazed when they find out he spent several years hunting bootleggers on the East Coast.

"Most people are not too surprised to find out about stills in the South, but they are surprised that I spent my time hunting stills in New Jersey," Thorne said.

From 1953, when he joined his bureau, until 1963, Thorne said he helped remove four to five major illegal stills a year in New Jersey and said about 10 or 11 were uncovered and destroyed annually in that state.

According to the agent, these moonshiners had huge operations, with vats 20 feet high which produced thousands of

Marin Turns Down Sonoma Appeal On Fair Location

Supervisors' Decision Sets Battle In Courts

By ERIK M. INGRAM

An angry Marin County Board of Supervisors yesterday tossed out Sonoma County's appeal of a permit previously granted the Renaissance Pleasure Faire, thus setting the stage for a court battle between the counties.

The board's unanimous decision followed a 90-minute hearing, much of it devoted to bitter denouncement of a request from Sonoma's attorney that supervisors disclose all private meetings with and contributions from the fair promoters and their agents.

"This is unbelievable," sputtered chairman Arnold M. Baptiste. "It's not only irresponsible but almost immoral. . . to present their case in this fashion. It's promoting the atmosphere that is permeating this nation with (mistrust) of politicans and government."

At his urging, supervisors voted 3-to-2 to send a letter of protest to the Sonoma County Board of Supervisors. Supervisors Michael Wornum and Robert A. Roumiguiere opposed the letter, saying they objected to "escalating this thing."

Yesterday's session was the ninth hearing by a Marin County agency on the fair's bid for a use permit and related matters needed to build a permanent Renaissance center on the Charmaine Veronda Ranch on Highway 101 just south of the Sonoma County line.

Sonoma County has opposed the use permit claiming, among other things, the project's environmental impact report is inadequate and traffic that will be generated by the annual six-weekend fair will congest the Petaluma area.

In July, Sonoma County filed suit in Marin Superior Court attacking the environmental impact report and Marin's acceptance of it.

Prentice A. Fish, Sonoma deputy county counsel, said yesterday he will amend that suit to include argument against the use permit itself. He said he was authorized to do so some months ago by Sonoma supervisors.

(The Marin County Counsel's office will have only a passive role in the suit — as it relates to county hearing procedures — and will rely on fair attorney Douglas P. Ferguson of Mill Valley to represent the county's interests as well as his client's.)

Arguments on the use permit yesterday were mostly a rehash of past claims by Sonoma that the environmental report, prepared by consultants selected by fair promoters Ron and Phyllis Patterson, is biased and does not deal adequately with matters of growth, air pollution and traffic.

Ferguson countered that the report does and that the use permit contains safeguards to insure the county of safe fair operation, including authority to close down the fair if traffic hazards develop and cannot be corrected immediately.

Fish's request for disclosure of "all relevant evidence" was, in effect, rejected by supervisors, who said their decision would be based on evidence presented during the hearing.

Fish, in a document handed each supervisor, asked that they reveal all private discussions and meetings dealing with the use permit, visits to the site, all correspondence, notes and memoranda of meetings, all telephone conversations and amounts and dates of any contributions from persons connected with the fair or Veronda property.

Marin County Counsel Douglas J. Maloney cautioned supervisors to consider carefully any response to Fish's request, likening it to a do-you-still-beat-your-wife question.

"Mr. Fish is jockying around to set up bear traps that he can clamp shut when he goes to court," Maloney said, adding whether answered or not the document could be presented in court in such a way as to place

Marin Shoppers Flock To Remaining Open Markets

By PAT ANGLE

Shoppers flocked to Marin markets today to stock up on groceries as a labor dispute between butchers unions and employers spread to more stores.

More local stores closed, while others reopened and supermarket managers around the county reported good supplies of food and more customers.

Many Marin supermarkets yesterday joined in a retaliatory lockout of union employees to protest a butcher's strike which shut down most Safeway and Lucky stores throughout the state.

Some — like Alpha Beta, Albertson's and Big G — continued to operate despite the lockout, using managerial and temporary help to keep their stores open.

Cala Foods and United Markets closed their Marin stores today and spokesmen for both chains said they had no idea when the markets would be reopened.

The closing was necessary since the Butchers Union, Local 115 placed pickets around the stores which had locked out its members, according to a Cala spokesman. He said retail clerks refused to cross the picket lines and stores which could not get enough temporary help were unable to keep operating.

On the brighter side, Safeway, which had reopened its San Rafael store yesterday with a skeleton crew, today reopened its San Anselmo store. The firm's other seven stores in the county remained closed. The Fairfax Lucky store was closed today, but the San Rafael market was open, using supervisory persoannel.

William Gross, a spokesman for the giant chain, said even more Safeway markets may be open for business again tomorrow as more personnel can be hired.

Independent stores which did not join in the lockout and chains which managed to remain open despite the pickets and employee shortage all reported adequate supplies of perishable foods like meats, produce and dairy products.

"All this talk of food short-

Public Agencies Taking Steps To Reduce Energy Consumption

Fears of an energy shortage are being taken seriously in Marin and Southern Sonoma, with most local governments, schools, libraries and some private groups taking steps to reduce energy consumption.

At the Marin County Civic Center, officials report a third less electricity is now being used and a quarter less natural gas. The saving results from use of only one of two heat boilers, reduced use of air circulating systems, less lighting inside and out and the closing of an elevator and the administration building escalator.

Next Tuesday the board of supervisors will receive staff proposals for further fuel conservation by cutting library hours, janitorial service and vehicle use and shutting off the fountain at the civic center entrance.

Elsewhere, the austerity of the conservation effort varies. Virtually all schools, libraries and public buildings in Marin are cooler than usual, reporting most thermostats set at 68 degrees.

Steps which have been taken to reduce electric lighting are reported by city governments in San Rafael, Novato, Fairfax, Mill Valley, Petaluma, Rohnert Park, Tiburon and San Anselmo, and in school districts at San Rafael, Novato, San Anselmo, and Fairfax. Chambers of Commerce at San Rafael, Novato and Mill Valley are either urging members to do without electric holiday decorations or are doing without holiday lights themselves.

Other measures around the two counties:

SAN RAFAEL — The number of fluorescent tubes in office fixtures has been reduced from four to two. City engineer is conducting an energy use study. A study of street lighting, the largest city energy consumer, is underway.

NOVATO — Compact cars, which burn less gasoline, are being purchased for the city. Departments have been asked to suggest conservation measures which will be discussed with Pacific Gas and Electric Co.

SAN ANSELMO — The City Council will consider energy-

Carpenters Remain Idle In Marin

Carpenters today remained off the job at four Marin construction projects but other craftsmen began returning to work at two of the projects.

Pickets from Carpenters' Local 35 began marching yesterday as a result of a continuing pay dispute. They estimated 300 workers were off the job.

Carpenters were due a 65-cent pay increase last June, bringing their hourly wage to $8.75. The Construction Industry Stabilization Committee ordered the raise limited to 15 cents and the matter has been tangled in court battles since summer.

The four Marin jobs being hit by the union for not paying the $8.75 rate are the Kaiser-Permanente Medical Center addition, Courthouse Square office-parking complex and Fireman's Fund Insurance building in San Rafael and the Highway 101 project in Novato.

William T. Wilson, union financial secretary, today said the carpenters had hoped other trades and crafts would respect the appeal to stop work.

James Titherington, labor foreman at the Courthouse Square project said he expected laborers back on the job by noon today. He said he had contacted the laborers union and they told union members they could return to work since the strike has not been sanctioned by their union.

A spokesman for the builders of the medical center addition said only carpenters and laborers were off the job with plumbers and other craftsmen returning to work.

Don McKinley, construction superintendent at the Firemen's Fund Insurance in San Rafael, said no pickets were needed at his job today because carpenters had not worked for three weeks.

McKinley said carpenters remained off the job since mid-November in defiance of a court order telling them to return to work. He said his job was completely shut down.

Wilson said any carpenters off the job in violation of a court order had acted independently.

Spokesmen for the highway construction project in Novato could not be reached for comment today.

At the carpenters union hall this morning about 25 men waited to hear of job openings but none were announced. Several described the scene as "typical" during the rainy season when jobs are scarce.

"The mood is that the carpenters want their money," said Wilson.

Several carpenters said they had been instructed by the union not to speak with Independent-Journal reporters but a few said the union is supporting the pickets.

Frank Gardner, a union member who has not worked for two weeks, said, "We are still strong behind it (picketing)."

"They've been talking about the wage dispute since June and there is no telling when it will end," Gardner said.

No carpenter, who would speak to the Independent-Journal reporter, voiced opposition to picketing and two said they expected to be asked to picket later today.

WIRE NEWS BRIEFS From Everywhere

Houston Elects A New Mayor

HOUSTON (UPI) — Fred Hofheinz, the son of the man who built the Astrodome, won 95 per cent of the city's black vote and was elected mayor of Texas' largest city yesterday.

Hofheinz

The 35-year-old son of Judge Roy Hofheinz narrowly defeated city councilman Dick Gottlieb, who failed to draw his conservative middle class voters to the polls.

Hofheinz, an attorney with a Ph.D. in economics, acknowledged it was the support from the liberal, black community that provided his margin of victory.

Only about a third of the city's registered voters turned out.

Big Red Push

SAIGON (UPI) — Communist troops, who captured a Central Highlands district capital yesterday and scored the worst defeat of the 10-month-old cease-fire on government soldiers, now are planning to attack a big provincial capital nearby, a military spokesman said today.

Military sources said South Vietnamese reinforcements and a regimental headquarters almost overrun in yesterday's fighting were moved to Gia Nghia provincial capital 12 miles to the east today to defend the strategic town, 110 miles north of Saigon.

The drive to reinforce the province capital, now the westernmost government stronghold in the area, was hampered because the main airfield at Nhon Co, six miles from the town, was under heavy Communist shellfire and could not be used.

Coalition Victory

COPENHAGEN (UPI) — Prime Minister Anker Joergensen resigned today, the victim of a shattering election defeat by an iconoclastic coalition led by a millionaire lawyer vowing to end the income tax and abolish the armed forces.

Joergensen submitted his resignation to Queen Margrethe, but agreed to head an interim caretaker government until a new one is formed.

His Social Democratic Party won a plurality yesterday.

Attorney Mogens Glistrup, who promised to replace the military with a telephone answering service saying "I surrender" in Russian, offered to head a new government even though his Progress party came in second in the balloting.

Bridge Attack

PHNOM PENH (UPI) — A 30-man rebel cammando force rowed across watery swamps at the south edge of Phnom Penh early to attack a bridge linking the capital to its suburbs.

Soldiers who fought off the attack against the Highway 1 bridge over the Bassac River told UPI the insurgents fled in boats after the two-hour battle.

They said the span, called the United Nations Bridge, was only superficially damaged. Traffic was restored, as usual, at sunrise when the overnight curfew ended.

Pledge By Peron

BUENOS AIRES (UPI) — President Juan D. Peron ordered border patrol troops around Argentine plants of the Ford Motor Co. today after assuring Ford executives personally he intended to protect them and their factories from guerrilla attacks.

Ford evacuated 25 of its top executives, mostly Americans, last week after receiving threats from the "Peronist Armed Forces" (FAP), a left-wing guerrilla organization that bears the president's name but opposes many of his policies.

The executives, facing death and kidnap threats from the guerrillas, met with Peron yesterday and were assured they would be protected.

Paris Rail Halt

PARIS (UPI) — Thousands of rail workers began their own three-day walkout today on the eve of a 24-hour nationwide strike to protest soaring prices. The walkout caused mile-long traffic jams and made commuters hours late for work.

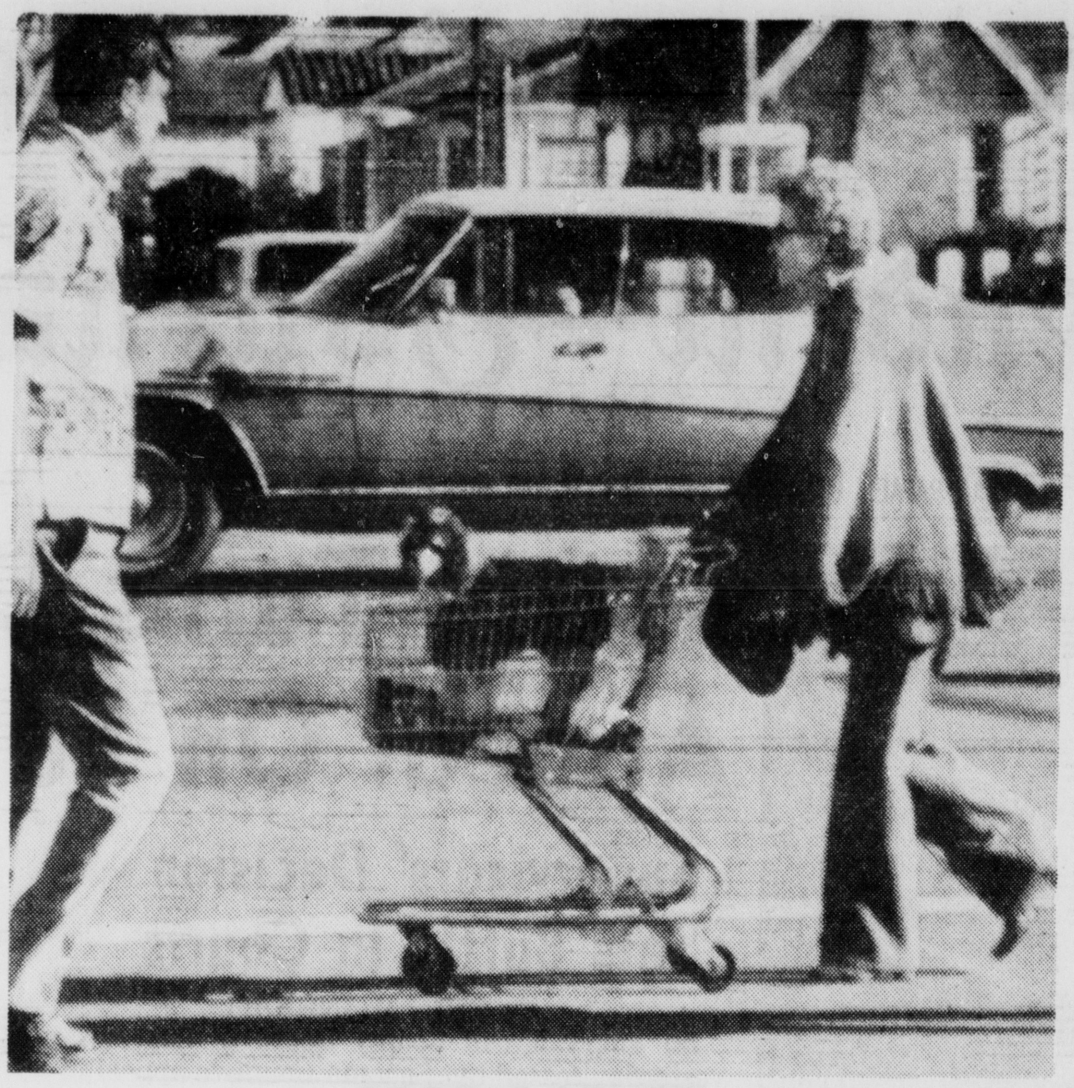
Railroad officials said only one train in four was running in the Paris suburbs and only occasional trains were leaving Paris on the mainline networks to provincial cities.

IRS Is Blamed

BELFAST (UPI) — Police and army authorities today blamed extremist members of the Irish Republican Army with triggering a series of bomb explosions across the province to protest talks designed to bring peace to Ulster.

British commanders warned the 16,000 army troops on duty in Northern Ireland today against accepting Christmas presents from the public in the violence-torn province this year because they could be "bombs wrapped in tinsel."

Three bomb blasts on the main street of Strabane today caused widespread damage and engulfed a major building in flames, police said.



POODLE POWER

Mae Goodwin, 70, Salinas, doesn't mind walking to help the energy shortage. But, she says, she doesn't expect her 5-year-old French poodle Dino to hoof it, too. So she got him a grocery cart, which he likes. But not as much as driving in the car. (UPI Telephoto)

An Outbreak Along Suez Is Reported

By U.P. INTERNATIONAL

Israel reported two Israeli soldiers killed today in exchanges of fire and a mine explosion along the Suez Canal front, and a senior Israeli military officer said Israeli troops had been placed on alert on the Egyptian and Syrian fronts and were prepared for fighting on the Jordanian front as well.

Cairo reported shooting down an Israeli Phantom jet near the Suez Canal city of Ismailia today when two of the F4s violated Egyptian air space. It said the kill was made by the Egyptian air defenses but did not specify whether planes, artillery or SAM missiles. Israel denied the report.

The Israeli officer said the sporadic fighting on the Egyptian and Syrian fronts in the past three days were not necessarily a prelude to more generalized fighting, but that Israel and the Arabs are prepared for this even though diplomatic efforts are underway to bring peace to the region.

Well-informed Israeli newspapers reported increased tension on both the Syrian and Egytian fronts and one quoted an Israeli officer on the Suez Canal front as saying, "We feel as if we were sitting on the edge of a volcano."

The newspaper Ma'ariv said Iraqi armored forces were still in Syria despite reports they had withdrawn, and Yedioth Ahronoth said "tension has increased due to the possibility that Egypt and Syria will renew fighting before the Geneva peace conference Dec. 18.

Only A Compromise Remaining For DST

WASHINGTON (UPI) — Both houses of Congress have passed bills to put the country back on Daylight Saving Time, and perhaps save 1 to 1.5 per cent of the fuel it would otherwise consume.

If Congress hurries through the rest of the legislative process, clocks could be pushed an hour ahead for the next two years before New Year's Eve.

Differences between the House version and the version the Senate adopted yesterday by a 68-10 vote must now be reconciled by a House-Senate conference committee.

The chief difference is a Senate provision to permit the legislatures in states with divided time zones to exempt one zone from daylight time.

Sen. Marlow W. Cook, R-Ky., said without that provision children in eastern Kentucky would go to school in the dark. If that region is under saving time in the winter, it will be 9 a.m. EDT before the sun is seen in early January, Cook said.

He said his amendment would affect these states: Alaska, Arizona, Florida, Hawaii, Indiana, Kentucky, Michigan, North Dakota, South Dakota, Tennessee, Texas and Utah.

In addition, the entire areas of Alaska and Hawaii could be exempted by their states legislatures under Cook's amendment.

Doctors Vote In Favor Of Death With Dignity

ANAHEIM, Calif. (UPI) — Terminal patients or their families should be allowed to decide themselves whether they want to die rather than be kept alive by "extraordinary means," the American Medical Association decided yesterday.

The AMA's House of Delegates rejected mercy killing—the deliberate and active ending of a patient's life—but adopted a resolution in favor of withdrawing life support measures if the patient, or his immediate family, request it.

The AMA adopted the "death with dignity" report, arrived at after polling religious leaders, lay and scientific authorities and thinkers and state medical societies. Leaders of churches represented more than 50 per cent of the American population were asked for their comments on euthanasia before the report was drawn up.

Counties' Claims Exceed Estimates

SACRAMENTO (UPI) — California counties have claimed nearly $651 million in state reimbursements for the new $1,750 homeowner's property tax exemption, state Controller Houston Flournoy reports.

Flournoy yesterday said the figure exceeds by almost $4 million the state funds set aside to finance the exemption.

New Energy Boss Bids For Another Pipeline

WASHINGTON (UPI) — President Nixon's new energy adviser, William E. Simon, says the administration will push for construction of a second Alaska oil pipeline. A Pentagon task force, meanwhile, called for construction of an Alaska pipeline to meet military oil needs.

It could not immediately be learned whether Simon and the military were talking about one new pipeline or two or whether they checked with each other on their proposals.

President Nixon signed legislation authorizing one 900-mile line to carry oil from Alaska's largely untapped North Slope to the port of Valdez, where the oil would be pumped into tankers for shipment to the West Coast. It is scheduled for completion in 1977.

Environmentalists, who say the line will endanger the arctic ecology and run the risk of ocean spills, fought a three-year battle against it.

Simon yesterday listed a second Alaska pipeline as one of several planned administration steps, but did not give details.

United Press International obtained a copy yesterday of an unclassified version of a Defense Energy Task Group report, proposing construction of a multi-billion dollar military oil pipeline from the North Slope with the Defense Department paying the full cost if possible.

The report proposed $150 million for exploration, $1.9 billion for development, and $2 to $3 billion in investment costs for construction of a pipeline from oil fields to an ocean terminal.

Both Simon and the military planners mentioned making use of Naval Petroleum Reserve No. 4, an Alaskan oil pool set aside for military use. President Nixon, however, has said some such military oil reserves will be used for civilian consumption.

Sen. Mike Gravel, D-Alaska., told UPI he hoped any new pipeline "would be part of civilian needs and not military."

Kent State Review Set By Tribunal

WASHINGTON (UPI) — When courts used terms "rebellion" and "insurrection" to describe an antiwar demonstration at Kent State University before four students were slain by Ohio National guardsmen, they had an erroneous idea of the scene, according to an attorney for the families of two of the victims.

Attorney Steven A. Sindell told the Supreme Court yesterday that the May, 1970, demonstration actually was "a peaceful gathering on a college campus."

He said the National guardsmen called out by then Gov. James A. Rhodes were more than a football field away when they opened fire on the students.

The high court, after two hours of argument, took under advisement the appeals of three victims' families seeking several million dollars in punitive and compensatory damages from Rhodes and National Guard officials.

A federal district court first dismissed the suits on grounds the officials were immune under the 11th Amendment, which forbids federal court action against states. An appellate court later upheld that ruling by a 2-1 decision.

Sindell added that the Supreme Court appeal was the "last opportunity for redress" by families of the victims.

But an attorney for Rhodes and the others named in the suit argued that if the court removed the immunity, it would set a precedent that "could literally tie-up state governments" throughout the nation.

Public Agencies Saving Energy

saving measures at 8 p.m. Tuesday. No municipal Christmas decorations will be lit this year.

FAIRFAX — The City Council will consider energy problems at 8 p.m. Monday.

LARKSPUR — City employees have been directed to reduce mileage on city vehicles in order to cut fuel use 10 per cent.

SAUSALITO — City department heads are preparing recommendations for energy-saving measures. Firemen were directed to test truck engines less often.

MILL VALLEY — The police department will buy cars with smaller engines to cut gasoline consumption.

BELVEDERE — Police Chief John W. Jaeger has ordered a Swedish-made Saab police car to replace a thirsty Plymouth. The department has three cars in all.

ROSS — City officials said they cannot save more fuel because most of it is used for police patrol. The city, with an area of about two square miles, uses about 500 gallons of gasoline in its nine vehicles each month.

TIBURON — No major effort is under way to reduce municipal energy use, a city spokesman said.

COTATI — No special plans for saving energy have been adopted in the city, although city offices have the thermostats set at 68 degrees now. Some months ago, the city police department made news by buying small foreign cars for the officers.

PETALUMA — Many of the lights at city offices have been removed, the heat is turned down to 68 degrees and those who drive vehicles have been asked to observe a 50 miles an hour limit. The city staff also is making a review of gasoline usage during the past few years in order to find where there can be cutbacks.

ROHNERT PARK — Heat and lighting have been reduced in city offices, but a request by some residents to turn street lights off after midnight was turned down as "not practical," both for security reasons and because not much energy would be saved. As for cars, "there's no place you can go 50 miles an hour in Rohnert Park," a spokesman said.

PETALUMA SCHOOLS — In addition to reducing heat, cutting back on lights and setting a maximum speed at 50 miles per hour for school vehicles, district officials are considering changing the starting time at the secondary schools to 9 a.m. instead of 8 a.m. when daylight saving time goes into effect.

SAN RAFAEL SCHOOLS — Principals have received copies of past energy bills to make them more conscious of energy use. Teachers are discussing the energy crisis with students. A night football game was cancelled to save electricity, and school officials estimate they have cut total consumption by 10 per cent.

NOVATO UNIFIED SCHOOL DISTRICT — The district is working with PG&E in an effort to cut power use 7.5 per cent at San Marin High School, only all-electric school in the district.

SAN ANSELMO SCHOOL DISTRICT — At Red Hill School, messages are being written longhand to keep typewriters from using electricity. At Sleepy Hollow School, several teachers formed a car pool. Students at Yolansdale are being encouraged to wear sweaters, and classes at several schools have discussed ways to save energy.

FAIRFAX SCHOOL DISTRICT — Teachers have stressed to their classes conservation of all resources, including paper. Officials have made no estimate of possible savings from their utilities cutbacks.

DIXIE SCHOOL DISTRICT — Besides lowering temperatures, officials said they turn heat on only an hour before school opens and turn it off an hour before the school day ends. Office equipment is turned off when not in use and students are being urged to wear sweaters to school.

SAUSALITO SCHOOLS — District trustees will take up energy conservation at a special meeting 7:30 p.m. Monday. Recommendations are expected.

BOLINAS-STINSON SCHOOLS — This district prides itself on having saved energy all along, and so no new measures have been instituted. The district will, however, consider suggestions from the county schools office, which is expected to propose conservation measures soon.

SAN RAFAEL CHAMBER OF COMMERCE — A resolution has been approved urging all merchants to turn off lights after hours except for those needed for security. Manager Robert Nelson doesn't know the percentage of compliance, but, he said, "Anyone can see that downtown is darker at night now."

NOVATO CHAMBER OF COMMERCE — Letters to members urge electricity conservation. The chamber's Christmas tree ornaments will not be lighted. Neither will the Noel sign on Highway 101. Home owners have been urged not to use lighted yard decorations.

SAUSALITO BUSINESS ASSOCIATION AND CHAMBER — No energy program — the group feel there is little it can do. Downtown lighting and heating are already being conserved, and Christmas decorations have never been lighted in the past. Many merchants bicycle or walk to work as they have for years.

SAN ANSELMO CHAMBER OF COMMERCE — The group will discuss the crisis with PG & E officials. No other specific action has been taken so far, according to president James Reed.

PETALUMA CHAMBER OF COMMERCE — Businesses in Petaluma generally are turning off exterior lighting when they are not open and reducing interior lighting.

STRIKE

ages is phony," said Ray Offenbach of Ray's Meats in the Food Mart in Mill Valley. "After all, independent markets have their suppliers too. People shouldn't panic," he added. "The independent markets have plenty of food."

Many open markets were filled with customers, while others reported increased patronage ranging from 20 to 50 per cent.

William Pritchett, manager of the Co-op market in Corte Madera, said about 40 persons were already lined up outside his store 10 minutes before it was scheduled to open. "We're going to be very, very busy," he said.

Petrini's market in Greenbrae, which did not join the lockout, reported its store was "jammed with customers."

Mayfair Markets' two San Rafael stores also reported more customers than usual.

Meanwhile, the labor fight which has closed the stores seemed no closer to being resolved. Negotiations between the butchers union and Safeway, Lucky and Thriftway management broke down last weekend and no further meetings were planned.

"The butchers' demands and the employers' offers are so far apart that there's little reason for optimism," said John W. Bacon, vice president of the Food Employers Council which initiated the lockout. He said the employers "stand ready at any time to endeavor to reach a settlement.

Union representatives could not be reached to comment on the dispute.

BOOTLEG

Besides hunting big stills, Thorne also helped detect another 15 to 20 small ones each year.

The bootleggers continued to make illegal whisky after prohibition to avoid hefty federal taxes, he explained. A 10-gallon can of 80 proof liquor which cost $25 to produce would have been taxed at about $80, said Thorne.

Stills were a highly organized business. "Big operations of this type had real logistics problems," he said. "They had to get a lot of sugar and yeast. It took a big operation to build the still. Then they had to get it to market. Most of the bootleggers had fleets of trucks and cars.

"In those years we didn't know about the Mafia, but we did know of syndicates and a strong relationship between illegal gambling and stills. So what we know as the Mafia today was probably involved."

Stills were built in warehouses and wooded rural hideaways.

Among the more unique Thorne uncovered was a column still, a tall thin type of whisky-producing machine built in the basement of a New Jersey home. It passed through first and second floor closets and on up to the roof.

"There were even fans on top to blow the fumes out of the neighborhood," said Thorne.

He also has snapshots of a still operated by a man who had been producing illegal whisky for 10 years and who was known as impossible to capture.

"We'd been waiting at his still for several days and nothing had happened. They were about to pull me off the job, and I asked for one more day. And sure enough, he drove up and started heating up the boilers."

In the 1960s, the number of illegal stills being started dropped considerably. Thorne believes this demonstrates that crime, at least a particular crime, can be wiped out. Not only was it becoming too hard to run a still without detection by his bureau, he said, but the courts were dealing out stiffer sentences to those convicted.

Since then, his bureau has become more involved in enforcing laws dealing with firearms and explosives, such as the 1968 Gun Control Act. For example, his bureau was involved in the recent capture of a weapons cache in San Francisco's Chinatown.

The bureau also separated from the Internal Revenue Service last year and became a government agency in its own right.

Does he miss the excitement of the old days?

Thorne said that whatever thrill is gone has been replaced with a greater sense of service to the public.

"We've always served the public, of course. But when I was hunting stills, one of our chief interests was the tax side of things, keeping people from avoiding the tax. Today we're more concerned with the health and safety of the public.

We want to make sure that felons are not in possession of firearms and that there is not an easy availability of explosives," he said.

Gloomy Report On Oil Imports

MEMPHIS, Tenn. (UPI) — The nation could be in for eight to 10 years of energy pinch should Arab oil imports not be resumed soon, Exxon Co. marketing vice president Duval F. Dickey predicts.

Should the oil boats from the United Arab Republic to America remain empty for long, "we're in real trouble," Dickey said yesterday, "and it will take from eight to 10 years to develop other sources of energy to offset the Araby boycott."

He asked that the federal government take drastic steps to curtail energy consumption nationwide.

NEW

judges' request that formation of the new department be delayed until further study of its role in the criminal-justice system.

Supervisors made no reference to Friday's meeting yesterday, nor was there any comment from the audience. Nearly 15 minutes later, however, Betty Machado of Novato questioned why the matter hadn't been opened for public discussion.

Chairman Arnold M. Baptiste responded that he has asked for comments but had received none. (A check of the tape of the meeting showed Baptiste had asked for comments but it was not clear whether he was asking his colleagues or directing his question to the audience.)

Yesterday's action, adopting a resolution formally establishing the corrections department, gives Director Ralph Merola the go-ahead to take over operation of the minimum security honor farm Jan. 1.

The board's decision does not include a proposed transfer of the sheriff's responsibility for operating the jail nor any shift of rehabilitation programs from the probation department.

On Friday, supervisors said they viewed any shift of probation functions to the new department to be premature but did not discount shifts in the future.

The new department will be staffed by Merola as director and nine correctional workers who will oversee operation of the honor farm on Smith Ranch Road in Santa Venetia.

The facility currently houses about 70 trustee inmates and will be expanded next year. It has been under the supervision of the sheriff's department since its opening in July.

The buildings are converted Army barracks once housing troops that manned the Nike missiles which were located on a nearby hill.

Two-Thirds Of Goal Reached

The Katharine Branson School has reached approximately three-quarters of its goal in a fund raising campaign, chairman William R. Kimball announced today.

The school started the campaign the first of February to raise $960,000, he said. It has now raised $694,000 toward that goal, Kimball said.

Originally the campaign had been planned to end in December of next year, but with contributions coming in the way they are, the goal may be reached by June of next year, he said.

The money will be about equally divided between library-fine arts building and the endowment fund, he said.

Mullin To Face Stabbing Trial

SAN FRANCISCO (UPI) — The state Supreme Court has turned down a motion by mass killer Herbert W. Mullin to have charges of stabbing a Catholic priest to death in a confessional dismissed.

Mullin, convicted of killing 10 persons in the Santa Cruz area, admitted last July that he fatally stabbed Rev. Henry Tomei of St. Mary's Catholic Church in Los Gatos with a picket knife Nov. 2, 1972.

Yesterday's rejection of his motion for delay or dismissal of charges means jury selection could begin this week before Santa Clara County Superior Court Judge William A. Ingram.

OBITUARIES

William A. Marcus, 84, Dies; Rites Tomorrow

William A. Marcus of Kentfield, longtime director of the Marin Municipal Water District died yesterday in a local hospital after a brief illness. He was 84.

WILLIAM A. MARCUS
Longtime water director

Marcus was appointed to the board in May 1944, and served continuously until retiring in January 1971. He served as president of the board from 1963 to 1966.

He was also chairman of the Mill Valley Elementary School District Board from 1934 to 1942.

A banker for 47 years and nationally noted authority on real estate financing, Marcus began working as a teller for the American Trust Co. bank of San Francisco in 1911, becoming senior vice president in 1947. He retired in 1958, but remained a consultant to the bank.

Marcus moved to Mill Valley in 1920, just after marrying the former Ruth Finn of San Francisco. She died earlier this year.

Marcus was a past president of the San Francisco Chapter of American Institute of Banking, California Bankers Association, and the Savings and Mortgage Division of the American Bankers Association.

He was a member of the Board of Governors of the Mortgage Bankers Association and served on President Eisenhower's advisory committee on national housing policies and programs in 1953.

He was a member of the Bohemian Club.

Marcus is survived by two daughters, Mrs. R. Phillips Barker of Mill Valley and Mrs. Paul B. Fay Jr. of San Francisco; a son, William John Marcus of Mexico; a brother, Morris H. Marcus of San Francisco; a sister, Mrs. Edward S. Evenden of San Francisco, and 10 grandchildren.

Private funeral will be held tomorrow at 11 a.m. in Carew and English Mortuary in San Francisco. Burial will follow at Woodlawn Cemetery, Colma.

FAIRE

a cloud over the board's decision.

He advised them to base their decision on evidence presented during the hearing, as outlined in their oath of office.

During the course of the hearing, however, supervisors said they had had no outside dealings with the Pattersons, though Michael Wornum drew laughter when he acknowledged accepting four tickets to this year's fair at Black Point.

Wornum added that he was sure Sonoma County supervisors had done the same.

Supervisor Gary T. Giacomini, calling the request "totally irresponsible" said "I disdain this kind of conduct. . . I'm so goddamn mad I still can't talk."

"The presumption on your part is that someone on this board made a deal," supervisor Peter R. Arrigoni Jr. fumed at Fish. "I'm dismayed that your board would approve circulation of such a document. What are you looking for?"

"That's your interpretation," Fish responded, adding he had a legal right to all evidence received by the board, publicly or privately, so it could be reviewed and rebutted.

"In three years in public office this is the worst I've ever come across," Baptiste said, joining Giacomini and Arrigoni in supporting a letter of protest.

The letter was suggested by Winifred S. Frederick of the Irate Taxpayers of Marin, who said "they should be advised of what is being done in their name. There's too much of this going on."

The letter will be drafted by Maloney and reviewed by the board next Tuesday.

"I think they are just oversensitive," Fish told the Independent-Journal later.

Burned Range Being Replanted

SACRAMENTO (UPI) — The California and Nevada Departments of Fish and Game Monday announced the replanting of about 1,000 acres of fire-blackened range at Hallelujah Junction, winter home of an interstate deer herd.

An estimated 75 per cent of the herd's winter range was destroyed in the 37,930 acres blaze in Lassen County in California and Washoe County in Nevada last August.

Five areas of the blaze were reseeded by US Bureau of Land Management crews.

STANISLAUS ROUSSEAU

Mass of the Resurrection for Stanislaus C. Rousseau, 61, of Petaluma, was celebrated today at Our Lady of Loretto Church in Novato.

Rousseau died Monday in a Salinas hospital after an illness of a month. He had gone to Salinas to be with his daughters there.

He was born in Waterbury, Conn., but had lived in California many years. His home was in Novato before moving to Petaluma, where he lived at 1112 South McDowell Boulevard.

Rousseau was an auto mechanic and machinist, having worked last at A. G. Schoonmaker Co. in Sausalito, where he retired about three years ago.

He was a member of Local 238 of the International Association of Machinists.

He is survived by three daughters, Mrs. Carol M. Machado and Rita Rousseau, both of Salinas, and Mrs. Donna Moody of Petaluma; a son by a former marriage, George Rousseau of Worcester, Mass.; three brothers, Elmer and Ernest Rousseau of Worcester, and Edward A. Rousseau of San Rafael; three sisters, Mrs. Irene Belsito of Leominister, Mass., Mrs. Lillian Hassellstrom of Worcester, and Mrs. Doris Altieri of San Rafael, and five grandchildren.

Burial was in Mount Olivet Cemetery.

An Escape At San Quentin

A 41-year-old convicted murderer has escaped from San Quentin despite the increased security precautions of the current crackdown.

The prisoner, Francisco Salas, 41, escaped Monday from the family visiting area where officials said he was visiting his brother and sister-in-law. Information officer William D. Nyberg said the prisoner probably fled through a rear door which leads out of the prison.

Salas came to San Quentin in October, 1968, to begin a life sentence for a first-degree murder conviction in Sacramento County.

RICHARD ARNOLD

Richard E. Arnold, 84, of Cotati, died unexpectedly at his home at 94 Charles Street yesterday.

Arnold had lived in Cotati since 1958, when he retired after many years as production manager for Boyle and Co., a Los Angeles firm which manufactures chemicals.

He was born and reared in Salt Lake City and lived in Idaho, where he owned a drug store, before moving to California in 1928.

Arnold served as an Army sergeant during World War I. He was a member of American Legion Post 103 in Cotati.

His wife, Margaret S. Arnold, died in 1965.

He is survived by a daughter, Mrs. Margaret J. Williams of Cotati; two brothers, Joseph Arnold of Salt Lake City and Arthur Arnold of Yucaipa, San Bernardino County; a sister, Mrs. Josephine Anderson of Palm Springs, three grandchildren and three great-grandchildren.

Funeral will be at 1 p.m. Friday at the Sorenson Funeral Home in Petaluma. Burial will be in Santa Rosa Memorial Park.

The family prefers contributions to charity.

ALDEN HOLLOWAY

Funeral arrangements for Alden Holloway, 63, of 31 Grove Street, Corte Madera, are pending at the Chapel of the Hills, San Anselmo.

Surviving are a son, David L. Hessen, serving in the Army; two daughters, Pauline and Barbara Hessen of Novato; and a brother, Kenneth Hessen of England.

MICHAEL O'SHEA

I-J Special Report

DALLAS — Actor Michael O'Shea, brother of Ruth Van Dusen of San Rafael, died yesterday in Dallas, Tex., apparently of a heart attack. He was 61.

Police said O'Shea, husband of actress Virginia Mayo, was found in the bathtub of an apartment his wife was renting. Officers said it appeared he fell. An autopsy was planned.

O'Shea appeared in a half dozen gangster films during the 1940s and starred in a television comedy series in the 1950s.

The O'Sheas, of Thousand Oaks, Ventura County, were in Dallas where Miss Mayo was appearing in "40 Carats." O'Shea also was to take a part in the production.

He also leaves a daughter.

Paul DeForest Case, 90, died today at his home at 54 Atwood Avenue, Sausalito, after a long illness.

He was born and reared in New York State where he lived until moving to Sausalito 13 years ago. He was a retired treasurer of Raymond International Construction Co.

He is survived by his wife, Alice; three brothers, and three sisters.

Private funeral will be held.

Pact On Pre-History Museum Is Worked Out

The Novato City Council and Marin Museum Society last night approved an agreement on operating the pre-history museum in Miwok Park on Novato Boulevard.

Under terms of the agreement, the city takes title to the two-story house at Sixth Street and Grant Avenue, given to the society by Crocker Bank. And the society operates it as a museum.

The city is to maintain the exterior of the building and carry the insurance on it. The society insures private functions of the society.

The city has contributed $500 to the society in past years, but that was stopped this year. The council agreed that it may have to contribute in the future as the society maintains public restrooms when the museum is open.

The vote was 4 to 0, with councilman Dorothy Young in Puerto Rico attending the convention of the National Association of Cities.

The Novato City Council also:

ELECTION — Set March 5 for the next council elections and authorized City Clerk Peggy Lehigh to have the county clerk carry out the election. Councilman George C. Quesada said that the new state law governing elections is illegal because it requires a candidate to file between tomorrow and Dec. 27 while the law does not go into effect until January.

CONSULTANT — Approved hiring Perplana Associates of Los Angeles with George F. Bliss III as project engineer, to make a $17,500 study of the surplus land and its uses at Hamilton Air Force Base. Of the 13 firms considered by the Hamilton Air Force Base Land Use Study Committee, three were considered finalists. In addition to the firm chosen, VTN of San Francisco and Applied Sciences of Sacramento were the other two.

BRIDGE — Accepted a small parcel of land at Rancho School from the Novato Unified School District for construction of a footbridge over Arroyo Avichi Creek.

CARS — Authorized the city to purchase vehicles through the state under its contract with Dodge.

TAXES — Approved payment of $7,170 in taxes on the O'Hair property prorated from the date of purchase, April 16 until it was annexed to the City of Novato on Nov. 25. Quesada said that the city should try to get a rebate from all the taxing agencies which are getting city tax money on the property.

SPEED — Reduced the speed limit from 30 to 25 miles an hour on Center Road between Wilson and Sutro avenues.

AUDIT — Authorized A. L. Gieleghem to use the works sheets of the Glow Accountancy Corp. in making a personal audit of the city for the Novato citizens for change. He will be allowed all of the worksheets except those dealing with city personnel.

SIGNS — Approved a political sign policy which requires a $20 desposit to assure removal of political signs; allows unlimited number of signs of six square feet or less and six signs up to 16 square feet.

INSPECTOR — Authorized hiring permanently hitherto temporary employee Arthur Jasmar as assistant building inspector. He has been a building inspector in Sunnyvale for the past 12 years.

ADJOURNED — Adjourned to 4 p.m. Monday to interview applicants for head of the department of public works; to 8 p.m. Dec. 13 for a joint meeting with the Novato Planning Commission, and 9 a.m. Dec. 15 to go over applicants for city commissions.

Founder Of Fuller Co. Dies At 88

HARTFORD, Conn. (UPI) — Alfred C. Fuller, 88, who was fired from his first job as a street car conductor but went on to found the Fuller Brush Co. and head it for more than 60 years, died yesterday.

Born on a farm in Nova Scotia, Fuller started selling brushes door-to-door in Somerville, Mass., in 1906 after losing his street car job in Boston. By 1972, when the firm was taken over by a conglomerate, it was reporting weekly sales of $1.6 million.

There were 7,500 independent Fuller Brush dealers and 2,700 employees. The old carriage shed in Hartford that the company started in had expanded to three factories, 23 distribution centers and 109 branch offices.

Fuller was the company's chairman of the board; his son, A. Howard Fuller, was president, and his brother, Avard E. Fuller, vice president. The Fullers retired when the company became a subsidiary of Consolidated Foods Corp., of Chicago.

Surviving are his widow, Mary Pelton Fuller, his son, Avard, and two brothers, Harry Fuller of Newburg, Ore., and Chester Fuller of Kentville, N.S.

More Park Land Given To Novato

The City of Novato today has 25 acres more in park land.

The city council last night received the land from Dr. Jerome Fuchs of Los Angeles through his agent, Lawrence J. Walters of Greenbrae. The acreage is adjacent to the O'Hair property at the western city limits on Novato Boulevard.

The only condition is that a tenant, Michael Hart, continue renting a house there until he has amortized repairs he has made.

The council authorized City Mgr. Charles A. Brown to work out a lease on the house and submit it to the council for approval.

The property, largely a steep hillside, will be devoted mainly to hiking and horse trails.

Fuchs retained for himself a seven-acre flat area between Novato Boulevard and Novato Creek. Walters told the council that as long as Fuchs owned the ramaining seven acres, the city would have access to the creek. The city would also have the first chance to buy it, Walters said.

At one time the farm was one of the showplaces of rural Novato. A wooden dam impounded the water of Novato Creek, creating a small lake which was used to irrigate extensive flower beds around the house.

Then the place fell into disrepair and for some time was a hang-out for hippies. More recently it has been a retreat for the Grateful Dead.

Nixon Appointee Dead After Fall

NEW YORK (UPI) — The U.S. Attorney for Brooklyn and Long Island leaped to his death from his fifth-floor apartment yesterday after submitting a scrawled, incoherent letter of resignation.

Robert A. Morse, 45, fell to the sidewalk below his apartment in the elegant Brooklyn Heights neighborhood shortly after a brief meeting with his 19-year-old daughter, Deborah. His associates said Morse had been depressed recently.

Morse spent most of the morning at the Brooklyn federal courthouse, where he submitted a partially unintelligible, handwritten letter of resignation to Federal Judge Jacob Mishler before returning home.

Authorities said a suicide note was found in the apartment, where Morse had lived alone. Its contents were not disclosed.

Police said Morse had removed his tie and shoes before jumping. Personal effects, including his wallet, federal identification card and insurance papers, were positioned on a table near the open window, investigators said.

ROBERT A. MORSE
Recently despondent

"This is so awful. So terrible," said his former wife, Irene Spatt Morse. "I don't know why."

Sources said he had met for about 15 minutes with his daughter, a student at Clark University in Massachusetts, before falling to his death. Among his concerns, they said, was a pending civil suit involving his daughter's right to share in an estate left by her grandfather.

Earlier the prosecutor sent a note to Mishler, interrupting him during a trial and saying it was urgent to meet with him.

Morse, appearing agitated, told the judge he wanted to resign and handed him the handwritten note, sources said. Mishler urged him to reconsider and told him if he were determined to resign to submit a typewritten letter of resignation to President Nixon.

Morse later reportedly telephoned the brother of his former wife, said simply, "Sorry," and hung up.

In Washington, acting Attorney General Robert H. Bork said he was shocked to learn of Morse's death and added: "The Department of Justice extends condolences and regrets to his family, friends and associates."

Phased Cut Seen In Oil Embargo

WASHINGTON (UPI) — Sen. James A. McClure, R-Idaho, just back from an Arab financed trip to the Middle East, says he thinks a phased reduction of the oil embargo in return for phased Israeli withdrawal from occupied lands is a live possibility.

McClure declined to give details of his talks with Arab leaders, including Saudi Arabi's King Faisal, on the subject. But he said, "I have reason to believe it is quite possible to get a phased resumption of oil deliveries," as Israel evacuates lands taken in the 1967 war.

McClure said the advantage of the proposal is that oil deliveries could resume before a complete Mideast peace agreement is reached.

Meeting Set On Tiburon Sewer Plans

The Tiburon Sanitary District board has set Jan. 15 for a special meeting to discuss whether it will pump its sewerage to a joint Southern Marin treatment plant or retain its own treatment facilities in Tiburon.

Board President James Murray said the board decided Monday that on that date the district's engineering consultants, the John Corollo firm of Walnut Creek, will report comparative cost of each.

Murray said Southern Marin Subregional Sewerage Agency officials will be invited to the meeting, along with representatives of the City of Belvedere, which now pumps its sewerage to the Tiburon plant for treatment.

A report prepared for the Southern Marin Subregional Sewerage Agency already has recommended that Tiburon pump its sewerage north. But the Tiburon Sanitary District board wants more information before agreeing to this proposal, Murray said.

Also Monday, the board heard a report from Bio-Kinetics Inc. of San Rafael, which previously had a contract with the district to provide tertiary sewerage treatment at the Tiburon plant. However, the contract ran out before Bio-Kinetics could set up its facilities. It would like to negotiate a new contract now, according to Murray. But he said the board could not decide that until it decides whether or not to retain its Tiburon sewerage treatment plant.

The board reelected Murray as president and Morrill R. Woodward as secretary.

Fairfax School Architect Chosen

The Fairfax School District board last night hired Reid and Tarics Associates of San Francisco as district architects.

The firm is charged with drafting preliminary plans for a multiuse facility at White Hill School. District trustees are eyeing a June bond issue of up to $400,000 to finance the facility.

The board set no salary for the job, but told Supt. H. Reginald Hammond and colleagues C. Patrick Fitzgerald and Lawrence G. Hermann to meet with firm representatives to draw up a contract.

The board has budgeted $5,000 for development of plans for the facility, Hammond said.

Other firms interviewed last week in closed session for the post were: Gwathmey Sellier and Crosby; James Martin Rosse and Associates; O'Brien and Armstrong; and MLTW and Turnbull Associates.

The Fairfax School District board also:

ENROLLMENT — Said enrollment last week was 938 pupils, down from 941 the previous week.

DECLARATIONS — Declared the first week of next April as public schools week.

CLOSED SESSION — Set a closed session for 8 p.m. Dec. 11 for the district's annual review of Hammond's performance.

MEETINGS — Said the board will meet at 7:45 p.m. Jan. 8 and 22, rather than the regularly scheduled dates of Jan. 1 and 15.

ADJOURNMENT — Adjourned to 7:30 p.m. Dec. 18 at White Hill School.

San Diego County Man Named As Tam Fire District's Chief

Dale N. Bennett, fire chief for Alpine in San Diego County, is the new chief for the Tamalpais Fire Protection District.

He was chosen last night by a unanimous vote of the district board, according to Jeanne Creemer, board chairman.

Bennett, 35, has headed the small Southern California department since January of 1969. Before that, he was a fire inspector for the El Cajon Fire Department in San Diego County for five years.

He will begin the $18,000-a-year job Jan. 2.

Bennett replaces Chief William Canlett who resigned in August.

"All of the members of the board are impressed with his qualifications," said Mrs. Creemer. "He has strong leadership qualities which I think we desperately need."

Bennett is married and the father of two children. He plans to move to the valley in January and his family will join him at the end of the school year.

The new chief is active in scouting and the Mormon Church.

First Ladies In Long Gowns For State Fete

WASHINGTON (UPI) — Through a social snafu at the White House last night, Pat Nixon and Romania's first lady, wore long evening gowns while all the other women guests came in short dresses.

The White House had passed the word that the state dinner in honor of Romanian President Nicolae Ceausescu and his wife would be "informal" because of Communist tradition, instead of the usual black tie attire for such events.

But the first lady's social aides did not bargain on Mrs. Ceausescu, who brought with her a long black and gold gown which she wanted to wear to the White House.

When Mrs. Nixon found out what her guest of honor was wearing, she fetched a shocking pink gown out of her wardrobe to keep the Romanian first lady company in the fashion department.

SENATORIAL SPRUCE

Workmen yesterday raised this year's Congressional Christmas tree on the lawn of the west front of the Capitol. The 3,000-pound, 50-foot white spruce is from the Allegheny National Forest in Pennsylvania. The tree is 43 years old and its length represents the forest's 50th anniversary.

GI Addict Treatment 'Disastrous'

WASHINGTON (UPI) — A leading House proponent of mandatory treatment for drug addicted veterans said today the government has "callously disregarded" the needs of returning drug casualties, causing a "national disagrace."

Basing his comments on a 90-page General Accounting Office study he requested, Rep. John M. Murphy, D-N.Y., said he would propose legislation to rectify the problem, since administration plans for handling GI addicts have ranged from "ineffective to disastrous."

His legislative proposals, he said, would include, when necessary, mandatory civil commitment of drug-addicted servicemen to a federal program of treatment for up to 42 months of medical aid and rehabilitation.

Murphy said because there was no effort to rehabilitate or treat service-connected drug addiction, veterans returning from Vietnam and other parts of the world are unable to get jobs, promotions, education, or licenses to practice a trade.

Ranch Purchase Talks Approved

North Marin County Water District directors, seeking to protect Stafford Lake from pollution, last night authorized negotiations to purchase nearby ranchland.

The district will seek to acquire 366 acres of the Frank Rebelo ranch, which Dist. Mgr. John O. Nelson said has the greatest potential for urban development.

Directors didn't set a price, but asked Nelson to start negotiations and agreed to set a dollar amount at their Jan. 8 meeting.

Nelson sad the 366 acres are valued by the county assessor's office at $232,000.

Director Patrick H. Heffernan urged that the district consider purchasing only the "developable rights to the land," which would cost less and achieve the aim of preventing development. Nelson said the district should seek financial support from Marin County toward the purchase and explore the possibiltiy of use by the county parks and recreation department.

Directors said if the land is purchased, the costs should be spread over a period of time and President George A. Amaroli said "No more than $50,000 a year."

Nelson said the quality of water from Stafford Lake is good but there has been a change in the algae "from the more desirable to the less desirable."

Four dairies, a horse stable, golf course and public park are contributing to pollution and pollution from urban development in the watershed would be significant, Nelson said.

The state Department of Public Health recommended purchase of the Rebelo property to prevent development, he reported.

Directors also reviewed the problem of dairy wastes in the watershed and George R. Ungemach, 35 Verdad Way, said steps should have been taken sooner to control wastes.

Nelson said further studies will be undertaken and that it is hoped ranchers will coordinate their efforts on wastes. He said he hopes that ranchers "are not forced out" by the costs involved because "pollution from development would be even worse."

Call Said Ebbing For Impeachment

NEW ORLEANS (UPI) — Pressure for the impeachment of President Nixon has begun to ebb, but could mount to "irresistible" proportions if the White House fails to completely cooperate with Watergate investigators, according to former Attorney General Elliot Richardson.

Richardson, who was in New Orleans to address the National Association of Attorneys General, told a news conference yesterday he felt it would be premature to try impeachment "at a time when the President has pledged full disclosure."

Board Feels Reservoir Won't Hurt Environment

The North Marin County Water District board decided last night construction of a five million gallon storage reservoir at the Village Marin development on the Pacheco Ranch won't have a significant adverse effect on the environment.

The reservoir, estimated to cost $750,000, will be partially sunk into a hillside, west of Highway 101, and its large flat concrete roof designed to accommodate tennis courts for city use.

The U.S. Development Corp., developers of Village Marin, will pay about $500,000 of the costs under an agreement to be worked out with the district, according to Dist. Mgr. John A. Nelson.

The reservoir on the crest of a knoll on the east slope of Big Rock Ridge will require the removal of about 30 oak and bay trees, according to a preliminary environmental impact report.

The North Marin County Water District board also:

REORGANIZATION — Elected Gorge A. Amaroli board president, succeeding William W. Wright, and Patrick H. Heffernan, vice president, succeeding Amaroli. Director Franklin Gustafson voted to reelect Wright president, but later switched his vote to make it a unanimous vote for Amaroli.

TOMALES AGREEMENT — Approved an agreement whereby the district will make a waste water sutdy at Tomales and Marin County will pay the costs, estimated at $10,000.

FLUORIDATION — Received a report that residents of Marin Valley Mobile Home Park, about 360 persons, who receive Marin Municipal Water District water through an interdistrict contract, have been notified that fluoride has been added to their water supply.

PIPELINE — Awarded C. R. Fedrick Inc. of Novato, low bidder, a contract to install 1,700 feet of 24-inch steel pipeline from Western Oaks to the Crossroads project at a cost of $86,895.

MEETINGS — Set meetings for the first and third Tuesdays at 8 p.m. at the district office, 999 Atherton Avenue, Novato, with provision for one meeting each quarter in West Marin, set meetings for Jan. 8 and 22 because of New Year's Day falling on a regularly scheduled meeting day, and adjourned until 8 p.m. Dec. 18 at West Marin School, Point Reyes Station.

WHO IS RUBY CABERNET... AND WHAT IS SHE DOING IN MARIN?

There are various theories about this young lady's place in California history. We are told by one reliable source that Ruby Cabernet is a reformed hooker out of Barengo, Texas. The story goes that she was wooed to California by promises of a long-term movie contract. Oil barons jumped off oil wells and the cows cried all night and Ruby got a few bit parts in some Harold Raft movies before marrying a famous winemaker who later on jumped into a vat of Pinot Noir when he discovered that Ruby was taking Champagne baths with the grape crusher's son.

Yet another historian of pop-culture suggests that Ruby Cabernet is in fact Ruby Tuesday's half-sister, an ex-rock and roll groupie out of London, England, who came to Marin to be closer to her favorite group - Dino and the Good Guys.

At the Bourbon Shops of Marin, our resident historian finds all of this very confusing and suggests yet another explanation. At U.C. Davis, in 1946, a Professor Harold Olmo, in search of a grape that would grow well in hot climates, crossed two old varieties to combine their best characteristics in a new hybrid grape. Cabernet Sauvignon and Carignane became Ruby Cabernet.

Northwest of Lodi, in 1949, winemaker Dino Barengo was the first to make a wine of Ruby Cabernet. He aged it in French Oak Barrels and produced a red wine with the quality of the noble Cabernet Sauvignon and the vigor of Carignane. Today, Mr. Barengo grows this grape exclusively in his own vineyards.

At the Bourbon Shops of Marin, we have a strong sense of California history and a passion for good wine at a decent price.

TRASH INTO PRECIOUS FUEL

A firm in St. Louis is doing something about the energy crisis — recycling trash into fuel, which is a first in the nation. A payloader (top) pushes the trash onto a conveyor to be converted into fuel for generating electrical power. The processed refuse is taken by truck (below) to Union Electric where it is used for fuel.

(UPI Telephoto)

Garbagemen Awaiting Sanction For Strike

Garbagemen employed by the county's largest trash collection firm continued to make garbage pickups today as they waited for strike sanctions.

Workers at Marin Sanitary Service of San Rafael, members of Teamsters Local 624, rejected a wage and fringe benefit package Monday and voted to strike, but must await strike sanctions by the Teamsters Council, said Joseph F. Segale, coowner of the firm.

Approval of strike action by the parent group is expected to take about a week, he said.

The firm has offered a $1.20 hourly raise over three years, but the union wants $1.80 in hourly raises over three years, he said, as well as additional fringe benefits.

"We're not even close," said Segale. "We've always come to an agreement in the past, but I don't know what's going to happen now. It does look brutal."

The firm has 18,000 subscribers in Ross, Larkspur, San Rafael and Las Gallinas Valley.

Spokesmen for the union were unavailable for comment.

No Energy Lack Seen In Decade

PITTSBURGH (UPI) — S. William Gouse, research and development director in the U.S. Department of the Interior, predicted yesterday in 10 to 12 years "there will be no shortage of energy in any form." But he said first, the United States will have to triple its coal use by 1985.

"That's 1,800 million tons per year," Gouse told a workshop on research and educational needs at Carnegie-Mellon University. "There is no shortage of basic resources to solve the energy crisis."

Start Is Refused On Condominium

Permission to start construction was refused last night by Sausalito city councilmen for developers of the 18-unit Glen Grove luxury condominium complex.

The project, proposed for a 3.5-acre lot at 265 Santa Rosa Avenue, was rejected after neighbors complained in a petition that its environmental impact report gave too little attention to parking and traffic problems.

The city planning commission on Nov. 7 had recommended approval of both the environmental report and the project itself.

Backers of the project last night sought renewal of the conditional use permit needed for construction. The last permit, which expired July 19, contained 30 stipulations as to design, layout and construction of the project.

Mayor Robin Sweeny attributed the rejection to traffic and parking problems, which she said need further attention from the builders.

The builders protested that their work was planned with the city staff's cooperation, and that they had been led to believe the project met all requirements.

The matter was tentatively scheduled for reconsideration Dec. 18. Developers first applied for the conditional use permit in January, 1971. The project was delayed by planning revisions and preparation of environmental reports.

Developer of the project is David Hunter.

The Sausalito City Council Also:

TRIDENT-ONDINE — Refused Ronald R. MacAnnan's request for assurance that in the event of destruction of his building, which houses the Ondine and Trident restaurants, he will be allowed to rebuild to present nonconforming specifications.

DEED — With Mayor Sweeny abstaining for lack of information, declared it will not try to prevent conversion of Ardilla Towers apartments at 35 Rodeo Avenue to condominiums.

WATER — Resolved to protest Marin Municipal Water District's expressed intention to discontinue to serve Wolfback Ridge residents among other customers not within district boundaries, the district citing a potential water shortage.

HOUSING — Unanimously approved a six-unit planned development at 319 Sausalito Boulevard for Gary Tucker, as recommended by the planning commission.

EBBTIDE — Told disgruntled residents of the Ebbtide apartments city staff would assist them in negotiating terms of their forced departure from the building recently bought by the Delancey Street Foundation for its use as a residence for rehabilitated former convicts and dope addicts.

CASA MADRONA — Postponed till next Tuesday at 8 p.m. discussion of city staff's recommendation that the old Casa Madrona Hotel, which houses Le Vivoir Restaurant above the Village Fair, be condemned as a result of landslides last year.

ENVIRONMENT REPORTS — Approved on first reading, after two hours discussion, an ordinance that any development of sufficient impact to require an environmental impact report be required also to secure a use permit, answering landowners objections by saying it is intended only to insure greater review of projects.

Rush Is On To Meet Marin City Deadline

A federal deadline that Marin County Housing authority officials apparently didn't take seriously enough now confronts the agency with a last-minute rush to salvage the $500,000 modernization program of the Marin City high-rise apartments.

The Department of Housing and Urban Development insists that a contractor be hired by Dec. 31 to do the work, modernization coordinator William Rinkenberger told the authority board last night.

"We have a bad case of the shorts," when it comes to time, Rinkenberger ruefully said. "If we get one 'no' from HUD we're dead."

He said he rushed preliminary plans and specifications for the work to HUD offices in San Francisco yesterday and has ordered advertisements for contractors' bids to run in three Bay Area newspapers Friday. The bids will be opened Dec. 21, if all goes well.

Rinkenberger said the federal housing officials had reversed an earlier — verbal — assurance that work need only "be well down the road" but not actually under contract by Dec. 31, to qualify for federal funds.

Housing authority director Rogers Jones complained: "This authority has had more than six months to prepare the plans, but now it's working right up to the deadline."

One of the two architects working on the plans has been ill and the second was called away by a family emergency.

Marin County Housing Authority Board Also:

HAMILTON — Agreed, after considerable discussion, that the board needs what member Robert E. Ecklund Jr. called "a shirtsleeve workshop session" with the Ecumenical Housing Association of Marin to discuss the two groups' different plans for using surplus, obsolete housing declared surplus at Hamilton Air Force Base.

SURVEY — Unanimously agreed to contract with the county planning department for an inventory of vacant public property that might be used as housing sites. If any of the land unneeded by school districts, cities or other local districts looks promising, the planners may be hired further to survey the feasibility of such sites.

BUDGET — Approved submission of revised budget figures for 1973 to the Department of Housing and Urban Development as a basis for 1974 financing. Shepherd said income of $305,000 is higher than expected due to more efficient rent and utility bill collection, leaving the authority with about $3,000 more reserves than last year.

VACANCIES — Heard Program Mgr. Paul E. Nixon report that only seven low rent units in Marin City were available for occupancy last month. Seven leased housing units were vacant elsewhere in the county. Nixon reported 24 units in Marin City actually were empty, but 11 of them are held for renovation, one was gutted by fire, one is unsafe, and the remaining four are unusable for various reasons.

CLOSED SESSION — Met for 55 minutes behind closed doors to discuss "litigation regarding model lease and grievance procedures," according to authority attorney Howard K. Morehouse.

Fair Trade China Pact Is Pushed

WASHINGTON (UPI) — A high-level congressional delegation wants the United States to end trade discrimination against China, a concession Congress is reluctant to grant the Soviet Union.

The eight-member delegation, which toured China in July, urged in its report yesterday that Congress give Nixon the power to grant China "most favored nation" status.

This designation, now accorded Western nations, would lower U.S. tariffs on Chinese exports to this country and pave the way for increased trade.

President Nixon has asked for a trade bill which would grant "most favored nation" status to the Soviet Union and other Communist countries but Congress is determined to attach a rider which would block such action unless Moscow liberalize its Jewish emigration policy.

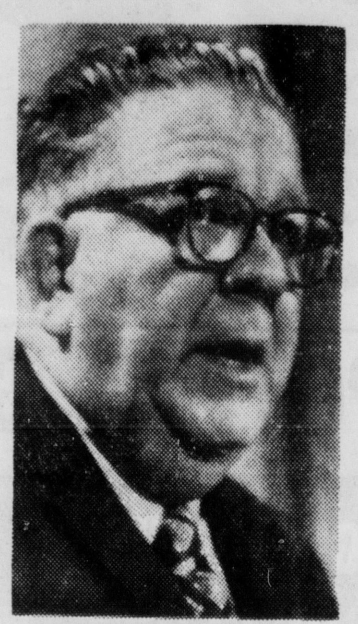
Teamsters Leader Will Propose A 60-Mile-An-Hour Speed Limit

CHICAGO (UPI) — Teamsters president Frank Fitzsimmons, seeking to settle the energy crisis for truckers in a "sane way," today was to propose to the Nixon Administration's fuel advisers a 60 mile an hour speed limit for trucks and cars on federal highways instead of the much discussed 55 miles per hour speed limit.

Fitzsimmons told a news conference yesterday that trucking rigs "fueled with diesel operate more efficiently at higher speeds than at the low speeds suggested by Congress."

The teamster head said his union was "in no way associated with nor do we support" the blocking of highways by truck drivers in four Eastern states yesterday to protest slower speed limits and higher fuel prices.

He also criticized a call by Overdrive magazine for a shutdown of long distance trucking Dec. 13-14.



FRANK FITZSIMMONS
Against highway blocking

"The magazine is a phoney," Fitzsimmons said. "The editor is a phoney. He's a leech. ... Teamsters will settle their problems in a sane way, not with a work stoppage."

Fitzsimmons said tests conducted by Teamsters last week show that a 60 m.p.h. speed limit "would take care of our schedules and conserve fuel."

The proposed 55 mph speed limit would result in too much lost time and lost wages for teamsters," Fitzsimmons said.

If necessary, the union head said his group will re-open negotiations under a clause in the recently negotiated national contract.

Seifert, 66 Morning Sun Avenue, vice president; Marjorie T. Roberts, 115 Highland Lane, secretary; Henry G. Coit, 251 Perry Sreet, treasurer.

James E. Adams, 9 Homestead Boulevard; John J. Eiler of 140 Stadium Avenue; and Jody Marks of 917 Vernal Avenue, were elected to the board of directors.

Secretary Back On Erased Tape

WASHINGTON (UPI) — Federal Judge John J. Sirica summoned Rose Mary Woods, President Nixon's personal secretary, for further questioning today about a 18-minute gap in a White House Watergate tape. She said she was unable to shed any more light on the matter.

Sirica asserted that "we want to get to the bottom of this" as he interrupted other testimony to order Miss Woods to be called for her third appearance to testify about obliteration of a conversation between Nixon and his former top aide, H. R. Haldeman, on June 20, 1972.

Miss Woods appeared in Sirica's court soon after his order from the bench, testifying she had absolutely no idea how the 18 minutes were obliterated from the tape, or whether any of the tapes had been deliberately tampered with.

"We want to find out the truth in this matter," Sirica told Miss Woods. "Do you know anything that would throw light on this very serious problem about what caused that 18-minute gap?

"Whether by accident or some action thereby causing to erase something this court should have had access to — to cover up something or prevent justice being done? It doesn't matter whom it hurts."

She replied: "If I could offer any idea, any proof, any knowledge of how that 18-minute gap happened, no body on earth would be happier to offer it."

"Do you have any knowledge that anyone tampered with, altered, erased or obliterated any portion of those tapes?" asked Jill J. Volner, an assistant special prosecutor.

"No, ma'am, I don't," Miss Woods replied.

After Miss Woods' first testimony Nov. 8 indicating she was to blame for the tape gap, she said at a second appearance in Sirica's court that she was not sure what she might have erased or how.

Other testimony left questions about how the full erasure might have occurred and why Miss Woods did not mention it.

"I think the whole thing should be opened up," Sirica interjected during questioning of Samuel J. Powers, a White House attorney. "Have her come right down."

Miss Woods appearance delayed testimony by Alexander M. Haig who succeeded Haldeman as Nixon's White House chief of staff.

Other Watergate developments:

Sen. Sam J. Ervin, D-N.D., chairman of the Senate Watergate committee, said "there's very little doubt" that Charles G. "Bebe" Rebozo, a close friend of the President, would be called to testify publicly on a $100,000 Nixon campaign contribution from billionaire Howard Hughes which was later returned.

Sen. Jacob K. Javits, R-N.Y., said confirmation of Rep. Gerald R. Ford to be vice president this week would intensify the question of whether Nixon should resign.

New Home Heating Oil Prices Allowed

WASHINGTON (UPI) — The federal government moved today to increase the price of home heating oil as part of its energy crisis strategy of reducing gasoline output and avoiding rationing.

The Cost of Living Council, which has charge of the government economic stabilization program, decided to allow new pricing scheduled for heating fuel to encourage refineries to switch more production from gasoline.

The theory behind the plan is that by allowing the industry a greater profit on heating oil than the more profitable gasoline, increased amounts of fuel to heat homes—and also to run trucks—would be available.

That switch would reduce gasoline supplies and thus reduce consumption, possibly without the necessity of rationing which Nixon strongly opposes.

The President is expected to make a decision within a month on the rationing question. He called in his cabinet and other top advisers—including newly named energy adviser William E. Simon—to discuss the situation this morning.

The fuels shortages were caused by an embargo on U.S. shipments by the major Arab oil-producing countries because of American support for Israel.

Secretary of State Henry A. Kissinger arranged a meeting this afternoon with Oil Minister Sheikh Ahmed Zaki of Saudi Arabia to discuss the situation.

If refineries increase heating oil production, presumably that would have the effect of increasing supplies of diesel fuel used in express trucks. Shortages of diesel were partly blamed for scattered protest blockages by truckers of some major highways in several states.

Whether or not gasoline rationing comes, Simon said yesterday, Americans will be paying a lot more for gasoline to run their cars and oil to heat their homes. Gasoline prices already are going up—past 50 cents a gallon—in some areas of the country.

Cotati Orders A Sewage Policy

The Cotati City Council last night instructed the city staff to work out some guidelines on how the city's remaining sewer capacity should be divided among new developments.

The city, which contracts with Rohnert Park for sewage treatment, has had a moratorium on new sewer hookups since September. After metering the sewer flow, it was reported last night that the city has only 46,000 gallons a day capacity still available.

(Cotati has contracted with Rohnert Park for 250,000 gallons a day, and the latter city has indicated it will not accept any more.)

Both cities plan to contract with the Laguna plant in South Santa Rosa for sewage treatment when the new facility is completed, estimated at some time in 1976 to 1978, according to Donna Olson, deputy city clerk in Cotati.

In the meantime, she said, it has been estimated that 180 new dwelling units would use up Cotati's present sewage capacity. The council will wrestle with the problem of deciding which developers will get hookups after a staff report, she said.

The Cotati City Council Also:

TREES — Gave the park and recreation commission $40 to purchase four Christmas trees for the city plaza.

AIDE — Agreed to spend $75 a month for a college student who will work six months as an administrative aide to the city manager. The rest of the $280-a-month salary will be paid by the League of California Cities.

EMERGENCY — Authorized the chief of police to act as city manager in the event of the manager being absent in time of emergency.

Ferries Asked To Put Sewage Into Pipelines

Sausalito-Marin City Sanitary District directors are requiring that all ferry and tour boats docking in Sausalito pump sewage from holding tanks into district sewer lines and that meters be installed to monitor the flow.

Currently, one ferry, the Golden Gate, is discharging sewage into the district system, rather than flusing it into the bay, according to district Chairman George F. Carney.

Although enforcement from the state is lacking, Carney said, "we are trying to stay ahead of every requirement so when it is policed we are ready to handle it."

At a meeting Monday, directors also called for bids for four standby generators to guard against power failures at district pump stations. Deadline for bids is 3 p.m. Jan. 4, Carney said.

Boy Is Booked In Girl's Death

Raymond A. Shields of Oakland was booked yesterday for investigation of murder in the slaying of Wendi L. Martin, 17, police said.

They said Shields was taken into custody Monday after he told officers he went to Miss Martin's house and found her body, ripped by at least 30 stab wounds.

British Drinkers Must Also Lie

LONDON (UPI) — Britons say they smoke less and drink less than any other country in the world, but the government statistical office says there is one fault with the claim—it's a lie.

A spokesman for the agency said a survey of 7,000 residents on the level of their consumption of drink and tobacco was so far below the level expected from the known yield of duties on these items that the statisticians concluded they had to be lying.

Merchants Lose Round Over Signs

The San Rafael Planning Commission last night denied appeals by seven merchants requesting variances to permit existing outsized or otherwise nonconforming signs.

Denied were appeals of planning department sign removal notices for Country Club Bowl at 88 Vivian Way; Stan's Sports, Third Street and Grand Avenue; Burt Capel Co, 49 Simms Street; Royce Finance Plan, 935 Lootens Place; Robert's Gentlemen's Apparel, 937 Fourth Street; Hotel Carmel, 830 B Street, and Bush Realty Co., 819 A Street.

The commission approved an appeal by Bret Harte Market, 93 Woodland Avenue, and granted conditional approval for an oversized sign at LaFayette French Pastry, 820 D Street. Given one-year to bring signs up to city code were Romulus restaurant at 1242 Fourth Street, and Mission Heating Co. at 32 Woodland Avenue.

Action was postponed on sign appeals by King Henry VIII at Third and A streets and Lyons Ryan Ford, Inc., at 619 Francisco Boulevard.

Commissioner Alan Kay was absent, according to a planning department spokesman.

The commission next meets at 8 p.m. Monday in city hall.

The Pentagon is five stories high and consists of five rings of buildings connected by 17½ miles of 10 spoke-like corridors, with a five-acre pentagonal court in the center.

Sociologist Defends Grand Jury Make-Up

Well-educated, older and middle-class Marin residents make the best grand jurors, a sociologist testified yesterday at a pretrail hearing in the San Quentin Six murder case.

Dr. John F. Scott of the University of California at Davis, a prosecution witness, disputed earlier defense testimony that the exclusion of minorities and persons of low income from the grand jury violates the civil liberties of those under investigation by the panel.

In fact, said Scott, the young, the uneducated and the lower-income resident would make a poor grand jury member.

Defense attorneys for the San Quentin Six-inmates charged with murder and conspiracy in connection with the Aug. 21, 1971, violence at the prison which left six dead — are challenging the composition of the grand jury which handed up the indictments.

The hearing before Judge Vernon Stoll of Nevada County is scheduled to conclude tomorrow, and Stoll is expected to study the almost three weeks of testimony and argument before coming to a decision.

Italian Society Honors Alioto

BOSTON (UPI) — San Francisco Mayor Joseph L. Alioto received the highest award of the Massachusetts Italian-American Charitable Society (IACS) last night.

IACS president Carmen W. Elio presented Alioto with the award, which is given annually by the 300-member group of prominent Italo-American businessmen and civic and political leaders.

Alioto received the award for "his deeds and accomplishments" which have "contributed to the Italo-American community and image—nationwide."

Offshore Drilling Expansion Is Urged

LOS ANGELES (UPI) — The president of the American Petroleum Institute yesterday called for immediate expansion of the nation's offshore drilling to tap vast deposits of crude oil and natural gas.

Frank N. Ikard, who said the energy shortage will remain "very real and very serious" for up to 15 years, assured that new technology in the oil industry provides ample safeguards against blowouts and other pollution problems.

A $200,000 Wrongful Death Suit

The wife and infant son of a young Army man have filed a $200,000 wrongful death suit against a teen-age Novato driver in Marin Superior Court.

Army Sp/4 Rayburn H. McClellan, 25, of the Presidio of San Francisco, was killed the night of June 20 when struck by a car while he was afoot on northbound Highway 101 near Hamilton Air Force Base.

McClellan, a passenger in a friend's car, was trying to remove fragments of a metal ladder from the road, after it fell from a passing truck. He was hit by a car driven by Deborah Davy, 17, of 227 San Felipe Way, according to the California Highway Patrol.

The suit asks $100,000 damages each to Mrs. McClellan and 21-month old Rayburn Scott McClellan, from Miss Davy and her mother, Frances Davy, owner of the car.

Cattlemen Don't Like Speed Cut

MEMPHIS, Tenn. (UPI) — Reduced speed limits could slenderize cattle and result in profit losses to cattlemen, the vice president of the American National Cattlemen's Association said.

"Stress and strain on cows being transported over long trips" at 50 miles per hour could reduce animals' weights, R. B. Carothers told members of the group Monday on the first of their two-day meeting here.

Carothers, of Paris, Tenn., said cattlemen are already losing about $100 per animal at the market due to beef surpluses and lowered beef prices in gro

Marin May Fight Parking Tax Plan

The Marin County Counsel's Office announced yesterday it has taken preliminary steps toward a possible court battle over the federal Environmental Protection Agency's plan to tax private and public parking spaces.

County Counsel Douglas J. Maloney told county supervisors he has filed a "petition for review" with the federal Court of Appeals, thus preserving the county's right to challenge the new federal tax. (Other county supervisors stories, page 1)

Maloney, whose action was ratified by the full board, said it was authorized last week — subject to yesterday's vote — by Chairman Arnold M. Baptiste when it was discovered the petition deadline was last Thursday.

"Although it is not impossible that the county might ultimately not wish to oppose these regulations, I believe that we should preserve our options and protect our legal standing lest it be forever lost," Maloney wrote.

The federal agency's plan, called the California Transportation Control Plan, seeks to place a tax on private and public parking lots with revenues to be used for mass transit.

County Administrator John F. Barrows told the board the county could be taxed $144,000 next fiscal year and $920,000 the following fiscal year for its 1,600 parking spaces at Civic Center.

While the money is to be used for mass transit, Maloney said, it is not clear how the money is to be distributed after going through the federal paper mill.

Marin County Board of Supervisors Also:

APPOINTMENT — Appointed Ann Bruce Campbell Lafranchi of Nicasio to the 23-member solid waste management committee studying recycling methods for Marin.

HAMILTON — Endorsed the City of Novato's preliminary plan for use of surplus land and facilities at Hamilton Air Force Base. The plan says simply the surplus property will be used for public housing, education, recreation and social service programs. Chairman Baptiste noted the land has not yet been declared surplus and is being held up in the House Armed Forces Committee.

BOYD HOUSE — Postponed to Jan. 15 a request from the City of San Rafael that the county share in $50,000 worth of remodeling at the city-owned Boyd House so the Marin County Historical Society can continue to use the historic old building.

DRAINAGE — Approved $2,500 worth of drainage work on a county-owned parcel on Los Cerros Drive in Greenbrae. Erosion along a small creek running through the two-acre site is threatening an adjacent landowners property at 515 Los Cerros.

SHERIFF — Appropriated $3,857 to carry Lt. Ronald A. Retana, now on the disabled list, through March 15, when his aggregate leave time is up and temporarily delayed the demotion of another lieutenant, previously scheduled because of the corrections department takeover of the honor farm.

HEARING — Set Dec. 18 for a hearing on the firing of microbiologist Joseph A. Valu. The hearing will deal with procedural aspects of future hearings into the dismissal, which was upheld by the personnel commission last month.

WATERWAYS — Amended the county's tidal waterways ordinance to bring it in line with regulations governing the coastal commission. Amendments to the ordinance place greater restrictions on buildings that would block public view of water.

OPEN ZONING — Amended the county's open area zoning classification to cover not only publicly owned and but also private lands with the owner's permission. The amendment is aimed at covering areas listed as private open space in developer's plans.

SIGN REVIEW — Authorized local design review boards to also review and pass on sign applications. The county has only one design review board, in Tamalpais Valley, and its decisions are subject to appeal to the county planning commission.

ANNEXATION — Authorized the annexation of a 12-acre strip of county-owned land running between the old and new Lucas Valley roads to the City of San Rafael. The strip is adjacent to city-owned property and gives San Rafael planning jurisdiction over the land. The strip runs from Huckleberry to Sequeira roads.

APPEAL — Upheld the appeal of Frank McAuliffe of Lagunitas, who protested the planning commission's decision that remodeling of his apartment complex on Sir Francis Drake Boulevard include an exterior of wood and stucco. McAuliffe said he wanted only stucco.

Shoppers Cast Eyes On Smaller Markets

way, Greenbrae — "We'd probably go to 7-11 and buy canned meat or something like that. I stocked up yesterday by accident, so I won't have to go for a few weeks."

Ambrose Rossi, 64, retired gardener, 1722 Fifth Avenue, San Rafael — "I would have to go to the smaller markets if any of them was open, but everybody else would go in there and buy everything up. They may get shut down, too."

Ronald Rahmer, 35, electrician, 365 Carrera Drive, Mill Valley — "I don't think it's going to come to that, but there are small markets also. It's not anything that can't be overcome. I imagine they'll still get the supplies that would be going to the bigger markets."

Uleen Hood, housewife and nurse's aid, 946 Santa Alicia Driver, Rohnert Park — "Starve."

Sandra Hames, unemployed nurse and housewife, 1274 McGregor Avenue, Petaluma — "I'd get up early and shop like I did today. I went to Albertson's."

James Tuller, barber, 152 Kentucky Street, Petaluma — "What could I do? Starve to death, I guess."

Else Goodhope, 45, manager of motel-apartment complex, 45 Tamal Vista Boulevard, Corte Madera — "Probably starve. I would get very upset like everyone else. I probably would have to cook fish for a long time. It would really be terrible."

Nancy O'Leary, 31, homemaker, 40 Sycamore Avenue, Larskpur — "I guess use the small markets. I would just use whatever markets are available."

A. A. Cole, 62, homemaker, 140 Rancheria Road, Kentfield — "Swear a little. I guess the only thing one can do when one needs meat is buy less of it at a place where it costs more and reduce the amount of it you eat."

Kenneth S. Garwick, retired military man, 245 Richardson Drive, Strawberry — "I do most of my shopping at the commissary so I don't think it will affect me."

Mrs. Lynwood Howard, 80, Park Avenue, Bolinas — "We don't have anything here but a nice hippie store that's still open. I buy everything there."

Charlotte Ross, 80 Beach Road, Belvedere, housewife — "I'm upset because I do some shopping at supermarkets. I'll make up for it by going to the independents more. But I'm worried that they might close too."

Barbara Sabin, 52, housewife, 305 Miller Avenue, Mill Valley — "I'm aware of the problem but I haven't thought about what I'll do. We shop at several stores and some we go to are still open."

Portia Johnsen, housewife, 61 Suffield Avenue, San Anselmo — "There's just two of us and we eat out quite a bit. If it happened I'd patronize independent grocers. I do that a lot anyway."

Ruth Sanford, housewife, 12030 Shoreline Highway, Point Reyes Station — "I'll just patronize my local market here in town. They're independent and I don't think they'll be affected."

Lurie Short, 22, student, 7 Sky Road, Mill Valley — "I'd probably organize some kind of consumer group and try to stop it. Maybe I'd write Congress. I'd certainly be against it."

Richard C. Turner, 61, retired military, 65 Gustafson Court, Novato — "In my case, I do have access to the commissary. Otherwise we'd be in bad shape."

Freda Fortner, 50, housewife, 20 Nave Court, Novato — "There's not much you can do . . . you have to trade where you can. You sure can't grow your own cattle."

Doris Bradford, 74, housewife, 1603 Hotchkin Drive, Novato — "I went through the depression and I'm not worried about it. I don't panic very easily. We survived and if I don't have meat for a while I won't die.

Oil From Shale Idea Is Dumped

ODESSA, Tex. (UPI) — Former Interior Secretary Stewart Udall said yesterday the United States cannot expect shale deposits in Utah, Wyoming and Colorado to produce enough oil to ease the energy crisis.

"I believe it will be 400 years before we can depend on petroleum products from shale," he told University of Texas-Permian Basin students.

To ease the problem, Udall said both gas rationing and increased taxes will be necessary. He favored the latter.

"Rationing is going to be a mess—it's going to be very difficult," he said. "But I believe the American people are able to face it."

LAW IN ACTION

False Reports Lead To Suits

"There are two times in a man's life when he should not speculate: when he can't afford it and when he can."

J. P. didn't take that advice. He jumped into Surefire Equities International. He thought he had good advice, for the company gave him their certified audit reports. He not only bought stock, but made loans to the company on the strength of the reports. These were wrong. They showed the company to be solvent. In fact, it was not.

J. P. sued the accounting firm and proved that they might have known the accountants were negligent, and should have expected investors would rely on the reports. J. P. was able to get back some of his loss from the firm that wrote the accounting report.

It used to be that a professional document service, or product, was done solely for the client who ordered it. Only that client would sue for a mistake or error in the service or product.

Now, anyone who might reasonably be expected to rely on the report has a right to hold the professional responsible if he acted negligently. Accountants, title companies, soil engineers, banks — anyone who prepares services which others might rely on, have a right to sue.

In one case a soil engineer prepared a report for a property owner, knowing that the property would be offered for sale. A builder bought the lot, and relied on the report which showed that the lot was stable. This wasn't so. The report had been negligently prepared. The builder held the soil engineer responsible.

A faulty report can create a disaster. A financial advisor publishes a report. This encourages a large number of people to invest. The report turns out to be false. Those who relied on the report can hold the firm liable in a "class action."

Ban Ordered On All Beer Truck Picketing

SAN FRANCISCO (UPI) — A federal judge yesterday issued a 45-day ban on all picketing by beer truck drivers in their 161-day strike in the East Bay Area.

U.S. District Judge Alfonso J. Zirpoli halted all pickets, because "the legal picketing has become so intermeshed wit illegal acts that it cannot be distinguished."

The judge set Jan. 4 for another hearing on the subject, at which time he will determine what contempt fines he will impose for violations of an injunction he issued Sept. 26 banning illegal picketing.

The National Labor Relations Board has charged nearly 100 instances of illegal picketing.

TRAFFIC SNARL — Traffic leading to the Delaware Memorial Bridge (noted on map) was tied up for almost seven hours early today as truck drivers jammed traffic in a protest to higher fuel prices and reduced speed limits.

Two Areas Broadened By Trustees

Personal leave on religious holdiays and grievance procedures were broadened last night for Kentfield School District employees by district trustees.

Personnel can obtain an additional two days of personal leave under the "religious leave" policy if they use their alloted days in observance of religious holidays. Dr. Eugene C. Peters, district superintendent, said the change is intended to benefit members of Jewish and other faiths which do not recognize Christmas and Easter as the primary religious holidays.

The grievance procedure was changed to include all district personnel rather than just teachers and allows complaints to be brought before administration and trustes.

Both actions were on 4-0 votes with Trustee Bruce A. Koppe absent.

The board deferred appointment of a citizens' advisory council because a selection committee screening potential members has not completed its work.

Trustees will next meet Jan. 8 at 8 p.m. in A.G. Bacich School.

Tires Are Slashed On Parked Autos

At least 10 tires were slashed on eight cars parked in the vicinity of Fifth and Tamalpais Avenues early yesterday, San Rafael police reported today.

One victim, who called officers at 12:29 a.m., told police she saw at least three cars towed away with multiple flats; five remained on the scene with one or more tires flat.

Truckers Tie Up Vital Eastern Link

By U.P. INTERNATIONAL

Truck drivers today jammed traffic on superhighways in Ohio and Indiana, and blocked movement for seven hours on both sides of the Delaware Memorial Bridge, a vital link between New Jersey, Delaware and Pennsylvania. It was their third day of protests against higher fuel prices and lowered speed limits.

Today's demonstrations followed similar occurrences Monday and yesterday on highways in Pennsylvania, Ohio, Connecticut, West Virginia and New Jersey.

More than 500 truckers voluntarily cleared their rigs from the Delaware Memorial Bridge at about 9 a.m. after holding on-the-spot news conferences with scores of television, radio and newspaper reporters.

Delaware State Police said they waited out the situation because arrests might "trigger violence or widespread traffic stoppages."

Indiana State Police said that between 80 and 100 trucks blocked the east and west lanes of the Northern Indiana Toll Road today about seven miles east of South Bend.

Police said a spokesman for the truckers presented a list of demands including a top fuel price of 35.9 cents per gallon, a national speed limit on all federal highways of 65 mph, a stoppage to fuel exports and an increase in all freight rates.

In addition to traffic stoppage at the Memorial Bridge, there were reports of minor tie-ups in Delaware on Routes 40 and 13.

The Ohio Highway Patrol said today that about 300 to 350 drivers were involved in three incidents on the Ohio Turnpike. The tractor-trailers shut down 27 miles of highway between the Sandusky-Norwalk and Lorain-Elyria exits at about 7 a.m. EST. Motorists were ordered away from the area.

An estimated 300 truck drivers gathered at a truck stop near Hebron, 32 miles east of Columbus to plan stragegy. Some of them brought their rigs to an area about 20 miles east of the city and blocked the west-bound lane of Interstate 70. Motorists were detoured around the trucks.

On Monday afternoon, the drivers of 12 tractor-trailers blocked Interstate 84 along the Connecticut-New York border near Danbury, Conn. for 35 minutes.

SOME EXCELLENT DISHES

Low Calorie Holiday Menu

Following a low calorie menu through the holiday weeks isn't easy, but there are some dishes that are excellent and calorie-counted, too.

A roast turkey is probably the best way to start the menu. It has high-quality protein and is comparatively low in calories.

Roast the turkey unstuffed (place celery leaves and carrot in the cavity for added flavor). Bake the stuffing separately. This eliminates any fat from the turkey getting into the stuffing which would add extra calories.

Also, cook the giblets in chicken broth and make gravy (if gravy is a must) using the giblet liquor, thickening it with a flour and water paste rather than starting with turkey drippings or other fat.

CLAM DIP

1 teaspoon lemon juice
1 teaspoon Worcestershire sauce
2 tablespoons clam liquor (from drained clams)
1½ cups low-fat cottage cheese
½ teaspoon garlic salt
½ teaspoon seasoned salt
Dash tabasco
Fresh ground pepper
1 7½-ounce can minced clams, drained (reserve liquor)
Chopped parsley
Fresh vegetables (carrot, celery, cucumber and zucchini strips)

In blender bowl, place lemon juice, Worcestershire sauce, clam juice, cottage cheese, garlic salt, seasoned salt, tabasco and pepper. Blend until smooth, scraping down sides of bowl frequently. Fold in drained clams. Turn into serving bowl; sprinkle on fresh parsley. Place vegetable strips around bowl of dip on serving plate. Makes 2 cups dip; approximately 13 calories per tablespoon.

LOW-CALORIE PERSIMMON SHERBET

1 egg, separated
¼ cup sugar
⅛ teaspoon salt
1 cup fresh persimmon pulp
2 tablespoons lemon juice
⅓ cup ice cold water
⅓ cup non-fat dry milk

Combine egg yolk, sugar, salt, persimmon pulp and lemon juice, mixing well; set aside. Place egg white and water in small mixer bowl (have bowl and beaters chilled); sprinkle on non-fat dry milk. Beat on low speed until milk is dissolved, then beat on high speed until stiff. Fold in persimmon mixture. Turn into 8-inch square pan: place in freezer until firm (several hours). Makes 6 servings, approximately 102 calories per serving. (Note: If persimmons are very ripe and sweet, only 3 tablespoons sugar may be used.

CRANBERRY CONFETTI PIE

3 envelopes unflavored gelatin, divided
3½ cups cranberry juice cocktail, divided
1 3-ounce package lime-flavored gelatin
1½ cups boiling water
½ cup non-fat dry milk
½ cup ice cold water
1 tablespoon lemon juice
1 teaspoon vanilla
3 tablespoons sugar

Sprinkle 1 envelope of unflavored gelatin over ½ cup of the cranberry juice cocktail and let stand until softened. Place over low heat, stirring, until gelatin is dissolved. Stir in 1 cup cranberry juice cocktail, mixing well.

Turn into 8-inch square pan and chill until firm. Dissolve lime gelatin in the boiling water and turn into another 8-inch square pan. Chill until firm (Do ahead to allow gelatin to be very firm, overnight, if desired).

To make pie, sprinkle remaining 2 envelopes of plain gelatin over 1 cup of the cranberry juice cocktail and let stand until moistened. Place over low heat, stirring, until dissolved; stir in remaining 1 cup cranberry juice cocktail. Chill until syrupy.

Cut red and green gelatin into ½'' cubes; return to refrigerator. Meanwhile, combine non-fat dry milk, ice water, lemon juice and vanilla in small mixer bowl (have bowl and beaters thoroughly chilled).

Beat until thick on high speed. Gradually beat in sugar and continue beating until mixture stands in stiff peaks. Fold whipped milk mixture into the syrupy cranberry mixture.

Fold in ½ of the red and green gelatin cubes. Turn into 9-inch pie plate. Chill several hours until firm.

To serve, scatter remaining gelatin cubes around edge of pie and garnish with additional non-fat milk topping, if desired. Cut into wedges.

WHEAT GERM party pie can put the finishing touch on a perfect dinner. Just before serving it is garnished with grated semi sweet chocolate and wheat germ.

A Wheat Germ Party Pie Makes An Excellent Treat

Holiday gatherings, large and small, are upon us, and these special occasions call for special desserts, such as wheat germ party pie.

In no way is it an ordinary pie — starting from the crust up. In fact it's the crust that makes this one something special in the way of desserts. Make it like a meringue shell with a fluffy egg white base. Fold in a cup of toasted wheat germ, then bake in a buttered pie plate half an hour. The filling is just as easy — sweetened whipped cream. This is a make ahead dessert and develops its character as it chills several hours or overnight. Just before serving sprinkle on equal parts of grated semi sweet chocolate and wheat germ.

WHEAT GERM PARTY PIE

3 egg whites
1 teaspoon vanilla
1¼ cups sugar
¼ teaspoon baking powder
1 cup regular wheat germ
1 cup whipping cream
Chocolate Wheat Germ Garnish

Beat egg whites until stiff but not dry. Add vanilla. Slowly beat in 1 cup sugar mixed with baking powder. Fold in regular wheat germ. Spread evenly in bottom and against sides of buttered 9-inch pie pan. Bake in 325° oven 30 minutes. Cool. Whip cream and remaining ¼ cup sugar until stiff. Spread in wheat germ crust. Chill 4 to 5 hours or overnight before serving. Sprinkle with Chocolate Wheat Germ Garnish. Makes 1 (9-inch) pie.

Chocolate wheat germ garnish: Combine 1 tablespoon grated semi sweet chocolate and 1 tablespoon regular wheat germ.

Turkey Loaf From Frozen Leftovers

Those who have frozen leftovers from the Thanksgiving turkey may enjoy using them in this holiday season salad that is a luncheon in itself.

JELLIED CRANBERRY-TURKEY LOAF

Cranberry layer:

1 envelope unflavored gelatin
¼ cup cold water
1 can (1 pound) whole berry cranberry sauce
1 can (9-ounces) crushed pineapple
⅓ cup broken nutmeats
1 Tbsp. lemon juice

Soften gelatin in cold water. Dissolve over hot water. Add remaining ingredients. Turn into a loaf pan 10x6x1½ inches. Chill well.

Turkey layer:

1 envelope unflavored gelatin
¼ cup cold water
½ cup cold water
¾ cup mayonnaise
2 Tbsp. lemon juice
Grated rind of ½ lemon
½ teaspoon salt
2 cups diced cooked turkey
½ cup diced celery

Soften gelatin in one-quarter cup cold water. Dissolve over hot water. Combine with remaining ingredients. Spoon over cranberry layer. Chill thoroughly until firm. Turn out on crisp greens. Makes six to eight servings.

Try Cornish Hens Next For Dinner

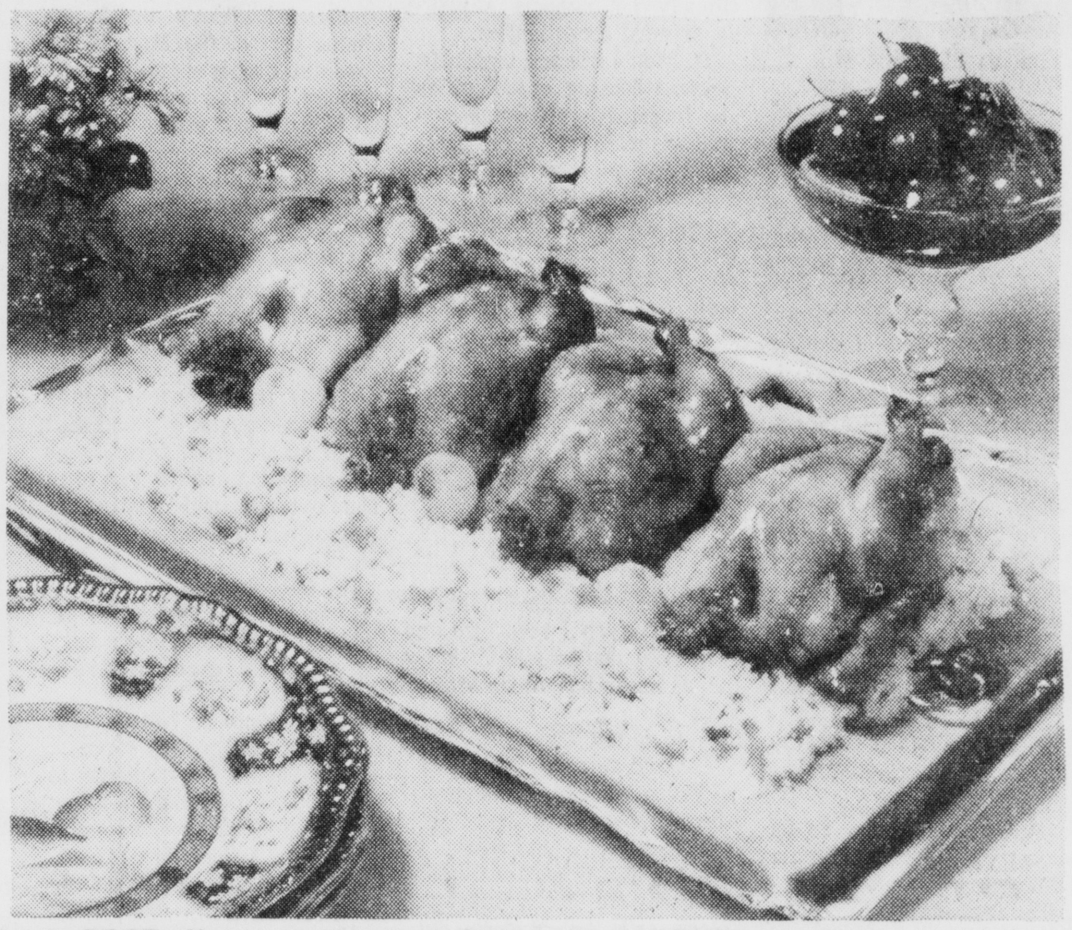
There is nothing more impressive for a festive dinner menu than cornish hens, cooked to perfection. Small of bone and all white meat, they are especially succulent when foil roasted.

In supermarkets, the little birds are found in frozen poultry bins. They should be defrosted with wrapping intact, preferably in the refrigerator. Sizes range from about 1 to 1½ pounds.

By the time they are roasted, the birds of 1 pound or less make only one good serving.

But the largest cooked birds can, with skillful carving down center, turn out two servings; each diner then may have a most inviting miniature half-chicken served on a mound of rice.

The foil method uses for basting wine and butter mixture with a sprinkling of herbs added. The hens may be stuffed, if desired, using ¼ to ⅓ cup mixture for each. Present the birds on a platter surrounded with seasoned rice and small glazed onions.



A GOOD dinner party menu features cornish hens, small glazed onions and seasoned steamed rice.

THAW THE hens; season inside and out with salt and pepper. If stuffing the birds, fill cavity with ¼ to ⅓ cup mixture. Tie legs and tail together and, pulling neck skin to back, secure by twisting wing tips onto back. Place each bird on a square of heavy duty foil with a couple of slices each of celery, onion and carrot underneath to prevent the delicate skin from sticking.

Place in a shallow pan with foil open. Brush with a mixture of two parts melted butter or margarine and one part of dry white or red wine plus a sprinkling of herbs or poultry seasoning. Roast in 450 degree oven, basting two or three times until browned, about 30 minutes. Then close foil loosely by merely overlapping edges and continue roasting 30 to 40 minutes for small, 50 minutes for larger birds.

CHECK AT half of time; if juices have cooked away pour on a little more melted butter and wine. Birds are done when legs move easily. Cut and remove strings. For individual plate serving, they may be eaten right from the foil and the juices in the foil become an instant, delicious sauce. Or, serve the birds on a large platter surrounded by seasoned rice and small glazed onions.

Easy-Do Leg of Lamb
(makes 6 or more servings)

1 Sprinkle a leg (or ¾ leg) of lamb with salt and pepper, and place on rack in shallow roasting pan.

2 Roast in slow (325°) oven about 2 hours. Drain off drippings.

3 Fill peach halves with cranberry sauce, arrange around lamb, and bake 30 minutes more or until meat is as done as you like it. Lamb is well done when meat thermometer registers 170° to 175°.

Note: If you buy a whole leg, you also have the makin's for three great lamb meals. Have your meat man cut the leg into a roast, plus quick-to-fix steaks and kebabs.

How Corte Madera Council Candidates View Issues

Eight men and two women are seeking the seats of three Corte Madera town councilmen who were recalled in September.

A special election will be held Dec. 18 to replace Mayor Holmes S. Norville and councilmen Edward W. Colthurst and Harold B. Wagstaff.

The Independent-Journal asked each candidate questions concerning the major issues in the special election campaign.

Last Saturday the responses of Mrs. Haehl, Harvey, Kostelic, Marino and Mrs. Miner were given.

Today the responses of Reed, Sasso, Shawn, Weingarth and White are printed.

The questions asked, candidates' responses and biographical sketch of the five candidates follow.

PHILIP O. SASSO
Wants responsive council

PHILIP SASSO

Philip O. Sasso is seeking election to the Corte Madera town council to make the council responsive to the town's citizens.

He also says he favors preserving the residential character of the town.

The 43-year-old Sasso is a 12-year resident of Corte Madera. He and his wife, Eileen, live at 142 Yolo Street and have four children.

Sasso is chariman of the Corte Madera Board of Adjustments, is president of the Mariner Cove Improvement Asociation and a member of the town meeting coordinating council.

He is designer of computer systems for a chemical firm in San Francisco. He received a bachelor degree from Loyola (Chicago) University and received a master's degree in business administration from Northwestern University.

Sasso supported the recall effort in Sept.

These are his replies to 11 questions put by the Independent-Journal to all 10 candidates:

Q. As a member of the town council, would you support a regional shopping center on the proposed site east of Highway 101?

A. I'm on record as generally opposing the concept of a regional shopping center. I question its economic feasibility, justification or necessity. I'm also opposed to its obvious impact on the character of our community.

Q. Should that shopping center be of the magnitude offered by Ernest W. Hahn Inc.?

A. Answer same as question one.

Q. Should the town redevelopment project go forward as proposed or should it be reconsidered by the Council?

A. Considering my previous answer, its obvious the situation regarding the objectives and direction of the redevelopment agency should be reviewed.

Q. Open space has been a concern of many citizen groups. What are the three top open space priorities in or around Corte Madera?

A. I prefer to abide by the decision of the citizen input from the open space committee, as soon as I'm convinced what is put forth is in fact their findings.

Q. How should those lands be obtained as open space?

A. There are a number of options available. Most involve some local contribution via our tax rate. Any such proposal should be fully explained to the electorate and put before them for a vote.

Q. Should there be "growth controls" on the rate of growth in Corte Madera and, if yes, what controls should be used?

A. Yes. But we do have some measure of control through the intelligent application of our present zoning ordinances. Once I'm convinced we're doing this right and it isn't working I would probably subscribe to the 1 per cent per year figure that is genrally quoted.

Q. Both the original and scaled-down versions of the Madera del Presidio housing project have been withdrawn or returned to the developer by the council. Is a residential complex a proper use of the land near the Koch luggage plant?

A. There are two different areas involved. When you talk about land near Koch on Madera del Presidio I've already stated I want to see single-family detached dwellings. On the second area I would reserve comment until I'm better versed.

Q. The general plan, as proposed, includes references to consolidation of Corte Madera and Larkspur town services and eventually their consolidation into one community. Do you support those suggestions?

A. Again, I'm already on record as being opposed to the consolidation as it is at present in the general plan. Certain general service consolidations might be considered. I will specifically not support a police department consolidation.

Q. Should low and moderate income housing opportunities be increased in Corte Madera? If yes, how?

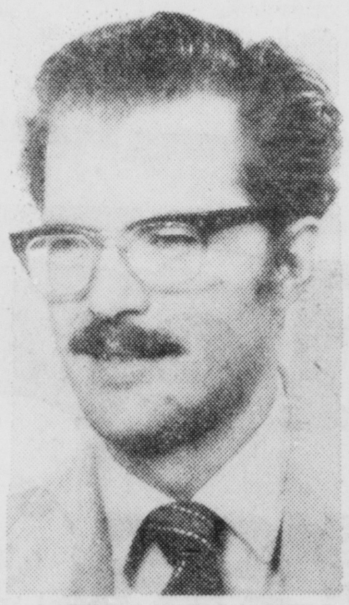
A. The question of low and moderate income housing cannot be discussed as briefly as required here. The 1970 census and 1972 town meeting survey both show our average resident as "moderate income houser." I'll be pleased to discuss this in definitive detail where a proper format exists.

Q. What can be done to discourage increasing commuter detours through Corte Madera as a commuter bypass when Highway 101 is crowded?

A. Madera Boulevard had a problem which I recognize and respect. I don't honestly know the answer to it at present. I have some ideas but I would have to do my homework.

Q. Undeveloped land west of Tamal Vista Boulevard, the Madera del Presidio townhouse site, land adjacent to All Faiths Church and land between the Koch luggage plant and the Madera del Presidio site are listed in the general plan as the most suitable — in that order — for residential development. Do you agree?

A. An emphatic no. On any individual piece of property the town is not in the business of setting "price" priorities on property and that's what this does.



LARRY P. WEINGARTH
"Public interest candidate"

LARRY WEINGARTH

Larry P. Weingarth says he wants confidence restored in Corte Madera town government and that is why he is seeking election to the town council.

"I would like to think I'm a public interest candidate," he says. "I see my function as to make sure that the interests of the public at large are served."

The 33-year old Weingarth is a teacher at Loma Alta School. He and his wife, Annemarie, are six-year residents of Corte Madera and live at 113 Sonora Way. They have four children.

He filed a citizens suit which halted the Madera del Presidio housing project earlier this year and supported the recall of the three councilmen.

These are his replies to 11 questions put by the Independent-Journal to all 10 candidates:

Q. As a member of the town council, would you support a regional shopping center on the proposed site east of Highway 101?

A. No. I feel that a regional shopping center in the town would have too devastating an environmental impact on the town.

Q. Should that shopping center be of the magnitutde offered by Ernest W. Hahn Inc.?

A. If not a regional shopping center, I really doubt that the town's economy can support an additional shopping center. What I would like to see in place of a regional shopping center or another shopping center would be an upgrading of the existing center. Though I'm in favor of upgrading the existing center, I would be against it becoming a regional shopping center.

Q. Should the town redevelopment project go forward as proposed or should it be reconsidered by the council?

A. I think that it certainly should be reconsidered by the council. In fact, I would think that concurrent with the general plan the whole redevelopment concept and agency should be reviewed as to its desirability.

Q. Open space has been a concern of many citizen groups. What are the three top open space priorities in or around Corte Madera?

A. It seems that the Northridge area is certainly an important item. The Corte Madera-Tiburon ridge which is the southern boundary which includes part of the Madera del Presidio property is of high priority. A large portion if not all of the Muzzi property would be highly desirable if ways could be found to acquire it.

Q. How should those lands be obtained as open space?

A. There are a number of ways the council could evolve with legal advice. Zoning controls are one way that lands that have problems like seismic hazards that are hazardous from the public's standpoint could be acquired. Other areas of acquisition are through open space bonds and sharing of Proposition E monies from the county.

Q. Should there be "growth controls" on the rate of growth in Corte Madera and, if yes, what controls should be used?

A. I definitely believe that there must be growth controls. The Petaluma plan appeals to me that there could be a maximum number of units built each year. To decide the number of units built each year the town sets environmental, social and aesthetic criteria. Those passing these town goals could be built. Legal counsel would be invaluable in devising specific control plans. The need for controls is very evident because of the impact of unchecked growth.

Q. Both the original and scaled-down versions of the Madera del Presidio housing project have been withdrawn or returned to the developer by the council. Is a residential complex a proper use of the land near the Koch luggage plant?

A. The southern 40 acres shouldn't be developed at all. The slope area should be an integral part of any greenbelt divider between Corte Madera and its neighbors. In the northern flat areas it would be proper for development with whatever goes in being compatible with local residents. Local residents have endorsed single-family units. Sol Silver of the county planning department has recommended a maximum of 200 units. I think 200 units would be a very generous development of the land.

Q. The general plan, as proposed, includes references to consolidation of Corte Madera and Larkspur town services and eventually their consolidation into one community. Do you support those suggestions?

A. No I do not. I'm very opposed to a merger of Corte Madera and Larkspur. I feel that Corte Madera would become too large and effective communication with its citizens would become much more difficult than at present. Corte Madera should maintain its autonomy but explore the feasability and desirability of combining some town services.

Q. Should low and moderate income housing opportunities be increased in Corte Madera? If yes, how?

A. The housing needs of all Corte Madera residents should be pursued by the council. I'm particularly concerned about the problem of the elderly and high taxes driving them out of their homes. I'm very interested in seeing if some tax relief situations can be developed for them.

Q. What can be done to discourage increasing commuter detours through Corte Madera as a commuter bypass when Highway 101 is crowded?

A. If a greater reliance on public transportation would lighten the traffic jams, and perhaps this is a dream, that would be one obvious approach. The next would be strict traffic enforcement with speed limits and strategically placed stop signs controlling speeds on surface streets to make pulling off the freeway undesirable. I'm very much against some of the traffic circulation schemes devised by Mr. Cook in the general plan. I think that closing off the ramps into and out of Corte Madera would cause more traffic problems within the town than they would cure.

Q. Undeveloped land west of Tamal Vista Boulevard, the Madera del Presidio townhouse site, land adjacent to All Faiths Church and land between the Koch luggage plant and the Madera del Presidio site are listed in the general plan as the most suitable — in that order — for residential development. Do you agree?

A. These are all sites that could be considered for development at least in part. With the one exception being the land adjacent to All Faiths Church. Many people are considering that for an East Corte Madera park and until the issue of a park is resolved that should not be considered for development. Great scrutiny to any development on any of these lands would be given with an eye to the public interest. If the development were such that it would have an adverse impact on the existing residents I would be against it.

CANDIDATES FORUM TO BE TONIGHT

All 10 candidates seeking election to the Corte Madera Town Council election Dec. 18 are expected to take part in a candidates' forum tonight at 8 o'clock in the San Clemente School multipurpose room.

Sponsors of the event are the East Corte Madera Hill Dwellers, Marin Estate Homeowners Association, Marina Village Improvement Association and the Mariner Cove Improvement Association.

JOEL A. SHAWN
New council direction

JOEL A. SHAWN

Joel A. Shawn says he seeks to be a Corte Madera town councilman to provide a council that represent citizens' wishes.

"The primary issue is whether or not, as a result of this election, the town council will be constituted of people who will, in fact, represent the wishes of the people rather than imposing their own point of view," Shawn says.

The 38-year-old Shawn is a partner in a law firm in San Francisco. He received a bachelor degree in civil engineering from City College of New York and a law degree from Hastings College of Law in San Francisco.

He is a member of the Corte Madera Board of Adjustments and is a former chairman of the town's citizen advisory committee on the general plan.

Shawn was the plaintiff in one suit and attorney in a second challenging the Hahn regional shopping center. He supported the recall.

These are his replies to 11 questions put by the Independent-Journal to all 10 candidates.

Q. As a member of the town council, would you support a regional shopping center on the proposed site east of Hghway 101?

A. No.

Q. Should that shopping center be of the magnitude offered by Ernest W. Hahn Inc.?

A. This question doesn't apply because of my answer to question one.

Q. Should the town redevelopment project go forward as proposed or should it be reconsidered by the council?

A. It definitely should be reconsidered by the council. Particularly in light of the limitation placed on bonding by the county and in fact whether that area is really subject to the use of redevelopment powers.

Q. Open space has been a concern of many citizen groups. What are the three top open space priorities in or around Corte Madera?

A. Based on the town survey, there are two definite priorities and that would be the Northridge and Ring Mountain. And then based on the town survey I would say the marsh areas as third priority. However, all of that is subject to revision based upon those areas which would become those first to be threatened by possible development.

Q. How should those lands be obtained as open space?

A. I would like to see a mutual assessment district formed with Tiburon, Mill Valley, Larkspur, Kentfield and Corte Madera in order to increase bonding capacity so that we could have an open space bond issue for acquisition of Ring Mountain and the Northridge. With such an assessment district there is a strong likelihood of matching funds from the county.

Q. Should there be "growth controls" on the rate of growth in Corte Madera and, if yes, what controls should be used?

A. Yes, there should be growth controls. What would be a legally defensible growth control method is going to be difficult to ascertain at this time due to the great amount of litigation on growth controls going on throughout the United States. However, I am aware of one case where a combination of general plan restrictions and appropriate zoning was determined to be a legally defensible method of growth control and would hope that Corte Madera can arrive at a similar procedure.

Q. Both the original and scaled-down versions of the Madera del Presidio housing-project have been withdrawn or returned to the developer by the council. Is a residential complex a proper use of the land near the Koch luggage plant?

A. Assuming a continuation of residential zoning which is the zoning that would appear to be proposed as a result of the general plan study committee, that the residential use would have to be limited by the growth restrictions referred to above and must be able to demonstrate that it will not be an additional financial burden to not only the town of Corte Madera but the school districts that would be serving the area.

Q. The general plan, as proposed, includes references to consolidation of Corte Madera and Larkspur town services and eventually their consolidation into one community. Do you support those suggestions?

A. I do not support the eventual merger of Corte Madera and Larkspur. I believe we should explore a consolidation of some of the town services to determine whether or not we can reduce the cost of town services while still maintaining a high quality of services to both towns.

Q. Should low and moderate income housing opportunities be increased in Corte Madera? If yes, how?

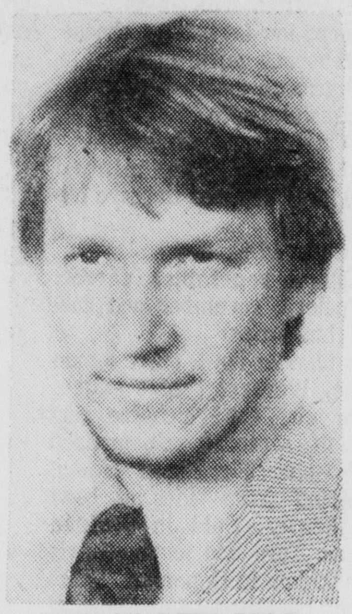
A. State and federal law require that we attempt to provide a housing mix in all communities. Unfortunately, at the present time there are no federal or state funds available to subsidize such housing. And with the high cost of land in Corte Madera it is almost impossible to expect a private developer to provide such housing.

Q. What can be done to discourage increasing commuter detours through Corte Madera as a commuter bypass when Highway 101 is crowded?

A. On those routes that are used as detours through Corte Madera one of the most effective methods for discouraging such detours is to signalize the intersections on the detour route and during the detour time period create a delay which will discourage detour.

Q. Undeveloped land west of Tamal Vista Boulevard, the Madera del Presidio townhouse site, land adjacent to All Faiths Church and land between the Koch luggage plant and the Madera del Presidio site are listed in the general plan as the most suitable — in that order —for residential development. Do you agree?

A. I disagree with the whole concept as set forth in the general plan of establishing an order of development on a parcel by parcel basis since it obviously places some lands in a disadvantageous position and would rather leave the question of which lands get developed first open to proposals by the respective developers to the council. And then considering the growth limits, select that development in any given year which is of best quality.



JOHN CHARTER REED
Communication key issue

JOHN REED

John Charter Reed says he should be elected to the town council because he is the one candidate who can provide communication between citizens and the council.

"I think that of all the candidates I'm the one that would be receptive to the needs of the town. My character is just what they need," he said.

Reed, 21, is a freelance illustrator of books. He has lived in Corte Madera 11 years. He is single and lives at 10 Golden Hind Passage.

A graduate of Redwood High School, he attended the College of Marin and Ricks College in Rexburg, Ida.

Reed said he has not been involved in any town boards or groups previously.

These are his replies to 11 questions put by the Independent-Journal to all 10 candidates:

Q. As a member of the town council, would you support a regional shopping center on the proposed site east of Hghway 101?

A. As a candidate I do not support the regional shopping center east of Highway 101. I believe I could never support the proposed shopping center as a councilman.

Q. Should that shopping center be of the magnitude offered by Ernest W. Hahn Inc.?

A. I believe not so big a shopping center if any at all. I believe I have a special knowledge that Dominic Muzzi will be glad to compromise with Corte Madera and drop the $5 million suit concerning the marsh. I urge Corte Madera to propose to Dominic Muzzi, approved use for approximately 60 acres, the filled lands, in exchange for all remaining open space, 540 acres, given to Corte Madera or sold at a very small price.

Q. Should the town redevelopment project go forward as proposed or should it be reconsidered by the council?

A. The council will reconsider and change the redevelopment policy, I believe.

Q. Open space has been a concern of many citizen groups. What are the three top open space priorities in or around Corte Madera?

A. The marsh is all the open space Corte Madera, has, I think. There are beautiful hills that are almost in our town but not very much. Most is country property.

Q. How should those lands be obtained as open space?

A. The owner should, I hope, be so kind as to work generously with the people who show the most acceptable plan for use and preservation of the open space.

Q. Should there be "growth controls" on the rate of growth in Corte Madera and, if yes, what controls should be used?

A. Yes control growth. Grow after we perfect what we already grew. Grow some vegetables or some answers to old questions.

Q. Both the original and scaled-down versions of the Madera del Presidio housing project have been withdrawn or returned to the developer by the council. Is a residential complex a proper use of the land near the Koch luggage plant?

A. Let's run barefoot on the grass of the open space. That seems proper to me. Then consider saving it.

Q. The general plan, as proposed, includes references to consolidation of Corte Madera and Larkspur town services and eventually their consolidation into one community. Do you support those suggestions?

A. The suggestion I support but I don't accept the suggestion at such a seemingly early time.

Q. Should low and moderate income housing opportunities be increased in Corte Madera? If yes, how?

A. I would act to lower taxes in Corte Madera so we can enjoy living here. I have a few of my own plans but people ought to put up ideas.

Q. What can be done to discourage increasing commuter detours through Corte Madera as a commuter bypass when Highway 101 is crowded?

A. We must all start building up our desolate states as opposed to everyone in one corner. Start having time to think as well as technology to build while growing every man on his own corner of grass. And nice landlords will generously give to those who have nothing. This is the way to bypass commuter traffic in Corte Madera.

Q. Undeveloped land west of Tamal Vista Boulevard, the Madera del Presidio townhouse site, land adjacent to All Faiths Church and land between the Koch luggage plant and the Madera del Presidio site are listed in the general plan as the most suitable — in that order — for residential development. Do you agree?

A. Sure we have nice land but none of it is up for grabs. We need grazing land, in my opinion.

GEORGE T. WHITE
Seeks town unity

GEORGE T. WHITE

George T. White thinks the most important issue in the town council election is bringing splintered groups in Corte Madera back together as a town.

"I think it has been divided long enough on issues and it should get back together rather than being torn apart," he said of the town.

White, 54, lives at 108 Privateer Drive with his wife, Peggy. The couple has reared four children. They have lived in Corte Madera seven years.

The owner of a hardware store in Tiburon, White was a member of the Tiburon Coordinating Council. He also served as treasurer of the Del Mar Homeowners Association and president of the Bel Air Merchants Association.

He supported the recall of three councilmen.

These are his replies to 11 questions put by the Independent-Journal to all 10 candidates:

Q. As a member of the town council, would you support a regional shopping center on the proposed site east of Highway 101?

A. No, I've gone against the regional shopping center. Under the circumstances of today, regional shopping centers are on the way out anyway. They require parking areas, I don't see how you can justify it today.

Q. Should that shopping center be of the magnitude offered by Ernest W. Hahn Inc.?

A. Under no circumstances of the size they propose.

Q. Should the town redevelopment project go forward as proposed or should it be reconsidered by the council?

A. Reconsider by the council. Obviously everything has changed so you have to reconsider it.

Q. Open space has been a concern of many citizen groups. What are the three top open space priorities in or around Corte Madera?

A. Of course there are the ridgelands on the east side of the highway. And of course the tidal marshlands and the ridges on the west side of the highway.

Q. How should those lands be obtained as open space?

A. In the most economic way possible. The government comes up with some money and the state comes up with some money. I don't propose that the taxpayers go out and purchase these at the first price.

Q. Should there be "growth controls" on the rate of growth in Corte Madera and, if yes, what controls should be used?

A. This is being considered in the general plan. And they come up with a 1 per cent figure which is a nice figure. But, however, this should be decided by the majority of the people in town.

Q. Both the original and scaled-down versions of the Madera del Presidio housing project have been withdrawn or returned to the developer by the council. Is a residential complex a proper use of the land near the Koch luggage plant?

A. This should be decided by the town council and not just by me. I'm for the least effect on the town's capacity.

Q. The general plan, as proposed, includes references to consolidation of Corte Madera and Larkspur town services and eventually their consolidation into one community. Do you support those suggestions?

A. If it is economically feasible and without losing the standards of service the town desires I would support it.

Q. Should low and moderate income housing opportunities be increased in Corte Madera? If yes, how?

A. This is a question that under the economic system right now is impossible to come up with an answer. However, I do feel we should try and subsidize housing for older people.

Q. What can be done to discourage increasing commuter detours through Corte Madera as a commuter bypass when Highway 101 is crowded?

A. There is really no way except by making 101 less crowded. There is no way to stop people from turning off the freeway if it is jammed up.

Q. Undeveloped land west of Tamal Vista Boulevard, the Madera del Presidio townhouse site, land adjacent to All Faiths Church and land between the Koch luggage plant and the Madera del Presidio site are listed in the general plan as the most suitable — in that order — for residential development. Do you agree?

A. Well, not necessarily because I feel the area east of All Faiths Church should be made into a park for the east side of town.

Marin Women

IN 'NUTCRACKER' BALLET

Laurie Klein Gets New Role

THIS YEAR Laurie Klein, 23, of Larkspur will dance the role of the Arabian in the Marin Civic Ballet's performance of the "Nutcracker." She has been in the "Nutcracker" since she was 8 years old. Performances are scheduled for Dec. 14, 15 and 16 at the Marin Veterans Memorial Building.

By JOAN LISETOR

Laurie Berryman was 8 years old when she played the role of Franz, the naughty little boy, in the first performance in Marin County of the "Nutcracker" ballet. Fifteen years later in the role of the Arabian she will appear in the Marin Civic Ballet Association's "Nutcracker" Dec. 14, 15 and 16 at the Marin Veterans Memorial Building.

Now Laurie Klein, a wife and mother of 18-month-old Margot (named for her godmother, Marin dancer Margot Jones, not ballerina Margot Fonteyn) she is scarcely bigger than when she played Franz. She is now 4 feet 8 inches tall and doesn't recall how tall she was then but has vivid memories of being naughty.

Her teacher, Leona Norman, now director of Marin Civic Ballet, also recalls how naughty Laurie was, and she doesn't mean in the role.

"She was captain of a baseball team, and that was the most important thing in her life," Mrs. Norman recalled.

MRS. NORMAN obviously has forgiven her because, under her direction, Laurie now teaches nine classes at the Marin Civic Ballet School in San Rafael. She has also had her in all but one of the 15 seasons of the "Nutcracker."

The year Laurie missed, however, was not the year she was pregnant. It was last year when at 6 months she thought Margot needed her. This year she has her "angel of a mother," Mrs. Carroll Berryman of Mill Valley, taking care of the baby so she can perform.

"My first year as Franz I remember hearing the overture. I was sitting, with my knees under my chin, and could feel the curtain as it opened," she said.

"I felt something in the corner of the curtain — the weights — and I thought they were money. I remember my mind being on that money and how I could get it out instead of on the performance."

The role of Franz, called Fritz by some ballet companies, a bad boy, suited Laurie during her early years of dancing.

Actually she didn't begin to enjoy dancing until she was about 12, she said.

"THERE WERE other things I wanted to be doing, mostly outdoors," she said. "But my parents made me stick with it, and I am glad. During the junior high years it was especially good, because those are the years of searching. I was glad to have ballet."

It helps her as a teacher to remember the years she was bored and uninspired, she said.

"Parents ask me what they should do if their daughters don't want to come (to lessons), and I am tempted to say, 'Don't force them.' But I remember my own experience, so I tell them just to play it by ear," she said.

Laurie was graduated from Tamalpais High School and attended California State University, San Francisco.

She went to Atlanta, Ga., one summer to study because she knew the director of the school was small and thought he would have a sympathetic viewpoint toward her as a dancer.

"I found out sympathy and a job are two different things," she said.

"Larry (her husband) saw me dancing in "Brigadoon," and he wanted to meet me," she said.

They dated, but then Laurie left for Vancouver, B.C., where she studied on scholarship for a few months. They were married a few months after her return.

LARRY KLEIN is the assistant to the technical director of the San Francisco Opera. When the opera season ends, he works as a carpenter and playwright. The couple lives in Larkspur.

The most exciting role she has played, Laurie said, is the Russian. She remembers with horror the years she did the flower solo because she fell both times. The first time her younger sister Lisa was in the cast, she said, and pleaded with her, "Tell me you didn't fall." The second time she was cast as a flower was the year she was pregnant. She did fine on stage but tripped on something coming off and landed right at Mrs. Norman's feet.

Most of the madness has gone since the ballet has moved to the Veterans Memorial Building, but there is still chaos backstage with more than 100 performers ranging in age from 6, Laurie's students, to adult, she said.

"I just threatened to throw them to the lions if they are not good backstage," she said, laughing. "You know, I think I am more excited this year than ever."

Tea To Honor Mrs. Hatch On Her 101st Birthday

By MOLLY MARIN

Mrs. Frederick W. Hatch of Mill Valley will be honored at a birthday tea on her 101st birthday Monday at the home of her daughter, Mrs. James Bertenshaw in Mill Valley. Mrs. Bertenshaw has invited 20 neighbors and friends to the celebration.

Bertha Loucks Hatch was born Dec. 10, 1872, in Savona, N.Y. She met President James A. Garfield when he was campaigning for the presidency in New York State. In 1884 she moved with her family to Washington, D.C., and attended presidential receptions for Benjamin Harrison, Grover Cleveland, William McKinley and Theodore Roosevelt. She is the widow of the Rev. Frederick S. Hatch, a Baptist minister.

She makes her home with Mrs. Bertenshaw, and has a son, Osborn F. Hatch of Santa Monica, five grandchildren and three great grandchildren. Her 100th birthday was celebrated last year with a reception for 100 people at the Mill Valley Community Church.

THE CHRISTMAS season was greeted Saturday night by the members of the Bolinas Beach and Improvement Club who filled the clubhouse with carols and good cheer. Guests enjoyed the dinner of Christmas foods, and caroling was led by Gloria Conradi at the piano and Annie Crotts, who sang solos and was joined by the children and adults. Santa Claus then arrived in a jingling of bells and distributed stockings of gifts for the guests.

SEVERAL RESIDENTS of Marin and Sonoma were aboard the Sagafjord for an eight day cruise to Mexican waters over the Thanksgiving holiday weekend.

The ship called at Mazatlan for a day and another stop was made at Pureto Vallarta before turning north toward San Francisco. In the group from Marin were Messrs. and Mmes. Lou Geissberger and Andrew B. Jones of Larkspur, Leo Gorman of San Rafael, Clarence Herold of Novato, Harry C. Kostering of Kentfield and B. Albert Malone of Mill Valley. Petalumans on the cruise were Mrs. Marian Markel, Mr. and Mrs. Robert Ruiz and Cmdr. Geoge E. Hobbie.

FIRST OF several Christmas parties at the Tamalpais Retirement Residence will be a Christmas tea and sherry party towmorrow afternoon at the residence in Greenbrae.

A tree trimming party will be given on Dec. 14, followed by a dinner with holiday music. Gifts will be exchanged at a party on Dec. 17, and on Dec. 18 the choir from the First Assembly of God Church in San Rafael will sing Christmas carols. Employees will be honored at a party on Dec. 19, hosted by the residents, and on Dec. 20 a Christmas party will be given for children and grandchildren of the residents.

MAKING THEIR home in San Rafael are Mr. and Mrs. George Stewart (Carla Sanchez) who were married at the Sonoma County Courthouse Nov. 7 by Superior Court Judge John Moskowitz. A reception followed at a Santa Rosa restaurant.

The bride, who is from Santa Fe, N.M., and her husband plan to take a belated wedding trip to Mexico around the first of January. Both are in business in San Rafael.

Dorothy Erthle Ends A Girl Scout Career

A reception was given Saturday afternoon to honor Miss Dorothy Erthle of San Anselmo on her retirement from 30 years of work with the Girl Scouts in Marin.

Miss Erthle was the first executive director of the Marin County Girl Scout Council, coming to Marin in 1944 when 150 girls were in the program. She remained executive director until the Marin Council merged with the other Bay Area councils into the San Francisco Bay Girl Scout Council in July, 1963. She then became a Bay Council staff member and was responsible for the Bothin Youth Center properties near Fairfax. Previously she had been on the Girl Scouts staff in Louisville, Ky., and executive director of the Alameda Girl Scout Council.

The party for Miss Erthle was organized by her Scouting volunteer friends, including Mmes. James D. Adams of San Rafael, Walter Carter of San Anselmo, Kenneth Anderson of Ross, Irving Randall of Kentfield, Fred H. Sloat of San Anselmo and their committee.

Miss Erthle's retirement was effective as of Friday.

Eighth Graders To Hold Dance

Eighth grade students at Davidson Middle School in San Rafael, assisted by the Arthur Murray dancers of San Anselmo, will hold a dance Friday from 8 to 10 p.m. in the school gymnasium.

The Arthur Murray dancers will play the music and lead the students in mixers and dance contests. Students are decorating the gymnasium and Mrs. Louis Mountanos is dance chairman. Mrs. Spiro Spiliotis is refreshments chairman.

Members of the Davidson Parent-Teacher Association and school staff will be chaperones.

HELEN HELP US!

By HELEN BOTTEL

Readers Tell How They Handle Money In Respective Families

DEAR HELEN:

I read with much interest the letter from the wife who was concerned over putting all her income in a joint account with her husband. She worried that he could walk off with everything — but then she could clean him out too with her signature. If there isn't mutual trust, there isn't much of a union.

Here's how my husband and I handle our finances. Everything we bring in goes into a checking account. We pay the bills as they come due. Should either of us need money, we cash a check. At the end of the month, the excess goes into a savings account, in joint name. There is never any argument about who pays for dinners-out, gas, toll fees, etc., for it is our money, and whoever has the cash at the time shells out. Why separate our incomes into "his and hers," when it is for both?

My husband recently opened his law office, so I quit my outside job and am working free for my lawyer. Did I say free? True, I get no salary, but my benefits arrive when we work together toward a mutual goal. His profits are our profits. My satisfaction is looking into his face and knowing I'm helping him accomplish his goals. Working for free? Maybe. Working for nothing? Definitely not!

Incidentally, we've been married six years and have never argued about money. — CAROLE

DEAR HELEN:

A husband and wife financial arrangement based on trust is fine so long as the marriage is going great, but our divorce rate indicates "great" doesn't always last. A trusting wife who has tossed all her money into a joint account could find there isn't enough left to finance a separation.

Couples should plan ahead. It is better to have financial independence and not need it than to need it and not have it. Thus, when two people marry — whether the wife works outside the home or not — they should each have their own bank account, and the husband has no right to question his wife on how she spends her money.

If both work outside the home, all domestic chores should be shared and household expenses shared also, in proportion to the wages each earns. A joint bank account is acceptable for these expenses (with each putting in his and her share). The partners should alternate on budget keeping so that each will have a working knowledge of the account.

In addition, each partner should have a separate account, and the equal amounts in it should be increased as earning power advances. If the wife doesn't work, she still deserves her account, as an equal partner. To be "supported" by the "lord and master" is demeaning.

The result of separate accounts is that each partner retains individuality and independence while sharing all the satisfactions, rewards and pleasures of marriage. It is more like "going steady" than living in an "institution." The man will not be unduly burdened, neither will the woman ever be financially subservient. — HOLLIS

DEAR HELEN:

You asked other working wives to tell how finances are managed in their marriages. In our house, what's mine is his and what's his is mine.

My husband's paycheck takes care of the bills and living expenses; mine provides for the luxuries — and also those extra house payments so we'll own our home sooner. — LOVING AND TRUSTING

DEAR HELEN:

Our money goes into a joint checking account. Each of us has credit cards but bills of over $50 we discuss first, so we won't be hit with more than we can pay. I manage the checkbook and keep finances straight because I enjoy it and my husband doesn't.

We each have separate savings accounts but, in a crisis, they are considered as one. I guess it all boils down to: if you're going to share your lives, sharing the money shouldn't be so difficult. Money is just to make life more comfortable and who cares which one makes more or less of it? — HAPPY COUPLE

DEAR HELEN:

This is the way we handle finances: As a substitute teacher, my income is not regular. My husband has a full time job.

All his money goes into our joint checking account and I handle the checkbook. All of my earnings go into a joint savings account. I don't even know if he knows where the passbook is. It's all our money.

In this way we don't get accustomed to two incomes and we can pay cash for our furniture or extras. Like you said, it's trust!! — SHARON

Soap Advances

Soap powder was created about 1845 when Benjamin Babbit found the new use for soap shavings. Instead of melting them to form new bars, he scooped them into packages. Liquid soap was created about 20 years later by William Sheppard, according to the Soap and Detergent Association.

Benefits Of Year-Round School Told

By BETTY FROST

"The gravy of the year-round school program is the intersession program," said John Anderson, principal of the Penngrove School in Petaluma, which began the year-round program 16 weeks ago.

Two schools in Petaluma adopted the revised calendar, using a nine weeks of school and three weeks off schedule. During the three weeks off, an elective intersession program was established.

In what Anderson called "a relaxed atmosphere", the intersession time can be programmed for creative or remedial work, and the children can benefit from extras that they couldn't get in regular session. At Penngrove the first intersession was used for creativity classes in music, including attendance at concerts and rocketry. A career education program with field trips is planned for the next three-week break.

Anderson spoke at the Student Center in Tamalpais High School Monday night under the auspices of the Mill Valley Area Branch of the American Association of University Women, and was the kick-off speaker of the second Dynamic Learning program in the current series.

ALTHOUGH ANDERSON spoke of year-round schools as an "emotion-packed issue," the 200 men and women who filled the student center to capacity Monday night listened quietly to the principal, his fellow school administrators, Dr. Peter Palches, superintendent of the Mill Valley School District, and Dr. Thomas Larch, curriculum director, Tamalpais Union High School District; a panel of Mill Valley parents and teachers discussing the advantages and disadvantages of the system and parents and teachers from Petaluma who evaluated their experiences with the new system.

Although using the school plant on a 12-month basis had been discussed for decades, the program was actually put into practice in Valley View, Ill., for elementary schools in June, 1970. The measure was an alternative to double sessions for the hard pressed district, which had grown from 85 pupils to 5,500 pupils in 20 years, according to Anderson.

Overcrowding was not an issue in Petaluma schools, the principal indicated. The plan was adopted for two of Petaluma's elementary schools after a two-year study by an evaluation committee composed of teachers, parents and community leaders, on the basis of educational improvement.

Ruth McLachlin, chairman of the Petaluma evaluation team, said they became convinced that "the children learn more, a better program can be achieved, the children have a better attitude about school, and the discipline is much improved."

Mill Valley also has been studying the 12-month school calendar, Dr. Palches explained.

"Each school has its own committee, and there is also a district-wide committee, with Mrs. Dorothy Brooke, chairman. A library of information is being set up by a parents committee, and we hope for a decision about the 1974-'75 school year in March. There is no possibility that all of the schools in the district would be changed at once. If the plan is adopted, only one or two schools would be involved the first year."

DR. LARCH, representing the Tamalpais Union High School District, said, "If you people in Mill Valley want year round schools, somehow we'll take care of you at the high school level."

James Derich, teacher at the Old Mill School, echoed the points favoring the year-round schedule which Anderson had noted, that vacations are not too far off, there is less retention loss of materials studied, and a revitalization of student-teacher cooperation is achieved.

Derich added that employment of teachers during the intersession could add to the teacher's yearly income and might be a factor in keeping male teachers in the classroom, instead of seeking advancement in school administration posts.

Dissonant notes were heard from Betty Bernard, a working mother who is concerned about child care services during short vacations scattered throughout the year, and Jack Osman, a parent, who favors year-round operations for rapid growth areas, but is opposed to it in Mill Valley, where the number of children in schools is declining.

Henry Washow, a Mill Valley parent, spoke of the tradition of long summer vacations as a holdover from the days when this was an agrarian country, and children were needed to work on the farms. He suggest-

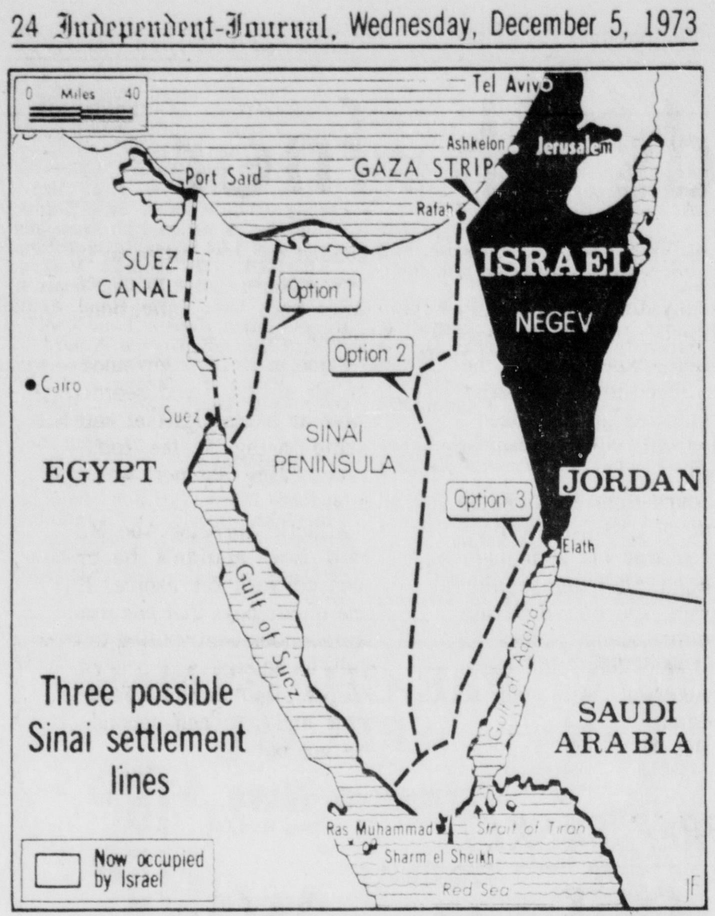
Disposition Of Sinai Seen Key Mideast Peace Issue



(Christian Science Monitor map by Joan Forbes)

By EDWARD SCHUMACHER
The Christian Science Monitor
News Service

If substantive negotiations for a permanent settlement in the Mideast begin, as predicted, this month, a major issue dividing Israel and Egypt will be disposition of the Sinai.

The pressing Egyptian objective in this latest war was to regain the Sinai, under occupation by Israel since 1967.

The costly Israeli counterattacks and seizure of Egyptian territory west of the Suez Canal reflect the equally strong Israeli intent to hold the Sinai, if not for strategic depth, then as a bargaining chip.

The plight of the Palestinians also divides the two countries, but it is an issue shared by all the Mideast nations. Egypt has said repeatedly it is not the spokesman for the Palestinians, though it demands "restoration of the rights of the Palestinian people," a vague position that most observers agree reflects considerable negotiating flexibility.

Any agreement will depend on a number of factors, not the least of which are psychological, considering 25 years of mutual distrust, fear, and hatred. Beyond being catalysts, the patron superpowers, the United States and the Soviet Union, probably will have marginal influence.

If agreement on the Sinai can be reached, then Israel and Egypt will have gone a long way toward establishing peace.

Officially, the Egyptians demand return of the entire Sinai and the Gaza Strip.

The Israelis demand newly negotiated boundaries.

Officaal statements usually are initial negotiating positions subject to compromise, and the positions of both sides are subject to internal politics.

Israel has never formally outlined proposed new boundaries, but in several statements Prime Minister Golda Meir has supported a plan in which a slice of the Sinai with a geographically secure boundary stretching from Israel proper to Sharm el Sheikh, the strategic area overlooking the Strait of Tiran, would remain in Israeli hands.

The size of the slice would be negotiated, but Gaza would not be returned to Egypt and the Sinai would be demilitarized. According to most polls, returning most of the Sinai enjoyed majority public support in Israel.

The Meir position is based on two Israeli demands: guaranteed access through the Strait of Tiran to the vital port of Elath, and a geographically secure boundary.

The port is Israel's outlet for the rapidly developing Negev, its water link to Asia and Africa, a growing tourist and industrial center, and the starting point for two oil pipelines to Ashkelon on the Mediterranean.

The Israeli withdrawal after capturing the Sinai in 1956 is a precedent for what Israeli planners consider geographically defensible lines. In general there are three options (see map):

Option 1: To back off the Suez Canal, possibly keeping strategic passes and crossroads, but allowing the canal to reopen.

Option 2: To cut the length of the Sinai peninsula with a line that begins near Ras Muhammad on the Red Sea and runs along the ridge spine of the Sinai Mountains and through the wadis (which make excellent tank traps) to a point on the Mediterranean south of Rafah, where a huge Israeli agricultural settlement has been established.

Option 3: To slice a strip along the Gulf of Aqaba that would include Sharm el Sheikh, the newly constructed road from Elath, and a widened neck at Elath.

Many military analysts and Mideast experts conclude that prior to the October war the Israelis would have demanded a variant of the second option, a line that would cut the length of the Sinai but possibly wing close to and enclose most of the strategic road that runs parallel to the Israeli boundary line.

But by all accounts, the October Arab attack has shifted Israeli public opinion to a more hawkish stance, demanding not just geographically secure boundaries, but also the strategic depth of a buffer zone. This attidue could lead to Israeli reluctance to relinquish much, if any, of the Sinai.

With elections scheduled Dec. 31, the political position of a new right-wing opposition alliance, the Likud, led by Menahem Begin and his policy of returning "not one inch," appears enhanced.

It would seem to Israel's advantage to conclude an agreement while she still has military and political leverage, including the support of the United States, and an apparent desire by at least Egypt to conclude a peace agreement.

Hike In Natural Gas Rate Granted PG&E

SAN FRANCISCO (AP) — Customers of Pacific Gas & Electric Co. will pay about 30 cents more a month for natural gas to offset a new $28.8 million annual increase in the cost of gas from California and Canadian producers.

The state Public Utilities Commission granted the increase yesterday, effective as soon as the firm files new rate schedules. It will effect customers from the Oregon border to the Tehachapi Mountains.

So far this year, the commission has granted PG&E natural gas rate increases totaling some $109.5 million, equal to about a $1.35 per month hike for the typical customer.

The decision was a final action in a proceeding which began last February when PG&E filed for $46.8 million in increases to offset hikes in the price of gas from Canadian and California fields. Of this total, $19.4 million was for California gas and $27.4 million for imported gas.

On July 10, the commission granted an interim increase of $17.9 million to partially offset the Canadian boost. At the time, it said the California rate request and part of the Canadian request were subject to the price freeze.

After the freeze ended, new hearings were held in September on that part of the rate application which had not been allowed.

The commission said its final decision will supercede the interim increase which will be canceled when the new rates go into effect.

The decision said the commission is required to authorize PG&E to pass on to customers cost increases ordered by a foreign government and that it found the new price levels of California gas "are not in excess of fair market value and are not unreasonable."

Service Station Squeeze Predicted

ORLANDO, Fla. (UPI) — A gasoline retailers association yesterday predicted that the federal gasoline allotments could squeeze more than 1,000 small service stations out of business in the next three months.

William Tucker, executive director of the Allied Gasoline Retailers Association of Florida, said the economic reasons, energy crisis and price controls would prove crucial to many dealers in the near future.

Giants Boosters Welcome Michaels

Baseball might be on the downswing in the Bay Area, but don't tell that to the 185 Northern California Giants Boosters who crowded into Rubini's restaurant in Fairfax last night to welcome new announcer Al Michaels to the Giants' radio booth.

While A's owner Charles Finley and Giants boss Horace Stoneham are finding it difficult to lure the fans to their playgrounds, the boosters, rabid Giants fans that they are, give you the impression that baseball's the best thing going around the Bay. It's a very exuberant bunch.

MICHAEL, DARK-HAIRED and handsome, has a very enthusiastic voice and I think he will go over very well with the Giants fans who carry those little transistor radios around with them. He went over very well with the Giant Boosters last night and he said just the right things. Such as:

"When I told Sparky Anderson (Reds manager) I was going to San Francisco he told me he felt the Giants were a better ball club than Houston or the Dodgers, and that the Giants will be the team the Reds will have to beat."

Michaels confided that he grew up in Brooklyn before the Dodgers came west. "If I went back to the old neighborhood and they found out I was the broadcaster for the Giants they would lynch me," he laughed.

HE ALSO SAID he would be meeting Art Eckman, the No. 2 man of the Giants' KSFO broadcasting team, for the first time next week. Eckman is currently the radio man for the Houston Rockets of the National Basketball Association.

Michaels will be replacing Lon Simmons who has been a Giants broadcaster since the team's move from New York to San Francisco in 1958. Lon was No. 2 man to Russ Hodges until Hodges' death in 1971. Simmons made famous that expression, "That's right, Lon," by asking post-game questions so detailed and lengthy the player could do nothing but agree. I hope Michaels and Eckman don't fall into that trap. That's right, Al.

Also at the dinner last night was Michaels' new boss, Herb Briggin of Belvedere, vice president and general manager of KSFO. From the Giants there were coach John McNamara, pitcher Ron Bryant and outfielder Jim Howarth, along with former pitcher Mike McCormick. Another guest was the Bay Area's prettiest sports reporter, Channel 7's Barbara Hunter (pardon me for my chauvinism, but I must tell it like it is) of Mill Valley.

BRYANT, 24-game winner for the Giants last year and the winningest pitcher in the National League, didn't bring his teddy bear which has become famous throughout the country since it started sitting on the bench every game Ron pitches. He said it was in hibernation but would be up and around when the season starts.

Howarth got most of the laughs as he proved to be a very funny young man. A reserve player, Howarth commented on the team's depth by saying, "We have a strong bench. I ought to know because I sit on it every day." Looking out at the crowd of boosters, he said, "I see every game. The only difference between you and me is I don't pay."

In the wings was Giants Boosters president Allan Murray who would rather be in the background than in front of the microphone, although he's president, secretary, treasurer and chief bottle washer of the club. Come to think of it, I don't think Murray even sat down to dinner.

Pistons Knock Warriors Out Of 1st Place

OAKLAND (UPI) — The Golden State Warriors' stay in the top spot of the National Basketball Association's Pacific Division was a short one.

When Los Angeles lost to tough Detroit Sunday, the injury-ridden Warriors sneaked into first. But last night, Detroit took a 112-93 win over cold Golden State while the Lakers won to drop the Warriors out of first again.

The Warriors fought a bit harder against Detroit than the score indicated. Trailing by as much as 22 points in the second quarter, Golden State battled back with Cazzie Russell leading the way to cut the margin to 86-84 midway through the final period.

But Detroit backcourtmen Dave Bing and John Mengelt got hot and the Pistons pulled ahead.

Russell had 24 points for the Warriors and Bing 27 and Mengelt 21 for the Pistons. Nate Thurmond grabbed 19 Warrior rebounds and Bob Lanier 16 for Detroit.

Coach Al Attles said after the contest that "it was one of those nights when we were flat from the beginning. We made a good run at it and then we missed a couple of shots and fell flat again."

He said "we had four or five guys hanging their heads down because they weren't hitting. When that happens you just have to play tough in the other parts of the game."

The Warriors, now 14-8, call on Phoenix tonight in a game that will be televised back to the Bay Area.

TOP POST FOR 49ER AIDE

Texas Christian Lands Shofner

FORT WORTH, Tex. (UPI) — Jim Shofner, a Fort Worth native who moved up through the football ranks to an assistant coaching position with the National Football League San Francisco 49ers, today was named head coach at Texas Christian University, replacing Billy Tohill.

Shofner, 38, will take over his new duties following the 49ers' final game Dec. 15 against Pittsburgh. Shofner handles the 49er offense.

Tohill was fired three weeks ago. He had been named head coach during the 1971 season when his predecessor, Jim Pittman, suffered a fatal heart seizure during a game.

Tohill, nearly killed March 14 in a traffic wreck, coached TCU to a 3-8 season mark and a 1-6 conference record this season. During his two years, the Horned Frogs were 11-15.

"TCU has a good setup, a lot better than when I was there before (as a student)", Shofner said in San Francisco. "I like the school, what it stands for and the campus."

Shofner grew up in Fort Worth, attending North Side High School before a fine career as a running back for the Horned Frogs. He was named to the all-Southwest Conference team in 1957 after leading the league in rushing, punt returns and kickoff returns.

He was a first-round draft choice of the Cleveland Browns. He played for the Browns for six years in the defensive backfield. He retired as an active player in 1963.

Shofner began his coaching career at TCU. He coached the school's defensive back during the 1965-66 season, and then went into the professional ranks.

Shofner this year will complete his seventh season as an assistant coach with the 49ers.

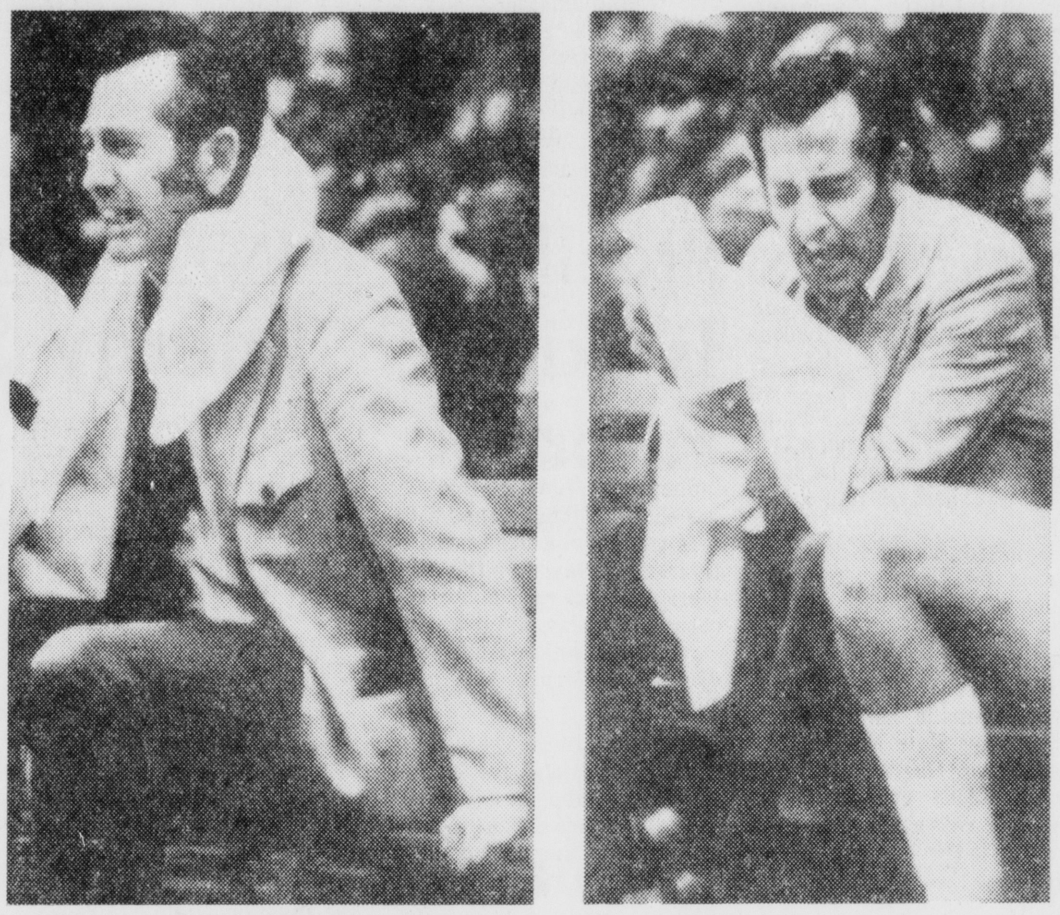
"In the choice of Jim Shofner," TCU Chancellor J.M. Moudy said, "TCU applied the criteria of experience and reputation—experience in the most advanced forms of football, and reputation as a poised exemplar. He will do well and fit well."

Sources in Fort Worth said one of the problems Tohill faced was his style, which included chewing tobacco and lacing his conversation with country slang. School officials had said that Tohill did not get along well with the school's alumni.

Dr. W. Earl Waldrop, who headed the committee to find a new coach, said most candidates had the qualifcations the school wanted.

"One man however stood tall in all of these and seemed to have an extra plus that kept his name rising to the top," he said. "Jim Shofner was that man."

Athletic Director Abe Martin said he "couldn't be more pleased with the choice. He is one of our boys that has made a tremendous contribution to football in college and pro ranks. We were looking for a real man first and a coach second, but we got both."



A SAD NIGHT OF BASKET-BAWL

University of California at Davis basketball coach Bob Hamilton Monday night expressed heavy emotions when his Aggies were losing, 97-53, to the host University of Wisconsin at Madison. With towel across the back of his neck (left), he watched uneasily before he lost control and began crying in his towel (right).

Marin Tars Repel Napa '5'

By LEW CODDINGTON

Opposing basketball teams usually don't come back after College of Marin puts them away with one of its scoring blitzes, but Napa College proved an annoying exception last night, forcing the Tars to labor for a 76-60 victory.

Marin had the game safely tucked away early in the secand half, 50-21, but nine minutes later the lead was down to 50-43 and the Tars were reinserting starters in order to reassert their supremacy.

Forward Wil Garner finished the night with 26 points and guard Len Smith had 13. Guard Hoza Wright, who did not start but played most of the way, scored 12.

"We need to get our offense going," said coach John Panagakis after the victory, the fifth for his undefeated team, which was witnessed by about 700 fans in Kentfield.

Beforehand, Panagakis seemed happy to play the lightly-regarded Chiefs. "We need this one right now so everyone can play," he said.

The substitution began early, and only one starter (Garner) was on the floor when the Tars ran their 27-21 lead all the way to 48-21 at halftime by making nine straight shots and forcing Napa to miss 10 straight.

Wright, Jared McFerrin, John Peloza and Guy Perry were the other members of the quintet. Garner had eight points and Peloza five during the streak.

Panagakis made further substitutions early in the second half. At the same time, Napa's

3 Teams Win With Defense

Novato, San Rafael and Terra Linda high schools presented their opponents with forests of upraised arms yesterday as they captured non-league basketball victories with superior defensive play.

Novato defeated visiting Santa Rosa, 54-46; San Rafael whipped host Sonoma, 69-42; and Terra Linda topped visiting Salesian of Richmond, 65-50. Yesterday's other game saw Marin Catholic beaten by visiting Bishop O'Dowd of Oakland, 83-67.

"It was great team defense — everyone played well," exclaimed coach Jim Caranica as Novato (2-0) held Santa Rosa to 13 points in the second half to erase a 10-point halftime deficit.

After Santa Rosa blitzed Novato for 11 of 15 shots in the second quarter (seven of seven by Rich Pierce), Caranica made "some minor adjustments" in the man-on-man defense, and later switched to a zone for the last five minutes.

Willie Barnes, Curtis Saine, Dave Brazell, Mike Moroski and Tim Jordan drew Caranica's praise for defensive play. Barnes and Saine scored 14 points each and Brazell and Moroski 10 apiece.

"I don't think we'll see better man-to-man (offensive) stuff than Santa Rosa runs," said Caranica, "but the kids stayed with it and came back."

San Rafael (1-2) captured its first victory by outscoring Sonoma 21-3 in the fourth quarter. The Bulldogs gave their foes only four of 19 shots in the second half and 10 of 43 for the game, while shooting 50 per cent (32 of 64) on their own.

Byron Stewart scored 19 points in the first half and finished with 23, while Steve D'Ambra added 13 and Mike Ellingson and Arthur Brooks 10 each.

Terra Linda (2-1), with no starter above 6-foot-3, allowed only 50 points to a much taller Salesian team which made the Tournament of Champions last year. "It was good defense," said first-year coach Fred Arnold, who won his home debut.

Doug Carlisle scored 19 points, Dan Kiernan 17 (including seven of seven from the line) and Jim Cronin 10.

Marin Catholic (1-2) made only eight of 39 shots in the first half as Bishop O'Dowd shot out to a 39-19 lead. "We were missing layups and shots we don't normally miss," said coach Dave Gonsalves.

The Wildcats made 19 of 32 shots after intermission and Terry Ahern finished with 16 points and Mike Mahoney with 15 against undefeated O'Dowd (4-0).

WILLIAMS, HOUK, PADRES

After Santo Trade Blocked, Moguls To Face Other Issues

HOUSTON (UPI) — Having tried to change the home of Ron Santo and failed, baseball's officialdom today gets down to the business of settling the addresses of a couple of managers and one entire team.

Santo, the 33-year-old Chicago Cubs' third baseman, yesterday became the first player to take advantage of a recently implemented contract clause which allows a veteran player to approve any trade that would shuffle him off to another city. The Cubs tried to deal Santo to the California Angels.

Such a trade could conceivably still take place, but while the Cubs are trying to coax Santo around to their way of thinking, baseball's winter meetings will reach the stage where high powered decisions must be made.

Finley, who delayed his arrival at the meeting until the eve of his confrontation, has threatened legal action if he is not compensated for Williams' departure. And if Finley is compensated the Yankees will probably want something from Detroit in return for Ralph Houk going off to manage the Tigers.

RON SANTO
Exercises right

While Finley is arguing his case with American League officials, National League owners take up the question of who will own the San Diego franchise next season and where the club will play.

Two five-man trades took place yesterday, making six deals involving 20 players transacted in two days.

Pittsburgh gave up right-handed hurler Nelson Briles and infielder Fernando Gonzalez to pitcher-hungry Kansas City in return for utility man Ed Kirkpatrick, infielder Kurt Bevacqua and young first baseman Winston Cole.

The other swap saw Cincinnati send lefthanded pitcher Ross Grimsly and catcher Wally Williams to Baltimore for veteran outfielder Merv Rettenmund and two minor leaguers— shortstop Junior Kennedy and catcher Bill Wood.

But it was Santo and his reluctance to leave the Cubs that highlighted the day.

The Cubs, having acquired a youngster from the Texas Rangers they think can play third base for them—Bill Madlock—were known to be trying to peddle Santo. One trade was worked out with the California Angels, but Santo balked.

In the midst of the trades and the announcement of Santo's decision, baseball's winter meetings also had a group of visitors for New Orleans.

Members of the Superdome Commission, with executive director Ben Levy at the head, met with the executive committee yesterday and told the members that if New Orleans had not received a promise of a new franchise by next April then the $163 million enclosed stadium would not be available for baseball.

After hearings the Superdome officials strong-armed play, the committee member said they could promise New Orleans nothing.

NBA ROUNDUP

West Reaches Point Plateau

By U.P. INTERNATIONAL

Jerry West has had his nose to the grindstone so long that it has been broken 10 times during a 14-year pro basketball career. So have a lot of opposition hearts.

A one-time West Virginia University star who came to the Lakers for a modest bonus and turned into one of the highest priced players in the National Basketball Association, West reached a personal milestone Tuesday night when he scored the 25,000th point of his career as Los Angeles beat the Phoenix Suns, 120-103.

During his career, West helped guide the Lakers to one league title, 1972, and played on the losing Los Angeles teams in a host of playoff finals with the Boston Celtics.

The 35-year-old West scored 26 points against the Suns to become only the third man in NBA history to reach 25,000 points. He joined former Laker Wilt Chamberlain and Oscar Robinson of Milwaukee in the select circle.

West hit on an 18-footer with 52 seconds remaining and received a standing ovation when it was announced he had ascended to the coveted plateau. He was awarded the game ball.

One of the top playmakers in the NBA, West added 14 assists and five steals to move Los Angeles back into first place in the Pacific Division.

In other NBA action, Chicago beat Seattle, 130-107; Milwaukee stomped Houston, 124-109; New York defeated Portland, 113-100, and Detroit surprised Golden State, 112-93.

Coach Dick Motta almost cleared his Chicago Bulls bench as all but one of the 12-man roster participated in the club's highest scoring game of the season. Norm Van Lier and Bob Love paced the Bulls scoring with 27 points each and the only Chicago player who didn't score was the third center to get into the game, Tom Boerwinkle. Fred Brown led the Sonics with 24 points and Spencer Haywood had 23 as Seattle lost for the 20th time in 29 games.

Kareem Abdul-Jabbar and Bob Dandridge combined for 60 points to lead Milwaukee past Houston. Abdul-Jabbar, playing with a mild case of the flu, scored 32 points and Dandridge had 28. Rudy Tomjanovich scored 34 points to lead Houston.

Walt Frazier scored 15 points in the third quarter including three straight baskets as New York Knicks beat Portland. Phil Jackson had his second straight 20-plus game with 26 points, while Frazier scored 27, one less than Geoff Petrie's game-high 28 for Portland.

NHL ROUNDUP

St. Louis Rookies Shine On, Off Ice

By U.P. INTERNATIONAL

St. Louis rookie Gordie Brooks took a pass from rookie Bob Collyard on the ice and scored the game-winner. In the locker room, Collyard took a pass from Brooks.

"I haven't scored yet," Collyard said after listening to Brooks field questions from reporters, "but if I can get as excited as Brooksie, it will be alright."

"It's the big thrill of my life," Brooks was saying. "I'm only 21 and it's only my second game. I played five games two years ago but got nowhere. Collyard and I were just called up from Denver and we hope to stay."

If the pair keeps skating as they did last night in leading the Blues to a 3-1 victory over the New York Islanders, Brooks and Collyard should have no worries about staying in the National Hockey League.

Brooks scored the gamewinner at 9:09 of the second period being fed in the slot by Collyard. At 13:23 of the final period, Collyard took a Barclay Plager advance, skated over the blue line and fed Brooks, streaking in on the right wing. Brooks drilled his second goal into the upper right-hand corner behind Islanders' netminder Billy Smith.

The Islanders opened the scoring at 3:35 of the first period with Andre St. Laurent scoring on a 45-footer with help from Jean Potvin. The Blues tied the score on a power play 2:20 later with Don Awrey firing a 55-footer from the point.

In the only other NHL game last night, the Los Angeles Kings survived a last second Vancouver rally to post a 3-2 victory over the Canucks.

With the Kings leading 3-2, Vancouver's Jerry Korab apparently scored from the blue line with six seconds left on the clock but referee David Newell disallowed the goal and Los Angeles posted their first win since Nov. 8. They had lost eight games and tied two.

The Canucks remain in the cellar of the East Division, winless in their last 11 games. They've lost eight and tied three since a victory back on Nov. 6.

Vancouver's goals, both in the second period, were scored by Don Leaver and Brian McSheffrie.

Board Mulls Ban Of Girl Hockey Player

RICHFIELD, Minn. (AP) — Finnegan (Finny) Johnston practices hockey three times a week at 6 a.m. with the West Junior High School team in Richfield.

But the 14-year-old girl is not sure she will be able to play with the team when it opens its schedule Jan. 8.

The Richfield School Board is considering a policy that would prohibit her from playing on the team, although it has tabled a decision until the Minnesota State High School League clarifies its policy on girls' participation.

The league, which supervises school extra-curricular activities, lifted its ban last year on preventing girls from playing on boys' teams. However, the league says individual districts may adopt their own ban. But Finny still wants to play hockey.

"I tried to get her interested in figure skating but she didn't like it," said Jerrine Johnston, her mother. "She'd rather play hockey. She's exceptionally strong, so we don't worry about her getting hurt."

Jeff Elvasky, her coach, said Finny's athletic abilities are far better than those of most girls her age. He said boy members of the team have accepted her on ability.

"She can help the team," said Elvasky.

Oates, Anthony Lead First American '5'

Rod Oates scored 22 points and Mike Anthony added 18 last night as First American Title rolled to a 60-36 victory over Little Store in a San Rafael Recreation Department adult basketball league game last night at Davidson Junior High.

Tim Stone tossed in 17 points as Suburban Auto defeated the San Rafael Ward Saints, 57-36, and The Seasons topped Fourth and D Copy Center, 55-41, in other contests.

Marin Booters In Semi-Finals

The Kentfield Kickers youth soccer team was scheduled to meet the Santa Rosa Spartans today at 5 p.m. at Benicia Park in Rohnert Park in the semifinals of the North Bay Youth Soccer League under-10 championships.

The winner will advance to the finals Saturday at 11 a.m. at Recreation Park in Healdsburg against the Santa Rosa Santos.

Another Marin team, a Greenbrae contingent in the under-12 division, has already made the finals and will face Santa Rosa at 1 p.m. Saturday in Healdsburg for the title.

USF Can Regain Its Lofty Status

SAN FRANCISCO (UPI) — University of San Francisco, which hurt its lofty standing in national cage rankings by losing to Stanford, may get it all back with a win in its next game Friday.

That's when the Dons host red-hot Long Beach State, the team it upset in last year's National Collegiate Athletic Association regional semifinals.

But something new has been added to the 49er lineup and that is what especially worries Dons coach Bob Gaillard.

He told the Northern California basketball writers yesterday that Clifton Pondexter, whose big brother Roscoe is also a star for the 49ers, "is one of the two or best three freshmen in the country."

"He got 37 points over Leonard Gray (a 6-8, 240-pound returning starter) in an intrasquader."

Gaillard said that the outcome of Monday's 63-61 loss to Stanford "doesn't really surprise me. I've said all along Stanford is one of the best teams in the country. They definitely deserved to win; we didn't shoot well but that was at least partly because a lot of big guys who kept getting in our way."

Stanford was upset in its opener by Nevada Reno and coach Howie Dallmar lamented "there's no way we should have been looking past that game."

But there are a lot of other strong teams in the Bay Area.

San Jose State won two and coach Ivan Guevara said "we haven't done anything right. The only reason I can give for winning is that our guys played hard and the opponents had a lot of turnovers."

California won its opener but learns tonight if they can handle the Giants when they go into the pit at nationally fourth ranked North Carolina.

St. Mary's coach Frank LaPorte said that big Craig Casault was the difference in the Gaels' opening win over Hayward State. Casault had 17 points, 19 rebounds and six blocks.

Remel Diggs got 39 points and 27 rebounds in two Bronc wins to take area Player of the Week honors in the university division.

Santo's Decision Is 'A Mistake'

By MILTON RICHMAN
UPI Sports Editor

HOUSTON (UPI) — I understand Ron Santo's position perfectly... and still think he may be making a mistake.

He didn't exactly go into dead shock when his telephone rang 2 o'clock yesterday afternoon in Chicago and it was John Holland, the Cubs' general manager, on the other end of the line asking him, according to terms of baseball's new 10- and-5 rule, whether he'd accept a trade sending him to the California Angels.

Ron Santo had read all about how he might be traded somewhere.

He had seen where the Cubs had peddled, first Ferguson Jenkins, then Glenn Beckert and readily imagined how he easily could be next.

He also knew he had an ace in the hole, though.

He knew he didn't have to hold still for any trade because under a rule put into the books this year any player with 10 years service in the majors and five with the same club could exercise his prerogative of saying no to being traded anywhere.

Ron Santo made it clear to John Holland he didn't wish to be traded. Quite clear.

"Do you have any special preference?" Holland asked, "Any one club you'd like to be with?"

"Yes," said Santo, "The Cubs".

Ron Santo's position is understandable enough when you look at it the way he does, which is the way most ballplayers do.

Few really enjoy being traded.

It means beginning a brand new adventure in an entirely different city, sometimes in a new league as would be the case if Santo accepted the switch, leaving old friends behind, having to make new ones and frequently disrupting a long-standing routine of offthe-field family life.

Santo has been with the Cubs 14 years, virtually all his baseball life. He has never played with any other major league club and with Ernie Banks' departure, he, more than anybody else, became Mr. Cub.

He'll be 34 in February, and the older you ge, the less you're inclined to change your habits or surroundings. Santo has business interests in the Chicago area and a couple of kids going to school there.

So when John Holland called, it was rather natural Santo would feel hurt and disappointed at the news and that his first impulse would be no, no I won't go.

But Ron Santo should sit down awhile and think a few things out. For example:

1. If he persists in staying, he'll be working for people who already have shown they are looking to trade him.

2. He would, if he said yes, have an opportunity to start a new career in a new city.

3. He would also be going to a league where he wouldn't have to play on astroturf except in Chicago.

4. He would be going to a city where instead of having to play in the heat of the day, he could play in the cool of the evening and possibly prolong his career.

5. Santo draws $110,000 now with the Cubs. If he stays, they'll probably cut him; if he went to the Angels they'd undoubtedly sweeten the pot a little.

The most important thing of all Ron Santo should think about is that he would be going to a club which WANTS him. That should mean more than anything else in the world to him if he still feels the same way he did about baseball when he first began playing it. Actually, that's the only way to enjoy playing the game.

I don't think the Santo deal is dead.

Maybe, in a couple of days, Harry Dalton, the Angels' fine vice president and general manager, will ask the Cubs for permission to talk with Santo and the Cubs will give it to him. There's no question Dalton prizes Santo and would do everything he could to make him feel welcome in Anaheim.

"I'm very disappointed because Ron Santo is an outstanding ballplayer," said Dalton, after learning the Cubs' third baseman had elected not to come to California. "I feel certain he'd be happy playing in Anaheim as Frank Robinson, Nolan Ryan and Bill Singer are after having been traded to our ball club."

Ron Santo ought to think it over.

There's nothing like staying where you're no longer wanted. Nor going someplace where they want you so badly.

Proell Is Skiing Favorite

VAL D'ISERE, France (UPI) — The girls ran their non-stop training today for the first World Cup ski race of the new season Thursday and it was the same old question again—who can beat Austria's Annemarie Proell?

Perhaps Marie Therese Nadig of Switzerland, the Olympic downhill champion, who looked good in practice on the 2,150-meter long track dropping 55 meters down the Daille mountain.

"But to me it looks like the same old thing: Annemarie and the other Austrian girls," conceded French trainer Gaston Perrot.

Miss Proell, 24, married in the summer to the top salesmen for the skis she uses, has won the downhill races here the past three seasons running. She also scored a hat trick in taking the overall World Cup.

"It feels very good again this year and I'm determined to take the title at the World Championships in St. Moritz (in February)," Annemarie said.

The girls said today that the track is somewhat faster than before despite warm sunshine. It is still 20 below freezing at night and the morning sun heats up the track just enough to form a looser surface, making for faster gliding.

"The track is in excellent condition and is not too hard except for some sharp turns at the top where I made mistakes today," commented Marilyn Cochran, 23, from Richmond, Vt., and the top hope of American trainer Tom Kelly.

The downhill tomorrow is followed Friday by the girls special slalom and the first leg of the men's giant slalom.

The men race the second leg of their giant slalom on Saturday, and on Sunday the Val d'Isere meet closes with the men's downhill. And that should be a Swiss affair with Bernard Russi and Roland Collombin heavy favorites.

Some Road Tests For West Teams

By U.P. INTERNATIONAL

They say the champs in basketball are the teams that can win games on the road, and several West Coast quintets test their mettle in contests far from home tonight.

The University of California plays at nationally fourth-ranked North Carolina while Long Beach State, rated 12th, is on trial at Colorado. Oregon State is at Cincinnati and UC Davis calls on 15th-ranked Memphis State.

Tough Pacific flattened San Francisco State 99-75 as Leonard Armate added 11 assists to his 17 points. Jim Slater of the losers had a game high 23 points.

In other action, St. Mary's took Mexican champion University of Americas 129-119 in the best showing of a three-game Coast swing by the visitors from across the border. Mike Rozenski led the Gaels with 40 points.

Terra Linda Wins

Barry Carr scored 26 points and grabbed 15 rebounds yesterday as Terra Linda High School defeated visiting Salesian of Richmond, 79-44, in a non-league junior varsity basketball game.

FRANCE BANS EVENTS

Energy Squeeze Hits Auto Racing

GENEVA (UPI) — The energy squeeze may bring auto racing in Europe to a standstill next year. France has already banned all races and other governments are considering following that lead if necessary.

The International Automobile Federation (FIA) has begun urgent talks with race organizers, manufacturers and drivers to impose some selfcontrol over next years events before governments do it for them.

"We are having preliminary meetings to set up an international committee of organizers, builders and drivers to study the situation," said FIA spokesman Claude Le Guezec in Paris. "We are also studying direct action following the government decision to ban races in France."

Le Guezec said the FIA was "astonished" at the French government decision which came "eight days after ministers assured us there was no danger of cancelling races, including the Monte Carlo Rally."

The ban spurred the FIA into action, but Le Guezec said no special effort was being made to save the formula one circuit rather than other less prestigious races.

The auto racing industry both in Europe and the United States has been quick to point out that it accounts for less than one per cent of gasoline consumption. The real problem is that the use of gasoline in racing is so ostentatious when speeds are being curbed and gasoline rationed in some countries.

Jackie Stewart, who two months ago retired from racing after winning the World Drivers Championship for the third time, believes it is up to the industry to control itself.

"Motor racing is large enough to be classified as an industry and it should not be treated any differently from any other industry when it comes to cutting back fuel supplies," said Stewart.

"Motor racing is a necessary part of modern automobile engineering and few people really realize what research into fuel economy has been done by formula one engineers, for example," said Stewart.

What plans the FIA intends to take will not be known for several weeks after all sides of the industry have been consulted.

Le Guezec said the FIA wanted racing to be treated as any other sport.

"A formula race uses up only 1,500 gallons of fuel. Spectators use up about 40,000 gallons to get to the race but then one should also cancel soccer, rugby matches and horse racing for the same reason," said Le Guezec.

Napa made eight of 12 free throws in the first nine minues of the second half during its 22-point streak. Nelson scored eight points in the skein and 25 for the night.

About six minutes into the period, Marin's Harry Norman was involved in a brief fight with Napa's Tom Warrington, and was assessed a personal foul (his fifth) and a technical, but Napa missed all four free throws.

"No. 44 from Napa (Warrington) gave Harry three elbows, and Harry lost his cool," said Panagakis. "I had a talk with him afterward. I told him 'Now everybody thinks it was your fault.' It wasn't necessary — there are ways to get back by playing tough basketball."

Georgia Tech Football Coach Fulcher Resigns

ATLANTA (UPI) — Bill Fulcher today resigned as head football coach at Georgia Tech because he said "it is no longer as enjoyable for me to coach football as it once was."

Fulcher, 39, coached Georgia Tech for two seasons. His first team posted a 7-4-1 record, including a Liberty Bowl victory over Iowa State, and his second was 5-6.

He resigned for personal reasons and Georgia Tech athletic director Bobby Dodd said there was no pressure on Fulcher to quit.

Brewers' Lane Joins Rangers

HOUSTON (UPI) — Frank Lane, vice-president and superscout for the Milwaukee Brewers, has resigned his post effective Dec. 31, to join the Texas Rangers in a front-office role.

The announcement was made jointly by Brewers president Allan (Bud) Selig and Rangers president Bob Short.

Lane, who has served as general manager for five clubs, came to Milwaukee in that capacity in 1971 from Baltimore where he had scouted several years. He was succeeded as Brewers general manager by Jim Wilson after the 1972 season but continued on as vice-president and super-scout. Previously Lane also was general manager for the Kansas City Athletics, Cleveland Indians, St. Louis Cardinals and Chicago White Sox.

Celebrated as one of the most active traders in the game, Lane engineered the biggest swap in Brewers history during the 1971 World Series when he completed a 10-player deal with the Boston Red Sox, which brought George Scott and Jim Lonborg, among others, to Milwaukee.

"I want to take this opportunity to thank Frank Lane for the tremendous years of service to the Brewers and his endeavors are certainly responsible for the success of the Brewers this past season," said Selig. "His dedication for his job will forever remain an inspiration for all of us."

Short said he was "delighted" to have a man of Lane's experience and felt his addition would help the club appreciably. The Rangers owner said Lane's title would be decided later.

BOATING

By STAN DAVIES

Fiber Glass Finish Needs Preserving

Many boat buyers firmly believe that when they acquire one of these gleaming fiberglass-reinforced plastic boats that the hull "never needs any maintenance."

This idea is probably one that the salesman planted subtly in their minds when they made the purchase.

But fiberglass or plastic boats certainly do need a little care.

Also the hot summer sun does produce some fading in the pigments used in the resins. So even if the boat requires no maintenance as such, a certain amount of "grooming" is required to keep it looking at its best.

If you have a rotary hand polisher or an electric drill that will take a round polishing head (they are cheap to rent), you can easily restore the attractiveness of a fiberglass hull.

It can be done by hand, but the power tool cuts the work down to a tenth with better results.

First, wash down the hull with hot water and some household detergent. Rinse and dry. Then generously apply your favorite car polish, rubbing it in hard while it's wet.

The polish we refer to is the kind that comes in a can like thick cream, dries to a whitish powder and rubs off leaving a partially waxed surface. This polish has a mild abrasive in it which removes the oxidized surface of the finish.

When it's dry, finish it off with a few strokes of a sheepskin polishing head on your electric drill. It's quite likely the boat will require a second polishing.

If this removal of the dirt film does not bring back the original luster to the boat, it's quite possible that the surface pigment has faded. In such a case you really need the power tool.

Get some auto rubbing compound from a garage supply house and apply it with the polishing head. If you can watch an expert at a local auto body shop working on a car, it will help.

The rubbing compound is wet paste which carries an abrasive. It's a very special kind of abrasive. It cuts quickly at first, but because it's soft, it soon breaks down into a powder. It will cut through the chalky surface film, uncovering the pigment of the boat's origianl color. It will then polish the new surface to a shine.

As the rubbing continues, the compound becomes steadily drier and drier until it finally disappears. Use light pressure on the polishing head and give the compound time to break down and dry out on each small area you tackle.

Follow all the rubbing and polishing jobs with a coat of high grade auto wax. Then use your sheepskin cover on the polishing head to bring it to a gloss.

The upkeep of plastic boats has its problems as these questions demonstrate:

Q. My boat has faded badly this summer, can it be restored?

A. Generally speaking the abrasive auto body rubbing material will remove the faded top layer, and, the original color will be restored. But sometimes the fading has affected the entire pigmented layer. Repainting with epoxy or polyester paint is the only solution.

Q. Can I patch a fiberglass boat and match the original color?

A. Probably not. The patching is not difficult, but it is almost certain you will have to repaint the entire hull.

Q. Does bottom growth harm a slick fiberglass hull?

A. Leaving it on certainly does. After a year or two you will find the area that has been affected by bottom growth is rough and pitted. It adds to the friction and slows the boat down. Get marine growth off the hull as often as possible and as soon as possible whenver the boat is hauled out.

Holiday Basketball Play Set Tomorrow

Although there are still 17 more shopping days until Christmas, four local high schools will be participating in holiday basketball festivals starting tomorrow through Saturday.

Both Rancho Cotate of Rohnert Park and Tomales will be in the St. Helena Invitational. St. Vincent of Petaluma will play in the Anderson Valley Invitational in Boonville and Casa Grande of Petaluma will go to the Cloverdale Tournament. Friday night, Petaluma hosts South San Francisco.

For Rancho Cotate, the St. Helena tourney will be a return to a scene of triumph, as the Cougars won their first tournament championship there last year. They will open tomorrow with El Molino of Forestville at 7:30 p.m.

Tomales, which will be seeking its first win of the year, will make its first appearance at St. Helena. The Braves are scheduled to go against Fort Bragg at 4 p.m. tomorrow. The other teams in the invitational are Justin of Napa, Clear Lake, Lower Lake and host St. Helena.

St. Vincent will be hoping for a better finish at Anderson Valley than last year when they took third place. Aiding them in their quest, the Mustangs received a little help from the scheduling.

The Mustangs will be opening with Geyserville, whom they beat 68-39 in their opener, at 4 p.m. tomorrow. Tourney favorites McKinleyville and South Fork battle each other at 7:30 p.m.

Casa Grande, which has fashioned a respectable 2-1 mark in its first season of varsity play, will be appearing for the first time at Cloverdale.

Sonoma State '5' Gets First Test In Tournament

After easily winning its second straight Coca-Cola Basketball Classic championship last weekend, Sonoma State College will get its first real test this weekend in the Mustang Invitational at Cal Poly, San Luis Obispo.

At the Mustang Invitational last year, the Cossacks suffered their worst defeat of the season, a 25-point loss to host San Luis Obispo. They won their second game to finish in third place.

Sonoma's opening-round opponent Friday night is St. Mary's College, which has been picked to take third place in the West Coast Athletic Conference.

The Gaels from Moraga have a large front line led by 6-foot-8 forwards Herman Brown and Mike Rozenski. Their scoring leader is 6-5 guard Mark Vierra.

The other two teams in the tournament are San Luis Obispo and Azusa Pacific College from Southern California. Azusa-Pacific, led by guard Rick Reed, is favored to take the tourney title.

Title May Be On Line For Raiders, Chiefs

OAKLAND (UPI) — No matter how the early season play goes for both teams, somehow the American Conference West title always gets down to the second Oakland-Kansas City game.

While Denver (6-4-2) remains in the chase, it is still true that the Oakland Raiders (7-4-1) need a win or tie and the Chiefs (6-4-2) a win in their Coliseum struggle Saturday afternoon. The Raiders close out their season against Denver.

"That doesn't change anything," said middle linebacker Dan Conners after the Chiefs had tied and Denver lost Sunday. "We still have to beat both of them."

"We can take care of the Chiefs ourselves this week," said safety George Atkinson, "and then if the Broncos are still there, we'll have to get them, too."

Tackle Art Thoms revealed that nobody will be given game balls after the last two Raider victories.

"We're keeping all of them as team game balls," explained Thoms. "We knew we had to win our last four games to win the division, plus three more in the playoffs.

"We decided to pull together as a team, win them all and not give the balls to any individual."

Fullback Marv Hubbard knows that neither Oakland nor Kansas City has a good enough record to sneak in as a wild card pick.

"The Chiefs know it, too, and they've beaten us once this season. At least we get them at home this time, even though we have to go back to that saturated field."

Seals Are Regaining Their Health

OAKLAND (UPI) — The California Golden Seals are slowly returning to health as they ready for tonight's game with an Atlanta team that is living up to its nickname these days.

The Flames boast an 11-8-5 record with some fiery play after failing to score a victory in their first seven games. The Seals are 6-16-1 but getting some of their best players back in action.

Defenseman Bobby Stewart, out four games with a pulled leg muscle, could play in tonight's 8 o'clock game while Gary Croteau, held to limited activity with a twisted ankle, is almost back to top form.

Of course, the single most important Seal is still sidelined. Veteran Marv Edwards has to man the nets while little goalie Gilles Meloche slowly recovers from a cut hand.

Defenseman Barry Cummins, wearing two black eyes and three stitches, expects to play unless the league should hit him with disciplinary action following the weekend fight with the Philadelphia Flyers.

Casa Grande Cagers Wallop Tomales, 80-52

Casa Grande High School of Petaluma (2-1) scored 14 straight points last night in the first minute and one half, then coasted to an 80-52 non-league basketball victory over host Tomales High School (10-3).

"We really stunk the place out," Braves coach Jim Clahan commented later. "They were really hot and tore us up."

The Gauchos used their 14-point socring spree to build up a 29-13 first-quarter lead, which was extended to 21 points at half-time. The second half was a little closer, with the Braves being outscored 1-24.

Casa Grande was led by Larry Thomas, who scored 21 points, and Tom Davini, who added 20. Mark Fitzgerald tallied 15 to pace Tomales.

Casa Grande	29	20	14	17—80

Spurrier To Start For 49ers

SAN FRANCISCO (UPI) — Steve Spurrier will start at quarterback Sunday for San Francisco when the 49ers call on New Orleans.

It was in the two teams' first meeting this season that Spurrier had a season low-point. He could not move the team and gave way to John Brodie, who promptly led the 49ers to a 40-0 triumph.

Spurrier has come back, however, and was sharp in the 49ers' 38-28 win over Philadelphia last Sunday. He would seem to be ahead of Joe Reed in their battle for the starting quarterback berth after Brodie retires at the end of this season.

"Gene (Washington) got hurt in the first quarter, and we hadn't got things going yet," Spurrier said of the first Saints game. "Then John came in and hit Danny (Abramowicz) with a little out (pass) and he went all the way. That opened things up."

Spurrier pointed out that Washington is healthy now.

"The other team gets a different picture when he's in the game," says Spurrier.

Coach Dick Nolan yesterday named Spurrier to start and said the rest of the lineup would be the same that went against the Eagles, too, providing running back Vic Washington and strong safety Mel Phillips are over their injuries. Also listed as "probable" but not definite because of hurts are defensive back Ralph McGill and receiver John Isenbarger.

Redwood '5' Challenges Top L.A. Team

Redwood High School, walking a thin line between ambition and masochism, will confront the finest prep basketball team in the known world tomorrow at 7:30 p.m. to highlight a bold tournament schedule by Marin teams.

The Giants will be playing in the Golden State Classic at De La Salle High in Concord, and their first-round opponent will be Verbum Dei of Los Angeles, the Southern California champion four years in a row.

Tamalpais and Drake, meanwhile, open play in the Crusader Classic at Riordan High in San Francisco tonight and tomorrow, respectively, and San Marin will compete in the Healdsburg Tournament beginning tomorrow.

"This figures to be an outstanding tournament," said Redwood coach Dick Hart. It is labeled the "Preview of Champions," and with good reason.

Verbum Dei, from the heart of Watts, has a phenomenal overall record of 145-7 since 1968, and has won 56 straight league games and 24 straight California Interscholastic Federation playoff contests.

The tournament also features such powers as El Cerrito, Richmond, De La Salle, Piedmont Hills of San Jose, Jesuit of Carmichael, and Castlemont of Oakland.

The Redwood-Verbum Dei winner will face the El Cerrito-Piedmont Hills winner at 9 p.m. Friday, while the losers will play at 6 p.m. Friday.

Drake, meanwhile, will be appearing for the first time in a tournament which Tam has frequented for years at Riordan High.

Tam will play the hosts at 8:30 p.m. tonight, while Drake will be in action against Balboa of San Francisco at 7 p.m. Also in the tournament are Wilson of San Francisco, Crestmoor and Capucino of San Bruno, and Woodside.

The Tam-Riordan winner will meet the Wilson-Capucino winner at 9 p.m. Friday, with the losers to clash at 3:30. The Drake-Bal winner will face the Woodside-Crestmoor winner at 7:30 Friday, with losers playing at 5.

San Marin will meet Vintage of Napa at 4 p.m. tomorrow in the first round of play at Healdsburg. The winner of that contest will face the winner of the game between Highlands (near Sacramento) and Piner of Santa Rosa on Friday at 7 p.m., while the losers will collide at 5:30 Friday.

Also in the tourney are Ukiah, Alameda, Healdsburg and Washington of San Francisco.

INCOME TAX FACTS

By PETER J. WIKEL, C.P.A.

Could Be A Good Idea To Itemize Auto Repair Costs

You can deduct 12 cents a mile for the first 15,000 miles of business use of your car, plus nine cents for every business mile thereafter. But if you have been using this mileage allowance and this year you will have big bills for repairs, tires, etc., you might change to itemizing. You can change each year on the same or different cars if you have not previously taken extra 1st year depreciation or used one of the accelerated methods.

You must always use the straight line method of depreciation in the years in which you itemize, and you must figure that you have used the straight line method of depreciation for the years you took the standard mileage deduction.

If you are going to itemize this year, then have all that needed repair work done, buy new tires and get the old bus in shape so that next year you will have no expenses on the car and can use the standard rate profitably.

If your itemized expense records are not complete, then you could be better off to use the mileage rate because all you have to prove here is the number of miles traveled and the business use of the car.

If you are reimbursed for the business use of your car by your employer at less than 12 cents a mile, you can include the reimbursement in income and deduct 12 cents a mile up to the first 15,000 miles and nine cents a mile thereafter.

If your reimbursement is over 12 cents a mile, but not over 15 cents a mile, you wouldn't use this system as you do not have to account for your automobile expenses because you are considered to have accounted to your employer. If your reimbursement is over 15 cents a mile, you will have to include the reinbursement in income and itemize your automobile expenses. Also, if you have a profit on this reimbursement, the profit is taxed.

You can use this system and also deduct parking fees, bridge tolls, etc.

Dow Jones Average Dips To Below 800

NEW YORK (AP) — With continuing pessimism as to the nation's economic prospect, the stock market resumed its downward path today, breaking through the psychologically important 800 level in the Dow Jones industrial average.

Brokers attributed the decline "to the same old story," namely fears that energy shortages would send the economy into a recession next year. Those fears, brokers said, were compounded today when Arthur F. Burns, chairman of the Federal Reserve Board, predicted "some economic dislocations" next year as a result of the Arab oil Embargo.

Burns also told Congress he was skeptical that an easing of the nation's monetary policy would help stem the widely predicted economic downturn next year.

A decision by the Cost of Living Council to spur distillate refining at the expense of gasoline was also a factor today, some said.

"This is really going to make for a tight gas market," noted Larry Wachtel of Bache & Co., who said the decision pointed to rationing later.

Lucien Hooper of W.E. Hutton & Co., trying to look on the bright side, said "the market's not going down as fast as it did." However, Hooper predicted a 25 per cent drop in corporate profits next year. In addition, he said a lack of leadership in Washington, a worsening situation in Britain, and the surprising rise in interest rates were frightening off investors.

"There just are no bids," Hooper said.

Some technical factors like margin calls were adding to the downward pressure, brokers said. "Let's face it, there's just no good news," said Wachtel.

Petaluma Creamery Cancels Yule Tree

This year, after four decades as a Petaluma holiday landmark, there will be no Christmas tree atop the tower of the Petaluma Cooperative Creamery, home of Clover Brand dairy products.

In compliance with the energy conservation program, eliminating the lighted tree will save more than 800 kilowatt hours of electricity during the holiday season, a spokesman for the creamery said.

EXPANDED STEREO SHOP

Town & Country Village TV and Stereo shop at Strawberry Shopping Center just completed an expansion program that added about 900 square feet to its service area. Owner Peter Straube took over space formerly occupied by a candle shop to make way for his vast array of television and stereo equipment, plus an expanded service department. In foreground, Lavonne McGowan and Bob Reichmuth are admiring the latest in sound equipment.

Insurance Firm To Change Name

LOS ANGELES — Security Title Insurance Company will change its name to SAFECO Title Insurance Company on Jan. 1, President William H. Little announced.

Little said the firm has been a wholly owned subsidiary of SAFECO Corporation, a Seattle-based insurance group, since 1964, and the name change will not reflect a change in ownership or management.

The Security Title name has been used by the firm since 1920, but the national recognition of the more heavily advertised SAFECO name would be an advantage in the company's expansion program, Little explained.

SUCCESSFUL INVESTING

Puts, Calls Are Options To Sell

By ROGER E. SPEAR

Q. I am almost retirement age and have $15,000 invested in stocks. Would you explain puts and calls and do you think this is a suitable investment for me? — R.G.

A. Puts and calls are options to sell (put) or buy (call) 100 shares of stock at a preset price (striking price) within a specified time. Until recently such contracts were arranged between the option writer and the buyer on an individual basis. With the birth, last April, of the Chicago Board Options Exchange, a new marketplace was established for trading these contracts. The CBOE now trades calls on 32 NYSE-listed issues; puts are expected to be added in the future.

A January call to buy 100 shares of Amer. Telephone at 50, for example, recently traded at 1⅛ which represented a total option cost 7.6 per cent above the price of the underlying shares. The July call on T (Telephone) commanded a cost 11 per cent above share price.

Thus, in the latter case, the call buyer assumes T will trade above 52¾ before the end of July. With the CBOE providing a marketplace, the call buyer is able to sell out should the trading price of the call move up or down prior to the contract's expiration date. Trading prices on calls move more percentagewise than do the underlying share prices.

Whether or not this is a suitable investment for you depends on your whole financial picture. Certainly only a small portion of your funds should be committed, since the potential for loss of the entire investment is high. A more conservative approach would be to write calls.

Should you hold 100 Amer. Telephone, as a CBOE option writer you keep all dividends and collect the premium (or trading price) of the call, which on the July call was $275. If the stock moves above the $50 striking price, you would have to deliver 100 shares on July 31. A price decline would have to exceed 4 per cent on the above example prior to your incurring a loss.

Steak House, Fabric Store Are Seeking Lucky Drive Locations

A new steak house and a fabric store are seeking permission to build in the Lucky Drive area of Corte Madera, near the Sizzler Family Steak House and Big 5 Sporting Goods.

STEAK AND ALE Inc., a restaurant chain headquartered in Dallas, Tex., is buying about an acre of land at the corner of Nellen and Lucky Drives, across the lagoon from Big 5 Sports and across Nellen Drive from the Sizzler restaurant. Steak and Ale is seeking design approval from Corte Madera, with hopes of having its new restaurant ready about July of next year.

NEW YORK FABRICS Inc. of Oakland hopes to open a fabric store next summer at the corner of Tamal Vista and Fifer avenues, across the street from Raydine Ice Skating.

G. O. HAYS of San Rafael has been promoted to vice president of manufacturing and distribution for Carpenter/Offutt Paper Inc. of South San Francisco.

Carpenter/Offutt, leading supplier of printing papers to the graphic arts industry in Northern California, has moved to larger facilities at 333 Oyster Point Boulevard in South San Francisco. It was formerly on Army Street in San Francisco.

Hays

Sabin

A graduate of the University of San Francisco, Sabin joined the Bank's Stockton office in 1967, with 12 years previous banking experience. He was assigned to the San Jose main office in 1969 and to the head office in San Francisco in 1972 as assistant vice president and assistant regional supervisor of installment loan centers. He will continue his responsibility as chief marketing officer for all Northern California installment loan centers.

WESTERN AUTO store at the Nave Shopping Center, 1555 South Novato Boulevard in Novato, will be sold in mid-December to Kenneth S. Cooke Sr. of San Anselmo, a retired pharmacist, who owned drug stores in San Francisco and worked in pharmacies for a total of about 45 years. Cooke was a pharmacist at the Fairfax Rexall store until two years ago, when he retired.

Cooke's son, Kenneth S. Cooke Jr. of San Rafael, will manage Western Auto in Novato. Cooke Sr. said he and his son plan to carry more complete stocks and increase the level of services on appliances sold to customers.

Western Auto, which sells stereo, television and furniture for both autos and homes, has been operated since 1966 by Robert Danielsen of San Francisco. After he sells the shop to Cooke, Danielsen said he plans to go into furniture wholesaling.

VICTOR RAGGIO, owner of Grant Avenue Florist in Novato, said he has no immediate plans after he sells the shop on Monday and plans to take a well-deserved rest.

Raggio and his wife, Deloris, have operated the florist shop for two and one-half years and had the Novato Garden Center for eight years before that. They are selling Grant Avenue Florist to Elvin Cometta of Richmond, whose two daughters will operate the shop from Monday.

MARCIA RENDLE, who lived in Woodacre until last June, has been named chief executive officer of the Tom Rawlins Co. of Guerneville, operator of several resorts in the Russian River area.

Miss Rendle is in charge of running the Burge Resort motel and Twin Trees in Guerneville, Green Gables Resort in Monte Rio, and other income properties including triplexes in Sonoma County and duplexes in San Rafael.

OAK FIREWOOD is almost impossible to get in Marin, right?

Wrong, says Glen Allen, former Marinite, who is trucking in firewood from a ranch in Willits.

The firewood comes in bundles a little over a cubic foot each. "They cost no more than presto-logs and burn hotter, and last for two and a half to three hours," said Allen. He can be contacted through Leon F. Willat of 12 Sky Road in Mill Valley.

Allen lived in San Rafael from 1966 to 1968, working as San Quentin correctional officer, and then as Petaluma fireman. He is now a caretaker at a 160-acre ranch in Willits, where he cuts firewood from trees and branches felled in logging operations.

HALTED BY HONKERS

Traffic in Rochester, Minn., stopped for Canadian geese as they crossed a downtown street yesterday. About 18,200 of the birds winter on Silver Lake in the city and fan out 10 miles and more to feed daily, mostly in harvested cornfields. Motorists often have to stop their cars as the geese cross streets around Silver Lake. One of the mysteries is why the geese become so tame in Rochester.

Suisun Bay Drilling May Resume

Resumption of drilling in Suisun Bay for natural gas is being considered and may be recommended within a few days, Lt. Gov. Ed Reinecke disclosed yesterday.

Drilling in the bay, bounded by marshlands that are home to a host of wildlife, was suspended several years ago in the wake of the oil spill in Santa Barbara Channel.

Reinecke, acting governor during Ronald Reagan's tour of Australia and Asia, said resumption of drilling in the bay is being studied by the staffs of the State Lands Commission and California Energy Planning Council. He is chairman of the council and a member of the commission.

Speaking at the Marin Property Owners Association's annual luncheon, Reinecke did not indicate how he, as a member of the two agencies, would vote on the issue. He noted, however, that he strongly favored resumption of the controversial drilling in the Santa Barbara Channel.

(Reinecke's Sacramento staff told the Independent-Journal that resumption of drilling in Suisun Bay may take special legislation. The Legislature thus presumably would not get to the proposal until it returns to regular session in January.)

Reinecke's half-hour speech before almost 200 persons at Dominic's Harbor Restaurant dealt largely with the energy problem. He stressed the need for voluntary steps by everyone "to conserve energy in every way we possibly can."

He later told the I-J he had instructed the driver of his 2.5-ton luxury sedan not to exceed 50 miles an hour on the trip from Sacramento.

The lieutenant governor said the energy crunch would have come anyway in a year or two even if the Arabs had not cut off U.S. supplies. "They did us a favor by forcing us to look at the issue," he said, adding "it's a good thing that this nation finally is stopping its rampant use of natural resources."

He recalled his speeches on the coming crisis five years ago, saying "audiences weren't interested then and the press wouldn't print it."

The problem "is not a phony — it is real and it is here," he declared. "We're in real trouble," he said.

But it is "no reason for panic," Reinecke assured the audience. In five to eight years the nation will have developed enough of its domestic sources of energy to be independent of foreign politics, he predicted.

A probable candidate for the Republican nomination next June for governor, he also touched on environmental controls, commenting "we've hit the impasse: Do we want to protect the environment or turn off the lights?"

He praised the property owners association, asserting that "ownership of private property is just about the most fundamental principle we have."

In other business, the association reelected its 1973 slate of officers to a second year. Elected were: Neils Schultz Jr., president; Bill Corbett, Jack E. Eddy, Walter F. Freitas and Bryan R. McCarthy, vice presidents; Lee R. Ceccotti, secretary, and William Barboni, treasurer. Fifty-six directors also were reelected.

Approval Of Expansion Of Nuclear Plant Urged

SACRAMENTO (UPI) — Lt. Gov. Ed Reinecke has called on the California Coastal Commission to approve plans today to enlarge the nuclear power plant at San Onofre to help ease the energy crunch.

Reinecke in a letter to the commission said the operation of San Onofre units No. 2 and No. 3 "will reduce our need for fuel oil by 24 million barrels per year. This is equivalent to 34 per cent of Southern California Edison's total 1974 requirement of some 71 million barrels of oil."

Reinecke also said an electrical capacity margin of 15 to 20 per cent was considered necessary to assure that brownouts and blackouts will not occur during failures.

The state Air Resources Board, Reinecke added, "has expressed a policy favoring the development of nuclear power as a measure to reduce the air pollution impact associated with fossil fuel for the generation of electrical energy."

Alfalfa juice is projected as being able to boost the protein content of breads, pastries, pastas, soups, stews, gravies, milk substitutes, ground meats and other processed foods.

ACT Scores In Moliere's 'Miser'

By GERALD GENESE

SAN FRANCISCO — There are so many very good moments in the American Conservatory Theater production of Moliere's 17th Century farce, "The Miser," which opened last night at the Geary Theater that it is surprising to find something other than Harpagon's gold is missing.

Ray Reinhardt's Harpagon is the epitome of greed and possessiveness. But Reinhardt explores so many possibilities and invests his character with so many human quirks, that you can't help but like his outrageously human ways in comparison to his romantically stuffy children.

He whines uncontrollably at the prospect of giving up so much as one franc of his money, falls to the floor in a catatonic state when his son Cleante tricks him into giving Harpagon's intended fiance, Mariane, a diamond ring.

Few, in and out of Harpagon's household, are a match for his cunning ways, except LaFleche, Cleante's servant and Frosine, a match maker.

Played by Ronald Boussom, LaFleche is the artful dodger countering every move made by Harpagon. He enters one door while Harpagon leaves through another; appears out of a roll top desk at the right moments, and is able to drink the old man's liquor without retribution. All the while keeping an eye on the old man's money box.

As the matchmaker, Frosine, who has the impossible task of arranging old Harpagon's marriage to his son's secret love, Marianne, Elizabeth Huddle beautifully cons the old man into believing he is the perfect match for the young girl. In spite of her persuasive ways she can not make Harpagon part with any of his money, so she leaves the scene with a bust of William Shakespeare in her arms as partial payment for her services.

The remainder of the cast is very good, but they are too numerous to mention.

Throughout the play there are a number of stage bits that are delightful. One, is at the beginning of the play when Valere, Harpagon's steward, unlocks a butter dish. Enough said.

On the surface director Allen Fletcher has staged a very handsome play. He has transposed this 17th Century farce to the Paris of the 19th Century depicted in Honore Daumier's paintings. The costuming by Robert Blackman, is Dickensian in style and color. Many of the characters appear as if they had stepped out of a Dickens novel. Both the setting and costumes work nicely.

Beneath the surface of this attractive exterior a cohesiveness of style is missing. Reinhardt as Harpagon, portrays his character in a realistic, nonstylized fashion, while the remainder of the cast are at times highly stylized in their acting. This creates a number of gaps in the play, because it is difficult for actors to relate when they are using different styles. It imparts an uneasy feeling that something is missing.

THE MISER — A Moliere comedy in two acts, translated by Donald M. Frame and presented by the American Conservatory Theater of San Francisco. Directed by Allen Fletcher. Scenery, Ralph Funicello; Costumes, Robert Blackman; Lighting, F. Mitchell, and Music, Conrad Susa. The cast: Harpagon, Ray Reinhardt; Cleante, Charles Lanyer; Elise, Claire Malis; Valere, James R. Winker; Mariane, Deborah May; Anselme, William Paterson; La Fleche, Ronald Boussom; Frosine, Elizabeth Huddle; Master Simon, Raye Birke; Master Jacques, Charles Hallahan; Mistress Calude, Patricia Ann Pickens; Brindavoine, Robert Mooney; LaMerluche, Sabin Epstein; police commissioner, Andy Backer; his clerk, Ross Graham; lackeys, James Arrington and Phillip Beck.

Height Minimum For Policemen

SAN FRANCISCO (UPI) — The city's Civil Service Commission voted Monday to reinstate a height minimum for new policemen despite an opinion that it would violate civil rights laws.

Beranrd Orsi, civil service general manager, had rescinded the limitation because he believed it violated the 1964 federal Civil Service Rights Act because it discriminates against Orientals and Latin Americans.

The old limit was 5 feet, 7 inches and the new one is 5 feet, 6 inches.

That Ephemeral Department Of Corrections

Independent-Journal
SERVING ALL OF MARIN COUNTY
30 SAN RAFAEL, CALIFORNIA, WED, DECEMBER 5, 1973 EDITORIAL PAGE

"If you want to kill any idea in the world today, get a committee working on it." — Charles F. Kettering.

There are, of course, committees and committees. Some smother ideas to death by talk and no action. Others dispose of the ideas they are appointed to investigate by substitution notions of their own.

The latter was the case with a committee which stampeded Marin County supervisors last June into an action about which they now are having considerable second thoughts.

THIS PARTICULAR committee was appointed at the time when the state had announced plans to close San Quentin Prison. It was set up to investigate possible uses of the Point San Quentin site if and when the prison went out of business.

However, at budget time this year, it came in with an idea of its own — or, at least, of its leader, former Municipal Court Judge Hadden W. Roth — which had nothing to do with the San Quentin site study. It proposed complete restructuring of the county's jail and probation system, with a new department of corrections to take over jail, honor farm, and, to some extent, probation.

The board, without first calling for study by the judges, sheriff and probation department, authorized the new department, even redoing the budget at the last minute to provide for it.

Sheriff Louis P. Mountanos promptly announced he would not give up the jail, for which he is responsible under state law. So the supervisors put off that part of the change indefinitely.

Chief Probation Officer Arthur W. Brewer objected to involvement of the new department in the probation system, which is under court jurisdiction. So the supervisors amended the plan a little more.

THE JUDGES were slower to react. But last month, they made themselves heard, through Presiding Judge E. Warren McGuire of Marin Superior Court. He told the board that supervision of the honor farm and work furlough program by the new department would fragment responsibility for county prisoners and would be unworkable.

So last week, the supervisors decided not to put the work furlough program under the new department of corrections — although those on work furlough were to be incarcerated at the honor farm.

This left the new department with operation of an honor farm, yet only partial responsibility for some of its prisoners.

AT THAT POINT, one might think that the ridiculousness of the whole thing would have become apparent to the supervisors and they would simply throw away the idea. After all, the department is not yet in operation — in fact, according to County Administrator John F. Barrows, it is not yet even structured.

But no! Like the U.S. government trying to "save face" in Vietnam, the board of supervisors must try to "save face" for its "bold new experiment" — which was wished on it by a persuasive committee chairman.

Yes, there are committees and committees. Sometimes those which accomplish nothing are to be preferred.

THE PEOPLE'S SCHOOLS: Law In Classroom

By BRYCE W. ANDERSON

Watergate may turn out to benefit American education.

The American Bar Association, disturbed over the scandals, has stepped up promotion of law studies in the schools — something sadly lacking, as the ABA has become aware.

In announcing a two-day clinic on the subject last month in San Francisco, Thomas J. Gradel of the ABA's public information department wrote:

" 'The Watergate Affair' and all its related scandals may possibly cause as large and pervasive a revolution in the social sciences as the Soviet launching of Sputnik in 1957 caused in math and the physical sciences.

"Already, the unfolding of the extraordinary series of infringements on basic democratic rights and the flouting of the rule of law itself has awakened many people to the need to strengthen our vigilance against usurpation and subversion of the Constitution."

THE ABA'S PRESS department may be leaping to unwarranted conclusions on the basis of insufficient evidence. But the interest of the ABA in teaching elementary and high school students something about law is a healthy sign.

It is promoting such teaching through its special committee on youth education for citizenship, which was formed two years ago but has stepped up its activity sharply as a result of Watergate.

Two hundred school systems throughout the United States are participating in this ABA-sponsored effort so far, according to the bar association. In California, the program as sponsored by the state bar is called "Law in a Free Society." Two of the participating California districts — San Jose and Oakland — were represented at the San Francisco seminar.

PRE-WATERGATE attempts by local, state and national bar groups to get some legal teaching into the schools had rather mixed reception. The San Mateo County Bar Association worked out a program for high schools several years ago, but no San Mateo County district was listed by ABA as now having such instruction.

In this year's legislature, a bill by Assemblyman John E. Thurman, D-Modesto (AB 1704) to require a course including the U.S. Constitution in community colleges was killed in the Assembly Education Committee.

Many California educators apparently believe that sufficient instruction in law and citizenship is provided by the required high school course in American government.

However, this was cut from the previously required full year to a one-semester course in many high schools as soon as that became permissible under the George Miller Jr. Act. And the amount of citizenship and law instruction included in it varies widely from school to school and from teacher to teacher.

AN APPROACH perhaps more basic than that of the ABA is being pushed in some California high schools under a program conceived by Peter C. Meyer, who heads the Marin County elections department. This is the "New Voter" program, which Meyer started, in collaboration with some local educators, soon after passage of the 18-year voting law.

In the New Voter magazine which Meyer publishes for use in the classes, fundamental civics is stressed. The latest issue, for example, explains in detail — and in interesting fashion — why building permits are required, who issues them, and how to go about applying for them. Previous issues have dealt with registration and voting procedures, basic constitutional rights, etc. This program introduces the law as a basic part of citizenship rather than as a separate study.

So far, "New Voter" classes are offered only as electives. The ABA believes — and has evidence to back its belief — that some sort of education in law and citizenship should be required, beginning in the elementary schools.

Perhaps Watergate will give such studies sufficient glamor — or "relevance" — to increase interest in them among school people.

NATO Is Not Falling Apart; Alliance Might Save Israel

WASHINGTON — The news is laden with reports that the NATO allinace is about to fall apart because of the differences between the European allies and the United States over the Middle East.

Fortunately, it isn't working out that way.

There are significant differences between Western Europe and the United States. The principal difference is this: For the Common Market countries, dependence on Arab oil is a matter of survival, while for the United States it is a matter of discomfort.

AS THE EUROPEAN Economic Community becomes stronger and more independent, it expects close and continuous consultation with the United States on decisions which affect the Common Market's welfare and is deeply distressed when this doesn't occur.

Such distress was acutely evident when the American government suddenly began to resupply Israel with arms and put its military forces around the world on a standby alert.

Not having all the facts in their possession, particularly the information of the Soviet note threatening to put Russian forces into combat in the Arab-Israeli war, the NATO nations felt precariously isolated from what the United States was doing.

This experience underlines that the United States cannot successfully remain a part-time partner and neglect the role of partner when it is convenient to do so. Our European allies are not demanding any veto over American actions, but they feel they have a right to be consulted or informed — and they have.

But far from the NATO alliance falling apart, there are new moves by the European countries to make it stronger. Unexpectedly, the one nation which, under Charles de Gaulle, did most to weaken NATO is now taking the lead to strengthen it.

THOUGH AT FIRST resisting Sec. of State Henry Kissinger's proposal for an updated Atlantic Charter, the French are now urging that the alliance be refurbished and made more relevant to today's problems.

De Gaulle used to disdain the trustworthiness of United States commitment to the common defense. But his successor, Georges Pompidou, is playing different music. The last thing the French want is to see the United States "go it alone" and withdraw from peace-keeping alliances.

The collective commitment of the European countries to treat an attack on any member of the alliance as an attack on itself is valuable to the defense of the United States.

President Nixon is lowering the U.S. presence in different parts of the world on the premise of helping smaller nations to defend themselves, but he is not abandoning the peace of the world to willful agressors. The leaders of the principal non-Communist nations would be dismayed if he did.

IT IS IMPORTANT not to let our experience in Vietnam distort what may be sound for the United States to do where our interests are more vital.

It is revealing to find that Sen. J. William Fulbright, D-Ark., one of the strongest opponents of our involvement in Vietnam, favors the United States joining with the Soviet Union in a guarantee to secure a peace settlement between the Arab states and Israel.

His view is that Israel ought to be willing to accept boundaries which it might otherwise deem unsafe if those boundaries are guaranteed by the United States and the Soviet Union. He sees the United States as already committed de facto to the defense of Israel and believes that, if a treaty commitment would bring about a peace settlement, the United States would be better served to turn a firm though unstated commitment into a treaty commitment.

Gas Rationing To Protect Israel's 1969 Borders

Until very recently Americans have been the most misinformed people on earth concerning the Arab-Israel situation. Congress has a blank check to support any Israel cause which has no benefit whatever to this country. An example would be the U.S. picking up the full tab for the Jewish migration from Russia to Israel. This has come to over $50 million since April. And, of course, there is the literally billions of dollars given to Israel in the name of lend-lease.

Now we are asked to face drastic gas rationing and many of our citizens will be cold this winter. All this in the name of protecting Israel's 1967 conquests. This position has left us virtually alone in the world.

Surely it is time for the American people to question the wisdom of all this, it is time for the news media to take a neutral position and, most important, it is time for our politicians to think less of their campaign donations and more of our national interests.

Ouster Of Lunding Seen As Democratic

Faith Vogel may have been "aghast" when she read of the firing of Mr. Jorgen Lunding from the San Rafael Planning Commission by the San Rafael City Council majority. . .

In reading the Independent Journal's account, it appears Mr. Lunding was trying to have the commission control the city general plan instead of using "the public scrutiny" of the 60-member citizens advisory committee delegated to the public review of the plan. Mr. Lunding has been unsuccessful in his attempts to influence the city council on its approach to the general plan review process, and he was finally removed from the commission by the democratic process (3-2 in favor of firing is a majority). He still has the opportunity to make his views known on the general plan as a citizen of San Rafael.

I very seriously doubt that Councilmen Miskimen, Mulryan, and Nixon "are trying to railroad a general plan," when there is a 60-member citizens advisory committee reviewing and making recommendations to the council, along with public hearings on the general plan. . .

Milk Price Increase Not Due To Advertising

Re: Nov. 16 letter to the editor, "Advertising Helps Hike Price of Milk."

The increase in milk prices on Nov. 1 was due first to an increase in dairy feed costs, second to an increase in other operational costs — and not in any way to the cost of advertising as letterwriter Sarah Mizel of Petaluma contends.

Dairymen have participated in a program for the past two years which allocates one per cent of their sales to promotion. This amounts to less than 1/5 of a penny per quart. Thus, if all advertising was eliminated the current price of milk would not be reduced.

It is also important to note that the dairy industry as a whole spends relatively little for milk product promotion. For example, the Internal Revenue Service study of 1972 expenditures by various industry groups shows the beer industry spent 5.33 per cent of sales, the soft drink industry, 5.01 per cent, and the dairy industry 1.5 per cent.

Two Happy Endings In Single Column From Nation's Capital

WASHINGTON — In the never-never city of Washington, D.C., where they ask you to believe wild tales about extortion, distortion and secretary-contortionists, it is restorative to find something straightforward and realistic to take your mind off fantasy for a couple of hours.

It is there at Ford's Theater, where you can alternate between presidential reflections (Lincoln's bunting-draped box looks down just as it did that April evening in 1865) and the world as perceived by John Philip Sousa in 1898.

WE KNOW "EL CAPITAN" today as one of Sousa's most optimistic marches. But back then, it was the title of his operetta about events on the tiny island of Guaru, off the coast of Cuba, on the very day when Admiral Sampson defeated Cervera's fleet at Santiago.

It goes like this:

The handsome Don Medigua has been appointed viceroy of Guaru, but his predecessor is trying to regain power. Don Medigua, who is not pugnaciously inclined, fears assassination. So he secretly exterminates the rebels' dauntless leader, El Capitan, and disguises himself as El Capitan, with the intention of leading the rebels to defeat, then revealing his true identity and hanging the rebel chiefs.

Medigua's masguerade succeeds, and, in the confusion, Princess Marghanza and Isabel, his wife and daughter, plead for the release of Pozzo, his right-hand man, who has been imprisoned by the rebels in his stead. Estrelda, the former viceroy's sexy daughter, becomes enamored of El Capitan-Medigua, to the dismay of her jealous lover, Scaramba, who is one of the rebels. Not only that, but the former viceroy's right-hand man, Verrano, falls in love with the delicate Isabel. In the end, just as the victorious rebels are about to execute everybody, the U.S. Marines arrive under the leadership of Verrano, who was an undercover man all the time. Then they sing, "Semper Fidelis" and everybody lives happily ever after.

TRUTH, AS YOU CAN see, rings like a bell throughout. The words "tape recording" or "foot pedal" or "Operation Candor" or "inoperative" or "Ron Ziegler" are not mentioned all evening. Nowhere else in town can you get back in touch with sanity while being treated to a rip-roaring, flag-waving entertainment that predates and outdoes George M. Cohan himself.

As a sober footnote to this review, I had intended to comment on how sad it was that Sousa, the March King, who could stir in Americans so much laughter and innocent chauvinism, was resting today in overgrown neglect in Washington's Congressional Cemetery.

CONGRESSIONAL is a historic 30 acres of the capital totally ignored by visitors and even most Washingtonians, mainly because it is in a high-crime area alongside the Anacostia River.

Founded in 1807, it has been the burial place for seven dozen senators and congressmen plus secretaries of state, attorneys general, commodores, Push-Ma-Ta-Ha, the Choctaw chief — and John Philip Sousa. In recent years, it has been vandalized repeatedly, with some gravestones overturned, others lopsided with age. The other day, Sousa's grandchildren on the west coast wrote the local paper in understandable indignation about the cemetery's reported condition.

But it is not so bad as reported. Sousa's square is marked by "a small but exquisitely proportioned exedra," as a guidebook describes it, which bears a harp above his identification as leader of the Marin Gand 1880-1892. The grave is covered by a slab bearing a stone wreath and baton and four bars of music which I wish I could read. The whole is enclosed by well-clipped hedges, and in one corner leans a fading but elegant floral wreath, wrapped in silk of red, white and blue.

Which is, of course, as it should be for the man who wrote "The Stars and Stripes Forever." And now I have given you two happy endings in one column, which is more than anyone can expect out of Washington these days.

Postponement Likely On Rebuilding Schools

By EARL G. WATERS

As the arbitrary deadline for 100 per cent compliance with the earthquake safety standards for schools approaches, many school districts are facing monumental problems. For the legislature has decreed that school buildings not meeting the standards may not be occupied after July 1, 1975.

In their efforts to comply, many districts have been compelled to call the voters to the polls repeatedly in attempts to win approval for bonds. Despite these repetitive elections, some within weeks after a voter turndown, many are still without funds. Others, who ultimately succeed in getting the message across or wearing resistance down, still will be unable to get new construction fast enough to meet the mid-summer 1975 date.

ASIDE FROM the natural tendency of voters to oppose measures which will add to their tax burdens' there has been some resistance because voters felt school administrators had seized upon the earthquake requirements as a device to build excessively. They believed some had incorporated many perhaps desirable but non-essential features into the rebuilding plans.

Also there has been opposition based upon belief that the quake problems were being used to achieve racial integration. That seems to have been more than mere suspicion, at least in Sacramento County. Here the voters, just after granting long-sought bonding approval, were greeted immediately after the election with a county counsel opinion holding that rebuilding may be done only if the plans are aimed at achieving racial balance.

In any event, and for whatever reasons, a substantial number of school buildings throughout the state will not have been rebuilt or replaced by the deadline.

ASSEMBLYMAN Leroy Greene D-Sacramento, recognized this would be the case and authored legislation early this year to extend the time for two years. The measure is still pending in the Senate.

Greene, a civil engineer, is not calloused to earthquake hazards. He was simply being realistic.

There have been others who have had reservations about the deadline and even the need.

At a hearing of the Senate Education Committee recently, school administrators pleaded their case for a time extension. Some, like San Francisco's officials where the district would be thrown into utter chaos unless the time is extended. Others said they simply didn't have the money.

The concensus is that the Greene time-delay measure will eventually be approved, although some legislators want to keep the pressure on for early compliance as long as possible.

Board Takes Roundabout Way To Squeeze Out Department Head

A shortcoming with the current Marin County Board of Supervisors is that it insists on taking the long way around personnel issues — in this case, the long way around dumping Chief Probation Officer John W. Brewer.

Rather than take the political heat that an open and above board dismissal would generate, supervisors have shrouded the issue in reorganization plans for three departments and creation of a fourth.

ON ONE HAND, Betty L. Presley, director of health and human services, is studying how probation department administration and programs can be consolidated with health and welfare.

On the other hand, the board named Ralph Merola to launch the new department of corrections with the implied intent of eventually placing all custody and rehabilitation of jail inmates under one department.

Brewer appears to be the odd man out.

As Superior Court Judge Henry J. Broderick told supervisors last week: "You've got Betty grabbing him (Brewer) from the top and Ralph grabbing him from the bottom."

BRODERICK, A MAN who doesn't mince words, questioned why the new corrections department was being formed, since its functions could easily fall under the existing probation department, where some already are.

"If the baord of supervisors feels there is something wrong in the probation department, then let's take a look at it," Broderick told the board.

No supervisor responded directly to Broderick's comment. It was skirted with promises of upcoming studies to deal with the probation department's future.

To have opened it up as Broderick suggested would have forced supervisors to contend with arguments from the court that the chief probation officer is an adequate administrator, liked and trusted by the judiciary.

By not opening it up, supervisors can quietly reorganize Brewer out, avoid a public confrontation with judges, and keep away from ugly implications of firing the county's only black department head, who also is fighting a severe illness.

THIS IS NOT to say Brewer is the only reason for the reorganization or the department of corrections. But his ouster is part of it, whether supervisors care to publicly admit it or not.

If they had faith in Brewer, there would be no department of corrections as such.

But given the board's reluctance to deal with personnel matters head-on, we can all sit back and watch the board take the costly and painful long way around.

Japanese Money Flowing To Universities In U.S.

By TRUDY RUBIN
The Christian Science Monitor

CAMBRIDGE, Mass. — When Edwin O. Reischauer returned from Japan in October, he brought news of the third $1 million contribution to Harvard University's Japanese studies programs by a Japanese industrial giant. Asian scholars say they will not be surprised if a just-concluded November trip results in more gifts.

The Japanese generosity spells more than great respect for Professor Reischauer, a former U.S. Ambassador to Japan: It is part of an unprecedented flow of money from both the Japanese government and its industrial giants into Japanese studies programs at major American universities, through which the contributors hope to improve American understanding of Japan.

Asian scholars here say the Japanese feel that many of the tensions that have arisen between the two superpowers are due to a basic misunderstanding of their country by the Americans. They feel it is important that they do something about it.

Professor Reischauer, whose struggle to focus American attention on Japan is legendary, insists the need for communication has never been greater.

"There is a desperate need for better knowledge of Japan in this country," he said in a recent interview.

"It, along with Western Europe and the U.S., is part of the great industrial trade area of the world, and within that area the biggest problems are between the U.S. and Japan because of the difference in cultural concepts. Their rapid growth makes increased comprehension more important than ever before.

In August, 1973, Japanese Premier Kakuei Tanaka announced during a visit to the United States that his government would grant $10 million to 10 American universities preeminent in Asian studies to encourage Japanese studies here.

In addition, the Nissan Motor Company, Ltd. (makers of Datsun cars and trucks) and the Toyota Motor Company, gave Harvard $1 million each this fall toward its proposed Japanese Institute. The Sumitomo industrial group gave Yale University $2 million in June, 1973, and the Mitsubishi group of industries started gifts in September, 1972, by presenting Harvard Law School with $1 million to set up a chair in Japanese law.

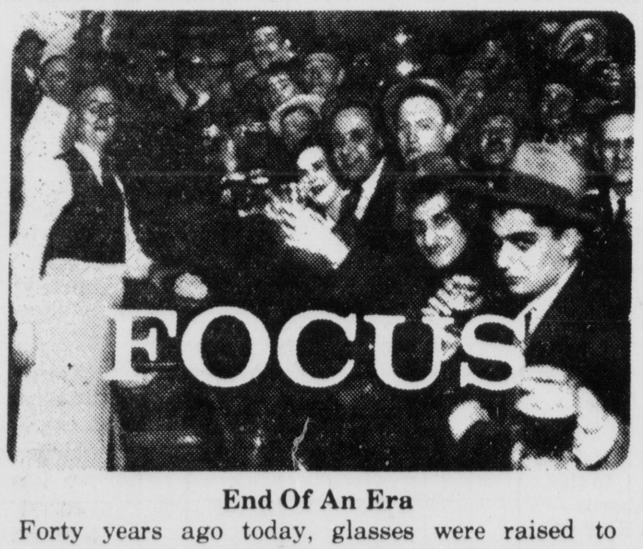
SACRAMENTO (UPI) — J. Cordner Gibson, dean of the school of agriculture at California Polytechnic State University at San Luis Obispo, was named yesterday to the state Board of Agriculture.



End Of An Era

Forty years ago today, glasses were raised to toast the end of the nation's "Noble Experiment." The 18th Amendment prohibited "the manufacture, sale, or transportation of intoxicating liquors." It did not specifically prohibit consumption of them, however. During the 13 years of Prohibition, millions of Americans frequented speakeasies. Bootleggers like Al Capone and Dutch Schultz won fame and fortune keeping them supplied. Finally the nation concluded it had made a mistake. The repealer amendment specifically guaranteed the validity of state liquor laws, however, and the "Noble Experiment" continues in some areas.

Last Of Old Guard Is Leaving Nixon Administration Posts

By GODFREY SPERLING JR.
The Christian Science Monitor
News Service

WASHINGTON, D.C. — Presidential counselor Bryce Harlow is ready now to leave the Nixon administration.

Thus, the two veterans who were brought back by the President early last summer as key replacements in his post-Watergate White House reorganization — Melvin Laird and Harlow — now appear to be on their way out.

Laird has announced that he is leaving soon. The timing of Harlow's departure is not certain, although he wants to wind up his work and get back to the Proctor and Gamble Corp. as soon as possible. He is edging toward the door.

Harlow's reasons for leaving would be the same as those given by Laird — the imminent arrival of Gerald Ford into the vice presidency.

Ford is expected to take over the White House liaison-with-Congress functions that have, for the last few months, been handled by Laird and Harlow.

Harlow told a group of reporters recently that he had to be "braced three times" by Nixon before he finally agreed to return.

Laird had told the same group earlier, and only a few months after he had resigned as Secretary of Defense, that nothing or nobody could get him back into the administration.

He, too, changed his mind — but only after heavy persuasion from the President.

Doctor Concludes Cat Sounds Are Purrfectly Fascinating

1973 The Christian Science Publishing Society

Dr. Paul Layhausen of the Max Planck Institute, in West Germany, has been trying to find out what makes cats tick. Or rather purr, for it's through the purr that we really get to know a cat.

He has studied all types of cats, analyzing the purring noises they made and trying to discover the reasons for them. They are not always as obvious as they may seem.

It appears that a cat's purr is rather like a person's smile: It usually means they are happy, friendly, relaxed — though there can be other, less attractive meanings.

An oddly irregular purr can be the sign of what Dr. Layhausen calls a "crazy, mixed-up cat." An older cat, wise and resigned, may be simply playing at being a kitten when he purrs. "That's a sure sign of regression," says Dr. Layhausen.

Some cats purr solely to gain advantage from a human being (usually food or some special privilege) or even from another cat.

(It seems there are cats, low down in the feline scale, which will curry favor with a higher-class cat by employing a "snob" or "diplomatic" purr. In fact, there is quite a lot of status-seeking in the catty scheme of things).

A real aristocrat among cats often owns a purr that's different, marking him out from the common herd. Yet at times he will use an ordinary purr to show other cats he's not really stuck up at all.

If you can't interpret your cat's purr, however, don't worry. According to Dr. Layhausen, many of the variations are put on for special occasions.

Most of the time an ordinary, well-fed, well-balanced cat purrs simply out of a lovable mixture of contentment, friendliness, and affection.

A $1 Million Suit Filed By Inventor

Inventor Arnold Mills of Novato is suing three former business associates and their firm, that he claims switched off his profits from a circular fluorescent light mills invented and patented.

Mills seeks $1,036,000 damages from Alvin Corkland, Alan Sapiro and Henry Warschow, their firm the Ava-Watt Industries, Inc. and other associated business operations, in the suit filed in Marin Superior Court.

The suit claims that on Dec. 3, 1971, Mills signed a contract with Corkland that in return for use of Mills' invention he would be given stock shares in a new corporation and be made vice president of the firm at $18,000 a year.

Corkland and the others, Mills claimed, never formed the company, paid him only $400, and then formed another firm excluding him from participation, but using his patent.

Moth Inspection Of Trees Asked

SACRAMENTO (UPI) — California's border quarantine stations have been alerted to prohibit entry of Christmas trees which contain egg masses of tussock moths from infested areas of Washington, Oregon, Montana and Idaho.

The state Food and Agriculture Department said Monday all trees from the four states will be checked and any infested ones will be turned back at border stations or rejected at destination.

Gay Suspected In Corona Case

VACAVILLE, Calif. (UPI) — The knife attack that cost mass slayer Juan Corona his left eye may have been prompted by a homosexual's hurt feelings, according to investigators.

Corona, 40, serving a life term for the slayings of 25 itinerant farm workers, was stabbed repeatedly last Saturday night. Doctors who removed the eye report that Corona is now in satisfactory condition despite more than 30 wounds.

At least three suspects are being closely questioned about the attack.

Guard Capt. Ernest Brawley said yesterday.

Brawley said a homosexual not involved directly in the attack felt Corona had been "obnoxious" to him in the past and his boyfriend may have attacked Corona for the insult.

Draft Sign-Ups Are Still Must

Marin males nearing their 18th birthday were reminded today they must register with the selective service even though no draft calls are being made under present law.

Joy M. Kinzer, executive secretary of Selective Service Local Board No. 25 in San Rafael, said all men must register with the board between 30 days before and 30 days after their 18th birthday.

She warned that a failure to register is a felony, punishable under the federal Selective Service Act.

Lottery numbers are assigned to individuals during the year of their 19th birthday at age 20 they are eligble for the draft if it is resumed in an emergency.

Local Board No. 25 serves all of Marin and 18-year-olds can register at the board's office, 910 D Street, San Rafael, from 8 a.m. to 5 p.m. Monday through Friday.

Applicants need only bring a driver's license or birth certificate as proof of the date of their birth.

FTC Oath Taken In The Hospital

WASHINGTON (UPI) — It was the day Mary Elizabeth Sanford was supposed to be sworn as a member of the Federal Trade Commission (FTC), but she was in a hospital bed for treatment of a back injury she suffered in a car accident several years ago.

However, Miss Sanford, 37, did not miss the ceremony. FTC Chairman Lewis Engman and other members of the commission went to her bedside at Georgetown University Hospital for the swearing in ceremony yesterday.

Contract Can't Be Played In A Vacuum For A Victory

The correct play of a suit does not exist in a vacuum. It may depend, among other things, on how many tricks you can afford to lose.

Opening lead — ♡ K

HEART ACTION

West opened the king of hearts and continued with another heart. South ruffed and drew trumps with the ace and king.

This left two trumps out, the queen and the jack. South likewise had two trumps, the nine and the eight. How should he proceed? Should he lead another trump, or should he go about his business in the other suits?

ANOTHER TRUMP

South was tempted to lead another trump. If each opponent held on of the two missing trumps, they would both fall on the same trick. Then South would make an overtrick.

There was a great danger. If one opponent held both of the missing trumps (as was actually the case), he would take them both, drawing South's trumps. Then the defenders could take the rest of their hearts and South would be set three tricks.

CORRECT PLAY

The correct play depended on how many tricks South needed. He would make either seven or 11 tricks if he led a third trump, depending on how the trumps broke. He would make exactly 10 tricks if he abandoned the trumps.

In this case, South needed 10 tricks. Hence he decided to forget about the trumps after taking the first two rounds.

He went after the clubs, and West eventually ruffed with the jack of spades. West could then take the queen of spades, but South was sure of the rest.

DAILY QUESTION

As dealer, you hold:
♠ - A K 9 8 3
♥ - 8
♦ - K J 9 5
♣ - 6 4 3.

What do you say?

ANSWER: Bid one spade.

The hand is worth an opening bid even though you have only 11 points in high cards. The major suit is strong, and the distribution is good.

ALMANAC

By U. P. INTERNATIONAL

Today is Wednesday, Dec. 5, the 339th day of 1973 with 26 to follow.

The moon is approaching its full phase. The morning stars are Mercury and Saturn. The evening stars are Venus, Mars and Jupiter.

American movie-maker Walt Disney was born Dec. 5, 1901.

On this day in history:

In 1848, President James Polk confirmed the discovery of gold in California, leading to the famed "Gold Rush" of 1848 and '49.

In 1933, Prohibition was abolished when Utah became the 30th state to ratify the 21st Amendment to the U.S. Constitution.

A thought for the day: American historian Henry Brooks Adams said, "Accident counts for much in companionship as in marriage."

HOW TO KEEP WELL

By DR. THEODORE R. VAN DELLEN

High-Rise Heels And Platform Soles A Hazard To The Wearer

Safety officials tell us that the shoes with high-rise heels and platforms should be "recalled" because they are a hazard when driving. The heel gets caught on the bottom of the brake, and there is a marked loss of the sense of touch when wearing platform soles.

Stopping time is measured in fractions of seconds, and a driver is in trouble if he or she catches the thick sole on the edge of the brake pedal. If platforms, clogs, clunkers, or 'uglies' are your thing, keep a pair of ordinary shoes in the car for driving.

WEARERS OF these shoes should know that the risk of falling when walking is high. Many physicians have reported treating sprains and fractures caused by paltform shoes. The thick sole is rigid and easily caught on a curb or a step. In addition to bone and ligament injuries, the height of the heels causes the toes to draw up into a claw. The outcome may be a hammer toe.

Riding a bicycle with these shoes also is dangerous. The heels catch in the pedals and nothing can be done in case of a fall or accident.

AN ARTICLE in Medical World News tells of a rather sticky problem involving the newer, fast-acting cyanocrylate glues. These adhesives really work and bond a variety of substances, including rubber, metal, and glass. But what happens to the skin and other tissues if the glue accidentally gets between the fingers? Can they be pried apart? Can the eyelids or lips be separated if the glue gets into the eye or the mouth? All of this is pure conjecture because, to my knowledge, the manufacturers have not had trouble along this line.

SINCE THESE glues take effect in seconds, flush the skin, eyes, and mouth with plenty of water should contact be made. Keep the eyelids separated if the adhesive gets into the eye, and the same applies to the mouth. Meanwhile, call your physician who probably will apply acetone. Acetone dissolves the bond and is preferred to forcibly pulling apart the glued surfaces, because the top layers of skin will go with it.

We hesitate to mention the consequences of swallowing the glue. Binding could occur even if it accidentally enters the throat. And the material gets hot when it polymerizes, adding to the discomfort. In any event, keep it out of reach of children.

Questions on medical topics will be answered by mail if stamped, self-addressed envelope accompanies request to Dr. Van Delln, c/o the Independent-Journal, PO Box 330, 1040 B St., San Rafael, Ca. 94902. Telephone inquiries will not be answered.

COMFORTERS

C. L. writes: Do all psychiatrists give psychotherapy?

REPLY

Yes, but so does everyone who helps an emotionally disturbed person or supplies the answers to his problems. This includes the comfort and reassurance given by the clergy, the family doctor, friends, and relatives. The psychiatrist differs only in his ability to give a more specialized type of advice. Furthermore, he knows what will aggravate the disturbance.

PERICARDITIS

T. S. writes: What is the outlook for a young woman who has been in bed for two months with pericarditis?

REPLY

The outlook in this condition usually is good but the answer depends upon the reason why the sac surrounding the heart became irritated and filled with fluid. In other words, the cause of the pericarditis determines the outcome. These causes vary from tuberculosis to rheumatic fever.

DRY-CLEANED HAIR

A. M. writes: Please advise the proper care of human hair. How often should it be washed? Is dry cleaning best or would corn meal or another grain-like material be preferable(

REPLY

I do not have the answer if you are referring to a wig. Consult those who make and sell wigs. As to how often human hair should be washed, this depends on the environment in which the persons live and work. The same applies to how often a wig needs laundering.

PETITE WOMAN

Miss T. writes: I'm 47 years old and less than 5 feet tall. Can I be made taller by injections?

REPLY

This is doubtful unless your shortness is caused by a recent glandular disorder. Forget it, if you are otherwise healthy. Why not get a pair of high heels or platforms?

POT AND PREGNANCY

P. T. writes: I am beginning my fifth month of pregnancy. About twice a month I smoke two joints (marijuana). Will this have an effect on my unborn child? If so, in what way?

REPLY

Little work has been done on the cytogenetic effects of marijuana. However, all cannabis preparations should be avoided during pregnancy and lactation. The use of any drug substance is unwise by women in the childbearing years.

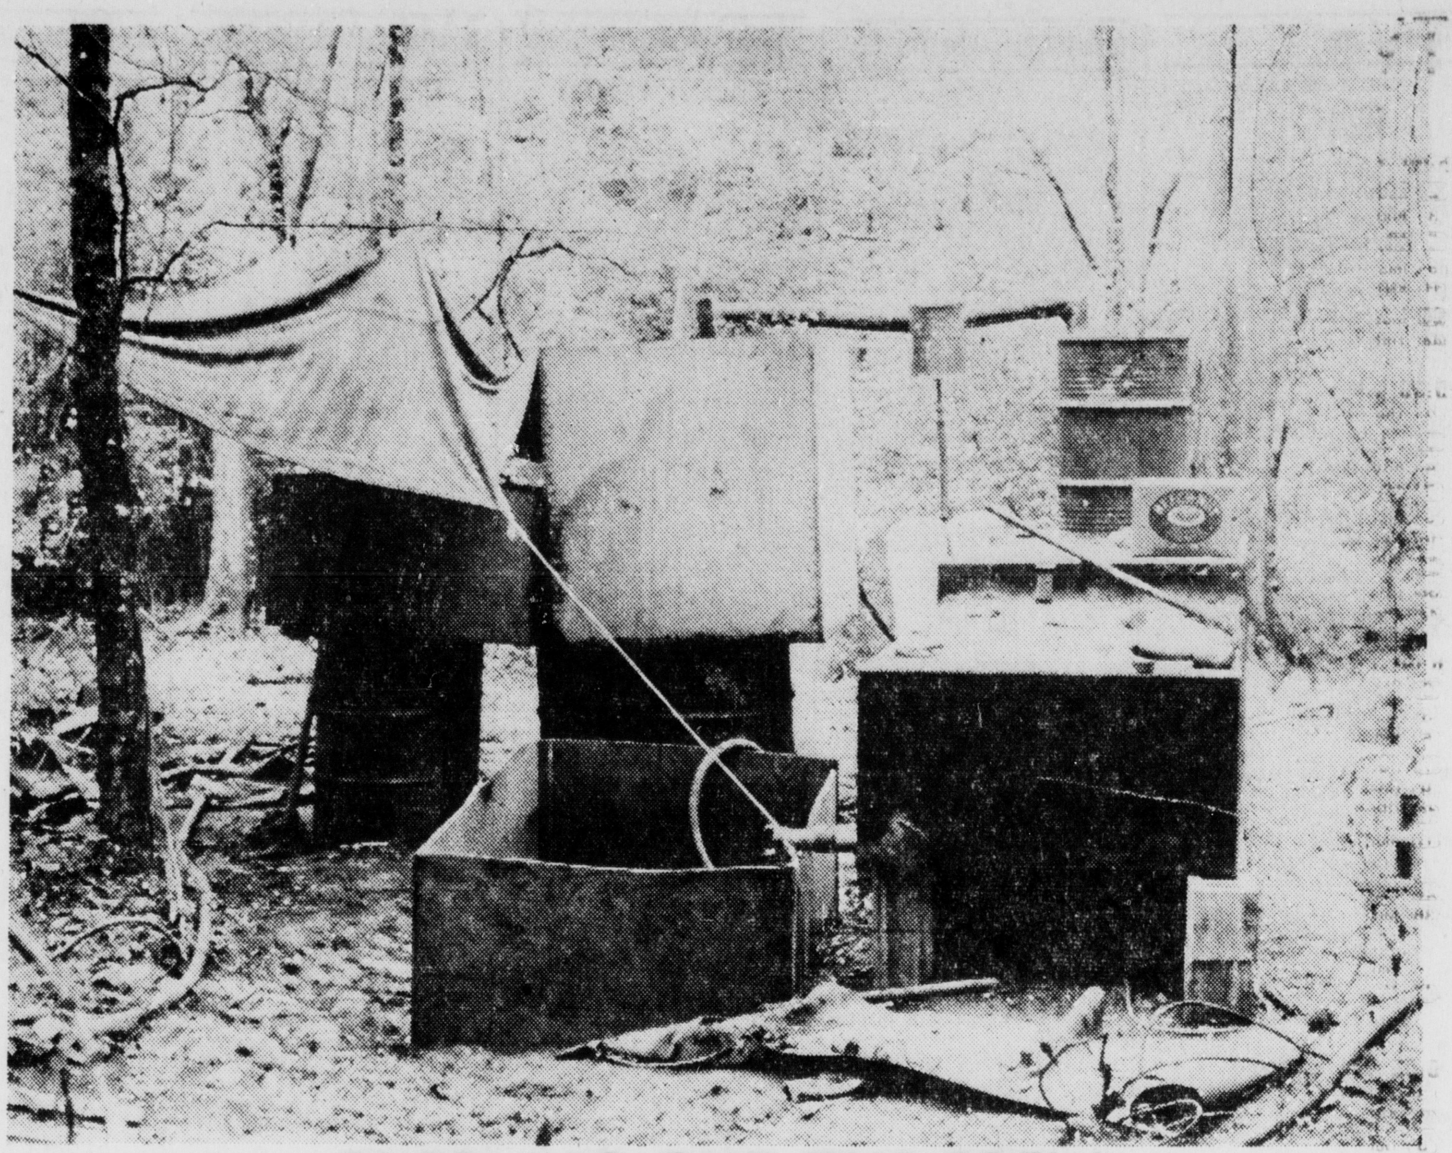
Please Send Back The Television Set

SEATTLE, Wash. (UPI) — The following appeared in yesterday's Seattle Post-Intelligencer classified advertisement section under personals:

"Sue, since you left me, my heart has felt a great loss. The house seems darker than ever before. No one to talk to me at mealtimes. The warm glow that greeted me upon coming home is no longer there. Never had I realized how lonely life could be. Knowing how much this has hurt me, please stop my suffering and send the TV back. Rick."



BUBBLING OUT THE BREW

Moonshine stills, like the one above with its 250-gallon cookers, once were a familiar sight to Brenton G. Thorne, special agent who heads the Bureau of Alcohol, Firearms and Tobacco in San Francisco. As a young agent, he spent about 10 years hunting bootleggers in New Jersey nearly 20 years after the repeal of Prohibition. See story, picture, page 1.

Man Draws Jail Time On Charges

A one-year jail sentence and three years probation, plus a string of other conditions, were imposed today on Aldo Barberini, who pleaded guilty to two bad check counts.

Judge Charles Read Best of Marin Superior Court told the 41-year-old San Rafael man to abstain from alcohol, get a job and avoid "persons of ill repute."

Barberini, who admitted cashing four bad checks for a total of $450 at a San Anselmo poultry market between July 11 and 13, must repay the money, Best said.

A second charge of cashing two bad checks for $244 at a San Rafael men's store Aug. 29 was dismissed.

A report from the California Medical Facility at Vacaville, where Barberini was evaluated before sentencing, recommended he not be sent to prison.

Boessenecker In Council Race In Mill Valley

Incumbent Edward J. Boessenecker announced today that he will seek another term next spring on the Mill Valley City Council.

Boessenecker was appointed to the council in October 1969 to fill out six months of an unexpired term and then was elected in 1970 to a full term.

Before joining the council, he served six years on the planning commission and was president of the Mill Valley Commuters Club.

Boessenecker said today in his candidacy announcement that with a new city manager coming to the city, "I feel that I can contribute needed experience and continuity to our city government.

"The general plan study, the new public safety building, the Northridge open space progarm and the renovation of our sanitary system are all projects which I helped institute and which I would like to see through to successful conclusions."

Probe Shows No Need For Recall Of Fords

WASHINGTON (UPI) — The government said today an investigation showed no reason to recall 5.5 million Ford cars for a safety defect critics charged could cause the front wheel to fall off.

The National Highway Traffic Safety Administration checked more than 700 reports involving a control arm in the front wheels of 1965 through 1969 fullsized Ford and Mercury cars, 1967-69 Thunderbirds and 1969 Continental Mark III cars.

"Numerous alleged cases of serious injuries or deaths attributed to lower control arm failure in such vehicles were investigated, and, with one exception appear to be without substance," the safety agency said.

But it did warn owners to inspect the control arms "immediately" if the cars have been involved in accidents involving sharp impact to the front end.

The Center for Auto Safety and consumer advocate Ralph Nader have been urging action since 1970 when Ford recalled 85,000 police cars for control arm failures.

Ford claimed the failures were the result of severe impact to the control arms caused by such things as police cars jumping median strips at high speeds.

If Ford had been forced to recall the other 5.5 million cars, it was estimated replacement of the control arm would have cost the firm about $200 million.

In announcing its decision, the safety agency said it found no need for Ford to recall the cars. But it warned owners that if the cars had been involved in front end collisions "or have encountered wheel impacts sufficiently severe to blow front tires or dent front wheel rims, or any other severe impact" they are "possible candidates for eventual control arm failure."

But the agency claimed its investigation showed that the failures, which were blamed on metal fatigue, "generally occur at low speeds, typically while parking, approaching a stop sign or turning into a driveway."

Southern Presbyterians Found New Denomination

BIRMINGHAM, Ala. (UPI) — Conservatives within the Presbyterian Church in the U.S. founded a new denomination last night and elected a leader who declared the group had raised "a fresh, clear banner" of Christianity.

The conservatives, holding their first General Assembly here Tuesday through Friday, planned today to name the new denomination, comprised of 75,000 worshippers from 275 churches in 14 Southern and border states.

The 338 delegates, all of them men and all but one of them white, elected Jack Williamson of Greenville, Ala., moderator by acclamation. Williamson, a lawyer, had been temporary presiding officer.

"Today we raise a fresh, clear banner of the truth of our living Lord Jesus Christ before this watching world," Williamson told the delegates packed into Briarwood Presbyterian Church, a modern A-frame structure lighted by chandeliers.

He said the church "shall stand out distinctive in contrast to many false religious societies which bear his name."

The conservatives contend the one-million member Presbyterian Church in the U.S. has strayed from the scriptures by taking liberal positions on abortion, divorce and other social issues and by agreeing to ordain women.

"This separation has forced division among families, friends and local congregations," Williamson said.

"It has been heartrending and with many tears. Separation from foes is not easy, but separation from fellow Christian friends is traumatic."

The conservatives believe in the authority of the Bible and the virgin birth and consider the Westminster Confession of 1648 as the authoritative guide to interpreting the scripture.

They oppose a proposal to merge the Presbyterian Church in the U.S., which operates in Southern and border states, with the Northern and more liberal United Presbyterian Church in the U.S.A.

Sullivan Elected By Bonsai Club

Other officers elected with him were Mrs. Robert Krohn, first vice president; John Wells, second vice president; Dorothy Broehm, recording secretary; Diane Darling, corresponding secretary and Orin Riley, treasurer.

Dog's Owner Being Sought

Dr. Gregory J. Graham of 1615 Hill Road, Novato, is seeking the owners of a dog which bit him on the left leg while he was hiking on Mount Tamalpais about a half-mile below Rock Spring junction at about 3 p.m. Sunday.

Dr. Graham said he was bitten by a small to medium sized brown and white dog with collie-like markings which had a red bandana around its neck, and possibly is named "Spunky.

He said the owners were nearby and "the woman was wearing a black and red parka."

If he doesn't hear from them, he will have to have antirabies shots, he said. He asked that the owners telephone him to let him know if the dog had been immunized.

Kissinger Asked To Intercede For Sakharov

SAN FRANCISCO (UPI) — The Bay Area Council on Soviet Jewry has urged Secretary of State Henry Kissinger to demand that Russia allow physicist Arndrei Sakharov to accept an invitation to lecture at Princeton University.

Council Chairman Harold B. Light wrote in a wire to Kissiner yesterday that Sakharov's appearance would be "a major test of Soviet intentions in detente" as specified in the U.S.-Soviet accord signed the past summer.

Light said the accords and Kissinger's "quiet diplomacy" have produced "a Soviet-sponsored war in the Middle East and increased harassment of the human rights movement in Russia.

Narcotic Charge Hearing Is Slated

Sherry Lee Kimble, 26, of San Francisco, will have a preliminary hearing Tuesday in Marin Municipal Court on a felony charge of having a forced prescription for a dangerous drug.

The woman, arrested Friday by Sausalito police, also faces a misdemeanor count of possessing a hypodermic syringe and needle. She pleaded innocent to both counts yesterday before Municipal Court Judge David R. Baty.

Acid Cloud Of Venus Is Advanced

WASHINGTON (UPI) — The brilliant tops of the dense clouds surrounding the planet Venus appear to consist of droplets of sulfuric acid.

That is the conclusion of Dr. James B. Pollack, of NASA's Ames Research Center, Mountain View, and it agrees with suggestions of other researchers.

They have said sulfuric acid solutions could account for the low amount of water vapor seen near the cloud tops.

Pollack's fidings, reported yesterday by the space agency, were based on telescopic observations made from a specially equipped high flying jet.

Pollack matched the spectrum of infrared sunlight reflected from Venus with computer-generated spectra derived from laboratory studies of various possible cloud constituents, and only sulfuric acid matched. He said the acid concentrations are at least 75 per cent—stronger than the acid in a car battery.

No Benefit Loss For Guardsmen

WASHINGTON (UPI) — The Pentagon said yesterday that firms employing 50 per cent of the 82 million working people in the country have now promised their employees will not lose out on vacation time or promotion opportunities by membership in the National Guard and Reserves.

J. M. Roche, former board chairman of General Motors, heads the committee which has been seeking the pledges for the past 12 months. He said he is also asking employers to make up the difference between an employee's regular pay and his smaller military salary while on active duty.

While it is not part of the pledge, Roche said "far more than half" of the firms signing on had agreed to do so.

Strauss Changes His Thinking

LAS VEGAS, Nev. (UPI) — Making the switch from practicing law to politics required changes in his thinking, Robert Strauss, national Democratic Party chairman, said yesterday.

"In our law firm we hire secretaries who can type 80 words a minute—and in politics they have to be able to erase 80 words a minute," he said.

'Bloodsport' Is Good Portrayal Of Football

NEW YORK (AP) — At about this time of year, we get mighty sick of anything involving televised football. It's a glut on the market. But we have to make an exception tonight for a football movie.

It's called "Bloodsport," is on ABC-TV and studies the pressure of high school football stardom when said stardom only aims at college and pro ball and the subsequent good life such can offer.

You ought to watch this 90-minute show, particularly if you have a better-than-average high school footballer in the family and especially if he dreams of playing college and pro ball some day.

The movie, featuring Ben Johnson as the father of a teenager groomed from childhood for football stardom, isn't one of those flailing indictments of the game that usually come equipped with sniggering locker-room banter about sex and beer busts.

It's instead an intelligent look at growing up in small town football and is as understated and low-key as "The Last Picture Show" that earned Johnson an Oscar a few years back.

In "Bloodsport," Johnson plays a basically decent man who works with his older son at a local factory; his obsessive dream is to keep his youngest son out of the factory and in the football limelight.

The boy, sensitively portrayed by Gary Busey, is softspoken, modest and a good student. But like his father, he believes only in the power of the pigskin.

He sums it up after the sympathetic factory owner, asking if he hasn't other ambitions, points out that thousands of excellent high school footballers never made the professional ranks.

"Well, what you say is probably true," the kid replies. "But I can't let myself think that way. I mean, my grades are okay, but I'm not winning any scholarships because of them.

"Football is the only way I'm going to make it. Otherwise, I'm going to be working in your factory alongside my brother and father."

And he's pushed in this goal of winning by his gum-chewing, hard-charging, prayer-spouting coach — Larry Hagman — who's the sort who encourages the victim of a broken leg to run until the pain eases.

The dream starts falling apart when the youth is invited to a college campus — and finds himself amid 36 other high school prospects, 15 of them star quarterbacks like himself.

But the reality of football mania doesn't fully hit him until near the end of a winning season, when a gasping, grossly obese teammate drops dead, apparently from an undetected heart condition, during a grueling practice session.

The fact of the lad's death only is used as another reason to win the Big Game. It's noted at a school pep rally amid cheers, a victory prayer from the coach, a blare of brass and a bonfire in which past opponents are burned in effigy.

"Bloodsport," filmed in Woodland, has the small town football scene down to a T and rings true nearly all the time.

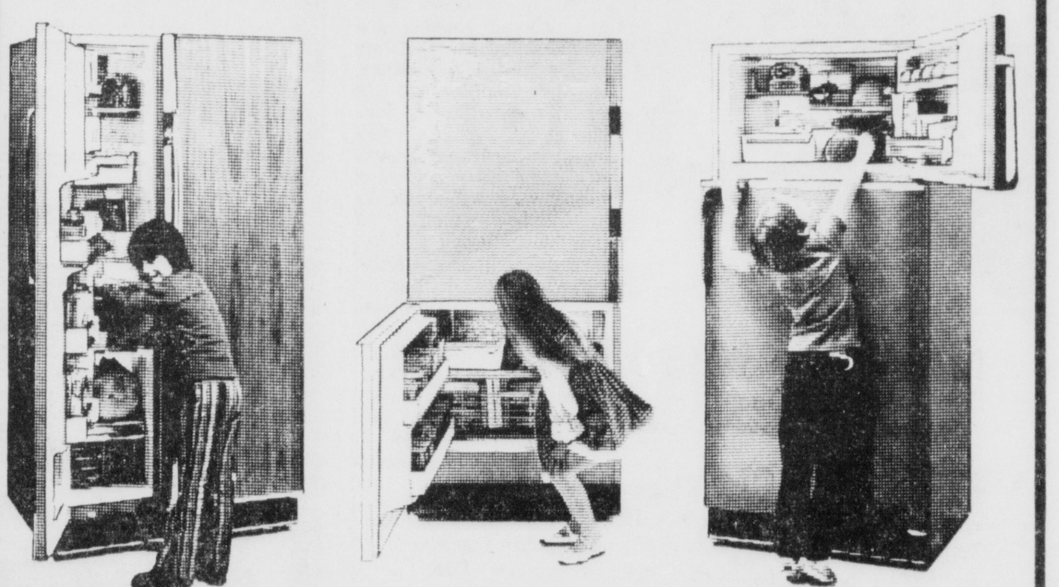
Where do you want the freezer in your new Amana refrigerator...



on the side? on the bottom? on the top?

Amana gives you a choice

If you want your zero degree freezer on the side, there's the Amana Side-by-Side. Or you can have it on the top or the bottom. They're all Free-O'-Frost in both the refrigerator and freezer.

And every Amana has two independent temperature controls, one for the freezer, one for the refrigerator. There's a "refrigerator-within-a-refrigerator" that keeps meat fresh up to twice as long as an ordinary meat keeper. And a high-humidity compartment that keeps vegetables fresh up to three weeks.

Come and look at the choices Amana has for you. Then choose the one you want from gold, avocado, coppertone or white.

FAMINE PROBLEM — Tegre and Wallo provinces in northern Ethiopa are suffering severe famines, with starvation deaths numbering in the tens of thousands.

(Christian Science Monitor map by Tom Brown)

Thousands Are Starving In Ethiopian Provinces

By HENRY S. HAYWARD
The Christian Science Monitor
News Service

NAIROBI, Kenya — Ethiopia remains reluctant to admit the extent of the famine rural people in its northern provinces have been facing.

This reluctance is attributed by outsiders first to a strong sense of national pride and second to fear on the part of Ethiopian officials of accepting blame for their handling of food distribution.

Recent visitors to Ethiopia point out the contrast between the ample stocks of food on display in the stores of Addis Ababa and the critical shortages still existing in the northern countryside, where up to two million people are starving.

The lowest estimate on the dead is between 10,000 and 20,000 persons, while one United Nations report put the figure at between 50,000 and 100,000.

Despite these reports, Ethiopian officials still tend to play down the dimensions of the crisis. One such official arriving in Nairobi thanked the Kenya people for their contribution of foodstuffs but gave the impression the situation was under control.

A three-year failure of the rains is basically responsible, although historic poverty, poor communications, and primitive farming methods also contributed.

The first year of drought, the farmers ate their food surpluses and emergency storage items in the expectation that the next year would enable them to replace these stores.

The second year, they ate their seed grain and began selling or eating their cattle and livestock, which were dying from lack of food and water, anyhow.

The third year, most of the remainder of the livestock were finished by drought or slaughtered for food by starving residents, and widespread starvation ensued.

Aside from Kenya's contribution, not much of the expected foreign aid has yet arrived in Ethiopia. Deliveries in some cases are believed to have been delayed by Mideast war dislocations and fuel shortages.

WARDS TREAD WEAR GUARANTEE

PREMATURE TREAD WEAR-OUT

If a Montgomery Ward passenger tire wears down to the top of the tread wear indicators (to 2/32" tread depth) within the period of months or number of miles stated for a given quality of tire, Montgomery Ward will replace the tire for a prorated charge determined by the months or miles of use, whichever serves as basis for the guarantee.

Premature tread wear-out due to malfunction of the suspension system is excluded.

All prorated charges will be based on actual selling price in effect at the time of adjustment at the retail store to which returned or the catalog price in effect at the store or agency to which returned, in either case, including Federal Excise Tax.

Freedom Is New Word In Fashion

The fashion news is out for the season, anything goes for women from smooth and slinky satin to recycled blue jeans, for the day or night life. The fashion world has tumbled over in this new rush of fashion ideas. Women all over the world are enjoying more freedom which is obvious in their manner of dress.

For the American women who are totally involved in at-home activities in addition to clubs and occupations, the new and relaxed image in pantsuits and coordinates make her everyday busy schedule more viable. This is especially true of the holiday season when she is at her busiest.

Several of the various business owners in Strawberry's Town & Country Village, Mill Valley, were consulted about the fashion trends during this Christmas-winter season, and if fashion trends in Marin were a reflection of what's happening across the US and in Europe.

Fashion news from the Little Daisy manager, Patty Marsh, and Littlechix manager, Lee Pearson, was all about denim.

Recycled denim sewn into skirts, long and short, patchwork outfits, sequined jackets, purses and tops. "Denim is especially brightened with anything that sparkles or glitters, and can easily be worn during a day of Christmas shopping or out to a fast paced party," reports Mrs. Pearson. She also indicated that corduory which has been recycled will also become popular due to the over demand on denim material. Littlechix carries many styles for the petite sizes 3 through 13.

"The current women's fashion trend," says Miss Marsh of Little Daisy, "is the '40s look, and has hit the US both east coast and west at approximately the same time."

She also reports that emphasis in dress is also on the variety of top designs from sequin details to low cut halter style worn with the new wooden bead look in jewelry.

The 1940 styles are also being carried through in maternity wear reported Motherhood Maternity in Town & Country Village. They indicate that low-cut necklines on long skirted, lame dresses are very popular now. For the clothes-aware mother-to-be, coordinates are recommended as the most versatile because of the many events planned for the holidays.

In footwear fashion Village Shoe Den owner, Ed Nahigan, reported that thick, chunky, round-toed shoes are definitely worn more frequently now during day and evening both. He said that with the taboos lifted on all of the what-to-wear-when styles; shoes have followed suit. Navy and brown in natural chunky leathers, clogs in a variety of styles, and ankle laced styles are all extremely popular, and have replaced the boot-look, wearing comfortably and well with the new looks in fashion design.

John Statzer, buyer and co-owner of King's Closet, one of the only stores in Marin which caters to the big and tall man, said that the Gatsby look has found popularity with the over-sized person.

King's Closet suggests that the tall man looks exceptionally good in the Gatsby look due to the straight cut of the pants pocket. Because of the fashion awareness of the big or tall man, Art Vogue San Francisco 1932 will soon make available a new and exciting shirt line in a light knit. King's Closet will be the exclusive retailer of the shirt in Marin.

To complete the fasion trends for the season, Mrs. Virginia Farlatti, co-owner of the Golden Strawberry Beauty Salon, was consulted about new hair styles. She reports that the trends are strongly away from the long, straight hair so recently observed. Curls, slicks, the blower cut page boy, and the bouncy look of the feather cut are now popular. Many of these new styles look charming with the polo jackets or fur trimmed coats now worn by many women, she said.

Mrs. Farlatti recommends the new body wave, Redken's Trichoperm, as one of the best of the busy life of the Christmas woman.

BEAUTY QUEEN IS A WORKING GIRL

Terri Banducci pours an aromatic blend of coffee beans into the oversized coffee grinder which sits in the Caravansary, the coffee, tea and spice store in Strawberry's Town & Country Village. The Caravansary, in addition to fresh coffee blends, carries many items to help stock the gourmet's holiday kitchen larder. Terri won a free vacation to Mexico when she qualified as Miss Mexico City in 1972.

MAKE CHRISTMAS MORE EXCITING

The Christmas season is rapidly becoming a popular vacation time of year. Many singles and families are escaping the often hectic rush of Christmas and are enjoying better seasonal rates in many places of the world. However, Talbot of Tiburon, southern Marin travel experts in Strawberry's Town & Country Village, reports many popular resort spots such as Aspen are heavily booked at this time but cruises on the Island Princess to Hawaii or Mexico cruises are still available. Lois Ehrenfeld enjoys the sun deckside instead of busily working at James Sears of Marin.

THE CONTINENTAL LOOK

The new French look in pants is worn by Betty Heyman, co-owner of Gigi's Inc., in Strawberry Town & Country Village. She chose the no-crease pants to be worn with a black print blouse in acrylic knit. Her vest is hand crocheted exclusively for Gigi's in a bright yellow, open-work, diamond pattern — a contemporary fashion look for the holidays.

King's Closet Helps Fit Big And Tall

For the family who wonders where to purchase clothing gifts for Christmas that will fit the big and tall men in their family, the problem has recently been solved.

Recently a new business was opened in the Strawberry Town & Country village called King's Closet, run by John Statzer, David Williams and Knut Noraas. They report that it is the only store of its kind in Marin that specializes in casual clothes by such big brand name manufacturers as Arrow, MacGregor, Van Heusen, Levi, etc., for big and tall men.

Mrs. Dorothy Shollenberger, owner of Queen's Closet locations in Petaluma and Santa Rosa, offers fashionable fitting of the "extra-sized" women in Northern California, and helped establish King's Closet.

President of this new firm is Statzer who, after completion of his academic work at California State Polytechnic University, decided to follow his family's tradition in the clothing business.

Noraas, born in St. Louis and currently living in Mill Valley, after discharge from the Air Force, became a partner in the King's Closet and serves as secretary-treasurer.

DRESSING FOR HOLIDAYS

Dressed warmly for the winter months ahead, Frank Rudolph gets a free push in his fire engine by sister, Lauren. Both children recently visited Patton's Children's Clothing and Toys in Town & Country Village to select their outfits, and think over what toys they might find in their Christmas stockings this year.

She's Loyal To American Flags

NEW YORK (UPI) — Big city vignette:

Elderly lady, at stamp window of post iffice: "Fifty 8-cent stamps, please—the ones with the American flag."

Clerk: "Don't have any flags right now, but here's 50 8-cent stamps. What's the difference?"

Elderly lady: "Most of my mail goes to relatives in Poland. I want them to see the flag that has done so much for me."

Clerk: "Wait a minute. ("Hey"—to clerk at next window — "got any flag stamps?") Here you are lady, 50 flag stamps. Thank you."

CHARMING AND STYLISH

Pearls Make An Exciting Gift

The beauty and tradition of gifts of pearls begins with the mystery and timelessness of the sea.

Leo Bell, owner of deBeau's Jewelry and Fine Gifts, reports some of the story behind the cultivation and supply of cultured pearls:

Cultured pearls are produced by living oysters grown on undersea "farms" located along sheltered, coastal bays. Pearl farms have been developed primarily in the southwestern waters off Japan, Australia, Burma, Okinawa and other South Pacific areas.

A pearl is formed when an irritating foreign object, such as a grain of sand, becomes logged next to the soft body of the mollusk. The irritating object becomes coated with secretions called nacre or mother-of-pearl. Only pearl oysters secrete a nacre so pure as to produce a valued gem.

Color does not necessarily affect cost, but size does. However, a fine quality, small pearl can often cost more than a medium quality, larger sized pearl.

"Pearl necklaces, for example, are a careful blend of pearls which appear to look alike in color, lustre and size," Bell said.

Reduce Traffic Jams For Saving Of Fuel

TITUSVILLE, Pa. (UPI) — One billion gallons of auto fuel —1 per cent of total vehicle gas consumption—could be saved each year by eliminating traffic bottlenecks and resulting tieups, according to an oil company executive.

John P. Wendell, executive vice president of United Refining Co., told a transportation group here that "gasoline-wasting urban traffic jams represent the largest single untapped area of potential fuel savings."

AN EXCELLENT STYLE

Little Daisy in Strawberry's Town & Country Village has selected a variety of styles and textures in party-coordinates for their patrons. One of the ever popular styles is worn by Michelle Fairlie, a San Rafael resident. It is a long, eye-dazzling, black and silver dress by Arjon. The patterned blouse bodice contrasts nicely with the fluidity of the long skirt.

Wearing Walker

SYDNEY (UPI) — George Perdon took 14 pairs of shoes for his 3,000 mile jog from Perth to Sydney. He had to have them reheeled every 20 miles because of his shuffling gait. When his feet became swollen he cut the toes out of the sneakers.

Communes Get Medical Aid

SAN FRANCISCO (UPI) — The University of California's School of Nursing is providing hippie communes with medical information by means of a small camper truck manned by three women.

It's called the "Traveling Medicine Show" and provides reading matter, films and slides but not health care itself.

So far the van has visited more than 100 communes in rural areas between Big Sur and Mendocino County.

New, Old Holiday Gifts

Exciting quadraphonic sound recordings are now available to the public.

Jane Zoslaw of Marin Music Center in Strawberry's Town & Country Village recommends a gift of music for any family member as a perpetual gift of enjoyment, and that quadraphonic records may also be played on standard stereo systems.

For a gift in keeping with the current energy crisis, and especially for the man of the house, Peter Straube, owner of Town & Country Village TV, suggests a popular item now marketed, a rechargeable, battery powered television. It is a portable model in black and white, and many people have been buying it to help conserve energy use at home.

For the children a fine selection of new educational toys are on the market. Emphasis in the toy field is now on learning, developing creativity, and, of course, safety.

"A new doll on the market," says the owner of Patton's Toys and Clothing, "is Baby Alive. She does almost everything a real child does including requiring a change of diapers."

Also, she reports a tip to the safety conscious is to read the instructions accompanying every toy and select a gift from only those recommended for the age group the gift is intended for.

Food is also a traditional gift especially the gift packs of food. Bob Lee has announced a new cheese — grapine — is being gift packed at Hickory Farms of Ohio in Town & Country Village. He said that is a sherry wine flavored cheese for dessert, and recommends serving it with liquer or with in-season fruit.

Peter Sterner was consulted at Decorator Waterbeds concerning the gift to give young marrieds or the single person who is furnishing a new apartent. He suggests a fun Christmas gift would be a poof chair which is available in a variety of materials including fur.

For the person you think has everything, a visit to collectors' corner will be of interest to the gift giver. This business recently opened in the Village and carries many unique and unusual gifts such an antique jewelry, gem stones, signs of the Zodiac, and oil paintings and watercolors.

Of course, if you are in doubt, candy and flowers are sentimental gifts — always cherished for their special connotations. The Village Sweet Shoppe carries a wide variety of homemade assorted candies.

Post Office Is Urging: 'Mail Early'

Trying to help during the energy crisis as much as possible, shop owners such as Bob Lee of Hickory Farms of Ohio are urging customers to mail Christmas gifts as early as possible.

Each year Hickory Farms of Ohio receives many orders for their Christmas gift packs of cheeses and condiments and usually recommends early mail posting. Lee reports that Marin County post offices are now urging residents to post mail earlier than the recommended schedule on time arrival.

	Letters	Parcels
Domestic Mail (except Alaska and Hawaii)
Surface	Dec. 15	Dec. 10
Airmail	Dec. 20	Dec. 20
Alaska and Hawaii
Surface	Dec. 15	Nov. 30
Airmail	Dec. 20	Dec. 20

Specific mailing information for foreign mailing and APO-FPO's may be obtained at substation office.

The Tillamook Fire

TILLAMOOK, Ore. (UPI) — August marked the 40th anniversary of one of the West's most famous forest fires—the Tillamook Burn. Starting on Aug. 14, 1933, the fire burned 40,000 acres within 10 days. After it was brought almost under control, the blaze erupted again and in total burned 310,000 acres.

Confusing Food Claims Are Made

BERKELEY, Calif. (UPI) — A University of California scientist warned that confusing and conflicting claims being made by unqualified people make it amost impossible for the consumer to know what good nutrition is.

Dr. George M. Briggs of the Berkeley Campus' Nutritional Sciences Department advised consumers to contact local public health officials and community medical associations when in need of sound nutritional advice.

Shoppers Look To Small Stores

Many Marin residents plan to patronize small, independent food stores if the butcher's strike and subsequent lockout of union workers results in widespread closures of large supermarkets.

Most of those interviewed by the Independent-Journal in a random telephone survey yesterday did not seem panicky or even particularly dismayed by the prospect of market closings. Several said they would use food in freezers or cupboards.

Retired or active military personnel said they would be unaffected, since they can patronize the commissary at Hamilton Air Force Base which is scheduled to reopen tomorrow.

Some persons commented they might starve if grocery stores closed en masse, but these were in the minority.

Here are residents' answers to the question: "What will you do if all the supermarkets shut down?''

E. L. Neilsen, 18, student at the College of Marin, 2300 Sir Francis Drake Boulevard, Fairfax — "We'd go hungry like everybody else, but we do have enough food in the freezer to last about two weeks.''

Patricia Gilbert, 43, housewife, of 20 Martin Road, San Anselmo — "We would eat less. We probably would use some of the things we are always buying and never use. We have a couple of days food in the freezer, so we could get by for awhile.''

Betty Fern, 40, housewife, of 562 Thyme Place, Terra Linda — "I guess we will just have to work out of the freezer. We are lucky here in Terra Linda because we have a good independent grocer.''

Friedrich Philipps, 72, retired, 85 Buena Vista, Stinson Beach — "I'd have to look around. They can't close all the stores, that would be a catastrophe. My wife is in Mill Valley now. She usually shops at Lucky or Safeway. I'll have to see what she brings home.''

Fred Turner, 77, retired property owner, 111 Prospect Avenue, Sausalito — "I've had the foresight to have a freezer stocked with perishable goods and a pantry you wouldn't believe. But I hope to goodness they get their wages and working conditions sorted out. I sure hope they can.''

T. Howell Breece, 57, College of Marin professor, 141 Woodward Avenue, Sausalito — "I would say we would go to the city or to Berkeley. I don't think the gasoline shortage prevents that yet. I am assuming this is not a Bay Area strike. If that is the case, I should hope that the government would intervene. It would be an intolerable situation.''

Mrs. Milton R. Stewart, 22, housekeeper for Marin County Juvenile Hall, 2130 Redwood High-

Corrections Department Created By Supervisors

Marin County supervisors moved swiftly and unanimously yesterday to create the controversial department of corrections with "exclusive jurisdiction'' over the sheriff's honor farm. (Another supervisors story, page 15)

Approval came on a motion by Supervisor Robert A. Roumiguiere, who, along with Supervisor Peter R. Arrigoni Jr., opposed the new department when first proposed earlier this year.

The board's action, following seven months of sometimes stormy debate, took less than 30 seconds, leading one observer to comment after the meeting that "it must have been greased.''

NOVATO MAN RECALLS

End Of Prohibition Didn't Stop Stills

By REBECCA LARSEN

Bootleggers were alive and well and living in several eastern states long after the repeal of prohibition on Dec. 5, 1933, according to a Novato resident who spent 10 years knocking over stills.

Special Agent Brenton G. Thorne, now head of the Bureau of Alcohol, Tobacco and Firearms in San Francisco, said he found plenty of moonshiners to chase even 20 years after the enforced dry spell was over.

With a kidney-shaped swimming pool in his backyard and a station wagon in his driveway, Thorne seems more the typical executive down the block than a modern day Elliot Ness. He said neighbors and friends are amazed when they find out he spent several years hunting bootleggers on the East Coast.

"Most people are not too surprised to find out about stills in the South, but they are surprised that I spent my time hunting stills in New Jersey,'' Thorne said.

From 1953, when he joined his bureau, until 1963, Thorne said he helped remove four to five major illegal stills a year in New Jersey and said about 10 or 11 were uncovered and destroyed annually in that state.

According to the agent, these moonshiners had huge operations, with vats 20 feet high which produced thousands of

Marin Turns Down Sonoma Appeal On Fair Location

Supervisors' Decision Sets Battle In Courts

By ERIK M. INGRAM

An angry Marin County Board of Supervisors yesterday tossed out Sonoma County's appeal of a permit previously granted the Renaissance Pleasure Faire, thus setting the stage for a court battle between the counties.

The board's unanimous decision followed a 90-minute hearing, much of it devoted to bitter denouncement of a request from Sonoma's attorney that supervisors disclose all private meetings with and contributions from the fair promoters and their agents.

"This is unbelievable,'' sputtered chairman Arnold M. Baptiste. "It's not only irresponsible but almost immoral. . . to present their case in this fashion. It's promoting the atmosphere that is permeating this nation with (mistrust) of politicans and government.''

At his urging, supervisors voted 3-to-2 to send a letter of protest to the Sonoma County Board of Supervisors. Supervisors Michael Wornum and Robert A. Roumiguiere opposed the letter, saying they objected to "escalating this thing.''

Yesterday's session was the ninth hearing by a Marin County agency on the fair's bid for a use permit and related matters needed to build a permanent Renaissance center on the Charmaine Veronda Ranch on Highway 101 just south of the Sonoma County line.

Sonoma County has opposed the use permit claiming, among other things, the project's environmental impact report is inadequate and traffic that will be generated by the annual six-weekend fair will congest the Petaluma area.

In July, Sonoma County filed suit in Marin Superior Court attacking the environmental impact report and Marin's acceptance of it.

Prentice A. Fish, Sonoma deputy county counsel, said yesterday he will amend that suit to include argument against the use permit itself. He said he was authorized to do so some months ago by Sonoma supervisors.

(The Marin County Counsel's office will have only a passive role in the suit — as it relates to county hearing procedures — and will rely on fair attorney Douglas P. Ferguson of Mill Valley to represent the county's interests as well as his client's.)

Arguments on the use permit yesterday were mostly a rehash of past claims by Sonoma that the environmental report, prepared by consultants selected by fair promoters Ron and Phyllis Patterson, is biased and does not deal adequately with matters of growth, air pollution and traffic.

Ferguson countered that the report does and that the use permit contains safeguards to insure the county of safe fair operation, including authority to close down the fair if traffic hazards develop and cannot be corrected immediately.

Fish's request for disclosure of "all relevant evidence'' was, in effect, rejected by supervisors, who said their decision would be based on evidence presented during the hearing.

Fish, in a document handed each supervisor, asked that they reveal all private discussions and meetings dealing with the use permit, visits to the site, all correspondence, notes and memoranda of meetings, all telephone conversations and amounts and dates of any contributions from persons connected with the fair or Veronda property.

Marin County Counsel Douglas J. Maloney cautioned supervisors to consider carefully any response to Fish's request, likening it to a do-you-still-beat-your-wife question.

"Mr. Fish is jockying around to set up bear traps that he can clamp shut when he goes to court,'' Maloney said, adding whether answered or not the document could be presented in court in such a way as to place

Marin Shoppers Flock To Remaining Open Markets

By PAT ANGLE

Shoppers flocked to Marin markets today to stock up on groceries as a labor dispute between butchers unions and employers spread to more stores.

More local stores closed, while others reopened and supermarket managers around the county reported good supplies of food and more customers.

Many Marin supermarkets yesterday joined in a retaliatory lockout of union employees to protest a butcher's strike which shut down most Safeway and Lucky stores throughout the state.

Some — like Alpha Beta, Albertson's and Big G — continued to operate despite the lockout, using managerial and temporary help to keep their stores open.

Cala Foods and United Markets closed their Marin stores today and spokesmen for both chains said they had no idea when the markets would be reopened.

The closing was necessary since the Butchers Union, Local 115 placed pickets around the stores which had locked out its members, according to a Cala spokesman. He said retail clerks refused to cross the picket lines and stores which could not get enough temporary help were unable to keep operating.

On the brighter side, Safeway, which had reopened its San Rafael store yesterday with a skeleton crew, today reopened its San Anselmo store. The firm's other seven stores in the county remained closed. The Fairfax Lucky store was closed today, but the San Rafael market was open, using supervisory persoannel.

William Gross, a spokesman for the giant chain, said even more Safeway markets may be open for business again tomorrow as more personnel can be hired.

Independent stores which did not join in the lockout and chains which managed to remain open despite the pickets and employee shortage all reported adequate supplies of perishable foods like meats, produce and dairy products.

"All this talk of food short-

Public Agencies Taking Steps To Reduce Energy Consumption

Fears of an energy shortage are being taken seriously in Marin and Southern Sonoma, with most local governments, schools, libraries and some private groups taking steps to reduce energy consumption.

At the Marin County Civic Center, officials report a third less electricity is now being used and a quarter less natural gas. The saving results from use of only one of two heat boilers, reduced use of air circulating systems, less lighting inside and out and the closing of an elevator and the administration building escalator.

Next Tuesday the board of supervisors will receive staff proposals for further fuel conservation by cutting library hours, janitorial service and vehicle use and shutting off the fountain at the civic center entrance.

Elsewhere, the austerity of the conservation effort varies. Virtually all schools, libraries and public buildings in Marin are cooler than usual, reporting most thermostats set at 68 degrees.

Steps which have been taken to reduce electric lighting are reported by city governments in San Rafael, Novato, Fairfax, Mill Valley, Petaluma, Rohnert Park, Tiburon and San Anselmo, and in school districts at San Rafael, Novato, San Anselmo, and Fairfax. Chambers of Commerce at San Rafael, Novato and Mill Valley are either urging members to do without electric holiday decorations or are doing without holiday lights themselves.

Other measures around the two counties:

SAN RAFAEL — The number of fluorescent tubes in office fixtures has been reduced from four to two. City engineer is conducting an energy use study. A study of street lighting, the largest city energy consumer, is underway.

NOVATO — Compact cars, which burn less gasoline, are being purchased for the city. Departments have been asked to suggest conservation measures which will be discussed with Pacific Gas and Electric Co.

SAN ANSELMO — The City Council will consider energy-

Carpenters Remain Idle In Marin

Carpenters today remained off the job at four Marin construction projects but other craftsmen began returning to work at two of the projects.

Pickets from Carpenters' Local 35 began marching yesterday as a result of a continuing pay dispute. They estimated 300 workers were off the job.

Carpenters were due a 65-cent pay increase last June, bringing their hourly wage to $8.75. The Construction Industry Stabilization Committee ordered the raise limited to 15 cents and the matter has been tangled in court battles since summer.

The four Marin jobs being hit by the union for not paying the $8.75 rate are the Kaiser-Permanente Medical Center addition, Courthouse Square office-parking complex and Fireman's Fund Insurance building in San Rafael and the Highway 101 project in Novato.

William T. Wilson, union financial secretary, today said the carpenters had hoped other trades and crafts would respect the appeal to stop work.

James Titherington, labor foreman at the Courthouse Square project said he expected laborers back on the job by noon today. He said he had contacted the laborers union and they told union members they could return to work since the strike has not been sanctioned by their union.

A spokesman for the builders of the medical center addition said only carpenters and laborers were off the job with plumbers and other craftsmen returning to work.

Don McKinley, construction superintendent at the Firemen's Fund Insurance in San Rafael, said no pickets were needed at his job today because carpenters had not worked for three weeks.

McKinley said carpenters remained off the job since mid-November in defiance of a court order telling them to return to work. He said his job was completely shut down.

Wilson said any carpenters off the job in violation of a court order had acted independently.

Spokesmen for the highway construction project in Novato could not be reached for comment today.

At the carpenters union hall this morning about 25 men waited to hear of job openings but none were announced. Several described the scene as "typical'' during the rainy season when jobs are scarce.

"The mood is that the carpenters want their money,'' said Wilson.

Several carpenters said they had been instructed by the union not to speak with Independent-Journal reporters but a few said the union is supporting the pickets.

Frank Gardner, a union member who has not worked for two weeks, said, "We are still strong behind it (picketing).''

"They've been talking about the wage dispute since June and there is no telling when it will end,'' Gardner said.

No carpenter, who would speak to the Independent-Journal reporter, voiced opposition to picketing and two said they expected to be asked to picket later today.

WIRE NEWS BRIEFS From Everywhere

Houston Elects A New Mayor

HOUSTON (UPI) — Fred Hofheinz, the son of the man who built the Astrodome, won 95 per cent of the city's black vote and was elected mayor of Texas' largest city yesterday.

Hofheinz

The 35-year-old son of Judge Roy Hofheinz narrowly defeated city councilman Dick Gottlieb, who failed to draw his conservative middle class voters to the polls.

Hofheinz, an attorney with a Ph.D. in economics, acknowledged it was the support from the liberal, black community that provided his margin of victory.

Only about a third of the city's registered voters turned out.

Big Red Push

SAIGON (UPI) — Communist troops, who captured a Central Highlands district capital yesterday and scored the worst defeat of the 10-month-old cease-fire on government soldiers, now are planning to attack a big provincial capital nearby, a military spokesman said today.

Military sources said South Vietnamese reinforcements and a regimental headquarters almost overrun in yesterday's fighting were moved to Gia Nghia provincial capital 12 miles to the east today to defend the strategic town, 110 miles north of Saigon.

The drive to reinforce the province capital, now the westernmost government stronghold in the area, was hampered because the main airfield at Nhon Co, six miles from the town, was under heavy Communist shellfire and could not be used.

Coalition Victory

COPENHAGEN (UPI) — Prime Minister Anker Joergensen resigned today, the victim of a shattering election defeat by an iconoclastic coalition led by a millionaire lawyer vowing to end the income tax and abolish the armed forces.

Joergensen submitted his resignation to Queen Margrethe, but agreed to head an interim caretaker government until a new one is formed.

His Social Democratic Party won a plurality yesterday.

Attorney Mogens Glistrup, who promised to replace the military with a telephone answering service saying "I surrender" in Russian, offered to head a new government even though his Progress party came in second in the balloting.

Bridge Attack

PHNOM PENH (UPI) — A 30-man rebel cammando force rowed across watery swamps at the south edge of Phnom Penh early to attack a bridge linking the capital to its suburbs.

Soldiers who fought off the attack against the Highway 1 bridge over the Bassac River told UPI the insurgents fled in boats after the two-hour battle.

They said the span, called the United Nations Bridge, was only superficially damaged. Traffic was restored, as usual, at sunrise when the overnight curfew ended.

Pledge By Peron

BUENOS AIRES (UPI) — President Juan D. Peron ordered border patrol troops around Argentine plants of the Ford Motor Co. today after assuring Ford executives personally he intended to protect them and their factories from guerrilla attacks.

Ford evacuated 25 of its top executives, mostly Americans, last week after receiving threats from the "Peronist Armed Forces" (FAP), a left-wing guerrilla organization that bears the president's name but opposes many of his policies.

The executives, facing death and kidnap threats from the guerrillas, met with Peron yesterday and were assured they would be protected.

Paris Rail Halt

PARIS (UPI) — Thousands of rail workers began their own three-day walkout today on the eve of a 24-hour nationwide strike to protest soaring prices. The walkout caused mile-long traffic jams and made commuters hours late for work.

Railroad officials said only one train in four was running in the Paris suburbs and only occasional trains were leaving Paris on the mainline networks to provincial cities.

IRS Is Blamed

BELFAST (UPI) — Police and army authorities today blamed extremist members of the Irish Republican Army with triggering a series of bomb explosions across the province to protest talks designed to bring peace to Ulster.

British commanders warned the 16,000 army troops on duty in Northern Ireland today against accepting Christmas presents from the public in the violence-torn province this year because they could be "bombs wrapped in tinsel."

Three bomb blasts on the main street of Strabane today caused widespread damage and engulfed a major building in flames, police said.

An Outbreak Along Suez Is Reported

By U.P. INTERNATIONAL

Israel reported two Israeli soldiers killed today in exchanges of fire and a mine explosion along the Suez Canal front, and a senior Israeli military officer said Israeli troops had been placed on alert on the Egyptian and Syrian fronts and were prepared for fighting on the Jordanian front as well.

Cairo reported shooting down an Israeli Phantom jet near the Suez Canal city of Ismailia today when two of the F4s violated Egyptian air space. It said the kill was made by the Egyptian air defenses but did not specify whether planes, artillery or SAM missiles. Israel denied the report.

The Israeli officer said the sporadic fighting on the Egyptian and Syrian fronts in the past three days were not necessarily a prelude to more generalized fighting, but that Israel and the Arabs are prepared for this even though diplomatic efforts are underway to bring peace to the region.

Well-informed Israeli newspapers reported increased tension on both the Syrian and Egytian fronts and one quoted an Israeli officer on the Suez Canal front as saying, "We feel as if we were sitting on the edge of a volcano."

The newspaper Ma'ariv said Iraqi armored forces were still in Syria despite reports they had withdrawn, and Yedioth Ahronoth said "tension has increased due to the possibility that Egypt and Syria will renew fighting before the Geneva peace conference Dec. 18.

Only A Compromise Remaining For DST

WASHINGTON (UPI) — Both houses of Congress have passed bills to put the country back on Daylight Saving Time, and perhaps save 1 to 1.5 per cent of the fuel it would otherwise consume.

If Congress hurries through the rest of the legislative process, clocks could be pushed an hour ahead for the next two years before New Year's Eve.

Differences between the House version and the version the Senate adopted yesterday by a 68-10 vote must now be reconciled by a House-Senate conference committee.

The chief difference is a Senate provision to permit the legislatures in states with divided time zones to exempt one zone from daylight time.

Sen. Marlow W. Cook, R-Ky., said without that provision children in eastern Kentucky would go to school in the dark. If that region is under saving time in the winter, it will be 9 a.m. EDT before the sun is seen in early January, Cook said.

He said his amendment would affect these states: Alaska, Arizona, Florida, Hawaii, Indiana, Kentucky, Michigan, North Dakota, South Dakota, Tennessee, Texas and Utah.

In addition, the entire areas of Alaska and Hawaii could be exempted by their states legislatures under Cook's amendment.

Doctors Vote In Favor Of Death With Dignity

ANAHEIM, Calif. (UPI) — Terminal patients or their families should be allowed to decide themselves whether they want to die rather than be kept alive by "extraordinary means," the American Medical Association decided yesterday.

The AMA's House of Delegates rejected mercy killing—the deliberate and active ending of a patient's life—but adopted a resolution in favor of withdrawing life support measures if the patient, or his immediate family, request it.

The AMA adopted the "death with dignity" report, arrived at after polling religious leaders, lay and scientific authorities and thinkers and state medical societies. Leaders of churches represented more than 50 per cent of the American population were asked for their comments on euthanasia before the report was drawn up.

Counties' Claims Exceed Estimates

SACRAMENTO (UPI) — California counties have claimed nearly $651 million in state reimbursements for the new $1,750 homeowner's property tax exemption, state Controller Houston Flournoy reports.

Flournoy yesterday said the figure exceeds by almost $4 million the state funds set aside to finance the exemption.

New Energy Boss Bids For Another Pipeline

WASHINGTON (UPI) — President Nixon's new energy adviser, William E. Simon, says the administration will push for construction of a second Alaska oil pipeline. A Pentagon task force, meanwhile, called for construction of an Alaska pipeline to meet military oil needs.

It could not immediately be learned whether Simon and the military were talking about one new pipeline or two or whether they checked with each other on their proposals.

President Nixon signed legislation authorizing one 900-mile line to carry oil from Alaska's largely untapped North Slope to the port of Valdez, where the oil would be pumped into tankers for shipment to the West Coast. It is scheduled for completion in 1977.

Environmentalists, who say the line will endanger the arctic ecology and run the risk of ocean spills, fought a three-year battle against it.

Simon yesterday listed a second Alaska pipeline as one of several planned administration steps, but did not give details.

United Press International obtained a copy yesterday of an unclassified version of a Defense Energy Task Group report, proposing construction of a multi-billion dollar military oil pipeline from the North Slope with the Defense Department paying the full cost if possible.

The report proposed $150 million for exploration, $1.9 billion for development, and $2 to $3 billion in investment costs for construction of a pipeline from oil fields to an ocean terminal.

Both Simon and the military planners mentioned making use of Naval Petroleum Reserve No. 4, an Alaskan oil pool set aside for military use. President Nixon, however, has said some such military oil reserves will be used for civilian consumption.

Sen. Mike Gravel, D-Alaska., told UPI he hoped any new pipeline "would be part of civilian needs and not military."

Kent State Review Set By Tribunal

WASHINGTON (UPI) — When courts used terms "rebellion" and "insurrection" to describe an antiwar demonstration at Kent State University before four students were slain by Ohio National guardsmen, they had an erroneous idea of the scene, according to an attorney for the families of two of the victims.

Attorney Steven A. Sindell told the Supreme Court yesterday that the May, 1970, demonstration actually was "a peaceful gathering on a college campus."

He said the National guardsmen called out by then Gov. James A. Rhodes were more than a football field away when they opened fire on the students.

The high court, after two hours of argument, took under advisement the appeals of three victims' families seeking several million dollars in punitive and compensatory damages from Rhodes and National Guard officials.

A federal district court first dismissed the suits on grounds the officials were immune under the 11th Amendment, which forbids federal court action against states. An appellate court later upheld that ruling by a 2-1 decision.

Sindell added that the Supreme Court appeal was the "last opportunity for redress" by families of the victims.

But an attorney for Rhodes and the others named in the suit argued that if the court removed the immunity, it would set a precedent that "could literally tie-up state governments" throughout the nation.

Public Agencies Saving Energy

saving measures at 8 p.m. Tuesday. No municipal Christmas decorations will be lit this year.

FAIRFAX — The City Council will consider energy problems at 8 p.m. Monday.

LARKSPUR — City employees have been directed to reduce mileage on city vehicles in order to cut fuel use 10 per cent.

SAUSALITO — City department heads are preparing recommendations for energy-saving measures. Firemen were directed to test truck engines less often.

MILL VALLEY — The police department will buy cars with smaller engines to cut gasoline consumption.

BELVEDERE — Police Chief John W. Jaeger has ordered a Swedish-made Saab police car to replace a thirsty Plymouth. The department has three cars in all.

ROSS — City officials said they cannot save more fuel because most of it is used for police patrol. The city, with an area of about two square miles, uses about 500 gallons of gasoline in its nine vehicles each month.

TIBURON — No major effort is under way to reduce municipal energy use, a city spokesman said.

COTATI — No special plans for saving energy have been adopted in the city, although city offices have the thermostats set at 68 degrees now. Some months ago, the city police department made news by buying small foreign cars for the officers.

PETALUMA — Many of the lights at city offices have been removed, the heat is turned down to 68 degrees and those who drive vehicles have been asked to observe a 50 miles an hour limit. The city staff also is making a review of gasoline usage during the past few years in order to find where there can be cutbacks.

ROHNERT PARK — Heat and lighting have been reduced in city offices, but a request by some residents to turn street lights off after midnight was turned down as "not practical," both for security reasons and because not much energy would be saved. As for cars, "there's no place you can go 50 miles an hour in Rohnert Park," a spokesman said.

PETALUMA SCHOOLS — In addition to reducing heat, cutting back on lights and setting a maximum speed at 50 miles per hour for school vehicles, district officials are considering changing the starting time at the secondary schools to 9 a.m. instead of 8 a.m. when daylight saving time goes into effect.

SAN RAFAEL SCHOOLS — Principals have received copies of past energy bills to make them more conscious of energy use. Teachers are discussing the energy crisis with students. A night football game was cancelled to save electricity, and school officials estimate they have cut total consumption by 10 per cent.

NOVATO UNIFIED SCHOOL DISTRICT — The district is working with PG&E in an effort to cut power use 7.5 per cent at San Marin High School, only all-electric school in the district.

SAN ANSELMO SCHOOL DISTRICT — At Red Hill School, messages are being written longhand to keep typewriters from using electricity. At Sleepy Hollow School, several teachers formed a car pool. Students at Yolansdale are being encouraged to wear sweaters, and classes at several schools have discussed ways to save energy.

FAIRFAX SCHOOL DISTRICT — Teachers have stressed to their classes conservation of all resources, including paper. Officials have made no estimate of possible savings from their utilities cutbacks.

DIXIE SCHOOL DISTRICT — Besides lowering temperatures, officials said they turn heat on only an hour before school opens and turn it off an hour before the school day ends. Office equipment is turned off when not in use and students are being urged to wear sweaters to school.

SAUSALITO SCHOOLS — District trustees will take up energy conservation at a special meeting 7:30 p.m. Monday. Recommendations are expected.

BOLINAS-STINSON SCHOOLS — This district prides itself on having saved energy all along, and so no new measures have been instituted. The district will, however, consider suggestions from the county schools office, which is expected to propose conservation measures soon.

SAN RAFAEL CHAMBER OF COMMERCE — A resolution has been approved urging all merchants to turn off lights after hours except for those needed for security. Manager Robert Nelson doesn't know the percentage of compliance, but, he said, "Anyone can see that downtown is darker at night now."

NOVATO CHAMBER OF COMMERCE — Letters to members urge electricity conservation. The chamber's Christmas tree ornaments will not be lighted. Neither will the Noel sign on Highway 101. Home owners have been urged not to use lighted yard decorations.

SAUSALITO BUSINESS ASSOCIATION AND CHAMBER — No energy program — the group feel there is little it can do. Downtown lighting and heating are already being conserved, and Christmas decorations have never been lighted in the past. Many merchants bicycle or walk to work as they have for years.

SAN ANSELMO CHAMBER OF COMMERCE — The group will discuss the crisis with PG & E officials. No other specific action has been taken so far, according to president James Reed.

PETALUMA CHAMBER OF COMMERCE — Businesses in Petaluma generally are turning off exterior lighting when they are not open and reducing interior lighting.

STRIKE

ages is phony," said Ray Offenbach of Ray's Meats in the Food Mart in Mill Valley. "After all, independent markets have their suppliers too. People shouldn't panic," he added. "The independent markets have plenty of food."

Many open markets were filled with customers, while others reported increased patronage ranging from 20 to 50 per cent.

William Pritchett, manager of the Co-op market in Corte Madera, said about 40 persons were already lined up outside his store 10 minutes before it was scheduled to open. "We're going to be very, very busy," he said.

Petrini's market in Greenbrae, which did not join the lockout, reported its store was "jammed with customers."

Mayfair Markets' two San Rafael stores also reported more customers than usual.

Meanwhile, the labor fight which has closed the stores seemed no closer to being resolved. Negotiations between the butchers union and Safeway, Lucky and Thriftway management broke down last weekend and no further meetings were planned.

"The butchers' demands and the employers' offers are so far apart that there's little reason for optimism," said John W. Bacon, vice president of the Food Employers Council which initiated the lockout. He said the employers "stand ready at any time to endeavor to reach a settlement.

Union representatives could not be reached to comment on the dispute.

Besides hunting big stills, Thorne also helped detect another 15 to 20 small ones each year.

The bootleggers continued to make illegal whisky after prohibition to avoid hefty federal taxes, he explained. A 10-gallon can of 80 proof liquor which cost $25 to produce would have been taxed at about $80, said Thorne.

Stills were a highly organized business. "Big operations of this type had real logistics problems," he said. "They had to get a lot of sugar and yeast. It took a big operation to build the still. Then they had to get it to market. Most of the bootleggers had fleets of trucks and cars.

"In those years we didn't know about the Mafia, but we did know of syndicates and a strong relationship between illegal gambling and stills. So what we know as the Mafia today was probably involved."

Stills were built in warehouses and wooded rural hideaways.

Among the more unique Thorne uncovered was a column still, a tall thin type of whisky-producing machine built in the basement of a New Jersey home. It passed through first and second floor closets and on up to the roof.

"There were even fans on top to blow the fumes out of the neighborhood," said Thorne.

He also has snapshots of a still operated by a man who had been producing illegal whisky for 10 years and who was known as impossible to capture.

"We'd been waiting at his still for several days and nothing had happened. They were about to pull me off the job, and I asked for one more day. And sure enough, he drove up and started heating up the boilers."

In the 1960s, the number of illegal stills being started dropped considerably. Thorne believes this demonstrates that crime, at least a particular crime, can be wiped out. Not only was it becoming too hard to run a still without detection by his bureau, he said, but the courts were dealing out stiffer sentences to those convicted.

Since then, his bureau has become more involved in enforcing laws dealing with firearms and explosives, such as the 1968 Gun Control Act. For example, his bureau was involved in the recent capture of a weapons cache in San Francisco's Chinatown.

The bureau also separated from the Internal Revenue Service last year and became a government agency in its own right.

Does he miss the excitement of the old days?

Thorne said that whatever thrill is gone has been replaced with a greater sense of service to the public.

"We've always served the public, of course. But when I was hunting stills, one of our chief interests was the tax side of things, keeping people from avoiding the tax. Today we're more concerned with the health and safety of the public.

We want to make sure that felons are not in possession of firearms and that there is not an easy availability of explosives," he said.

Gloomy Report On Oil Imports

MEMPHIS, Tenn. (UPI) — The nation could be in for eight to 10 years of energy pinch should Arab oil imports not be resumed soon, Exxon Co. marketing vice president Duval F. Dickey predicts.

Should the oil boats from the United Arab Republic to America remain empty for long, "we're in real trouble," Dickey said yesterday, "and it will take from eight to 10 years to develop other sources of energy to offset the Araby boycott."

He asked that the federal government take drastic steps to curtail energy consumption nationwide.

judges' request that formation of the new department be delayed until further study of its role in the criminal-justice system.

Supervisors made no reference to Friday's meeting yesterday, nor was there any comment from the audience. Nearly 15 minutes later, however, Betty Machado of Novato questioned why the matter hadn't been opened for public discussion.

Chairman Arnold M. Baptiste responded that he has asked for comments but had received none. (A check of the tape of the meeting showed Baptiste had asked for comments but it was not clear whether he was asking his colleagues or directing his question to the audience.)

Yesterday's action, adopting a resolution formally establishing the corrections department, gives Director Ralph Merola the go-ahead to take over operation of the minimum security honor farm Jan. 1.

The board's decision does not include a proposed transfer of the sheriff's responsibility for operating the jail nor any shift of rehabilitation programs from the probation department.

On Friday, supervisors said they viewed any shift of probation functions to the new department to be premature but did not discount shifts in the future.

The new department will be staffed by Merola as director and nine correctional workers who will oversee operation of the honor farm on Smith Ranch Road in Santa Venetia.

The facility currently houses about 70 trustee inmates and will be expanded next year. It has been under the supervision of the sheriff's department since its opening in July.

The buildings are converted Army barracks once housing troops that manned the Nike missiles which were located on a nearby hill.

Two-Thirds Of Goal Reached

The Katharine Branson School has reached approximately three-quarters of its goal in a fund raising campaign, chairman William R. Kimball announced today.

The school started the campaign the first of February to raise $960,000, he said. It has now raised $694,000 toward that goal, Kimball said.

Originally the campaign had been planned to end in December of next year, but with contributions coming in the way they are, the goal may be reached by June of next year, he said.

The money will be about equally divided between library-fine arts building and the endowment fund, he said.

Mullin To Face Stabbing Trial

SAN FRANCISCO (UPI) — The state Supreme Court has turned down a motion by mass killer Herbert W. Mullin to have charges of stabbing a Catholic priest to death in a confessional dismissed.

Mullin, convicted of killing 10 persons in the Santa Cruz area, admitted last July that he fatally stabbed Rev. Henry Tomei of St. Mary's Catholic Church in Los Gatos with a picket knife Nov. 2, 1972.

Yesterday's rejection of his motion for delay or dismissal of charges means jury selection could begin this week before Santa Clara County Superior Court Judge William A. Ingram.

OBITUARIES

WILLIAM A. MARCUS
Longtime water director

William A. Marcus of Kentfield, longtime director of the Marin Municipal Water District died yesterday in a local hospital after a brief illness. He was 84.

Marcus was appointed to the board in May 1944, and served continuously until retiring in January 1971. He served as president of the board from 1963 to 1966.

He was also chairman of the Mill Valley Elementary School District Board from 1934 to 1942.

A banker for 47 years and nationally noted authority on real estate financing, Marcus began working as a teller for the American Trust Co. bank of San Francisco in 1911, becoming senior vice president in 1947. He retired in 1958, but remained a consultant to the bank.

Marcus moved to Mill Valley in 1920, just after marrying the former Ruth Finn of San Francisco. She died earlier this year.

They lived in Mill Valley until moving to Kentfield five years ago.

Marcus was a past president of the San Francisco Chapter of American Institute of Banking, California Bankers Association, and the Savings and Mortgage Division of the American Bankers Association.

He was a member of the Board of Governors of the Mortgage Bankers Association and served on President Eisenhower's advisory committee on, national housing policies and programs in 1953.

He was a member of the Bohemian Club.

Marcus is survived by two daughters, Mrs. R. Phillips Barker of Mill Valley and Mrs. Paul B. Fay Jr. of San Francisco; a son, William John Marcus of Mexico; a brother, Morris H. Marcus of San Francisco; a sister, Mrs. Edward S. Evenden of San Francisco, and 10 grandchildren.

Private funeral will be held tomorrow at 11 a.m. in Carew and English Mortuary in San Francisco. Burial will follow at Woodlawn Cemetery, Colma.

FAIRE

a cloud over the board's decision.

He advised them to base their decision on evidence presented during the hearing, as outlined in their oath of office.

During the course of the hearing, however, supervisors said they had had no outside dealings with the Pattersons, though Michael Wornum drew laughter when he acknowledged accepting four tickets to this year's fair at Black Point.

Wornum added that he was sure Sonoma County supervisors had done the same.

Supervisor Gary T. Giacomini, calling the request "totally irresponsible" said "I disdain this kind of conduct. . . I'm so goddamn mad I still can't talk."

"The presumption on your part is that someone on this board made a deal," supervisor Peter R. Arrigoni Jr. fumed at Fish. "I'm dismayed that your board would approve circulation of such a document. What are you looking for?"

"That's your interpretation," Fish responded, adding he had a legal right to all evidence received by the board, publicly or privately, so it could be reviewed and rebutted.

"In three years in public office this is the worst I've ever come across," Baptiste said, joining Giacomini and Arrigoni in supporting a letter of protest.

The letter was suggested by Winifred S. Frederick of the Irate Taxpayers of Marin, who said "they should be advised of what is being done in their name. There's too much of this going on."

The letter will be drafted by Maloney and reviewed by the board next Tuesday.

"I think they are just oversensitive," Fish told the Independent-Journal later.

Burned Range Being Replanted

SACRAMENTO (UPI) — The California and Nevada Departments of Fish and Game Monday announced the replanting of about 1,000 acres of fire-blackened range at Hallelujah Junction, winter home of an interstate deer herd.

An estimated 75 per cent of the herd's winter range was destroyed in the 37,930 acres blaze in Lassen County in California and Washoe County in Nevada last August.

Five areas of the blaze were reseeded by US Bureau of Land Management crews.

STANISLAUS ROUSSEAU

Mass of the Resurrection for Stanislaus C. Rousseau, 61, of Petaluma, was celebrated today at Our Lady of Loretto Church in Novato.

Rousseau died Monday in a Salinas hospital after an illness of a month. He had gone to Salinas to be with his daughters there.

He was born in Waterbury, Conn., but had lived in California many years. His home was in Novato before moving to Petaluma, where he lived at 1112 South McDowell Boulevard.

Rousseau was an auto mechanic and machinist, having worked last at A. G. Schoonmaker Co. in Sausalito, where he retired about three years ago.

He was a member of Local 238 of the International Association of Machinists.

He is survived by three daughters, Mrs. Carol M. Machado and Rita Rousseau, both of Salinas, and Mrs. Donna Moody of Petaluma; a son by a former marriage, George Rousseau of Worcester, Mass.; three brothers, Elmer and Ernest Rousseau of Worcester, and Edward A. Rousseau of San Rafael; three sisters, Mrs. Irene Belsito of Leominister, Mass., Mrs. Lillian Hassellstrom of Worcester, and Mrs. Doris Altieri of San Rafael, and five grandchildren.

Burial was in Mount Olivet Cemetery.

An Escape At San Quentin

The prisoner, Francisco Salas, 41, escaped Monday from the family visiting area where officials said he was visiting his brother and sister-in-law. Information officer William D. Nyberg said the prisoner probably fled through a rear door which leads out of the prison.

Salas came to San Quentin in October, 1968, to begin a life sentence for a first-degree murder conviction in Sacramento County.

Richard E. Arnold, 84, of Cotati, died unexpectedly at his home at 94 Charles Street yesterday.

Arnold had lived in Cotati since 1958, when he retired after many years as production manager for Boyle and Co., a Los Angeles firm which manufactures chemicals.

He was born and reared in Salt Lake City and lived in Idaho, where he owned a drug store, before moving to California in 1928.

Arnold served as an Army sergeant during World War I. He was a member of American Legion Post 103 in Cotati.

His wife, Margaret S. Arnold, died in 1965.

He is survived by a daughter, Mrs. Margaret J. Williams of Cotati; two brothers, Joseph Arnold of Salt Lake City and Arthur Arnold of Yucaipa, San Bernardino County; a sister, Mrs. Josephine Anderson of Palm Springs, three grandchildren and three great-grandchildren.

Funeral will be at 1 p.m. Friday at the Sorenson Funeral Home in Petaluma. Burial will be in Santa Rosa Memorial Park.

The family prefers contributions to charity.

ALDEN HOLLOWAY

Holloway, who had been suffering from heart disease and diabetes, collapsed at his home Monday and was taken to Marin General Hospital, where he died at 7:18 p.m., according to the coroner's office.

GEORGE HESSEN

Private funeral for George L. Hessen, 55, of Dallas, Tex., whose two daughters live in Novato, was held this morning at Mount Tamalpais Cemetery, San Rafael.

Hessen, an overseas representative for the Guinness Harp Corp., died unexpectedly last Friday of an illness in Springfield, Ill. He had been employed by the firm 38 years and had been a resident of the United States for 11 years.

Surviving are a son, David L. Hessen, serving in the Army; two daughters, Pauline and Barbara Hessen of Novato; and a brother, Kenneth Hessen of England.

MICHAEL O'SHEA

I-J Special Report

DALLAS — Actor Michael O'Shea, brother of Ruth Van Dusen of San Rafael, died yesterday in Dallas, Tex., apparently of a heart attack. He was 61.

Police said O'Shea, husband of actress Virginia Mayo, was found in the bathtub of an apartment his wife was renting. Officers said it appeared he fell. An autopsy was planned.

O'Shea appeared in a half dozen gangster films during the 1940s and starred in a television comedy series in the 1950s.

The O'Sheas, of Thousand Oaks, Ventura County, were in Dallas where Miss Mayo was appearing in "40 Carats." O'Shea also was to take a part in the production.

He also leaves a daughter.

PAUL CASE

Paul DeForest Case, 90, died today at his home at 54 Atwood Avenue, Sausalito, after a long illness.

He was born and reared in New York State where he lived until moving to Sausalito 13 years ago. He was a retired treasurer of Raymond International Construction Co.

He is survived by his wife, Alice; three brothers, and three sisters.

Private funeral will be held.

ELIZABETH MARY LUPP

Elizabeth Mary Lupp, a retired sales clerk of San Anselmo, died today in a local hospital after a long illness. She was 86.

Born in Germany, she came to this country in 1912 and worked as a sales clerk for the Emporium in San Francisco for 25 years, retiring 30 years ago. She made her home with a niece, Isabel Granville at 108 Morningside Drive, San Anselmo.

A Mass of the Resurrection will be celebrated at 9:30 a.m. Friday at St. Rita's Church, Fairfax. Recitation of the Rosary will be at 8 p.m. tomorrow at the Chapel of the Hills, San Anselmo. Burial will be in Mount Tamalpais Cemetery, San Rafael.

Memorial contributions to St. Anthony's Dining Room in San Francisco would be preferred by the family.

MOUNT TAMALPAIS CEMETERY in the Heart of our County

Marin pioneers chose a site in the heart of our county as a final resting place for their families. Today this location—at the west end of Fifth Avenue in San Rafael—is still convenient to all Marin points.

Marinites who choose Mount Tamalpais do so with the assurance that its beauty will grow with the years. The interest from a quarter-million dollar endowment fund—twice the legal requirement—is dedicated to the constant care and improvement of this 57-acre site.

Perhaps—like many Marin families—you wish to make your own final arrangements to spare others difficult decisions. If so, we invite your inquiry or a personal visit.

Pact On Pre-History Museum Is Worked Out

The Novato City Council and Marin Museum Society last night approved an agreement on operating the pre-history museum in Miwok Park on Novato Boulevard.

Under terms of the agreement, the city takes title to the two-story house at Sixth Street and Grant Avenue, given to the society by Crocker Bank. And the society operates it as a museum.

The city is to maintain the exterior of the building and carry the insurance on it. The society insures private functions of the society.

The city has contributed $500 to the society in past years, but that was stopped this year. The council agreed that it may have to contribute in the future as the society maintains public restrooms when the museum is open.

The vote was 4 to 0, with councilman Dorothy Young in Puerto Rico attending the convention of the National Association of Cities.

The Novato City Council also:

ELECTION — Set March 5 for the next council elections and authorized City Clerk Peggy Lehigh to have the county clerk carry out the election. Councilman George C. Quesada said that the new state law governing elections is illegal because it requires a candidate to file between tomorrow and Dec. 27 while the law does not go into effect until January.

CONSULTANT — Approved hiring Perplana Associates of Los Angeles with George F. Bliss III as project engineer, to make a $17,500 study of the surplus land and its uses at Hamilton Air Force Base. Of the 13 firms considered by the Hamilton Air Force Base Land Use Study Committee, three were considered finalists. In addition to the firm chosen, VTN of San Francisco and Applied Sciences of Sacramento were the other two.

BRIDGE — Accepted a small parcel of land at Rancho School from the Novato Unified School District for construction of a footbridge over Arroyo Avichi Creek.

TAXES — Approved payment of $7,170 in taxes on the O'Hair property prorated from the date of purchase, April 16 until it was annexed to the City of Novato on Nov. 25. Quesada said that the city should try to get a rebate from all the taxing agencies which are getting city tax money on the property.

SPEED — Reduced the speed limit from 30 to 25 miles an hour on Center Road between Wilson and Sutro avenues.

AUDIT — Authorized A. L. Gieleghem to use the works sheets of the Glow Accountancy Corp. in making a personal audit of the city for the Novato citizens for change. He will be allowed all of the worksheets except those dealing with city personnel.

SIGNS — Approved a political sign policy which requires a $20 desposit to assure removal of political signs; allows unlimited number of signs of six square feet or less and six signs up to 16 square feet.

INSPECTOR — Authorized hiring permanently hitherto temporary employee Arthur Jasmar as assistant building inspector. He has been a building inspector in Sunnyvale for the past 12 years.

ADJOURNED — Adjourned to 4 p.m. Monday to interview applicants for head of the department of public works; to 8 p.m. Dec. 13 for a joint meeting with the Novato Planning Commission, and 9 a.m. Dec. 15 to go over applicants for city commissions.

Founder Of Fuller Co. Dies At 88

HARTFORD, Conn. (UPI) — Alfred C. Fuller, 88, who was fired from his first job as a street car conductor but went on to found the Fuller Brush Co. and head it for more than 60 years, died yesterday.

Born on a farm in Nova Scotia, Fuller started selling brushes door-to-door in Somerville, Mass., in 1906 after losing his street car job in Boston. By 1972, when the firm was taken over by a conglomerate, it was reporting weekly sales of $1.6 million.

There were 7,500 independent Fuller Brush dealers and 2,700 employees. The old carriage shed in Hartford that the company started in had expanded to three factories, 23 distribution centers and 109 branch offices.

Fuller was the company's chairman of the board; his son, A. Howard Fuller, was president, and his brother, Avard E. Fuller, vice president. The Fullers retired when the company became a subsidiary of Consolidated Foods Corp., of Chicago.

Surviving are his widow, Mary Pelton Fuller, his son, Avard, and two brothers, Harry Fuller of Newburg, Ore., and Chester Fuller of Kentville, N.S.

More Park Land Given To Novato

The City of Novato today has 25 acres more in park land.

The city council last night received the land from Dr. Jerome Fuchs of Los Angeles through his agent, Lawrence J. Walters of Greenbrae. The acreage is adjacent to the O'Hair property at the western city limits on Novato Boulevard.

The only condition is that a tenant, Michael Hart, continue renting a house there until he has amortized repairs he has made.

The council authorized City Mgr. Charles A. Brown to work out a lease on the house and submit it to the council for approval.

The property, largely a steep hillside, will be devoted mainly to hiking and horse trails.

Fuchs retained for himself a seven-acre flat area between Novato Boulevard and Novato Creek. Walters told the council that as long as Fuchs owned the ramaining seven acres, the city would have access to the creek. The city would also have the first chance to buy it, Walters said.

At one time the farm was one of the showplaces of rural Novato. A wooden dam impounded the water of Novato Creek, creating a small lake which was used to irrigate extensive flower beds around the house.

Then the place fell into disrepair and for some time was a hang-out for hippies. More recently it has been a retreat for the Grateful Dead.

Nixon Appointee Dead After Fall

NEW YORK (UPI) — The U.S. Attorney for Brooklyn and Long Island leaped to his death from his fifth-floor apartment yesterday after submitting a scrawled, incoherent letter of resignation.

Robert A. Morse, 45, fell to the sidewalk below his apartment in the elegant Brooklyn Heights neighborhood shortly after a brief meeting with his 19-year-old daughter, Deborah. His associates said Morse had been depressed recently.

Morse spent most of the morning at the Brooklyn federal courthouse, where he submitted a partially unintelligible, handwritten letter of resignation to Federal Judge Jacob Mishler before returning home.

Authorities said a suicide note was found in the apartment, where Morse had lived alone. Its contents were not disclosed.

Police said Morse had removed his tie and shoes before jumping. Personal effects, including his wallet, federal identification card and insurance papers, were positioned on a table near the open window, investigators said.

ROBERT A. MORSE
Recently despondent

"This is so awful. So terrible," said his former wife, Irene Spatt Morse. "I don't know why."

Sources said he had met for about 15 minutes with his daughter, a student at Clark University in Massachusetts, before falling to his death. Among his concerns, they said, was a pending civil suit involving his daughter's right to share in an estate left by her grandfather.

Earlier the prosecutor sent a note to Mishler, interrupting him during a trial and saying it was urgent to meet with him.

Morse, appearing agitated, told the judge he wanted to resign and handed him the handwritten note, sources said. Mishler urged him to reconsider and told him if he were determined to resign to submit a typewritten letter of resignation to President Nixon.

Morse later reportedly telephoned the brother of his former wife, said simply, "Sorry," and hung up.

In Washington, acting Attorney General Robert H. Bork said he was shocked to learn of Morse's death and added: "The Department of Justice extends condolences and regrets to his family, friends and associates."

Phased Cut Seen In Oil Embargo

WASHINGTON (UPI) — Sen. James A. McClure, R-Idaho, just back from an Arab financed trip to the Middle East, says he thinks a phased reduction of the oil embargo in return for phased Israeli withdrawal from occupied lands is a live possibility.

McClure declined to give details of his talks with Arab leaders, including Saudi Arabi's King Faisal, on the subject. But he said, "I have reason to believe it is quite possible to get a phased resumption of oil deliveries," as Israel evacuates lands taken in the 1967 war.

McClure said the advantage of the proposal is that oil deliveries could resume before a complete Mideast peace agreement is reached.

Meeting Set On Tiburon Sewer Plans

The Tiburon Sanitary District board has set Jan. 15 for a special meeting to discuss whether it will pump its sewerage to a joint Southern Marin treatment plant or retain its own treatment facilities in Tiburon.

Board President James Murray said the board decided Monday that on that date the district's engineering consultants, the John Corollo firm of Walnut Creek, will report comparative cost of each.

Murray said Southern Marin Subregional Sewerage Agency officials will be invited to the meeting, along with representatives of the City of Belvedere, which now pumps its sewerage to the Tiburon plant for treatment.

A report prepared for the Southern Marin Subregional Sewerage Agency already has recommended that Tiburon pump its sewerage north. But the Tiburon Sanitary District board wants more information before agreeing to this proposal, Murray said.

Also Monday, the board heard a report from Bio-Kinetics Inc. of San Rafael, which previously had a contract with the district to provide tertiary sewerage treatment at the Tiburon plant. However, the contract ran out before Bio-Kinetics could set up its facilities. It would like to negotiate a new contract now, according to Murray. But he said the board could not decide that until it decides whether or not to retain its Tiburon sewerage treatment plant.

The board reelected Murray as president and Morrill R. Woodward as secretary.

Fairfax School Architect Chosen

The Fairfax School District board last night hired Reid and Tarics Associates of San Francisco as district architects.

The firm is charged with drafting preliminary plans for a multiuse facility at White Hill School. District trustees are eyeing a June bond issue of up to $400,000 to finance the facility.

The board set no salary for the job, but told Supt. H. Reginald Hammond and colleagues C. Patrick Fitzgerald and Lawrence G. Hermann to meet with firm representatives to draw up a contract.

The board has budgeted $5,000 for development of plans for the facility, Hammond said.

Other firms interviewed last week in closed session for the post were: Gwathmey Sellier and Crosby; James Martin Rosse and Associates; O'Brien and Armstrong; and MLTW and Turnbull Associates.

The Fairfax School District board also:

ENROLLMENT — Said enrollment last week was 938 pupils, down from 941 the previous week.

DECLARATIONS — Declared the first week of next April as public schools week.

CLOSED SESSION — Set a closed session for 8 p.m. Dec. 11 for the district's annual review of Hammond's performance.

MEETINGS — Said the board will meet at 7:45 p.m. Jan. 8 and 22, rather than the regularly scheduled dates of Jan. 1 and 15.

ADJOURNMENT — Adjourned to 7:30 p.m. Dec. 18 at White Hill School.

San Diego County Man Named As Tam Fire District's Chief

He was chosen last night by a unanimous vote of the district board, according to Jeanne Creemer, board chairman.

Bennett, 35, has headed the small Southern California department since January of 1969. Before that, he was a fire inspector for the El Cajon Fire Department in San Diego County for five years.

He will begin the $18,000-a-year job Jan. 2.

Bennett replaces Chief William Canlett who resigned in August.

"All of the members of the board are impressed with his qualifications," said Mrs. Creemer. "He has strong leadership qualities which I think we desperately need."

Bennett is married and the father of two children. He plans to move to the valley in January and his family will join him at the end of the school year.

The new chief is active in scouting and the Mormon Church.

First Ladies In Long Gowns For State Fete

WASHINGTON (UPI) — Through a social snafu at the White House last night, Pat Nixon and Romania's first lady, wore long evening gowns while all the other women guests came in short dresses.

The White House had passed the word that the state dinner in honor of Romanian President Nicolae Ceausescu and his wife would be "informal" because of Communist tradition, instead of the usual black tie attire for such events.

But the first lady's social aides did not bargain on Mrs. Ceausescu, who brought with her a long black and gold gown which she wanted to wear to the White House.

When Mrs. Nixon found out what her guest of honor was wearing, she fetched a shocking pink gown out of her wardrobe to keep the Romanian first lady company in the fashion department.

SENATORIAL SPRUCE

Workmen yesterday raised this year's Congressional Christmas tree on the lawn of the west front of the Capitol. The 3,000-pound, 50-foot white spruce is from the Allegheny National Forest in Pennsylvania. The tree is 43 years old and its length represents the forest's 50th anniversary.

GI Addict Treatment 'Disastrous'

WASHINGTON (UPI) — A leading House proponent of mandatory treatment for drug addicted veterans said today the government has "callously disregarded" the needs of returning drug casualties, causing a "national disagrace."

Basing his comments on a 90-page General Accounting Office study he requested, Rep. John M. Murphy, D-N.Y., said he would propose legislation to rectify the problem, since administration plans for handling GI addicts have ranged from "ineffective to disastrous."

His legislative proposals, he said, would include, when necessary, mandatory civil commitment of drug-addicted servicemen to a federal program of treatment for up to 42 months of medical aid and rehabilitation.

Murphy said because there was no effort to rehabilitate or treat service-connected drug addiction, veterans returning from Vietnam and other parts of the world are unable to get jobs, promotions, education, or licenses to practice a trade.

Ranch Purchase Talks Approved

North Marin County Water District directors, seeking to protect Stafford Lake from pollution, last night authorized negotiations to purchase nearby ranchland.

The district will seek to acquire 366 acres of the Frank Rebelo ranch, which Dist. Mgr. John O. Nelson said has the greatest potential for urban development.

Directors didn't set a price, but asked Nelson to start negotiations and agreed to set a dollar amount at their Jan. 8 meeting.

Nelson sad the 366 acres are valued by the county assessor's office at $232,000.

Director Patrick H. Heffernan urged that the district consider purchasing only the "developable rights to the land," which would cost less and achieve the aim of preventing development. Nelson said the district should seek financial support from Marin County toward the purchase and explore the possibiltiy of use by the county parks and recreation department.

Directors said if the land is purchased, the costs should be spread over a period of time and President George A. Amaroli said "No more than $50,000 a year."

Nelson said the quality of water from Stafford Lake is good but there has been a change in the algae "from the more desirable to the less desirable."

Four dairies, a horse stable, golf course and public park are contributing to pollution and pollution from urban development in the watershed would be significant, Nelson said.

The state Department of Public Health recommended purchase of the Rebelo property to prevent development, he reported.

Directors also reviewed the problem of dairy wastes in the watershed and George R. Ungemach, 35 Verdad Way, said steps should have been taken sooner to control wastes.

Nelson said further studies will be undertaken and that it is hoped ranchers will coordinate their efforts on wastes. He said he hopes that ranchers "are not forced out" by the costs involved because "pollution from development would be even worse."

Call Said Ebbing For Impeachment

NEW ORLEANS (UPI) — Pressure for the impeachment of President Nixon has begun to ebb, but could mount to "irresistible" proportions if the White House fails to completely cooperate with Watergate investigators, according to former Attorney General Elliot Richardson.

Richardson, who was in New Orleans to address the National Association of Attorneys General, told a news conference yesterday he felt it would be premature to try impeachment "at a time when the President has pledged full disclosure."

Board Feels Reservoir Won't Hurt Environment

The North Marin County Water District board decided last night construction of a five million gallon storage reservoir at the Village Marin development on the Pacheco Ranch won't have a significant adverse effect on the environment.

The reservoir, estimated to cost $750,000, will be partially sunk into a hillside, west of Highway 101, and its large flat concrete roof designed to accommodate tennis courts for city use.

The U.S. Development Corp., developers of Village Marin, will pay about $500,000 of the costs under an agreement to be worked out with the district, according to Dist. Mgr. John A. Nelson.

The reservoir on the crest of a knoll on the east slope of Big Rock Ridge will require the removal of about 30 oak and bay trees, according to a preliminary environmental impact report.

The North Marin County Water District board also:

REORGANIZATION — Elected Gorge A. Amaroli board president, succeeding William W. Wright, and Patrick H. Heffernan, vice president, succeeding Amaroli. Director Franklin Gustafson voted to reelect Wright president, but later switched his vote to make it a unanimous vote for Amaroli.

TOMALES AGREEMENT — Approved an agreement whereby the district will make a waste water sutdy at Tomales and Marin County will pay the costs, estimated at $10,000.

FLUORIDATION — Received a report that residents of Marin Valley Mobile Home Park, about 360 persons, who receive Marin Municipal Water District water through an interdistrict contract, have been notified that fluoride has been added to their water supply.

PIPELINE — Awarded C. R. Fedrick Inc. of Novato, low bidder, a contract to install 1,700 feet of 24-inch steel pipeline from Western Oaks to the Crossroads project at a cost of $86,895.

MEETINGS — Set meetings for the first and third Tuesdays at 8 p.m. at the district office, 999 Atherton Avenue, Novato, with provision for one meeting each quarter in West Marin, set meetings for Jan. 8 and 22 because of New Year's Day falling on a regularly scheduled meeting day, and adjourned until 8 p.m. Dec. 18 at West Marin School, Point Reyes Station.

WHO IS RUBY CABERNET... AND WHAT IS SHE DOING IN MARIN?

There are various theories about this young lady's place in California history. We are told by one reliable source that Ruby Cabernet is a reformed hooker out of Barengo, Texas. The story goes that she was wooed to California by promises of a long-term movie contract. Oil barons jumped off oil wells and the cows cried all night and Ruby got a few bit parts in some Harold Raft movies before marrying a famous winemaker who later on jumped into a vat of Pinot Noir when he discovered that Ruby was taking Champagne baths with the grape crusher's son.

Yet another historian of pop-culture suggests that Ruby Cabernet is in fact Ruby Tuesday's half-sister, an ex-rock and roll groupie out of London, England, who came to Marin to be closer to her favorite group - Dino and the Good Guys.

At the Bourbon Shops of Marin, our resident historian finds all of this very confusing and suggests yet another explanation. At U.C. Davis, in 1946, a Professor Harold Olmo, in search of a grape that would grow well in hot climates, crossed two old varieties to combine their best characteristics in a new hybrid grape. Cabernet Sauvignon and Carignane became Ruby Cabernet.

Northwest of Lodi, in 1949, winemaker Dino Barengo was the first to make a wine of Ruby Cabernet. He aged it in French Oak Barrels and produced a red wine with the quality of the noble Cabernet Sauvignon and the vigor of Carignane. Today, Mr. Barengo grows this grape exclusively in his own vineyards.

At the Bourbon Shops of Marin, we have a strong sense of California history and a passion for good wine at a decent price.

TRASH INTO PRECIOUS FUEL

A firm in St. Louis is doing something about the energy crisis — recycling trash into fuel, which is a first in the nation. A payloader (top) pushes the trash onto a conveyor to be converted into fuel for generating electrical power. The processed refuse is taken by truck (below) to Union Electric where it is used for fuel.

(UPI Telephoto)

Garbagemen Awaiting Sanction For Strike

Garbagemen employed by the county's largest trash collection firm continued to make garbage pickups today as they waited for strike sanctions.

Workers at Marin Sanitary Service of San Rafael, members of Teamsters Local 624, rejected a wage and fringe benefit package Monday and voted to strike, but must await strike sanctions by the Teamsters Council, said Joseph F. Segale, coowner of the firm.

Approval of strike action by the parent group is expected to take about a week, he said.

The firm has offered a $1.20 hourly raise over three years, but the union wants $1.80 in hourly raises over three years, he said, as well as additional fringe benefits.

"We're not even close," said Segale. "We've always come to an agreement in the past, but I don't know what's going to happen now. It does look brutal."

The firm has 18,000 subscribers in Ross, Larkspur, San Rafael and Las Gallinas Valley.

Spokesmen for the union were unavailable for comment.

No Energy Lack Seen In Decade

PITTSBURGH (UPI) — S. William Gouse, research and development director in the U.S. Department of the Interior, predicted yesterday in 10 to 12 years "there will be no shortage of energy in any form." But he said first, the United States will have to triple its coal use by 198

"That's 1,800 million tons per year," Gouse told a workshop on research and educational needs at Carnegie-Mellon University. "There is no shortage of basic resources to solve the energy crisis."

Start Is Refused On Condominium

Permission to start construction was refused last night by Sausalito city councilmen for developers of the 18-unit Glen Grove luxury condominium complex.

The project, proposed for a 3.5-acre lot at 265 Santa Rosa Avenue, was rejected after neighbors complained in a petition that its environmental impact report gave too little attention to parking and traffic problems.

The city planning commission on Nov. 7 had recommended approval of both the environmental report and the project itself.

Backers of the project last night sought renewal of the conditional use permit needed for construction. The last permit, which expired July 19, contained 30 stipulations as to design, layout and construction of the project.

Mayor Robin Sweeny attributed the rejection to traffic and parking problems, which she said need further attention from the builders.

The builders protested that their work was planned with the city staff's cooperation, and that they had been led to believe the project met all requirements.

The matter was tentatively scheduled for reconsideration Dec. 18. Developers first applied for the conditional use permit in January, 1971. The project was delayed by planning revisions and preparation of environmental reports.

Developer of the project is David Hunter.

The Sausalito City Council Also:

TRIDENT-ONDINE — Refused Ronald R. MacAnnan's request for assurance that in the event of destruction of his building, which houses the Ondine and Trident restaurants, he will be allowed to rebuild to present nonconforming specifications.

DEED — With Mayor Sweeny abstaining for lack of information, declared it will not try to prevent conversion of Ardilla Towers apartments at 35 Rodeo Avenue to condominiums.

WATER — Resolved to protest Marin Municipal Water District's expressed intention to discontinue to serve Wolfback Ridge residents among other customers not within district boundaries, the district citing a potential water shortage.

HOUSING — Unanimously approved a six-unit planned development at 319 Sausalito Boulevard for Gary Tucker, as recommended by the planning commission.

EBBTIDE — Told disgruntled residents of the Ebbtide apartments city staff would assist them in negotiating terms of their forced departure from the building recently bought by the Delancey Street Foundation for its use as a residence for rehabilitated former convicts and dope addicts.

CASA MADRONA — Postponed till next Tuesday at 8 p.m. discussion of city staff's recommendation that the old Casa Madrona Hotel, which houses Le Vivoir Restaurant above the Village Fair, be condemned as a result of landslides last year.

ENVIRONMENT REPORTS — Approved on first reading, after two hours discussion, an ordinance that any development of sufficient impact to require an environmental impact report be required also to secure a use permit, answering landowners objections by saying it is intended only to insure greater review of projects.

Rush Is On To Meet Marin City Deadline

A federal deadline that Marin County Housing authority officials apparently didn't take seriously enough now confronts the agency with a last-minute rush to salvage the $500,000 modernization program of the Marin City high-rise apartments.

The Department of Housing and Urban Development insists that a contractor be hired by Dec. 31 to do the work, modernization coordinator William Rinkenberger told the authority board last night.

"We have a bad case of the shorts," when it comes to time, Rinkenberger ruefully said. "If we get one 'no' from HUD we're dead."

He said he rushed preliminary plans and specifications for the work to HUD offices in San Francisco yesterday and has ordered advertisements for contractors' bids to run in three Bay Area newspapers Friday. The bids will be opened Dec. 21, if all goes well.

Rinkenberger said the federal housing officials had reversed an earlier — verbal — assurance that work need only "be well down the road" but not actually under contract by Dec. 31, to qualify for federal funds.

Housing authority director Rogers Jones complained: "This authority has had more than six months to prepare the plans, but now it's working right up to the deadline."

One of the two architects working on the plans has been ill and the second was called away by a family emergency.

Marin County Housing Authority Board Also:

HAMILTON — Agreed, after considerable discussion, that the board needs what member Robert E. Ecklund Jr. called "a shirtsleeve workshop session" with the Ecumenical Housing Association of Marin to discuss the two groups' different plans for using surplus, obsolete housing declared surplus at Hamilton Air Force Base.

SURVEY — Unanimously agreed to contract with the county planning department for an inventory of vacant public property that might be used as housing sites. If any of the land unneeded by school districts, cities or other local districts looks promising, the planners may be hired further to survey the feasibility of such sites.

BUDGET — Approved submission of revised budget figures for 1973 to the Department of Housing and Urban Development as a basis for 1974 financing. Shepherd said income of $305,000 is higher than expected due to more efficient rent and utility bill collection, leaving the authority with about $3,000 more reserves than last year.

VACANCIES — Heard Program Mgr. Paul E. Nixon report that only seven low rent units in Marin City were available for occupancy last month. Seven leased housing units were vacant elsewhere in the county. Nixon reported 24 units in Marin City actually were empty, but 11 of them are held for renovation, one was gutted by fire, one is unsafe, and the remaining four are unusable for various reasons.

CLOSED SESSION — Met for 55 minutes behind closed doors to discuss "litigation regarding model lease and grievance procedures," according to authority attorney Howard K. Morehouse.

Fair Trade China Pact Is Pushed

WASHINGTON (UPI) — A high-level congressional delegation wants the United States to end trade discrimination against China, a concession Congress is reluctant to grant the Soviet Union.

The eight-member delegation, which toured China in July, urged in its report yesterday that Congress give Nixon the power to grant China "most favored nation" status.

This designation, now accorded Western nations, would lower U.S. tariffs on Chinese exports to this country and pave the way for increased trade.

President Nixon has asked for a trade bill which would grant "most favored nation" status to the Soviet Union and other Communist countries but Congress is determined to attach a rider which would block such action unless Moscow liberalize its Jewish emigration policy.

Teamsters Leader Will Propose A 60-Mile-An-Hour Speed Limit

CHICAGO (UPI) — Teamsters president Frank Fitzsimmons, seeking to settle the energy crisis for truckers in a "sane way," today was to propose to the Nixon Administration's fuel advisers a 60 mile an hour speed limit for trucks and cars on federal highways instead of the much discussed 55 miles per hour speed limit.

Fitzsimmons told a news conference yesterday that trucking rigs "fueled with diesel operate more efficiently at higher speeds than at the low speeds suggested by Congress."

The teamster head said his union was "in no way associated with nor do we support" the blocking of highways by truck drivers in four Eastern states yesterday to protest slower speed limits and higher fuel prices.

He also criticized a call by Overdrive magazine for a shutdown of long distance trucking Dec. 13-14.

FRANK FITZSIMMONS
Against highway blocking

"The magazine is a phoney," Fitzsimmons said. "The editor is a phoney. He's a leech. ... Teamsters will settle their problems in a sane way, not with a work stoppage."

Fitzsimmons said tests conducted by Teamsters last week show that a 60 m.p.h. speed limit "would take care of our schedules and conserve fuel."

The proposed 55 mph speed limit would result in too much lost time and lost wages for teamsters," Fitzsimmons said.

If necessary, the union head said his group will re-open negotiations under a clause in the recently negotiated national contract.

Seifert, 66 Morning Sun Avenue, vice president; Marjorie T. Roberts, 115 Highland Lane, secretary; Henry G. Coit, 251 Perry Sreet, treasurer.

James E. Adams, 9 Homestead Boulevard; John J. Eiler of 140 Stadium Avenue; and Jody Marks of 917 Vernal Avenue, were elected to the board of directors.

Secretary Back On Erased Tape

WASHINGTON (UPI) — Federal Judge John J. Sirica summoned Rose Mary Woods, President Nixon's personal secretary, for further questioning today about a 18-minute gap in a White House Watergate tape. She said she was unable to shed any more light on the matter.

Sirica asserted that "we want to get to the bottom of this" as he interrupted other testimony to order Miss Woods to be called for her third appearance to testify about obliteration of a conversation between Nixon and his former top aide, H. R. Haldeman, on June 20, 1972.

Miss Woods appeared in Sirica's court soon after his order from the bench, testifying she had absolutely no idea how the 18 minutes were obliterated from the tape, or whether any of the tapes had been deliberately tampered with.

"We want to find out the truth in this matter," Sirica told Miss Woods. "Do you know anything that would throw light on this very serious problem about what caused that 18-minute gap?

"Whether by accident or some action thereby causing to erase something this court should have had access to — to cover up something or prevent justice being done? It doesn't matter whom it hurts."

She replied: "If I could offer any idea, any proof, any knowledge of how that 18-minute gap happened, no body on earth would be happier to offer it."

"Do you have any knowledge that anyone tampered with, altered, erased or obliterated any portion of those tapes?" asked Jill J. Volner, an assistant special prosecutor.

"No, ma'am, I don't," Miss Woods replied.

After Miss Woods' first testimony Nov. 8 indicating she was to blame for the tape gap, she said at a second appearance in Sirica's court that she was not sure what she might have erased or how.

Other testimony left questions about how the full erasure might have occurred and why Miss Woods did not mention it.

"I think the whole thing should be opened up," Sirica interjected during questioning of Samuel J. Powers, a White House attorney. "Have her come right down."

Miss Woods appearance delayed testimony by Alexander M. Haig who succeeded Haldeman as Nixon's White House chief of staff.

Other Watergate developments:

Sen. Sam J. Ervin, D-N.D., chairman of the Senate Watergate committee, said "there's very little doubt" that Charles G. "Bebe" Rebozo, a close friend of the President, would be called to testify publicly on a $100,000 Nixon campaign contribution from billionaire Howard Hughes which was later returned.

Sen. Jacob K. Javits, R-N.Y., said confirmation of Rep. Garald R. Ford to be vice president this week would intensify the question of whether Nixon should resign.

New Home Heating Oil Prices Allowed

WASHINGTON (UPI) — The federal government moved today to increase the price of home heating oil as part of its energy crisis strategy of reducing gasoline output and avoiding rationing.

The Cost of Living Council, which has charge of the government economic stabilization program, decided to allow new pricing scheduled for heating fuel to encourage refineries to switch more production from gasoline.

The theory behind the plan is that by allowing the industry a greater profit on heating oil than the more profitable gasoline, increased amounts of fuel to heat homes—and also to run trucks—would be available.

That switch would reduce gasoline supplies and thus reduce consumption, possibly without the necessity of rationing which Nixon strongly opposes.

The President is expected to make a decision within a month on the rationing question. He called in his cabinet and other top advisers—including newly named energy adviser William E. Simon—to discuss the situation this morning.

The fuels shortages were caused by an embargo on U.S. shipments by the major Arab oil-producing countries because of American support for Israel.

Secretary of State Henry A. Kissinger arranged a meeting this afternoon with Oil Minister Sheikh Ahmed Zaki of Saudi Arabia to discuss the situation.

If refineries increase heating oil production, presumably that would have the effect of increasing supplies of diesel fuel used in express trucks. Shortages of diesel were partly blamed for scattered protest blockages by truckers of some major highways in several states.

Whether or not gasoline rationing comes, Simon said yesterday, Americans will be paying a lot more for gasoline to run their cars and oil to heat their homes. Gasoline prices already are going up—past 50 cents a gallon—in some areas of the country.

Cotati Orders A Sewage Policy

The Cotati City Council last night instructed the city staff to work out some guidelines on how the city's remaining sewer capacity should be divided among new developments.

The city, which contracts with Rohnert Park for sewage treatment, has had a moratorium on new sewer hookups since September. After metering the sewer flow, it was reported last night that the city has only 46,000 gallons a day capacity still available.

(Cotati has contracted with Rohnert Park for 250,000 gallons a day, and the latter city has indicated it will not accept any more.)

Both cities plan to contract with the Laguna plant in South Santa Rosa for sewage treatment when the new facility is completed, estimated at some time in 1976 to 1978, according to Donna Olson, deputy city clerk in Cotati.

In the meantime, she said, it has been estimated that 180 new dwelling units would use up Cotati's present sewage capacity. The council will wrestle with the problem of deciding which developers will get hookups after a staff report, she said.

The Cotati City Council Also:

TREES — Gave the park and recreation commission $40 to purchase four Christmas trees for the city plaza.

AIDE — Agreed to spend $75 a month for a college student who will work six months as an administrative aide to the city manager. The rest of the $280-a-month salary will be paid by the League of California Cities.

EMERGENCY — Authorized the chief of police to act as city manager in the event of the manager being absent in time of emergency.

Ferries Asked To Put Sewage Into Pipelines

Sausalito-Marin City Sanitary District directors are requiring that all ferry and tour boats docking in Sausalito pump sewage from holding tanks into district sewer lines and that meters be installed to monitor the flow.

Currently, one ferry, the Golden Gate, is discharging sewage into the district system, rather than flusing it into the bay, according to district Chairman George F. Carney.

Although enforcement from the state is lacking, Carney said, "we are trying to stay ahead of every requirement so when it is policed we are ready to handle it."

At a meeting Monday, directors also called for bids for four standby generators to guard against power failures at district pump stations. Deadline for bids is 3 p.m. Jan. 4, Carney said.

Boy Is Booked In Girl's Death

Raymond A. Shields of Oakland was booked yesterday for investigation of murder in the slaying of Wendi L. Martin, 17, police said.

They said Shields was taken into custody Monday after he told officers he went to Miss Martin's house and found her body, ripped by at least 30 stab wounds.

British Drinkers Must Also Lie

LONDON (UPI) — Britons say they smoke less and drink less than any other country in the world, but the government statistical office says there is one fault with the claim—it's a lie.

A spokesman for the agency said a survey of 7,000 residents on the level of their consumption of drink and tobacco was so far below the level expected from the known yield of duties on these items that the statisticians concluded they had to be lying.

Merchants Lose Round Over Signs

The San Rafael Planning Commission last night denied appeals by seven merchants requesting variances to permit existing outsized or otherwise nonconforming signs.

Denied were appeals of planning department sign removal notices for Country Club Bowl at 88 Vivian Way; Stan's Sports, Third Street and Grand Avenue; Burt Capel Co, 49 Simms Street; Royce Finance Plan, 935 Lootens Place; Robert's Gentlemen's Apparel, 937 Fourth Street; Hotel Carmel, 830 B Street, and Bush Realty Co., 819 A Street.

The commission approved an appeal by Bret Harte Market, 93 Woodland Avenue, and granted conditional approval for an oversized sign at LaFayette French Pastry, 820 D Street. Given one-year to bring signs up to city code were Romulus restaurant at 1242 Fourth Street, and Mission Heating Co. at 32 Woodland Avenue.

Action was postponed on sign appeals by King Henry VIII at Third and A streets and Lyons Ryan Ford, Inc., at 619 Francisco Boulevard.

Commissioner Alan Kay was absent, according to a planning department spokesman.

The Pentagon is five stories high and consists of five rings of buildings connected by 17½ miles of 10 spoke-like corridors, with a five-acre pentagonal court in the center.

Sociologist Defends Grand Jury Make-Up

Well-educated, older and middle-class Marin residents make the best grand jurors, a sociologist testified yesterday at a pretrail hearing in the San Quentin Six murder case.

Dr. John F. Scott of the University of California at Davis, a prosecution witness, disputed earlier defense testimony that the exclusion of minorities and persons of low income from the grand jury violates the civil liberties of those under investigation by the panel.

In fact, said Scott, the young, the uneducated and the lower-income resident would make a poor grand jury member.

Defense attorneys for the San Quentin Six-inmates charged with murder and conspiracy in connection with the Aug. 21, 1971, violence at the prison which left six dead — are challenging the composition of the grand jury which handed up the indictments.

The hearing before Judge Vernon Stoll of Nevada County is scheduled to conclude tomorrow, and Stoll is expected to study the almost three weeks of testimony and argument before coming to a decision.

Italian Society Honors Alioto

BOSTON (UPI) — San Francisco Mayor Joseph L. Alioto received the highest award of the Massachusetts Italian-American Charitable Society (IACS) last night.

IACS president Carmen W. Elio presented Alioto with the award, which is given annually by the 300-member group of prominent Italo-American businessmen and civic and political leaders.

Alioto received the award for "his deeds and accomplishments" which have "contributed to the Italo-American community and image—nationwide."

Offshore Drilling Expansion Is Urged

LOS ANGELES (UPI) — The president of the American Petroleum Institute yesterday called for immediate expansion of the nation's offshore drilling to tap vast deposits of crude oil and natural gas.

Frank N. Ikard, who said the energy shortage will remain "very real and very serious" for up to 15 years, assured that new technology in the oil industry provides ample safeguards against blowouts and other pollution problems.

A $200,000 Wrongful Death Suit

The wife and infant son of a young Army man have filed a $200,000 wrongful death suit against a teen-age Novato driver in Marin Superior Court.

Army Sp/4 Rayburn H. McClellan, 25, of the Presidio of San Francisco, was killed the night of June 20 when struck by a car while he was afoot on northbound Highway 101 near Hamilton Air Force Base.

McClellan, a passenger in a friend's car, was trying to remove fragments of a metal ladder from the road, after it fell from a passing truck. He was hit by a car driven by Deborah Davy, 17, of 227 San Felipe Way, according to the California Highway Patrol.

The suit asks $100,000 damages each to Mrs. McClellan and 21-month old Rayburn Scott McClellan, from Miss Davy and her mother, Frances Davy, owner of the car.

Cattlemen Don't Like Speed Cut

MEMPHIS, Tenn. (UPI) — Reduced speed limits could slenderize cattle and result in profit losses to cattlemen, the vice president of the American National Cattlemen's Association said.

"Stress and strain on cows being transported over long trips" at 50 miles per hour could reduce animals' weights, R. B. Carothers told members of the group Monday on the first of their two-day meeting here.

Carothers, of Paris, Tenn., said cattlemen are already losing about $100 per animal at the market due to beef surpluses and lowered beef prices in gro

Marin May Fight Parking Tax Plan

The Marin County Counsel's Office announced yesterday it has taken preliminary steps toward a possible court battle over the federal Environmental Protection Agency's plan to tax private and public parking spaces.

County Counsel Douglas J. Maloney told county supervisors he has filed a "petition for review" with the federal Court of Appeals, thus preserving the county's right to challenge the new federal tax. (Other county supervisors stories, page 1)

Maloney, whose action was ratified by the full board, said it was authorized last week — subject to yesterday's vote — by Chairman Arnold M. Baptiste when it was discovered the petition deadline was last Thursday.

"Although it is not impossible that the county might ultimately not wish to oppose these regulations, I believe that we should preserve our options and protect our legal standing lest it be forever lost," Maloney wrote.

The federal agency's plan, called the California Transportation Control Plan, seeks to place a tax on private and public parking lots with revenues to be used for mass transit.

County Administrator John F. Barrows told the board the county could be taxed $144,000 next fiscal year and $920,000 the following fiscal year for its 1,600 parking spaces at Civic Center.

While the money is to be used for mass transit, Maloney said, it is not clear how the money is to be distributed after going through the federal paper mill.

Marin County Board of Supervisors Also:

APPOINTMENT — Appointed Ann Bruce Campbell Lafranchi of Nicasio to the 23-member solid waste management committee studying recycling methods for Marin.

HAMILTON — Endorsed the City of Novato's preliminary plan for use of surplus land and facilities at Hamilton Air Force Base. The plan says simply the surplus property will be used for public housing, education, recreation and social service programs. Chairman Baptiste noted the land has not yet been declared surplus and is being held up in the House Armed Forces Committee.

BOYD HOUSE — Postponed to Jan. 15 a request from the City of San Rafael that the county share in $50,000 worth of remodeling at the city-owned Boyd House so the Marin County Historical Society can continue to use the historic old building.

DRAINAGE — Approved $2,500 worth of drainage work on a county-owned parcel on Los Cerros Drive in Greenbrae. Erosion along a small creek running through the two-acre site is threatening an adjacent landowners property at 515 Los Cerros.

SHERIFF — Appropriated $3,857 to carry Lt. Ronald A. Retana, now on the disabled list, through March 15, when his aggregate leave time is up and temporarily delayed the demotion of another lieutenant, previously scheduled because of the corrections department takeover of the honor farm.

HEARING — Set Dec. 18 for a hearing on the firing of microbiologist Joseph A. Valu. The hearing will deal with procedural aspects of future hearings into the dismissal, which was upheld by the personnel commission last month.

WATERWAYS — Amended the county's tidal waterways ordinance to bring it in line with regulations governing the coastal commission. Amendments to the ordinance place greater restrictions on buildings that would block public view of water.

OPEN ZONING — Amended the county's open area zoning classification to cover not only publicly owned and but also private lands with the owner's permission. The amendment is aimed at covering areas listed as private open space in developer's plans.

SIGN REVIEW — Authorized local design review boards to also review and pass on sign applications. The county has only one design review board, in Tamalpais Valley, and its decisions are subject to appeal to the county planning commission.

ANNEXATION — Authorized the annexation of a 12-acre strip of county-owned land running between the old and new Lucas Valley roads to the City of San Rafael. The strip is adjacent to city-owned property and gives San Rafael planning jurisdiction over the land. The strip runs from Huckleberry to Sequeira roads.

APPEAL — Upheld the appeal of Frank McAuliffe of Lagunitas, who protested the planning commission's decision that remodeling of his apartment complex on Sir Francis Drake Boulevard include an exterior of wood and stucco. McAuliffe said he wanted only stucco.

Shoppers Cast Eyes On Smaller Markets

way, Greenbrae — "We'd probably go to 7-11 and buy canned meat or something like that. I stocked up yesterday by accident, so I won't have to go for a few weeks."

Ambrose Rossi, 64, retired gardener, 1722 Fifth Avenue, San Rafael — "I would have to go to the smaller markets if any of them was open, but everybody else would go in there and buy everything up. They may get shut down, too."

Ronald Rahmer, 35, electrician, 365 Carrera Drive, Mill Valley — "I don't think it's going to come to that, but there are small markets also. It's not anything that can't be overcome. I imagine they'll still get the supplies that would be going to the bigger markets."

Uleen Hood, housewife and nurse's aid, 946 Santa Alicia Driver, Rohnert Park — "Starve."

Sandra Hames, unemployed nurse and housewife, 1274 McGregor Avenue, Petaluma — "I'd get up early and shop like I did today. I went to Albertson's."

James Tuller, barber, 152 Kentucky Street, Petaluma — "What could I do? Starve to death, I guess."

Else Goodhope, 45, manager of motel-apartment complex, 45 Tamal Vista Boulevard, Corte Madera — "Probably starve. I would get very upset like everyone else. I probably would have to cook fish for a long time. It would really be terrible."

Nancy O'Leary, 31, homemaker, 40 Sycamore Avenue, Larskpur — "I guess use the small markets. I would just use whatever markets are available."

A. A. Cole, 62, homemaker, 140 Rancheria Road, Kentfield — "Swear a little. I guess the only thing one can do when one needs meat is buy less of it at a place where it costs more and reduce the amount of it you eat."

Kenneth S. Garwick, retired military man, 245 Richardson Drive, Strawberry — "I do most of my shopping at the commissary so I don't think it will affect me."

Mrs. Lynwood Howard, 80, Park Avenue, Bolinas — "We don't have anything here but a nice hippie store that's still open. I buy everything there."

Charlotte Ross, 80 Beach Road, Belvedere, housewife — "I'm upset because I do some shopping at supermarkets. I'll make up for it by going to the independents more. But I'm worried that they might close too."

Barbara Sabin, 52, housewife, 305 Miller Avenue, Mill Valley — "I'm aware of the problem but I haven't thought about what I'll do. We shop at several stores and some we go to are still open."

Portia Johnsen, housewife, 61 Suffield Avenue, San Anselmo — "There's just two of us and we eat out quite a bit. If it happened I'd patronize independent grocers. I do that a lot anyway."

Ruth Sanford, housewife, 12030 Shoreline Highway, Point Reyes Station — "I'll just patronize my local market here in town. They're independent and I don't think they'll be affected."

Lurie Short, 22, student, 7 Sky Road, Mill Valley — "I'd probably organize some kind of consumer group and try to stop it. Maybe I'd write Congress. I'd certainly be against it."

Richard C. Turner, 61, retired military, 65 Gustafson Court, Novato — "In my case, I do have access to the commissary. Otherwise we'd be in bad shape."

Freda Fortner, 50, housewife, 20 Nave Court, Novato — "There's not much you can do . . . you have to trade where you can. You sure can't grow your own cattle."

Doris Bradford, 74, housewife, 1603 Hotchkin Drive, Novato — "I went through the depression and I'm not worried about it. I don't panic very easily. We survived and if I don't have meat for a while I won't die.

Oil From Shale Idea Is Dumped

ODESSA, Tex. (UPI) — Former Interior Secretary Stewart Udall said yesterday the United States cannot expect shale deposits in Utah, Wyoming and Colorado to produce enough oil to ease the energy crisis.

"I believe it will be 400 years before we can depend on petroleum products from shale," he told University of Texas-Permian Basin students.

To ease the problem, Udall said both gas rationing and increased taxes will be necessary. He favored the latter.

"Rationing is going to be a mess—it's going to be very difficult," he said. "But I believe the American people are able to face it."

False Reports Lead To Suits

"There are two times in a man's life when he should not speculate: when he can't afford it and when he can."

J. P. didn't take that advice. He jumped into Surefire Equities International. He thought he had good advice, for the company gave him their certified audit reports. He not only bought stock, but made loans to the company on the strength of the reports. These were wrong. They showed the company to be solvent. In fact, it was not.

J. P. sued the accounting firm and proved that they might have known the accountants were negligent, and should have expected investors would rely on the reports. J. P. was able to get back some of his loss from the firm that wrote the accounting report.

It used to be that a professional document service, or product, was done solely for the client who ordered it. Only that client would sue for a mistake or error in the service or product.

Now, anyone who might reasonably be expected to rely on the report has a right to hold the professional responsible if he acted negligently. Accountants, title companies, soil engineers, banks — anyone who prepares services which others might rely on, have a right to sue.

In one case a soil engineer prepared a report for a property owner, knowing that the property would be offered for sale. A builder bought the lot, and relied on the report which showed that the lot was stable. This wasn't so. The report had been negligently prepared. The builder held the soil engineer responsible.

A faulty report can create a disaster. A financial advisor publishes a report. This encourages a large number of people to invest. The report turns out to be false. Those who relied on the report can hold the firm liable in a "class action."

Ban Ordered On All Beer Truck Picketing

SAN FRANCISCO (UPI) — A federal judge yesterday issued a 45-day ban on all picketing by beer truck drivers in their 161-day strike in the East Bay Area.

U.S. District Judge Alfonso J. Zirpoli halted all pickets, because "the legal picketing has become so intermeshed wit illegal acts that it cannot be distinguished."

The judge set Jan. 4 for another hearing on the subject, at which time he will determine what contempt fines he will impose for violations of an injunction he issued Sept. 26 banning illegal picketing.

The National Labor Relations Board has charged nearly 100 instances of illegal picketing.

TRAFFIC SNARL — Traffic leading to the Delaware Memorial Bridge (noted on map) was tied up for almost seven hours early today as truck drivers jammed traffic in a protest to higher fuel prices and reduced speed limits.

(UPI Telephoto)

Two Areas Broadened By Trustees

Personal leave on religious holdiays and grievance procedures were broadened last night for Kentfield School District employees by district trustees.

Personnel can obtain an additional two days of personal leave under the "religious leave" policy if they use their alloted days in observance of religious holidays. Dr. Eugene C. Peters, district superintendent, said the change is intended to benefit members of Jewish and other faiths which do not recognize Christmas and Easter as the primary religious holidays.

The grievance procedure was changed to include all district personnel rather than just teachers and allows complaints to be brought before administration and trustes.

Both actions were on 4-0 votes with Trustee Bruce A. Koppe absent.

The board deferred appointment of a citizens' advisory council because a selection committee screening potential members has not completed its work.

Trustees will next meet Jan. 8 at 8 p.m. in A.G. Bacich School.

Tires Are Slashed On Parked Autos

At least 10 tires were slashed on eight cars parked in the vicinity of Fifth and Tamalpais Avenues early yesterday, San Rafael police reported today.

One victim, who called officers at 12:29 a.m., told police she saw at least three cars towed away with multiple flats; five remained on the scene with one or more tires flat.

Truckers Tie Up Vital Eastern Link

By U.P. INTERNATIONAL

Truck drivers today jammed traffic on superhighways in Ohio and Indiana, and blocked movement for seven hours on both sides of the Delaware Memorial Bridge, a vital link between New Jersey, Delaware and Pennsylvania. It was their third day of protests against higher fuel prices and lowered speed limits.

Today's demonstrations followed similar occurrences Monday and yesterday on highways in Pennsylvania, Ohio, Connecticut, West Virginia and New Jersey.

More than 500 truckers voluntarily cleared their rigs from the Delaware Memorial Bridge at about 9 a.m. after holding on-the-spot news conferences with scores of television, radio and newspaper reporters.

Delaware State Police said they waited out the situation because arrests might "trigger violence or widespread traffic stoppages."

Indiana State Police said that between 80 and 100 trucks blocked the east and west lanes of the Northern Indiana Toll Road today about seven miles east of South Bend.

Police said a spokesman for the truckers presented a list of demands including a top fuel price of 35.9 cents per gallon, a national speed limit on all federal highways of 65 mph, a stoppage to fuel exports and an increase in all freight rates.

In addition to traffic stoppage at the Memorial Bridge, there were reports of minor tie-ups in Delaware on Routes 40 and 13.

The Ohio Highway Patrol said today that about 300 to 350 drivers were involved in three incidents on the Ohio Turnpike. The tractor-trailers shut down 27 miles of highway between the Sandusky-Norwalk and Lorain-Elyria exits at about 7 a.m. EST. Motorists were ordered away from the area.

An estimated 300 truck drivers gathered at a truck stop near Hebron, 32 miles east of Columbus to plan stragegy. Some of them brought their rigs to an area about 20 miles east of the city and blocked the west-bound lane of Interstate 70. Motorists were detoured around the trucks.

On Monday afternoon, the drivers of 12 tractor-trailers blocked Interstate 84 along the Connecticut-New York border near Danbury, Conn. for 35 minutes.

SOME EXCELLENT DISHES

Low Calorie Holiday Menu

Following a low calorie menu through the holiday weeks isn't easy, but there are some dishes that are excellent and calorie-counted, too.

A roast turkey is probably the best way to start the menu. It has high-quality protein and is comparatively low in calories.

Roast the turkey unstuffed (place celery leaves and carrot in the cavity for added flavor). Bake the stuffing separately. This eliminates any fat from the turkey getting into the stuffing which would add extra calories.

Also, cook the giblets in chicken broth and make gravy (if gravy is a must) using the giblet liquor, thickening it with a flour and water paste rather than starting with turkey drippings or other fat.

CLAM DIP

1 teaspoon lemon juice
1 teaspoon Worcestershire sauce
2 tablespoons clam liquor (from drained clams)
1½ cups low-fat cottage cheese
½ teaspoon garlic salt
½ teaspoon seasoned salt
Dash tabasco
Fresh ground pepper
1 7½-ounce can minced clams, drained (reserve liquor)
Chopped parsley
Fresh vegetables (carrot, celery, cucumber and zucchini strips)

In blender bowl, place lemon juice, Worcestershire sauce, clam juice, cottage cheese, garlic salt, seasoned salt, tabasco and pepper. Blend until smooth, scraping down sides of bowl frequently. Fold in drained clams. Turn into serving bowl; sprinkle on fresh parsley. Place vegetable strips around bowl of dip on serving plate. Makes 2 cups dip; approximately 13 calories per tablespoon.

LOW-CALORIE PERSIMMON SHERBET

1 egg, separated
¼ cup sugar
⅛ teaspoon salt
1 cup fresh persimmon pulp
2 tablespoons lemon juice
⅓ cup ice cold water
⅓ cup non-fat dry milk

Combine egg yolk, sugar, salt, persimmon pulp and lemon juice, mixing well; set aside. Place egg white and water in small mixer bowl (have bowl and beaters chilled); sprinkle on non-fat dry milk. Beat on low speed until milk is dissolved, then beat on high speed until stiff. Fold in persimmon mixture. Turn into 8-inch square pan: place in freezer until firm (several hours). Makes 6 servings, approximately 102 calories per serving. (Note: If persimmons are very ripe and sweet, only 3 tablespoons sugar may be used.

CRANBERRY CONFETTI PIE

3 envelopes unflavored gelatin, divided
3½ cups cranberry juice cocktail, divided
1 3-ounce package lime-flavored gelatin
1½ cups boiling water
½ cup non-fat dry milk
½ cup ice cold water
1 tablespoon lemon juice
1 teaspoon vanilla
3 tablespoons sugar

Sprinkle 1 envelope of unflavored gelatin over ½ cup of the cranberry juice cocktail and let stand until softened. Place over low heat, stirring, until gelatin is dissolved. Stir in 1 cup cranberry juice cocktail, mixing well.

Turn into 8-inch square pan and chill until firm. Dissolve lime gelatin in the boiling water and turn into another 8-inch square pan. Chill until firm (Do ahead to allow gelatin to be very firm, overnight, if desired).

To make pie, sprinkle remaining 2 envelopes of plain gelatin over 1 cup of the cranberry juice cocktail and let stand until moistened. Place over low heat, stirring, until dissolved; stir in remaining 1 cup cranberry juice cocktail. Chill until syrupy.

Cut red and green gelatin into ½'' cubes; return to refrigerator. Meanwhile, combine nonfat dry milk, ice water, lemon juice and vanilla in small mixer bowl (have bowl and beaters thoroughly chilled).

Beat until thick on high speed. Gradually beat in sugar and continue beating until mixture stands in stiff peaks. Fold whipped milk mixture into the syrupy cranberry mixture.

Fold in ½ of the red and green gelatin cubes. Turn into 9-inch pie plate. Chill several hours until firm.

To serve, scatter remaining gelatin cubes around edge of pie and garnish with additional non-fat milk topping, if desired. Cut into wedges.

Without additional topping, one-sixth of a pie is approximately 213 calories; one-eighth, approximately 160 calories.

WHEAT GERM party pie can put the finishing touch on a perfect dinner. Just before serving it is garnished with grated semi sweet chocolate and wheat germ.

Holiday gatherings, large and small, are upon us, and these special occasions call for special desserts, such as wheat germ party pie.

In no way is it an ordinary pie — starting from the crust up. In fact it's the crust that makes this one something special in the way of desserts. Make it like a meringue shell with a fluffy egg white base. Fold in a cup of toasted wheat germ, then bake in a buttered pie plate half an hour. The filling is just as easy — sweetened whipped cream. This is a make ahead dessert and develops its character as it chills several hours or overnight. Just before serving sprinkle on equal parts of grated semi sweet chocolate and wheat germ.

WHEAT GERM PARTY PIE

3 egg whites
1 teaspoon vanilla
1¼ cups sugar
¼ teaspoon baking powder
1 cup regular wheat germ
1 cup whipping cream
Chocolate Wheat Germ Garnish

Beat egg whites until stiff but not dry. Add vanilla. Slowly beat in 1 cup sugar mixed with baking powder. Fold in regular wheat germ. Spread evenly in bottom and against sides of buttered 9-inch pie pan. Bake in 325° oven 30 minutes. Cool. Whip cream and remaining ¼ cup sugar until stiff. Spread in wheat germ crust. Chill 4 to 5 hours or overnight before serving. Sprinkle with Chocolate Wheat Germ Garnish. Makes 1 (9-inch) pie.

Chocolate wheat germ garnish: Combine 1 tablespoon grated semi sweet chocolate and 1 tablespoon regular wheat germ.

Turkey Loaf From Frozen Leftovers

Those who have frozen leftovers from the Thanksgiving turkey may enjoy using them in this holiday season salad that is a luncheon in itself.

JELLIED CRANBERRY-TURKEY LOAF

Cranberry layer:

1 envelope unflavored gelatin
¼ cup cold water
1 can (1 pound) whole berry cranberry sauce
1 can (9-ounces) crushed pineapple
⅓ cup broken nutmeats
1 Tbsp. lemon juice

Soften gelatin in cold water. Dissolve over hot water. Add remaining ingredients. Turn into a loaf pan 10x6x1½ inches. Chill well.

Turkey layer:

1 envelope unflavored gelatin
¼ cup cold water
½ cup cold water
¾ cup mayonnaise
2 Tbsp. lemon juice
Grated rind of ½ lemon
½ teaspoon salt
2 cups diced cooked turkey
½ cup diced celery

Soften gelatin in one-quarter cup cold water. Dissolve over hot water. Combine with remaining ingredients. Spoon over cranberry layer. Chill thoroughly until firm. Turn out on crisp greens. Makes six to eight servings.

Try Cornish Hens Next For Dinner

There is nothing more impressive for a festive dinner menu than cornish hens, cooked to perfection. Small of bone and all white meat, they are especially succulent when foil roasted.

In supermarkets, the little birds are found in frozen poultry bins. They should be defrosted with wrapping intact, preferably in the refrigerator. Sizes range from about 1 to 1½ pounds.

By the time they are roasted, the birds of 1 pound or less make only one good serving.

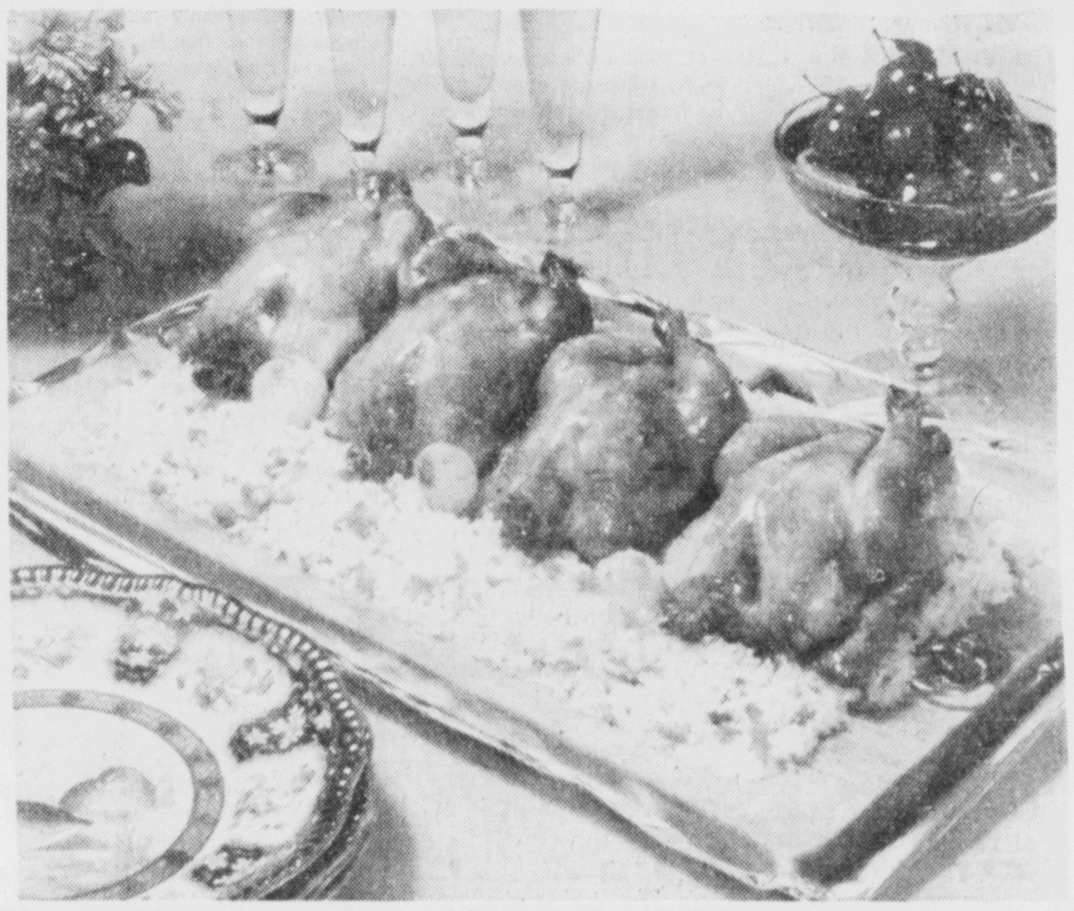
But the largest cooked birds can, with skillful carving down center, turn out two servings; each diner then may have a most inviting miniature half-chicken served on a mound of rice.

The foil method uses for basting wine and butter mixture with a sprinkling of herbs added. The hens may be stuffed, if desired, using ¼ to ⅓ cup mixture for each. Present the birds on a platter surrounded with seasoned rice and small glazed onions.

THAW THE hens; season inside and out with salt and pepper. If stuffing the birds, fill cavity with ¼ to ⅓ cup mixture. Tie legs and tail together and, pulling neck skin to back, secure by twisting wing tips onto back. Place each bird on a square of heavy duty foil with a couple of slices each of celery, onion and carrot underneath to prevent the delicate skin from sticking.

Place in a shallow pan with foil open. Brush with a mixture of two parts melted butter or margarine and one part of dry white or red wine plus a sprinkling of herbs or poultry seasoning. Roast in 450 degree oven, basting two or three times until browned, about 30 minutes. Then close foil loosely by merely overlapping edges and continue roasting 30 to 40 minutes for small, 50 minutes for larger birds.

CHECK AT half of time; if juices have cooked away pour on a little more melted butter and wine. Birds are done when legs move easily. Cut and remove strings. For individual plate serving, they may be eaten right from the foil and the juices in the foil become an instant, delicious sauce. Or, serve the birds on a large platter surrounded by seasoned rice and small glazed onions.



A GOOD dinner party menu features cornish hens, small glazed onions and seasoned steamed rice.

Easy-Do Leg of Lamb
(makes 6 or more servings)

1 Sprinkle a leg (or ¾ leg) of lamb with salt and pepper, and place on rack in shallow roasting pan.

2 Roast in slow (325°) oven about 2 hours. Drain off drippings.

3 Fill peach halves with cranberry sauce, arrange around lamb, and bake 30 minutes more or until meat is as done as you like it. Lamb is well done when meat thermometer registers 170° to 175°.

Note: If you buy a whole leg, you also have the makin's for three great lamb meals. Have your meat man cut the leg into a roast, plus quick-to-fix steaks and kebabs.

How Corte Madera Council Candidates View Issues

Eight men and two women are seeking the seats of three Corte Madera town councilmen who were recalled in September.

A special election will be held Dec. 18 to replace Mayor Holmes S. Norville and councilmen Edward W. Colthurst and Harold B. Wagstaff.

The Independent-Journal asked each candidate questions concerning the major issues in the special election campaign.

Last Saturday the responses of Mrs. Haehl, Harvey, Kostelic, Marino and Mrs. Miner were given.

Today the responses of Reed, Sasso, Shawn, Weingarth and White are printed.

The questions asked, candidates' responses and biographical sketch of the five candidates follow.

PHILIP O. SASSO
Wants responsive council

PHILIP SASSO

Philip O. Sasso is seeking election to the Corte Madera town council to make the council responsive to the town's citizens.

He also says he favors preserving the residential character of the town.

The 43-year-old Sasso is a 12-year resident of Corte Madera. He and his wife, Eileen, live at 142 Yolo Street and have four children.

Sasso is chariman of the Corte Madera Board of Adjustments, is president of the Mariner Cove Improvement Asociation and a member of the town meeting coordinating council.

He is designer of computer systems for a chemical firm in San Francisco. He received a bachelor degree from Loyola (Chicago) University and received a master's degree in business administration from Northwestern University.

Sasso supported the recall effort in Sept.

These are his replies to 11 questions put by the Independent-Journal to all 10 candidates:

Q. As a member of the town council, would you support a regional shopping center on the proposed site east of Highway 101?

A. I'm on record as generally opposing the concept of a regional shopping center. I question its economic feasibility, justification or necessity. I'm also opposed to its obvious impact on the character of our community.

Q. Should that shopping center be of the magnitude offered by Ernest W. Hahn Inc.?

A. Answer same as question one.

Q. Should the town redevelopment project go forward as proposed or should it be reconsidered by the Council?

A. Considering my previous answer, its obvious the situation regarding the objectives and direction of the redevelopment agency should be reviewed.

Q. Open space has been a concern of many citizen groups. What are the three top open space priorities in or around Corte Madera?

A. I prefer to abide by the decision of the citizen input from the open space committee, as soon as I'm convinced what is put forth is in fact their findings.

Q. How should those lands be obtained as open space?

A. There are a number of options available. Most involve some local contribution via our tax rate. Any such proposal should be fully explained to the electorate and put before them for a vote.

Q. Should there be "growth controls" on the rate of growth in Corte Madera and, if yes, what controls should be used?

A. Yes. But we do have some measure of control through the intelligent application of our present zoning ordinances. Once I'm convinced we're doing this right and it isn't working I would probably subscribe to the 1 per cent per year figure that is genrally quoted.

Q. Both the original and scaled-down versions of the Madera del Presidio housing project have been withdrawn or returned to the developer by the council. Is a residential complex a proper use of the land near the Koch luggage plant?

A. There are two different areas involved. When you talk about land near Koch on Madera del Presidio I've already stated I want to see single-family detached dwellings. On the second area I would reserve comment until I'm better versed.

Q. The general plan, as proposed, includes references to consolidation of Corte Madera and Larkspur town services and eventually their consolidation into one community. Do you support those suggestions?

A. Again, I'm already on record as being opposed to the consolidation as it is at present in the general plan. Certain general service consolidations might be considered. I will specifically not support a police department consolidation.

Q. Should low and moderate income housing opportunities be increased in Corte Madera? If yes, how?

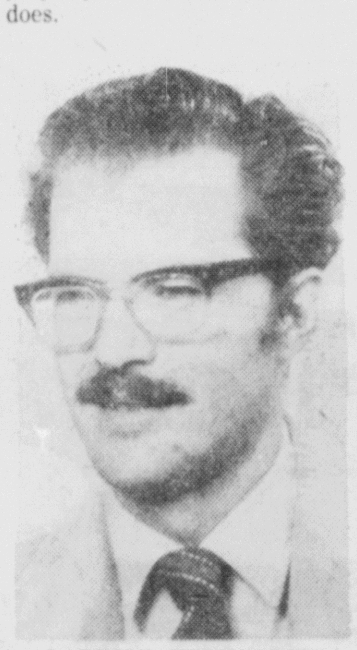
A. The question of low and moderate income housing cannot be discussed as briefly as required here. The 1970 census and 1972 town meeting survey both show our average resident as "moderate income houser." I'll be pleased to discuss this in definitive detail where a proper format exists.

Q. What can be done to discourage increasing commuter detours through Corte Madera as a commuter bypass when Highway 101 is crowded?

A. Madera Boulevard had a problem which I recognize and respect. I don't honestly know the answer to it at present. I have some ideas but I would have to do my homework.

Q. Undeveloped land west of Tamal Vista Boulevard, the Madera del Presidio townhouse site, land adjacent to All Faiths Church and land between the Koch luggage plant and the Madera del Presidio site are listed in the general plan as the most suitable — in that order — for residential development. Do you agree?

A. An emphatic no. On any individual piece of property the town is not in the business of setting "price" priorities on property and that's what this does.



LARRY P. WEINGARTH
"Public interest candidate"

LARRY WEINGARTH

Larry P. Weingarth says he wants confidence restored in Corte Madera town government and that is why he is seeking election to the town council.

"I would like to think I'm a public interest candidate," he says. "I see my function as to make sure that the interests of the public at large are served."

The 33-year old Weingarth is a teacher at Loma Alta School. He and his wife, Annemarie, are six-year residents of Corte Madera and live at 113 Sonora Way. They have four children.

Weingarth is a member of the Marin Estates Homeowners Association, Town Meeting Association and Friends of Ring Mountain.

He filed a citizens suit which halted the Madera del Presidio housing project earlier this year and supported the recall of the three councilmen.

These are his replies to 11 questions put by the Independent-Journal to all 10 candidates:

Q. As a member of the town council, would you support a regional shopping center on the proposed site east of Highway 101?

A. No. I feel that a regional shopping center in the town would have too devastating an environmental impact on the town.

Q. Should that shopping center be of the magnitutde offered by Ernest W. Hahn Inc.?

A. If not a regional shopping center, I really doubt that the town's economy can support an additional shopping center. What I would like to see in place of a regional shopping center or another shopping center would be an upgrading of the existing center. Though I'm in favor of upgrading the existing center, I would be against it becoming a regional shopping center.

Q. Should the town redevelopment project go forward as proposed or should it be reconsidered by the council?

A. I think that it certainly should be reconsidered by the council. In fact, I would think that concurrent with the general plan the whole redevelopment concept and agency should be reviewed as to its desirability.

Q. Open space has been a concern of many citizen groups. What are the three top open space priorities in or around Corte Madera?

A. It seems that the Northridge area is certainly an important item. The Corte Madera-Tiburon ridge which is the southern boundary which includes part of the Madera del Presidio property is of high priority. A large portion if not all of the Muzzi property would be highly desirable if ways could be found to acquire it.

Q. How should those lands be obtained as open space?

A. There are a number of ways the council could evolve with legal advice. Zoning controls are one way that lands that have problems like seismic hazards that are hazardous from the public's standpoint could be acquired. Other areas of acquisition are through open space bonds and sharing of Proposition E monies from the county.

Q. Should there be "growth controls" on the rate of growth in Corte Madera and, if yes, what controls should be used?

A. I definitely believe that there must be growth controls. The Petaluma plan appeals to me that there could be a maximum number of units built each year. To decide the number of units built each year the town sets environmental, social and aesthetic criteria. Those passing these town goals could be built. Legal counsel would be invaluable in devising specific control plans. The need for controls is very evident because of the impact of unchecked growth.

Q. Both the original and scaled-down versions of the Madera del Presidio housing project have been withdrawn or returned to the developer by the council. Is a residential complex a proper use of the land near the Koch luggage plant?

A. The southern 40 acres shouldn't be developed at all. The slope area should be an integral part of any greenbelt divider between Corte Madera and its neighbors. In the northern flat areas it would be proper for development with whatever goes in being compatible with local residents. Local residents have endorsed single-family units. Sol Silver of the county planning department has recommended a maximum of 200 units. I think 200 units would be a very generous development of the land.

Q. The general plan, as proposed, includes references to consolidation of Corte Madera and Larkspur town services and eventually their consolidation into one community. Do you support those suggestions?

A. No I do not. I'm very opposed to a merger of Corte Madera and Larkspur. I feel that Corte Madera would become too large and effective communication with its citizens would become much more difficult than at present. Corte Madera should maintain its autonomy but explore the feasability and desirability of combining some town services.

Q. Should low and moderate income housing opportunities be increased in Corte Madera? If yes, how?

A. The housing needs of all Corte Madera residents should be pursued by the council. I'm particularly concerned about the problem of the elderly and high taxes driving them out of their homes. I'm very interested in seeing if some tax relief situations can be developed for them.

Q. What can be done to discourage increasing commuter detours through Corte Madera as a commuter bypass when Highway 101 is crowded?

A. If a greater reliance on public transportation would lighten the traffic jams, and perhaps this is a dream, that would be one obvious approach. The next would be strict traffic enforcement with speed limits and strategically placed stop signs controlling speeds on surface streets to make pulling off the freeway undesirable. I'm very much against some of the traffic circulation schemes devised by Mr. Cook in the general plan. I think that closing off the ramps into and out of Corte Madera would cause more traffic problems within the town than they would cure.

Q. Undeveloped land west of Tamal Vista Boulevard, the Madera del Presidio townhouse site, land adjacent to All Faiths Church and land between the Koch luggage plant and the Madera del Presidio site are listed in the general plan as the most suitable — in that order — for residential development. Do you agree?

A. These are all sites that could be considered for development at least in part. With the one exception being the land adjacent to All Faiths Church. Many people are considering that for an East Corte Madera park and until the issue of a park is resolved that should not be considered for development. Great scrutiny to any development on any of these lands would be given with an eye to the public interest. If the development were such that it would have an adverse impact on the existing residents I would be against it.

JOEL A. SHAWN
New council direction

JOEL A. SHAWN

Joel A. Shawn says he seeks to be a Corte Madera town councilman to provide a council that represent citizens' wishes.

"The primary issue is whether or not, as a result of this election, the town council will be constituted of people who will, in fact, represent the wishes of the people rather than imposing their own point of view," Shawn says.

The 38-year-old Shawn is a partner in a law firm in San Francisco. He received a bachelor degree in civil engineering from City College of New York and a law degree from Hastings College of Law in San Francisco.

Shawn lives at 219 Baltimore Avenue with his wife, Carol, and their four children. He is a seven-year resident of Corte Madera.

He is a member of the Corte Madera Board of Adjustments and is a former chairman of the town's citizen advisory committee on the general plan.

Shawn was the plaintiff in one suit and attorney in a second challenging the Hahn regional shopping center. He supported the recall.

These are his replies to 11 questions put by the Independent-Journal to all 10 candidates.

Q. As a member of the town council, would you support a regional shopping center on the proposed site east of Hghway 101?

A. No.

Q. Should that shopping center be of the magnitude offered by Ernest W. Hahn Inc.?

A. This question doesn't apply because of my answer to question one.

Q. Should the town redevelopment project go forward as proposed or should it be reconsidered by the council?

A. It definitely should be reconsidered by the council. Particularly in light of the limitation placed on bonding by the county and in fact whether that area is really subject to the use of redevelopment powers.

Q. Open space has been a concern of many citizen groups. What are the three top open space priorities in or around Corte Madera?

A. Based on the town survey, there are two definite priorities and that would be the Northridge and Ring Mountain. And then based on the town survey I would say the marsh areas as third priority. However, all of that is subject to revision based upon those areas which would become those first to be threatened by possible development.

Q. How should those lands be obtained as open space?

A. I would like to see a mutual assessment district formed with Tiburon, Mill Valley, Larkspur, Kentfield and Corte Madera in order to increase bonding capacity so that we could have an open space bond issue for acquisition of Ring Mountain and the Northridge. With such an assessment district there is a strong likelihood of matching funds from the county.

Q. Should there be "growth controls" on the rate of growth in Corte Madera and, if yes, what controls should be used?

A. Yes, there should be growth controls. What would be a legally defensible growth control method is going to be difficult to ascertain at this time due to the great amount of litigation on growth controls going on throughout the United States. However, I am aware of one case where a combination of general plan restrictions and appropriate zoning was determined to be a legally defensible method of growth control and would hope that Corte Madera can arrive at a similar procedure.

Q. Both the original and scaled-down versions of the Madera del Presidio housing-project have been withdrawn or returned to the developer by the council. Is a residential complex a proper use of the land near the Koch luggage plant?

A. Assuming a continuation of residential zoning which is the zoning that would appear to be proposed as a result of the general plan study committee, that the residential use would have to be limited by the growth restrictions referred to above and must be able to demonstrate that it will not be an additional financial burden to not only the town of Corte Madera but the school districts that would be serving the area.

Q. The general plan, as proposed, includes references to consolidation of Corte Madera and Larkspur town services and eventually their consolidation into one community. Do you support those suggestions?

A. I do not support the eventual merger of Corte Madera and Larkspur. I believe we should explore a consolidation of some of the town services to determine whether or not we can reduce the cost of town services while still maintaining a high quality of services to both towns.

Q. Should low and moderate income housing opportunities be increased in Corte Madera? If yes, how?

A. State and federal law require that we attempt to provide a housing mix in all communities. Unfortunately, at the present time there are no federal or state funds available to subsidize such housing. And with the high cost of land in Corte Madera it is almost impossible to expect a private developer to provide such housing.

Q. What can be done to discourage increasing commuter detours through Corte Madera as a commuter bypass when Highway 101 is crowded?

A. On those routes that are used as detours through Corte Madera one of the most effective methods for discouraging such detours is to signalize the intersections on the detour route and during the detour time period create a delay which will discourage detour.

Q. Undeveloped land west of Tamal Vista Boulevard, the Madera del Presidio townhouse site, land adjacent to All Faiths Church and land between the Koch luggage plant and the Madera del Presidio site are listed in the general plan as the most suitable — in that order —for residential development. Do you agree?

A. I disagree with the whole concept as set forth in the general plan of establishing an order of development on a parcel by parcel basis since it obviously places some lands in a disadvantageous position and would rather leave the question of which lands get developed first open to proposals by the respective developers to the council. And then considering the growth limits, select that development in any given year which is of best quality.

CANDIDATES FORUM TO BE TONIGHT

All 10 candidates seeking election to the Corte Madera Town Council election Dec. 18 are expected to take part in a candidates' forum tonight at 8 o'clock in the San Clemente School multipurpose room.

Sponsors of the event are the East Corte Madera Hill Dwellers, Marin Estate Homeowners Association, Marina Village Improvement Association and the Mariner Cove Improvement Association.

JOHN CHARTER REED
Communication key issue

JOHN REED

John Charter Reed says he should be elected to the town council because he is the one candidate who can provide communication between citizens and the council.

"I think that of all the candidates I'm the one that would be receptive to the needs of the town. My character is just what they need," he said.

Reed, 21, is a freelance illustrator of books. He has lived in Corte Madera 11 years. He is single and lives at 10 Golden Hind Passage.

A graduate of Redwood High School, he attended the College of Marin and Ricks College in Rexburg, Ida.

Reed said he has not been involved in any town boards or groups previously.

These are his replies to 11 questions put by the Independent-Journal to all 10 candidates:

Q. As a member of the town council, would you support a regional shopping center on the proposed site east of Hghway 101?

A. As a candidate I do not support the regional shopping center east of Highway 101. I believe I could never support the proposed shopping center as a councilman.

Q. Should that shopping center be of the magnitude offered by Ernest W. Hahn Inc.?

A. I believe not so big a shopping center if any at all. I believe I have a special knowledge that Dominic Muzzi will be glad to compromise with Corte Madera and drop the $5 million suit concerning the marsh. I urge Corte Madera to propose to Dominic Muzzi, approved use for approximately 60 acres, the filled lands, in exchange for all remaining open space, 540 acres, given to Corte Madera or sold at a very small price.

Q. Should the town redevelopment project go forward as proposed or should it be reconsidered by the council?

A. The council will reconsider and change the redevelopment policy, I believe.

Q. Open space has been a concern of many citizen groups. What are the three top open space priorities in or around Corte Madera?

A. The marsh is all the open space Corte Madera, has, I think. There are beautiful hills that are almost in our town but not very much. Most is country property.

Q. How should those lands be obtained as open space?

A. The owner should, I hope, be so kind as to work generously with the people who show the most acceptable plan for use and preservation of the open space.

Q. Should there be "growth controls" on the rate of growth in Corte Madera and, if yes, what controls should be used?

A. Yes control growth. Grow after we perfect what we already grew. Grow some vegetables or some answers to old questions.

Q. Both the original and scaled-down versions of the Madera del Presidio housing project have been withdrawn or returned to the developer by the council. Is a residential complex a proper use of the land near the Koch luggage plant?

A. Let's run barefoot on the grass of the open space. That seems proper to me. Then consider saving it.

Q. The general plan, as proposed, includes references to consolidation of Corte Madera and Larkspur town services and eventually their consolidation into one community. Do you support those suggestions?

A. The suggestion I support but I don't accept the suggestion at such a seemingly early time.

Q. Should low and moderate income housing opportunities be increased in Corte Madera? If yes, how?

A. I would act to lower taxes in Corte Madera so we can enjoy living here. I have a few of my own plans but people ought to put up ideas.

Q. What can be done to discourage increasing commuter detours through Corte Madera as a commuter bypass when Highway 101 is crowded?

A. We must all start building up our desolate states as opposed to everyone in one corner. Start having time to think as well as technology to build while growing every man on his own corner of grass. And nice landlords will generously give to those who have nothing. This is the way to bypass commuter traffic in Corte Madera.

Q. Undeveloped land west of Tamal Vista Boulevard, the Madera del Presidio townhouse site, land adjacent to All Faiths Church and land between the Koch luggage plant and the Madera del Presidio site are listed in the general plan as the most suitable — in that order — for residential development. Do you agree?

A. Sure we have nice land but none of it is up for grabs. We need grazing land, in my opinion.

GEORGE T. WHITE
Seeks town unity

GEORGE T. WHITE

George T. White thinks the most important issue in the town council election is bringing splintered groups in Corte Madera back together as a town.

"I think it has been divided long enough on issues and it should get back together rather than being torn apart," he said of the town.

White, 54, lives at 108 Privateer Drive with his wife, Peggy. The couple has reared four children. They have lived in Corte Madera seven years.

The owner of a hardware store in Tiburon, White was a member of the Tiburon Coordinating Council. He also served as treasurer of the Del Mar Homeowners Association and president of the Bel Air Merchants Association.

He supported the recall of three councilmen.

These are his replies to 11 questions put by the Independent-Journal to all 10 candidates:

Q. As a member of the town council, would you support a regional shopping center on the proposed site east of Highway 101?

A. No, I've gone against the regional shopping center. Under the circumstances of today, regional shopping centers are on the way out anyway. They require parking areas, I don't see how you can justify it today.

Q. Should that shopping center be of the magnitude offered by Ernest W. Hahn Inc.?

A. Under no circumstances of the size they propose.

Q. Should the town redevelopment project go forward as proposed or should it be reconsidered by the council?

A. Reconsider by the council. Obviously everything has changed so you have to reconsider it.

Q. Open space has been a concern of many citizen groups. What are the three top open space priorities in or around Corte Madera?

A. Of course there are the ridgelands on the east side of the highway. And of course the tidal marshlands and the ridges on the west side of the highway.

Q. How should those lands be obtained as open space?

A. In the most economic way possible. The government comes up with some money and the state comes up with some money. I don't propose that the taxpayers go out and purchase these at the first price.

Q. Should there be "growth controls" on the rate of growth in Corte Madera and, if yes, what controls should be used?

A. This is being considered in the general plan. And they come up with a 1 per cent figure which is a nice figure. But, however, this should be decided by the majority of the people in town.

Q. Both the original and scaled-down versions of the Madera del Presidio housing project have been withdrawn or returned to the developer by the council. Is a residential complex a proper use of the land near the Koch luggage plant?

A. This should be decided by the town council and not just by me. I'm for the least effect on the town's capacity.

Q. The general plan, as proposed, includes references to consolidation of Corte Madera and Larkspur town services and eventually their consolidation into one community. Do you support those suggestions?

A. If it is economically feasible and without losing the standards of service the town desires I would support it.

Q. Should low and moderate income housing opportunities be increased in Corte Madera? If yes, how?

A. This is a question that under the economic system right now is impossible to come up with an answer. However, I do feel we should try and subsidize housing for older people.

Q. What can be done to discourage increasing commuter detours through Corte Madera as a commuter bypass when Highway 101 is crowded?

A. There is really no way except by making 101 less crowded. There is no way to stop people from turning off the freeway if it is jammed up.

Q. Undeveloped land west of Tamal Vista Boulevard, the Madera del Presidio townhouse site, land adjacent to All Faiths Church and land between the Koch luggage plant and the Madera del Presidio site are listed in the general plan as the most suitable — in that order — for residential development. Do you agree?

A. Well, not necessarily because I feel the area east of All Faiths Church should be made into a park for the east side of town.

IN 'NUTCRACKER' BALLET

Laurie Klein Gets New Role

THIS YEAR Laurie Klein, 23, of Larkspur will dance the role of the Arabian in the Marin Civic Ballet's performance of the "Nutcracker." She has been in the "Nutcracker" since she was 8 years old. Performances are scheduled for Dec. 14, 15 and 16 at the Marin Veterans Memorial Building.

By JOAN LISETOR

Laurie Berryman was 8 years old when she played the role of Franz, the naughty little boy, in the first performance in Marin County of the "Nutcracker" ballet. Fifteen years later in the role of the Arabian she will appear in the Marin Civic Ballet Association's "Nutcracker" Dec. 14, 15 and 16 at the Marin Veterans Memorial Building.

Now Laurie Klein, a wife and mother of 18-month-old Margot (named for her godmother, Marin dancer Margot Jones, not ballerina Margot Fonteyn) she is scarcely bigger than when she played Franz. She is now 4 feet 8 inches tall and doesn't recall how tall she was then but has vivid memories of being naughty.

Her teacher, Leona Norman, now director of Marin Civic Ballet, also recalls how naughty Laurie was, and she doesn't mean in the role.

"She was captain of a baseball team, and that was the most important thing in her life," Mrs. Norman recalled.

MRS. NORMAN obviously has forgiven her because, under her direction, Laurie now teaches nine classes at the Marin Civic Ballet School in San Rafael. She has also had her in all but one of the 15 seasons of the "Nutcracker."

The year Laurie missed, however, was not the year she was pregnant. It was last year when at 6 months she thought Margot needed her. This year she has her "angel of a mother," Mrs. Carroll Berryman of Mill Valley, taking care of the baby so she can perform.

"My first year as Franz I remember hearing the overture. I was sitting, with my knees under my chin, and could feel the curtain as it opened," she said.

"I felt something in the corner of the curtain — the weights — and I thought they were money. I remember my mind being on that money and how I could get it out instead of on the performance."

The role of Franz, called Fritz by some ballet companies, a bad boy, suited Laurie during her early years of dancing.

Actually she didn't begin to enjoy dancing until she was about 12, she said.

"THERE WERE other things I wanted to be doing, mostly outdoors," she said. "But my parents made me stick with it, and I am glad. During the junior high years it was especially good, because those are the years of searching. I was glad to have ballet."

It helps her as a teacher to remember the years she was bored and uninspired, she said.

"Parents ask me what they should do if their daughters don't want to come (to lessons), and I am tempted to say, 'Don't force them.' But I remember my own experience, so I tell them just to play it by ear," she said.

Laurie was graduated from Tamalpais High School and attended California State University, San Francisco.

She went to Atlanta, Ga., one summer to study because she knew the director of the school was small and thought he would have a sympathetic viewpoint toward her as a dancer.

"I found out sympathy and a job are two different things," she said.

She returned home to Marin and took a part in the Marin Shakespeare Festival's production of "Brigadoon."

"Larry (her husband) saw me dancing in "Brigadoon," and he wanted to meet me," she said.

They dated, but then Laurie left for Vancouver, B.C., where she studied on scholarship for a few months. They were married a few months after her return.

LARRY KLEIN is the assistant to the technical director of the San Francisco Opera. When the opera season ends, he works as a carpenter and playwright. The couple lives in Larkspur.

The most exciting role she has played, Laurie said, is the Russian. She remembers with horror the years she did the flower solo because she fell both times. The first time her younger sister Lisa was in the cast, she said, and pleaded with her, "Tell me you didn't fall." The second time she was cast as a flower was the year she was pregnant. She did fine on stage but tripped on something coming off and landed right at Mrs. Norman's feet.

Most of the madness has gone since the ballet has moved to the Veterans Memorial Building, but there is still chaos backstage with more than 100 performers ranging in age from 6, Laurie's students, to adult, she said.

"I just threatened to throw them to the lions if they are not good backstage," she said, laughing. "You know, I think I am more excited this year than ever."

Tea To Honor Mrs. Hatch On Her 101st Birthday

By MOLLY MARIN

Mrs. Frederick W. Hatch of Mill Valley will be honored at a birthday tea on her 101st birthday Monday at the home of her daughter, Mrs. James Bertenshaw in Mill Valley. Mrs. Bertenshaw has invited 20 neighbors and friends to the celebration.

Bertha Loucks Hatch was born Dec. 10, 1872, in Savona, N.Y. She met President James A. Garfield when he was campaigning for the presidency in New York State. In 1884 she moved with her family to Washington, D.C., and attended presidential receptions for Benjamin Harrison, Grover Cleveland, William McKinley and Theodore Roosevelt. She is the widow of the Rev. Frederick S. Hatch, a Baptist minister.

She makes her home with Mrs. Bertenshaw, and has a son, Osborn F. Hatch of Santa Monica, five grandchildren and three great grandchildren. Her 100th birthday was celebrated last year with a reception for 100 people at the Mill Valley Community Church.

THE CHRISTMAS season was greeted Saturday night by the members of the Bolinas Beach and Improvement Club who filled the clubhouse with carols and good cheer. Guests enjoyed the dinner of Christmas foods, and caroling was led by Gloria Conradi at the piano and Annie Crotts, who sang solos and was joined by the children and adults. Santa Claus then arrived in a jingling of bells and distributed stockings of gifts for the guests.

SEVERAL RESIDENTS of Marin and Sonoma were aboard the Sagafjord for an eight day cruise to Mexican waters over the Thanksgiving holiday weekend.

The ship called at Mazatlan for a day and another stop was made at Pureto Vallarta before turning north toward San Francisco. In the group from Marin were Messrs. and Mmes. Lou Geissberger and Andrew B. Jones of Larkspur, Leo Gorman of San Rafael, Clarence Herold of Novato, Harry C. Kostering of Kentfield and B. Albert Malone of Mill Valley. Petalumans on the cruise were Mrs. Marian Markel, Mr. and Mrs. Robert Ruiz and Cmdr. Geoge E. Hobbie.

FIRST OF several Christmas parties at the Tamalpais Retirement Residence will be a Christmas tea and sherry party towmorrow afternoon at the residence in Greenbrae.

A tree trimming party will be given on Dec. 14, followed by a dinner with holiday music. Gifts will be exchanged at a party on Dec. 17, and on Dec. 18 the choir from the First Assembly of God Church in San Rafael will sing Christmas carols. Employees will be honored at a party on Dec. 19, hosted by the residents, and on Dec. 20 a Christmas party will be given for children and grandchildren of the residents.

MAKING THEIR home in San Rafael are Mr. and Mrs. George Stewart (Carla Sanchez) who were married at the Sonoma County Courthouse Nov. 7 by Superior Court Judge John Moskowitz. A reception followed at a Santa Rosa restaurant.

The bride, who is from Santa Fe, N.M., and her husband plan to take a belated wedding trip to Mexico around the first of January. Both are in business in San Rafael.

Eighth Graders To Hold Dance

Eighth grade students at Davidson Middle School in San Rafael, assisted by the Arthur Murray dancers of San Anselmo, will hold a dance Friday from 8 to 10 p.m. in the school gymnasium.

The Arthur Murray dancers will play the music and lead the students in mixers and dance contests. Students are decorating the gymnasium and Mrs. Louis Mountanos is dance chairman. Mrs. Spiro Spiliotis is refreshments chairman.

Members of the Davidson Parent-Teacher Association and school staff will be chaperones.

Marin Women

Dorothy Erthle Ends A Girl Scout Career

A reception was given Saturday afternoon to honor Miss Dorothy Erthle of San Anselmo on her retirement from 30 years of work with the Girl Scouts in Marin.

Guests at the party at the Marin Art and Garden Center in Ross were Scouting volunteer friends and former Girl Scouts in Marin.

Miss Erthle was the first executive director of the Marin County Girl Scout Council, coming to Marin in 1944 when 150 girls were in the program. She remained executive director until the Marin Council merged with the other Bay Area councils into the San Francisco Bay Girl Scout Council in July, 1963. She then became a Bay Council staff member and was responsible for the Bothin Youth Center properties near Fairfax. Previously she had been on the Girl Scouts staff in Louisville, Ky., and executive director of the Alameda Girl Scout Council.

The party for Miss Erthle was organized by her Scouting volunteer friends, including Mmes. James D. Adams of San Rafael, Walter Carter of San Anselmo, Kenneth Anderson of Ross, Irving Randall of Kentfield, Fred H. Sloat of San Anselmo and their committee.

Miss Erthle's retirement was effective as of Friday.

HELEN HELP US!

By HELEN BOTTEL

Readers Tell How They Handle Money In Respective Families

DEAR HELEN:

I read with much interest the letter from the wife who was concerned over putting all her income in a joint account with her husband. She worried that he could walk off with everything — but then she could clean him out too with her signature. If there isn't mutual trust, there isn't much of a union.

Here's how my husband and I handle our finances. Everything we bring in goes into a checking account. We pay the bills as they come due. Should either of us need money, we cash a check. At the end of the month, the excess goes into a savings account, in joint name. There is never any argument about who pays for dinners-out, gas, toll fees, etc., for it is our money, and whoever has the cash at the time shells out. Why separate our incomes into "his and hers," when it is for both?

My husband recently opened his law office, so I quit my outside job and am working free for my lawyer. Did I say free? True, I get no salary, but my benefits arrive when we work together toward a mutual goal. His profits are our profits. My satisfaction is looking into his face and knowing I'm helping him accomplish his goals. Working for free? Maybe. Working for nothing? Definitely not!

Incidentally, we've been married six years and have never argued about money. — CAROLE

DEAR HELEN:

A husband and wife financial arrangement based on trust is fine so long as the marriage is going great, but our divorce rate indicates "great" doesn't always last. A trusting wife who has tossed all her money into a joint account could find there isn't enough left to finance a separation.

Couples should plan ahead. It is better to have financial independence and not need it than to need it and not have it. Thus, when two people marry — whether the wife works outside the home or not — they should each have their own bank account, and the husband has no right to question his wife on how she spends her money.

If both work outside the home, all domestic chores should be shared and household expenses shared also, in proportion to the wages each earns. A joint bank account is acceptable for these expenses (with each putting in his and her share). The partners should alternate on budget keeping so that each will have a working knowledge of the account.

In addition, each partner should have a separate account, and the equal amounts in it should be increased as earning power advances. If the wife doesn't work, she still deserves her account, as an equal partner. To be "supported" by the "lord and master" is demeaning.

The result of separate accounts is that each partner retains individuality and independence while sharing all the satisfactions, rewards and pleasures of marriage. It is more like "going steady" than living in an "institution." The man will not be unduly burdened, neither will the woman ever be financially subservient. — HOLLIS

DEAR HELEN:

You asked other working wives to tell how finances are managed in their marriages. In our house, what's mine is his and what's his is mine.

My husband's paycheck takes care of the bills and living expenses; mine provides for the luxuries — and also those extra house payments so we'll own our home sooner. — LOVING AND TRUSTING

DEAR HELEN:

Our money goes into a joint checking account. Each of us has credit cards but bills of over $50 we discuss first, so we won't be hit with more than we can pay. I manage the checkbook and keep finances straight because I enjoy it and my husband doesn't.

We each have separate savings accounts but, in a crisis, they are considered as one. I guess it all boils down to: if you're going to share your lives, sharing the money shouldn't be so difficult. Money is just to make life more comfortable and who cares which one makes more or less of it? — HAPPY COUPLE

DEAR HELEN:

This is the way we handle finances: As a substitute teacher, my income is not regular. My husband has a full time job.

All his money goes into our joint checking account and I handle the checkbook. All of my earnings go into a joint savings account. I don't even know if he knows where the passbook is. It's all our money.

In this way we don't get accustomed to two incomes and we can pay cash for our furniture or extras. Like you said, it's trust!! — SHARON

Soap Advances

Soap powder was created about 1845 when Benjamin Babbit found the new use for soap shavings. Instead of melting them to form new bars, he scooped them into packages. Liquid soap was created about 20 years later by William Sheppard, according to the Soap and Detergent Association.

Benefits Of Year-Round School Told

By BETTY FROST

"The gravy of the year-round school program is the intersession program," said John Anderson, principal of the Penngrove School in Petaluma, which began the year-round program 16 weeks ago.

Two schools in Petaluma adopted the revised calendar, using a nine weeks of school and three weeks off schedule. During the three weeks off, an elective intersession program was established.

In what Anderson called "a relaxed atmosphere", the intersession time can be programmed for creative or remedial work, and the children can benefit from extras that they couldn't get in regular session. At Penngrove the first intersession was used for creativity classes in music, including attendance at concerts and rocketry. A career education program with field trips is planned for the next three-week break.

Anderson spoke at the Student Center in Tamalpais High School Monday night under the auspices of the Mill Valley Area Branch of the American Association of University Women, and was the kick-off speaker of the second Dynamic Learning program in the current series.

ALTHOUGH ANDERSON spoke of year-round schools as an "emotion-packed issue," the 200 men and women who filled the student center to capacity Monday night listened quietly to the principal, his fellow school administrators, Dr. Peter Palches, superintendent of the Mill Valley School District, and Dr. Thomas Larch, curriculum director, Tamalpais Union High School District; a panel of Mill Valley parents and teachers discussing the advantages and disadvantages of the system and parents and teachers from Petaluma who evaluated their experiences with the new system.

Although using the school plant on a 12-month basis had been discussed for decades, the program was actually put into practice in Valley View, Ill., for elementary schools in June, 1970. The measure was an alternative to double sessions for the hard pressed district, which had grown from 85 pupils to 5,500 pupils in 20 years, according to Anderson.

Overcrowding was not an issue in Petaluma schools, the principal indicated. The plan was adopted for two of Petaluma's elementary schools after a two-year study by an evaluation committee composed of teachers, parents and community leaders, on the basis of educational improvement.

Ruth McLachlin, chairman of the Petaluma evaluation team, said they became convinced that "the children learn more, a better program can be achieved, the children have a better attitude about school, and the discipline is much improved."

Mill Valley also has been studying the 12-month school calendar, Dr. Palches explained.

"Each school has its own committee, and there is also a district-wide committee, with Mrs. Dorothy Brooke, chairman. A library of information is being set up by a parents committee, and we hope for a decision about the 1974-'75 school year in March. There is no possibility that all of the schools in the district would be changed at once. If the plan is adopted, only one or two schools would be involved the first year."

DR. LARCH, representing the Tamalpais Union High School District, said, "If you people in Mill Valley want year round schools, somehow we'll take care of you at the high school level."

James Derich, teacher at the Old Mill School, echoed the points favoring the year-round schedule which Anderson had noted, that vacations are not too far off, there is less retention loss of materials studied, and a revitalization of student-teacher cooperation is achieved.

Derich added that employment of teachers during the intersession could add to the teacher's yearly income and might be a factor in keeping male teachers in the classroom, instead of seeking advancement in school administration posts.

Dissonant notes were heard from Betty Bernard, a working mother who is concerned about child care services during short vacations scattered throughout the year, and Jack Osman, a parent, who favors year-round operations for rapid growth areas, but is opposed to it in Mill Valley, where the number of children in schools is declining.

Henry Washow, a Mill Valley parent, spoke of the tradition of long summer vacations as a holdover from the days when this was an agrarian country, and children were needed to work on the farms. He suggest-

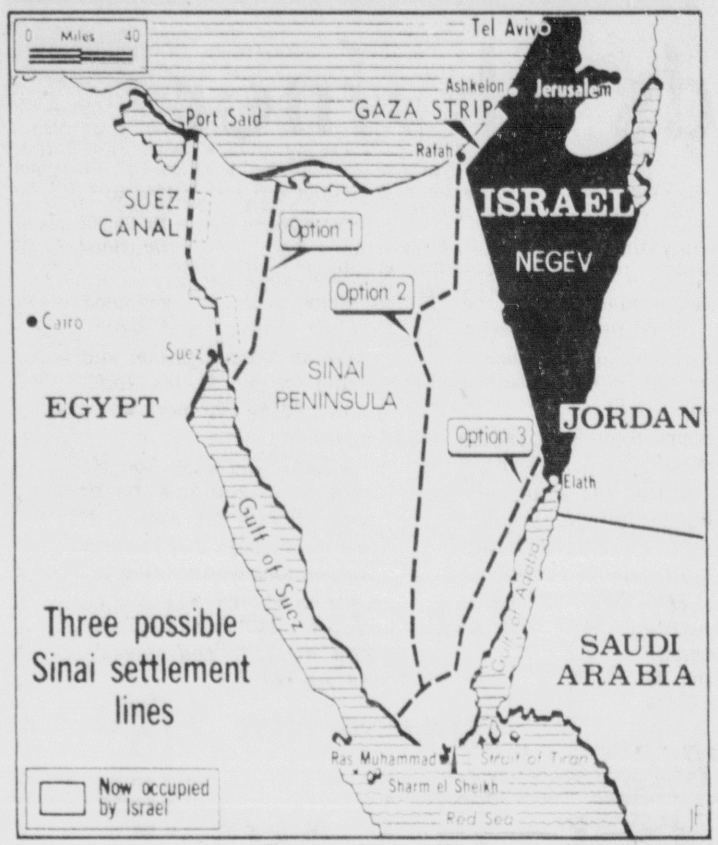
Disposition Of Sinai Seen Key Mideast Peace Issue



(Christian Science Monitor map by Joan Forbes)

By EDWARD SCHUMACHER
The Christian Science Monitor
News Service

If substantive negotiations for a permanent settlement in the Mideast begin, as predicted, this month, a major issue dividing Israel and Egypt will be disposition of the Sinai.

The pressing Egyptian objective in this latest war was to regain the Sinai, under occupation by Israel since 1967.

The costly Israeli counterattacks and seizure of Egyptian territory west of the Suez Canal reflect the equally strong Israeli intent to hold the Sinai, if not for strategic depth, then as a bargaining chip.

The plight of the Palestinians also divides the two countries, but it is an issue shared by all the Mideast nations. Egypt has said repeatedly it is not the spokesman for the Palestinians, though it demands "restoration of the rights of the Palestinian people," a vague position that most observers agree reflects considerable negotiating flexibility.

Any agreement will depend on a number of factors, not the least of which are psychological, considering 25 years of mutual distrust, fear, and hatred. Beyond being catalysts, the patron superpowers, the United States and the Soviet Union, probably will have marginal influence.

If agreement on the Sinai can be reached, then Israel and Egypt will have gone a long way toward establishing peace.

Officially, the Egyptians demand return of the entire Sinai and the Gaza Strip.

The Israelis demand newly negotiated boundaries.

Officaal statements usually are initial negotiating positions subject to compromise, and the positions of both sides are subject to internal politics.

Israel has never formally outlined proposed new boundaries, but in several statements Prime Minister Golda Meir has supported a plan in which a slice of the Sinai with a geographically secure boundary stretching from Israel proper to Sharm el Sheikh, the strategic area overlooking the Strait of Tiran, would remain in Israeli hands.

The size of the slice would be negotiated, but Gaza would not be returned to Egypt and the Sinai would be demilitarized. According to most polls, returning most of the Sinai enjoyed majority public support in Israel.

The Meir position is based on two Israeli demands: guaranteed access through the Strait of Tiran to the vital port of Elath, and a geographically secure boundary.

The port is Israel's outlet for the rapidly developing Negev, its water link to Asia and Africa, a growing tourist and industrial center, and the starting point for two oil pipelines to Ashkelon on the Mediterranean.

The Israeli withdrawal after capturing the Sinai in 1956 is a precedent for what Israeli planners consider geographically defensible lines. In general there are three options (see map):

Option 1: To back off the Suez Canal, possibly keeping strategic passes and crossroads, but allowing the canal to reopen.

Option 2: To cut the length of the Sinai peninsula with a line that begins near Ras Muhammad on the Red Sea and runs along the ridge spine of the Sinai Mountains and through the wadis (which make excellent tank traps) to a point on the Mediterranean south of Rafah, where a huge Israeli agricultural settlement has been established.

Option 3: To slice a strip along the Gulf of Aqaba that would include Sharm el Sheikh, the newly constructed road from Elath, and a widened neck at Elath.

Many military analysts and Mideast experts conclude that prior to the October war the Israelis would have demanded a variant of the second option, a line that would cut the length of the Sinai but possibly wing close to and enclose most of the strategic road that runs parallel to the Israeli boundary line.

But by all accounts, the October Arab attack has shifted Israeli public opinion to a more hawkish stance, demanding not just geographically secure boundaries, but also the strategic depth of a buffer zone. This attidue could lead to Israeli reluctance to relinquish much, if any, of the Sinai.

With elections scheduled Dec. 31, the political position of a new right-wing opposition alliance, the Likud, led by Menahem Begin and his policy of returning "not one inch," appears enhanced.

It would seem to Israel's advantage to conclude an agreement while she still has military and political leverage, including the support of the United States, and an apparent desire by at least Egypt to conclude a peace agreement.

Hike In Natural Gas Rate Granted PG&E

SAN FRANCISCO (AP) — Customers of Pacific Gas & Electric Co. will pay about 30 cents more a month for natural gas to offset a new $28.8 million annual increase in the cost of gas from California and Canadian producers.

The state Public Utilities Commission granted the increase yesterday, effective as soon as the firm files new rate schedules. It will effect customers from the Oregon border to the Tehachapi Mountains.

So far this year, the commission has granted PG&E natural gas rate increases totaling some $109.5 million, equal to about a $1.35 per month hike for the typical customer.

The decision was a final action in a proceeding which began last February when PG&E filed for $46.8 million in increases to offset hikes in the price of gas from Canadian and California fields. Of this total, $19.4 million was for California gas and $27.4 million for imported gas.

On July 10, the commission granted an interim increase of $17.9 million to partially offset the Canadian boost. At the time, it said the California rate request and part of the Canadian request were subject to the price freeze.

After the freeze ended, new hearings were held in September on that part of the rate application which had not been allowed.

The commission said its final decision will supercede the interim increase which will be canceled when the new rates go into effect.

The decision said the commission is required to authorize PG&E to pass on to customers cost increases ordered by a foreign government and that it found the new price levels of California gas "are not in excess of fair market value and are not unreasonable."

Service Station Squeeze Predicted

ORLANDO, Fla. (UPI) — A gasoline retailers association yesterday predicted that the federal gasoline allotments could squeeze more than 1,000 small service stations out of business in the next three months.

William Tucker, executive director of the Allied Gasoline Retailers Association of Florida, said the economic reasons, energy crisis and price controls would prove crucial to many dealers in the near future.

Giants Boosters Welcome Michaels

Baseball might be on the downswing in the Bay Area, but don't tell that to the 185 Northern California Giants Boosters who crowded into Rubini's restaurant in Fairfax last night to welcome new announcer Al Michaels to the Giants' radio booth.

While A's owner Charles Finley and Giants boss Horace Stoneham are finding it difficult to lure the fans to their playgrounds, the boosters, rabid Giants fans that they are, give you the impression that baseball's the best thing going around the Bay. It's a very exuberant bunch.

MICHAEL, DARK-HAIRED and handsome, has a very enthusiastic voice and I think he will go over very well with the Giants fans who carry those little transistor radios around with them. He went over very well with the Giant Boosters last night and he said just the right things. Such as:

"When I told Sparky Anderson (Reds manager) I was going to San Francisco he told me he felt the Giants were a better ball club than Houston or the Dodgers, and that the Giants will be the team the Reds will have to beat."

Michaels confided that he grew up in Brooklyn before the Dodgers came west. "If I went back to the old neighborhood and they found out I was the broadcaster for the Giants they would lynch me," he laughed.

HE ALSO SAID he would be meeting Art Eckman, the No. 2 man of the Giants' KSFO broadcasting team, for the first time next week. Eckman is currently the radio man for the Houston Rockets of the National Basketball Association.

Michaels will be replacing Lon Simmons who has been a Giants broadcaster since the team's move from New York to San Francisco in 1958. Lon was No. 2 man to Russ Hodges until Hodges' death in 1971. Simmons made famous that expression, "That's right, Lon," by asking post-game questions so detailed and lengthy the player could do nothing but agree. I hope Michaels and Eckman don't fall into that trap. That's right, Al.

Also at the dinner last night was Michaels' new boss, Herb Briggin of Belvedere, vice president and general manager of KSFO. From the Giants there were coach John McNamara, pitcher Ron Bryant and outfielder Jim Howarth, along with former pitcher Mike McCormick. Another guest was the Bay Area's prettiest sports reporter, Channel 7's Barbara Hunter (pardon me for my chauvinism, but I must tell it like it is) of Mill Valley.

BRYANT, 24-game winner for the Giants last year and the winningest pitcher in the National League, didn't bring his teddy bear which has become famous throughout the country since it started sitting on the bench every game Ron pitches. He said it was in hibernation but would be up and around when the season starts.

Howarth got most of the laughs as he proved to be a very funny young man. A reserve player, Howarth commented on the team's depth by saying, "We have a strong bench. I ought to know because I sit on it every day." Looking out at the crowd of boosters, he said, "I see every game. The only difference between you and me is I don't pay."

In the wings was Giants Boosters president Allan Murray who would rather be in the background than in front of the microphone, although he's president, secretary, treasurer and chief bottle washer of the club. Come to think of it, I don't think Murray even sat down to dinner.

Pistons Knock Warriors Out Of 1st Place

OAKLAND (UPI) — The Golden State Warriors' stay in the top spot of the National Basketball Association's Pacific Division was a short one.

When Los Angeles lost to tough Detroit Sunday, the injury-ridden Warriors sneaked into first. But last night, Detroit took a 112-93 win over cold Golden State while the Lakers won to drop the Warriors out of first again.

The Warriors fought a bit harder against Detroit than the score indicated. Trailing by as much as 22 points in the second quarter, Golden State battled back with Cazzie Russell leading the way to cut the margin to 86-84 midway through the final period.

But Detroit backcourtmen Dave Bing and John Mengelt got hot and the Pistons pulled ahead.

Russell had 24 points for the Warriors and Bing 27 and Mengelt 21 for the Pistons. Nate Thurmond grabbed 19 Warrior rebounds and Bob Lanier 16 for Detroit.

Coach Al Attles said after the contest that "it was one of those nights when we were flat from the beginning. We made a good run at it and then we missed a couple of shots and fell flat again."

He said "we had four or five guys hanging their heads down because they weren't hitting. When that happens you just have to play tough in the other parts of the game."

The Warriors, now 14-8, call on Phoenix tonight in a game that will be televised back to the Bay Area.

TOP POST FOR 49ER AIDE

Texas Christian Lands Shofner

FORT WORTH, Tex. (UPI) — Jim Shofner, a Fort Worth native who moved up through the football ranks to an assistant coaching position with the National Football League San Francisco 49ers, today was named head coach at Texas Christian University, replacing Billy Tohill.

Shofner, 38, will take over his new duties following the 49ers' final game Dec. 15 against Pittsburgh. Shofner handles the 49er offense.

Tohill was fired three weeks ago. He had been named head coach during the 1971 season when his predecessor, Jim Pittman, suffered a fatal heart seizure during a game.

Tohill, nearly killed March 14 in a traffic wreck, coached TCU to a 3-8 season mark and a 1-6 conference record this season. During his two years, the Horned Frogs were 11-15.

"TCU has a good setup, a lot better than when I was there before (as a student)", Shofner said in San Francisco. "I like the school, what it stands for and the campus."

Shofner grew up in Fort Worth, attending North Side High School before a fine career as a running back for the Horned Frogs. He was named to the all-Southwest Conference team in 1957 after leading the league in rushing, punt returns and kickoff returns.

He was a first-round draft choice of the Cleveland Browns. He played for the Browns for six years in the defensive backfield. He retired as an active player in 1963.

Shofner began his coaching career at TCU. He coached the school's defensive back during the 1965-66 season, and then went into the professional ranks.

Shofner this year will complete his seventh season as an assistant coach with the 49ers.

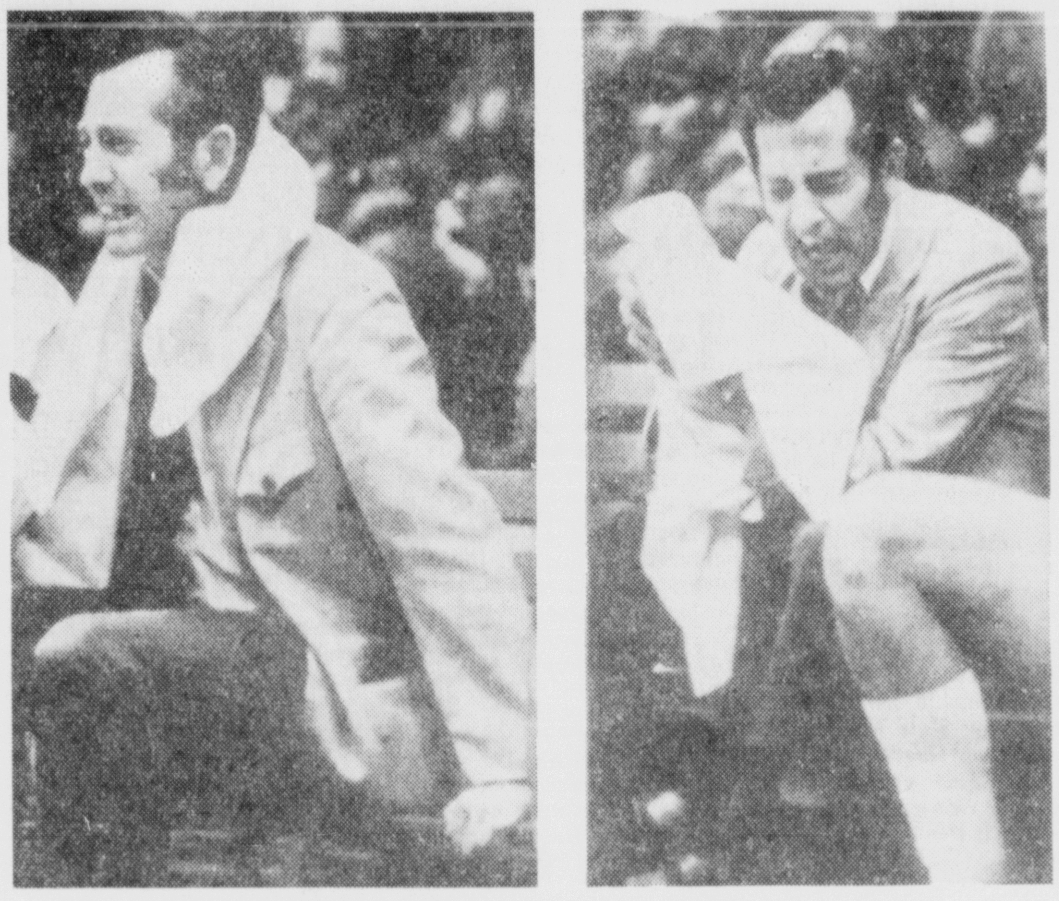
"In the choice of Jim Shofner," TCU Chancellor J.M. Moudy said, "TCU applied the criteria of experience and reputation—experience in the most advanced forms of football, and reputation as a poised exemplar. He will do well and fit well."

Sources in Fort Worth said one of the problems Tohill faced was his style, which included chewing tobacco and lacing his conversation with country slang. School officials had said that Tohill did not get along well with the school's alumni.

Dr. W. Earl Waldrop, who headed the committee to find a new coach, said most candidates had the qualifcations the school wanted.

"One man however stood tall in all of these and seemed to have an extra plus that kept his name rising to the top," he said. "Jim Shofner was that man."

Athletic Director Abe Martin said he "couldn't be more pleased with the choice. He is one of our boys that has made a tremendous contribution to football in college and pro ranks. We were looking for a real man first and a coach second, but we got both."



A SAD NIGHT OF BASKET-BAWL

University of California at Davis basketball coach Bob Hamilton Monday night expressed heavy emotions when his Aggies were losing, 97-53, to the host University of Wisconsin at Madison. With towel across the back of his neck (left), he watched uneasily before he lost control and began crying in his towel (right).

Marin Tars Repel Napa '5'

By LEW CODDINGTON

Opposing basketball teams usually don't come back after College of Marin puts them away with one of its scoring blitzes, but Napa College proved an annoying exception last night, forcing the Tars to labor for a 76-60 victory.

Marin had the game safely tucked away early in the secand half, 50-21, but nine minutes later the lead was down to 50-43 and the Tars were reinserting starters in order to reassert their supremacy.

Forward Wil Garner finished the night with 26 points and guard Len Smith had 13. Guard Hoza Wright, who did not start but played most of the way, scored 12.

"We need to get our offense going," said coach John Panagakis after the victory, the fifth for his undefeated team, which was witnessed by about 700 fans in Kentfield.

Beforehand, Panagakis seemed happy to play the lightly-regarded Chiefs. "We need this one right now so everyone can play," he said.

The substitution began early, and only one starter (Garner) was on the floor when the Tars ran their 27-21 lead all the way to 48-21 at halftime by making nine straight shots and forcing Napa to miss 10 straight.

Wright, Jared McFerrin, John Peloza and Guy Perry were the other members of the quintet. Garner had eight points and Peloza five during the streak.

Panagakis made further substitutions early in the second half. At the same time, Napa's

3 Teams Win With Defense

Novato, San Rafael and Terra Linda high schools presented their opponents with forests of upraised arms yesterday as they captured non-league basketball victories with superior defensive play.

Novato defeated visiting Santa Rosa, 54-46; San Rafael whipped host Sonoma, 69-42; and Terra Linda topped visiting Salesian of Richmond, 65-50. Yesterday's other game saw Marin Catholic beaten by visiting Bishop O'Dowd of Oakland, 83-67.

"It was great team defense — everyone played well," exclaimed coach Jim Caranica as Novato (2-0) held Santa Rosa to 13 points in the second half to erase a 10-point halftime deficit.

After Santa Rosa blitzed Novato for 11 of 15 shots in the second quarter (seven of seven by Rich Pierce), Caranica made "some minor adjustments" in the man-on-man defense, and later switched to a zone for the last five minutes.

Willie Barnes, Curtis Saine, Dave Brazell, Mike Moroski and Tim Jordan drew Caranica's praise for defensive play. Barnes and Saine scored 14 points each and Brazell and Moroski 10 apiece.

"I don't think we'll see better man-to-man (offensive) stuff than Santa Rosa runs," said Caranica, "but the kids stayed with it and came back."

San Rafael (1-2) captured its first victory by outscoring Sonoma 21-3 in the fourth quarter. The Bulldogs gave their foes only four of 19 shots in the second half and 10 of 43 for the game, while shooting 50 per cent (32 of 64) on their own.

Byron Stewart scored 19 points in the first half and finished with 23, while Steve D'Ambra added 13 and Mike Ellingson and Arthur Brooks 10 each.

Terra Linda (2-1), with no starter above 6-foot-3, allowed only 50 points to a much taller Salesian team which made the Tournament of Champions last year. "It was good defense," said first-year coach Fred Arnold, who won his home debut.

Doug Carlisle scored 19 points, Dan Kiernan 17 (including seven of seven from the line) and Jim Cronin 10.

Marin Catholic (1-2) made only eight of 39 shots in the first half as Bishop O'Dowd shot out to a 39-19 lead. "We were missing layups and shots we don't normally miss," said coach Dave Gonsalves.

The Wildcats made 19 of 32 shots after intermission and Terry Ahern finished with 16 points and Mike Mahoney with 15 against undefeated O'Dowd (4-0).

WILLIAMS, HOUK, PADRES

After Santo Trade Blocked, Moguls To Face Other Issues

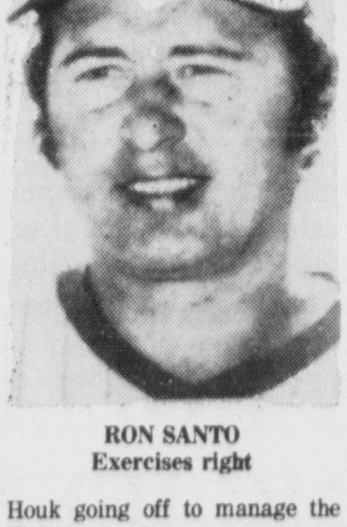
HOUSTON (UPI) — Having tried to change the home of Ron Santo and failed, baseball's officialdom today gets down to the business of settling the addresses of a couple of managers and one entire team.

Santo, the 33-year-old Chicago Cubs' third baseman, yesterday became the first player to take advantage of a recently implemented contract clause which allows a veteran player to approve any trade that would shuffle him off to another city. The Cubs tried to deal Santo to the California Angels.

Such a trade could conceivably still take place, but while the Cubs are trying to coax Santo around to their way of thinking, baseball's winter meetings will reach the stage where high powered decisions must be made.

Discussions begin today at baseball's highest levels in Oakland owner Charles O. Finley's attempt to obtain compensation from the New York Yankees for Finley's former manager—Dick Williams -moving to the New York Yankees.

Finley, who delayed his arrival at the meeting until the eve of his confrontation, has threatened legal action if he is not compensated for Williams' departure. And if Finley is compensated the Yankees will probably want something from Detroit in return for Ralph Houk going off to manage the Tigers.



RON SANTO
Exercises right

While Finley is arguing his case with American League officials, National League owners take up the question of who will own the San Diego franchise next season and where the club will play.

Two five-man trades took place yesterday, making six deals involving 20 players transacted in two days.

Pittsburgh gave up righthanded hurler Nelson Briles and infielder Fernando Gonzalez to pitcher-hungry Kansas City in return for utility man Ed Kirkpatrick, infielder Kurt Bevacqua and young first baseman Winston Cole.

The other swap saw Cincinnati send lefthanded pitcher Ross Grimsly and catcher Wally Williams to Baltimore for veteran outfielder Merv Rettenmund and two minor leaguers— shortstop Junior Kennedy and catcher Bill Wood.

But it was Santo and his reluctance to leave the Cubs that highlighted the day.

The Cubs, having acquired a youngster from the Texas Rangers they think can play third base for them—Bill Madlock—were known to be trying to peddle Santo. One trade was worked out with the California Angels, but Santo balked.

In the midst of the trades and the announcement of Santo's decision, baseball's winter meetings also had a group of visitors for New Orleans.

Members of the Superdome Commission, with executive director Ben Levy at the head, met with the executive committee yesterday and told the members that if New Orleans had not received a promise of a new franchise by next April then the $163 million enclosed stadium would not be available for baseball.

After hearings the Superdome officials strong-armed play, the committee member said they could promise New Orleans nothing.

NBA ROUNDUP

West Reaches Point Plateau

By U.P. INTERNATIONAL

Jerry West has had his nose to the grindstone so long that it has been broken 10 times during a 14-year pro basketball career. So have a lot of opposition hearts.

A one-time West Virginia University star who came to the Lakers for a modest bonus and turned into one of the highest priced players in the National Basketball Association, West reached a personal milestone Tuesday night when he scored the 25,000th point of his career as Los Angeles beat the Phoenix Suns, 120-103.

During his career, West helped guide the Lakers to one league title, 1972, and played on the losing Los Angeles teams in a host of playoff finals with the Boston Celtics.

The 35-year-old West scored 26 points against the Suns to become only the third man in NBA history to reach 25,000 points. He joined former Laker Wilt Chamberlain and Oscar Robinson of Milwaukee in the select circle.

West hit on an 18-footer with 52 seconds remaining and received a standing ovation when it was announced he had ascended to the coveted plateau. He was awarded the game ball.

One of the top playmakers in the NBA, West added 14 assists and five steals to move Los Angeles back into first place in the Pacific Division.

In other NBA action, Chicago beat Seattle, 130-107; Milwaukee stomped Houston, 124-109; New York defated Portland, 113-100, and Detroit surprised Golden State, 112-93.

Coach Dick Motta almost cleared his Chicago Bulls bench as all but one of the 12-man roster participated in the club's highest scoring game of the season. Norm Van Lier and Bob Love paced the Bulls scoring with 27 points each and the only Chicago player who didn't score was the third center to get into the game, Tom Boerwinkle. Fred Brown led the Sonics with 24 points and Spencer Haywood had 23 as Seattle lost for the 20th time in 29 games.

Kareem Abdul-Jabbar and Bob Dandridge combined for 60 points to lead Milwaukee past Houston. Abdul-Jabbar, playing with a mild case of the flu, scored 32 points and Dandridge had 28. Rudy Tomjanovich scored 34 points to lead Houston.

Walt Frazier scored 15 points in the third quarter including three straight baskets as New York Knicks beat Portland. Phil Jackson had his second straight 20-plus game with 26 points, while Frazier scored 27, one less than Geoff Petrie's game-high 28 for Portland.

NHL ROUNDUP

St. Louis Rookies Shine On, Off Ice

By U.P. INTERNATIONAL

St. Louis rookie Gordie Brooks took a pass from rookie Bob Collyard on the ice and scored the game-winner. In the locker room, Collyard took a pass from Brooks.

"I haven't scored yet," Collyard said after listening to Brooks field questions from reporters, "but if I can get as excited as Brooksie, it will be alright."

"It's the big thrill of my life," Brooks was saying. "I'm only 21 and it's only my second game. I played five games two years ago but got nowhere. Collyard and I were just called up from Denver and we hope to stay."

If the pair keeps skating as they did last night in leading the Blues to a 3-1 victory over the New York Islanders, Brooks and Collyard should have no worries about staying in the National Hockey League.

Brooks scored the gamewinner at 9:09 of the second period being fed in the slot by Collyard. At 13:23 of the final period, Collyard took a Barclay Plager advance, skated over the blue line and fed Brooks, streaking in on the right wing. Brooks drilled his second goal into the upper right-hand corner behind Islanders' netminder Billy Smith.

The Islanders opened the scoring at 3:35 of the first period with Andre St. Laurent scoring on a 45-footer with help from Jean Potvin. The Blues tied the score on a power play 2:20 later with Don Awrey firing a 55-footer from the point.

In the only other NHL game last night, the Los Angeles Kings survived a last second Vancouver rally to post a 3-2 victory over the Canucks.

With the Kings leading 3-2, Vancouver's Jerry Korab apparently scored from the blue line with six seconds left on the clock but referee David Newell disallowed the goal and Los Angeles posted their first win since Nov. 8. They had lost eight games and tied two.

The Canucks remain in the cellar of the East Division, winless in their last 11 games. They've lost eight and tied three since a victory back on Nov. 6.

Vancouver's goals, both in the second period, were scored by Don Leaver and Brian McSheffrie.

Board Mulls Ban Of Girl Hockey Player

RICHFIELD, Minn. (AP) — Finnegan (Finny) Johnston practices hockey three times a week at 6 a.m. with the West Junior High School team in Richfield.

But the 14-year-old girl is not sure she will be able to play with the team when it opens its schedule Jan. 8.

The Richfield School Board is considering a policy that would prohibit her from playing on the team, although it has tabled a decision until the Minnesota State High School League clarifies its policy on girls' participation.

The league, which supervises school extra-curricular activities, lifted its ban last year on preventing girls from playing on boys' teams. However, the league says individual districts may adopt their own ban. But Finny still wants to play hockey.

"I tried to get her interested in figure skating but she didn't like it," said Jerrine Johnston, her mother. "She'd rather play hockey. She's exceptionally strong, so we don't worry about her getting hurt."

Jeff Elvasky, her coach, said Finny's athletic abilities are far better than those of most girls her age. He said boy members of the team have accepted her on ability.

"She can help the team," said Elvasky.

Oates, Anthony Lead First American '5'

Rod Oates scored 22 points and Mike Anthony added 18 last night as First American Title rolled to a 60-36 victory over Little Store in a San Rafael Recreation Department adult basketball league game last night at Davidson Junior High.

Tim Stone tossed in 17 points as Suburban Auto defeated the San Rafael Ward Saints, 57-36, and The Seasons topped Fourth and D Copy Center, 55-41, in other contests.

Marin Booters In Semi-Finals

The Kentfield Kickers youth soccer team was scheduled to meet the Santa Rosa Spartans today at 5 p.m. at Benicia Park in Rohnert Park in the semi-finals of the North Bay Youth Soccer League under-10 championships.

The winner will advance to the finals Saturday at 11 a.m. at Recreation Park in Healdsburg against the Santa Rosa Santos.

Another Marin team, a Greenbrae contingent in the under-12 division, has already made the finals and will face Santa Rosa at 1 p.m. Saturday in Healdsburg for the title.

USF Can Regain Its Lofty Status

SAN FRANCISCO (UPI) — University of San Francisco, which hurt its lofty standing in national cage rankings by losing to Stanford, may get it all back with a win in its next game Friday.

That's when the Dons host red-hot Long Beach State, the team it upset in last year's National Collegiate Athletic Association regional semifinals.

But something new has been added to the 49er lineup and that is what especially worries Dons coach Bob Gaillard.

He told the Northern California basketball writers yesterday that Clifton Pondexter, whose big brother Roscoe is also a star for the 49ers, "is one of the two or best three freshmen in the country."

"He got 37 points over Leonard Gray (a 6-8, 240-pound returning starter) in an intrasquader."

Gaillard said that the outcome of Monday's 63-61 loss to Stanford "doesn't really surprise me. I've said all along Stanford is one of the best teams in the country. They definitely deserved to win; we didn't shoot well but that was at least partly because a lot of big guys who kept getting in our way."

Stanford was upset in its opener by Nevada Reno and coach Howie Dallmar lamented "there's no way we should have been looking past that game."

But there are a lot of other strong teams in the Bay Area.

San Jose State won two and coach Ivan Guevara said "we haven't done anything right. The only reason I can give for winning is that our guys played hard and the opponents had a lot of turnovers."

California won its opener but learns tonight if they can handle the Giants when they go into the pit at nationally fourth ranked North Carolina.

St. Mary's coach Frank LaPorte said that big Craig Casault was the difference in the Gaels' opening win over Hayward State. Casault had 17 points, 19 rebounds and six blocks.

Remel Diggs got 39 points and 27 rebounds in two Bronc wins to take area Player of the Week honors in the university division.

Some Road Tests For West Teams

By U.P. INTERNATIONAL

They say the champs in basketball are the teams that can win games on the road, and several West Coast quintets test their mettle in contests far from home tonight.

The University of California plays at nationally fourth-ranked North Carolina while Long Beach State, rated 12th, is on trial at Colorado. Oregon State is at Cincinnati and UC Davis calls on 15th-ranked Memphis State.

Tough Pacific flattened San Francisco State 99-75 as Leonard Armate added 11 assists to his 17 points. Jim Slater of the losers had a game high 23 points.

In other action, St. Mary's took Mexican champion University of Americas 129-119 in the best showing of a three-game Coast swing by the visitors from across the border. Mike Rozenski led the Gaels with 40 points.

Santo's Decision Is 'A Mistake'

By MILTON RICHMAN
UPI Sports Editor

HOUSTON (UPI) — I understand Ron Santo's position perfectly... and still think he may be making a mistake.

He didn't exactly go into dead shock when his telephone rang 2 o'clock yesterday afternoon in Chicago and it was John Holland, the Cubs' general manager, on the other end of the line asking him, according to terms of baseball's new 10- and-5 rule, whether he'd accept a trade sending him to the California Angels.

Ron Santo had read all about how he might be traded somewhere.

He had seen where the Cubs had peddled, first Ferguson Jenkins, then Glenn Beckert and readily imagined how he easily could be next.

He also knew he had an ace in the hole, though.

He knew he didn't have to hold still for any trade because under a rule put into the books this year any player with 10 years service in the majors and five with the same club could exercise his prerogative of saying no to being traded anywhere.

Ron Santo made it clear to John Holland he didn't wish to be traded. Quite clear.

"Do you have any special preference?" Holland asked, "Any one club you'd like to be with?"

"Yes," said Santo, "The Cubs".

Ron Santo's position is understandable enough when you look at it the way he does, which is the way most ballplayers do.

Few really enjoy being traded.

It means beginning a brand new adventure in an entirely different city, sometimes in a new league as would be the case if Santo accepted the switch, leaving old friends behind, having to make new ones and frequently disrupting a long-standing routine of offthe-field family life.

Santo has been with the Cubs 14 years, virtually all his baseball life. He has never played with any other major league club and with Ernie Banks' departure, he, more than anybody else, became Mr. Cub.

He'll be 34 in February, and the older you ge, the less you're inclined to change your habits or surroundings. Santo has business interests in the Chicago area and a couple of kids going to school there.

So when John Holland called, it was rather natural Santo would feel hurt and disappointed at the news and that his first impulse would be no, no I won't go.

But Ron Santo should sit down awhile and think a few things out. For example:

1. If he persists in staying, he'll be working for people who already have shown they are looking to trade him.

2. He would, if he said yes, have an opportunity to start a new career in a new city.

3. He would also be going to a league where he wouldn't have to play on astroturf except in Chicago.

4. He would be going to a city where instead of having to play in the heat of the day, he could play in the cool of the evening and possibly prolong his career.

5. Santo draws $110,000 now with the Cubs. If he stays, they'll probably cut him; if he went to the Angels they'd undoubtedly sweeten the pot a little.

The most important thing of all Ron Santo should think about is that he would be going to a club which WANTS him. That should mean more than anything else in the world to him if he still feels the same way he did about baseball when he first began playing it. Actually, that's the only way to enjoy playing the game.

I don't think the Santo deal is dead.

Maybe, in a couple of days, Harry Dalton, the Angels' fine vice president and general manager, will ask the Cubs for permission to talk with Santo and the Cubs will give it to him. There's no question Dalton prizes Santo and would do everything he could to make him feel welcome in Anaheim.

"I'm very disappointed because Ron Santo is an outstanding ballplayer," said Dalton, after learning the Cubs' third baseman had elected not to come to California. "I feel certain he'd be happy playing in Anaheim as Frank Robinson, Nolan Ryan and Bill Singer are after having been traded to our ball club."

Ron Santo ought to think it over.

There's nothing like staying where you're no longer wanted. Nor going someplace where they want you so badly.

Proell Is Skiing Favorite

VAL D'ISERE, France (UPI) — The girls ran their non-stop training today for the first World Cup ski race of the new season Thursday and it was the same old question again—who can beat Austria's Annemarie Proell?

Perhaps Marie Therese Nadig of Switzerland, the Olympic downhill champion, who looked good in practice on the 2,150-meter long track dropping 55 meters down the Daille mountain.

Or perhaps the French stars, Jacqueline Rouvier and Michele Jaccot.

"But to me it looks like the same old thing: Annemarie and the other Austrian girls," conceded French trainer Gaston Perrot.

Miss Proell, 24, married in the summer to the top salesmen for the skis she uses, has won the downhill races here the past three seasons running. She also scored a hat trick in taking the overall World Cup.

"It feels very good again this year and I'm determined to take the title at the World Championships in St. Moritz (in February)," Annemarie said.

The girls said today that the track is somewhat faster than before despite warm sunshine. It is still 20 below freezing at night and the morning sun heats up the track just enough to form a looser surface, making for faster gliding.

"The track is in excellent condition and is not too hard except for some sharp turns at the top where I made mistakes today," commented Marilyn Cochran, 23, from Richmond, Vt., and the top hope of American trainer Tom Kelly.

The downhill tomorrow is followed Friday by the girls special slalom and the first leg of the men's giant slalom.

The men race the second leg of their giant slalom on Saturday, and on Sunday the Val d'Isere meet closes with the men's downhill. And that should be a Swiss affair with Bernard Russi and Roland Collombin heavy favorites.

Terra Linda Wins

Barry Carr scored 26 points and grabbed 15 rebounds yesterday as Terra Linda High School defeated visiting Salesian of Richmond, 79-44, in a non-league junior varsity basketball game.

FRANCE BANS EVENTS

Energy Squeeze Hits Auto Racing

GENEVA (UPI) — The energy squeeze may bring auto racing in Europe to a standstill next year. France has already banned all races and other governments are considering following that lead if necessary.

The International Automobile Federation (FIA) has begun urgent talks with race organizers, manufacturers and drivers to impose some selfcontrol over next years events before governments do it for them.

"We are having preliminary meetings to set up an international committee of organizers, builders and drivers to study the situation," said FIA spokesman Claude Le Guezec in Paris. "We are also studying direct action following the government decision to ban races in France."

Le Guezec said the FIA was "astonished" at the French government decision which came "eight days after ministers assured us there was no danger of cancelling races, including the Monte Carlo Rally."

The ban spurred the FIA into action, but Le Guezec said no special effort was being made to save the formula one circuit rather than other less prestigious races.

The auto racing industry both in Europe and the United States has been quick to point out that it accounts for less than one per cent of gasoline consumption. The real problem is that the use of gasoline in racing is so ostentatious when speeds are being curbed and gasoline rationed in some countries.

Jackie Stewart, who two months ago retired from racing after winning the World Drivers Championship for the third time, believes it is up to the industry to control itself.

"Motor racing is large enough to be classified as an industry and it should not be treated any differently from any other industry when it comes to cutting back fuel supplies," said Stewart.

"Motor racing is a necessary part of modern automobile engineering and few people really realize what research into fuel economy has been done by formula one engineers, for example," said Stewart.

What plans the FIA intends to take will not be known for several weeks after all sides of the industry have been consulted.

Le Guezec said the FIA wanted racing to be treated as any other sport.

"A formula race uses up only 1,500 gallons of fuel. Spectators use up about 40,000 gallons to get to the race but then one should also cancel soccer, rugby matches and horse racing for the same reason," said Le Guezec.

Napa made eight of 12 free throws in the first nine minues of the second half during its 22-point streak. Nelson scored eight points in the skein and 25 for the night.

About six minutes into the period, Marin's Harry Norman was involved in a brief fight with Napa's Tom Warrington, and was assessed a personal foul (his fifth) and a technical, but Napa missed all four free throws.

"No. 44 from Napa (Warrington) gave Harry three elbows, and Harry lost his cool," said Panagakis. "I had a talk with him afterward. I told him 'Now everybody thinks it was your fault.' It wasn't necessary — there are ways to get back by playing tough basketball."

Georgia Tech Football Coach Fulcher Resigns

ATLANTA (UPI) — Bill Fulcher today resigned as head football coach at Georgia Tech because he said "it is no longer as enjoyable for me to coach football as it once was."

Fulcher, 39, coached Georgia Tech for two seasons. His first team posted a 7-4-1 record, including a Liberty Bowl victory over Iowa State, and his second was 5-6.

He resigned for personal reasons and Georgia Tech athletic director Bobby Dodd said there was no pressure on Fulcher to quit.

Brewers' Lane Joins Rangers

HOUSTON (UPI) — Frank Lane, vice-president and super-scout for the Milwaukee Brewers, has resigned his post effective Dec. 31, to join the Texas Rangers in a front-office role.

The announcement was made jointly by Brewers president Allan (Bud) Selig and Rangers president Bob Short.

Lane, who has served as general manager for five clubs, came to Milwaukee in that capacity in 1971 from Baltimore where he had scouted several years. He was succeeded as Brewers general manager by Jim Wilson after the 1972 season but continued on as vice-president and super-scout. Previously Lane also was general manager for the Kansas City Athletics, Cleveland Indians, St. Louis Cardinals and Chicago White Sox.

Celebrated as one of the most active traders in the game, Lane engineered the biggest swap in Brewers history during the 1971 World Series when he completed a 10-player deal with the Boston Red Sox, which brought George Scott and Jim Lonborg, among others, to Milwaukee.

"I want to take this opportunity to thank Frank Lane for the tremendous years of service to the Brewers and his endeavors are certainly responsible for the success of the Brewers this past season," said Selig. "His dedication for his job will forever remain an inspiration for all of us."

Short said he was "delighted" to have a man of Lane's experience and felt his addition would help the club appreciably. The Rangers owner said Lane's title would be decided later.

BOATING

By STAN DAVIES

Fiber Glass Finish Needs Preserving

Many boat buyers firmly believe that when they acquire one of these gleaming fiberglass-reinforced plastic boats that the hull "never needs any maintenance."

This idea is probably one that the salesman planted subtly in their minds when they made the purchase.

But fiberglass or plastic boats certainly do need a little care.

Also the hot summer sun does produce some fading in the pigments used in the resins. So even if the boat requires no maintenance as such, a certain amount of "grooming" is required to keep it looking at its best.

If you have a rotary hand polisher or an electric drill that will take a round polishing head (they are cheap to rent), you can easily restore the attractiveness of a fiberglass hull.

It can be done by hand, but the power tool cuts the work down to a tenth with better results.

First, wash down the hull with hot water and some household detergent. Rinse and dry. Then generously apply your favorite car polish, rubbing it in hard while it's wet.

The polish we refer to is the kind that comes in a can like thick cream, dries to a whitish powder and rubs off leaving a partially waxed surface. This polish has a mild abrasive in it which removes the oxidized surface of the finish.

When it's dry, finish it off with a few strokes of a sheepskin polishing head on your electric drill. It's quite likely the boat will require a second polishing.

If this removal of the dirt film does not bring back the original luster to the boat, it's quite possible that the surface pigment has faded. In such a case you really need the power tool.

Get some auto rubbing compound from a garage supply house and apply it with the polishing head. If you can watch an expert at a local auto body shop working on a car, it will help.

The rubbing compound is wet paste which carries an abrasive. It's a very special kind of abrasive. It cuts quickly at first, but because it's soft, it soon breaks down into a powder. It will cut through the chalky surface film, uncovering the pigment of the boat's origianl color. It will then polish the new surface to a shine.

As the rubbing continues, the compound becomes steadily drier and drier until it finally disappears. Use light pressure on the polishing head and give the compound time to break down and dry out on each small area you tackle.

Follow all the rubbing and polishing jobs with a coat of high grade auto wax. Then use your sheepskin cover on the polishing head to bring it to a gloss.

The upkeep of plastic boats has its problems as these questions demonstrate:

Q. My boat has faded badly this summer, can it be restored?

A. Generally speaking the abrasive auto body rubbing material will remove the faded top layer, and, the original color will be restored. But sometimes the fading has affected the entire pigmented layer. Repainting with epoxy or polyester paint is the only solution.

Q. Can I patch a fiberglass boat and match the original color?

A. Probably not. The patching is not difficult, but it is almost certain you will have to repaint the entire hull.

Q. Does bottom growth harm a slick fiberglass hull?

A. Leaving it on certainly does. After a year or two you will find the area that has been affected by bottom growth is rough and pitted. It adds to the friction and slows the boat down. Get marine growth off the hull as often as possible and as soon as possible whenver the boat is hauled out.

Holiday Basketball Play Set Tomorrow

Although there are still 17 more shopping days until Christmas, four local high schools will be participating in holiday basketball festivals starting tomorrow through Saturday.

Both Rancho Cotate of Rohnert Park and Tomales will be in the St. Helena Invitational. St. Vincent of Petaluma will play in the Anderson Valley Invitational in Boonville and Casa Grande of Petaluma will go to the Cloverdale Tournament. Friday night, Petaluma hosts South San Francisco.

For Rancho Cotate, the St. Helena tourney will be a return to a scene of triumph, as the Cougars won their first tournament championship there last year. They will open tomorrow with El Molino of Forestville at 7:30 p.m.

Tomales, which will be seeking its first win of the year, will make its first appearance at St. Helena. The Braves are scheduled to go against Fort Bragg at 4 p.m. tomorrow. The other teams in the invitational are Justin of Napa, Clear Lake, Lower Lake and host St. Helena.

St. Vincent will be hoping for a better finish at Anderson Valley than last year when they took third place. Aiding them in their quest, the Mustangs received a little help from the scheduling.

The Mustangs will be opening with Geyserville, whom they beat 68-39 in their opener, at 4 p.m. tomorrow. Tourney favorites McKinleyville and South Fork battle each other at 7:30 p.m.

Casa Grande, which has fashioned a respectable 2-1 mark in its first season of varsity play, will be appearing for the first time at Cloverdale.

Sonoma State '5' Gets First Test In Tournament

After easily winning its second straight Coca-Cola Basketball Classic championship last weekend, Sonoma State College will get its first real test this weekend in the Mustang Invitational at Cal Poly, San Luis Obispo.

At the Mustang Invitational last year, the Cossacks suffered their worst defeat of the season, a 25-point loss to host San Luis Obispo. They won their second game to finish in third place.

Sonoma's opening-round opponent Friday night is St. Mary's College, which has been picked to take third place in the West Coast Athletic Conference.

The Gaels from Moraga have a large front line led by 6-foot-8 forwards Herman Brown and Mike Rozenski. Their scoring leader is 6-5 guard Mark Vierra.

The other two teams in the tournament are San Luis Obispo and Azusa Pacific College from Southern California. Azusa-Pacific, led by guard Rick Reed, is favored to take the tourney title.

Title May Be On Line For Raiders, Chiefs

OAKLAND (UPI) — No matter how the early season play goes for both teams, somehow the American Conference West title always gets down to the second Oakland-Kansas City game.

While Denver (6-4-2) remains in the chase, it is still true that the Oakland Raiders (7-4-1) need a win or tie and the Chiefs (6-4-2) a win in their Coliseum struggle Saturday afternoon. The Raiders close out their season against Denver.

"That doesn't change anything," said middle linebacker Dan Conners after the Chiefs had tied and Denver lost Sunday. "We still have to beat both of them."

"We can take care of the Chiefs ourselves this week," said safety George Atkinson, "and then if the Broncos are still there, we'll have to get them, too."

Tackle Art Thoms revealed that nobody will be given game balls after the last two Raider victories.

"We're keeping all of them as team game balls," explained Thoms. "We knew we had to win our last four games to win the division, plus three more in the playoffs.

"We decided to pull together as a team, win them all and not give the balls to any individual."

Fullback Marv Hubbard knows that neither Oakland nor Kansas City has a good enough record to sneak in as a wild card pick.

"The Chiefs know it, too, and they've beaten us once this season. At least we get them at home this time, even though we have to go back to that saturated field."

Seals Are Regaining Their Health

OAKLAND (UPI) — The California Golden Seals are slowly returning to health as they ready for tonight's game with an Atlanta team that is living up to its nickname these days.

The Flames boast an 11-8-5 record with some fiery play after failing to score a victory in their first seven games. The Seals are 6-16-1 but getting some of their best players back in action.

Defenseman Bobby Stewart, out four games with a pulled leg muscle, could play in tonight's 8 o'clock game while Gary Croteau, held to limited activity with a twisted ankle, is almost back to top form.

Of course, the single most important Seal is still sidelined. Veteran Marv Edwards has to man the nets while little goalie Gilles Meloche slowly recovers from a cut hand.

Defenseman Barry Cummins, wearing two black eyes and three stitches, expects to play unless the league should hit him with disciplinary action following the weekend fight with the Philadelphia Flyers.

Casa Grande Cagers Wallop Tomales, 80-52

Casa Grande High School of Petaluma (2-1) scored 14 straight points last night in the first minute and one half, then coasted to an 80-52 non-league basketball victory over host Tomales High School (10-3).

"We really stunk the place out," Braves coach Jim Clahan commented later. "They were really hot and tore us up."

The Gauchos used their 14-point socring spree to build up a 29-13 first-quarter lead, which was extended to 21 points at half-time. The second half was a little closer, with the Braves being outscored 1-24.

Casa Grande was led by Larry Thomas, who scored 21 points, and Tom Davini, who added 20. Mark Fitzgerald tallied 15 to pace Tomales.

FRANK LEAHY ENDED HIS GRIDIRON COACHING CAREER AT NOTRE DAME WITH HIS 87TH VICTORY. JOHNNY LATTNER AND NEIL WORDEN SCORED FIVE TOUCHDOWNS IN A 40-14 ROUT OF SOUTHERN METHODIST AS THE FIGHTING IRISH CLOSED UNBEATEN.

Spurrier To Start For 49ers

SAN FRANCISCO (UPI) — Steve Spurrier will start at quarterback Sunday for San Francisco when the 49ers call on New Orleans.

It was in the two teams' first meeting this season that Spurrier had a season low-point. He could not move the team and gave way to John Brodie, who promptly led the 49ers to a 40-0 triumph.

Spurrier has come back, however, and was sharp in the 49ers' 38-28 win over Philadelphia last Sunday. He would seem to be ahead of Joe Reed in their battle for the starting quarterback berth after Brodie retires at the end of this season.

"Gene (Washington) got hurt in the first quarter, and we hadn't got things going yet," Spurrier said of the first Saints game. "Then John came in and hit Danny (Abramowicz) with a little out (pass) and he went all the way. That opened things up."

Spurrier pointed out that Washington is healthy now.

"The other team gets a different picture when he's in the game," says Spurrier.

Coach Dick Nolan yesterday named Spurrier to start and said the rest of the lineup would be the same that went against the Eagles, too, providing running back Vic Washington and strong safety Mel Phillips are over their injuries. Also listed as "probable" but not definite because of hurts are defensive back Ralph McGill and receiver John Isenbarger.

Redwood '5' Challenges Top L.A. Team

Redwood High School, walking a thin line between ambition and masochism, will confront the finest prep basketball team in the known world tomorrow at 7:30 p.m. to highlight a bold tournament schedule by Marin teams.

The Giants will be playing in the Golden State Classic at De La Salle High in Concord, and their first-round opponent will be Verbum Dei of Los Angeles, the Southern California champion four years in a row.

Tamalpais and Drake, meanwhile, open play in the Crusader Classic at Riordan High in San Francisco tonight and tomorrow, respectively, and San Marin will compete in the Healdsburg Tournament beginning tomorrow.

"This figures to be an outstanding tournament," said Redwood coach Dick Hart. It is labeled the "Preview of Champions," and with good reason.

Verbum Dei, from the heart of Watts, has a phenomenal overall record of 145-7 since 1968, and has won 56 straight league games and 24 straight California Interscholastic Federation playoff contests.

The tournament also features such powers as El Cerrito, Richmond, De La Salle, Piedmont Hills of San Jose, Jesuit of Carmichael, and Castlemont of Oakland.

The Redwood-Verbum Dei winner will face the El Cerrito-Piedmont Hills winner at 9 p.m. Friday, while the losers will play at 6 p.m. Friday.

Drake, meanwhile, will be appearing for the first time in a tournament which Tam has frequented for years at Riordan High.

Tam will play the hosts at 8:30 p.m. tonight, while Drake will be in action against Balboa of San Francisco at 7 p.m. Also in the tournament are Wilson of San Francisco, Crestmoor and Capucino of San Bruno, and Woodside.

The Tam-Riordan winner will meet the Wilson-Capucino winner at 9 p.m. Friday, with the losers to clash at 3:30. The Drake-Bal winner will face the Woodside-Crestmoor winner at 7:30 Friday, with losers playing at 5.

San Marin will meet Vintage of Napa at 4 p.m. tomorrow in the first round of play at Healdsburg. The winner of that contest will face the winner of the game between Highlands (near Sacramento) and Piner of Santa Rosa on Friday at 7 p.m., while the losers will collide at 5:30 Friday.

Also in the tourney are Ukiah, Alameda, Healdsburg and Washington of San Francisco.

INCOME TAX FACTS

By PETER J. WIKEL, C.P.A.

Could Be A Good Idea To Itemize Auto Repair Costs

You can deduct 12 cents a mile for the first 15,000 miles of business use of your car, plus nine cents for every business mile thereafter. But if you have been using this mileage allowance and this year you will have big bills for repairs, tires, etc., you might change to itemizing. You can change each year on the same or different cars if you have not previously taken extra 1st year depreciation or used one of the accelerated methods.

You must always use the straight line method of depreciation in the years in which you itemize, and you must figure that you have used the straight line method of depreciation for the years you took the standard mileage deduction.

If you are going to itemize this year, then have all that needed repair work done, buy new tires and get the old bus in shape so that next year you will have no expenses on the car and can use the standard rate profitably.

If your itemized expense records are not complete, then you could be better off to use the mileage rate because all you have to prove here is the number of miles traveled and the business use of the car.

If you are reimbursed for the business use of your car by your employer at less than 12 cents a mile, you can include the reimbursement in income and deduct 12 cents a mile up to the first 15,000 miles and nine cents a mile thereafter.

If your reimbursement is over 12 cents a mile, but not over 15 cents a mile, you wouldn't use this system as you do not have to account for your automobile expenses because you are considered to have accounted to your employer. If your reimbursement is over 15 cents a mile, you will have to include the reinbursement in income and itemize your automobile expenses. Also, if you have a profit on this reimbursement, the profit is taxed.

You can use this system and also deduct parking fees, bridge tolls, etc.

Steak House, Fabric Store Are Seeking Lucky Drive Locations

A new steak house and a fabric store are seeking permission to build in the Lucky Drive area of Corte Madera, near the Sizzler Family Steak House and Big 5 Sporting Goods.

STEAK AND ALE Inc., a restaurant chain headquartered in Dallas, Tex., is buying about an acre of land at the corner of Nellen and Lucky Drives, across the lagoon from Big 5 Sports and across Nellen Drive from the Sizzler restaurant. Steak and Ale is seeking design approval from Corte Madera, with hopes of having its new restaurant ready about July of next year.

NEW YORK FABRICS Inc. of Oakland hopes to open a fabric store next summer at the corner of Tamal Vista and Fifer avenues, across the street from Raydine Ice Skating.

G. O. HAYS of San Rafael has been promoted to vice president of manufacturing and distribution for Carpenter/Offutt Paper Inc. of South San Francisco.

Carpenter/Offutt, leading supplier of printing papers to the graphic arts industry in Northern California, has moved to larger facilities at 333 Oyster Point Boulevard in South San Francisco. It was formerly on Army Street in San Francisco.

Sabin

A graduate of the University of San Francisco, Sabin joined the Bank's Stockton office in 1967, with 12 years previous banking experience. He was assigned to the San Jose main office in 1969 and to the head office in San Francisco in 1972 as assistant vice president and assistant regional supervisor of installment loan centers. He will continue his responsibility as chief marketing officer for all Northern California installment loan centers.

WESTERN AUTO store at the Nave Shopping Center, 1555 South Novato Boulevard in Novato, will be sold in mid-December to Kenneth S. Cooke Sr. of San Anselmo, a retired pharmacist, who owned drug stores in San Francisco and worked in pharmacies for a total of about 45 years. Cooke was a pharmacist at the Fairfax Rexall store until two years ago, when he retired.

Cooke's son, Kenneth S. Cooke Jr. of San Rafael, will manage Western Auto in Novato. Cooke Sr. said he and his son plan to carry more complete stocks and increase the level of services on appliances sold to customers.

Western Auto, which sells stereo, television and furniture for both autos and homes, has been operated since 1966 by Robert Danielsen of San Francisco. After he sells the shop to Cooke, Danielsen said he plans to go into furniture wholesaling.

VICTOR RAGGIO, owner of Grant Avenue Florist in Novato, said he has no immediate plans after he sells the shop on Monday and plans to take a well-deserved rest.

Raggio and his wife, Deloris, have operated the florist shop for two and one-half years and had the Novato Garden Center for eight years before that. They are selling Grant Avenue Florist to Elvin Cometta of Richmond, whose two daughters will operate the shop from Monday.

MARCIA RENDLE, who lived in Woodacre until last June, has been named chief executive officer of the Tom Rawlins Co. of Guerneville, operator of several resorts in the Russian River area.

Miss Rendle is in charge of running the Burge Resort motel and Twin Trees in Guerneville, Green Gables Resort in Monte Rio, and other income properties including triplexes in Sonoma County and duplexes in San Rafael.

OAK FIREWOOD is almost impossible to get in Marin, right?

Wrong, says Glen Allen, former Marinite, who is trucking in firewood from a ranch in Willits.

The firewood comes in bundles a little over a cubic foot each. "They cost no more than presto-logs and burn hotter, and last for two and a half to three hours," said Allen. He can be contacted through Leon F. Willat of 12 Sky Road in Mill Valley.

Allen lived in San Rafael from 1966 to 1968, working as San Quentin correctional officer, and then as Petaluma fireman. He is now a caretaker at a 160-acre ranch in Willits, where he cuts firewood from trees and branches felled in logging operations.

Dow Jones Average Dips To Below 800

NEW YORK (AP) — With continuing pessimism as to the nation's economic prospect, the stock market resumed its downward path today, breaking through the psychologically important 800 level in the Dow Jones industrial average.

Brokers attributed the decline "to the same old story," namely fears that energy shortages would send the economy into a recession next year. Those fears, brokers said, were compounded today when Arthur F. Burns, chairman of the Federal Reserve Board, predicted "some economic dislocations" next year as a result of the Arab oil Embargo.

Burns also told Congress he was skeptical that an easing of the nation's monetary policy would help stem the widely predicted economic downturn next year.

A decision by the Cost of Living Council to spur distillate refining at the expense of gasoline was also a factor today, some said.

"This is really going to make for a tight gas market," noted Larry Wachtel of Bache & Co., who said the decision pointed to rationing later.

Lucien Hooper of W.E. Hutton & Co., trying to look on the bright side, said "the market's not going down as fast as it did." However, Hooper predicted a 25 per cent drop in corporate profits next year. In addition, he said a lack of leadership in Washington, a worsening situation in Britain, and the surprising rise in interest rates were frightening off investors.

"There just are no bids," Hooper said.

Some technical factors like margin calls were adding to the downward pressure, brokers said. "Let's face it, there's just no good news," said Wachtel.

Petaluma Creamery Cancels Yule Tree

This year, after four decades as a Petaluma holiday landmark, there will be no Christmas tree atop the tower of the Petaluma Cooperative Creamery, home of Clover Brand dairy products.

In compliance with the energy conservation program, eliminating the lighted tree will save more than 800 kilowatt hours of electricity during the holiday season, a spokesman for the creamery said.

Insurance Firm To Change Name

LOS ANGELES — Security Title Insurance Company will change its name to SAFECO Title Insurance Company on Jan. 1, President William H. Little announced.

Little said the firm has been a wholly owned subsidiary of SAFECO Corporation, a Seattle-based insurance group, since 1964, and the name change will not reflect a change in ownership or management.

The Security Title name has been used by the firm since 1920, but the national recognition of the more heavily advertised SAFECO name would be an advantage in the company's expansion program, Little explained.

Early Beginnings

PHILADELPHIA (UPI) — The beginning of the soft drink industry dates back to the days before the republic was founded. American scientists became interested in the effervescence of mineral waters in 1773 and received encouragement from Benjamin Franklin, Thomas Jefferson, James Madison and other statesmen.

SUCCESSFUL INVESTING

Puts, Calls Are Options To Sell

By ROGER E. SPEAR

Q. I am almost retirement age and have $15,000 invested in stocks. Would you explain puts and calls and do you think this is a suitable investment for me? — R.G.

A. Puts and calls are options to sell (put) or buy (call) 100 shares of stock at a preset price (striking price) within a specified time. Until recently such contracts were arranged between the option writer and the buyer on an individual basis. With the birth, last April, of the Chicago Board Options Exchange, a new marketplace was established for trading these contracts. The CBOE now trades calls on 32 NYSE-listed issues; puts are expected to be added in the future.

A January call to buy 100 shares of Amer. Telephone at 50, for example, recently traded at 1⅛ which represented a total option cost 7.6 per cent above the price of the underlying shares. The July call on T (Telephone) commanded a cost 11 per cent above share price.

Thus, in the latter case, the call buyer assumes T will trade above 52¾ before the end of July. With the CBOE providing a marketplace, the call buyer is able to sell out should the trading price of the call move up or down prior to the contract's expiration date. Trading prices on calls move more percentagewise than do the underlying share prices.

Whether or not this is a suitable investment for you depends on your whole financial picture. Certainly only a small portion of your funds should be committed, since the potential for loss of the entire investment is high. A more conservative approach would be to write calls.

Should you hold 100 Amer. Telephone, as a CBOE option writer you keep all dividends and collect the premium (or trading price) of the call, which on the July call was $275. If the stock moves above the $50 striking price, you would have to deliver 100 shares on July 31. A price decline would have to exceed 4 per cent on the above example prior to your incurring a loss.

HALTED BY HONKERS

Traffic in Rochester, Minn., stopped for Canadian geese as they crossed a downtown street yesterday. About 18,200 of the birds winter on Silver Lake in the city and fan out 10 miles and more to feed daily, mostly in harvested cornfields. Motorists often have to stop their cars as the geese cross streets around Silver Lake. One of the mysteries is why the geese become so tame in Rochester.

Suisun Bay Drilling May Resume

Resumption of drilling in Suisun Bay for natural gas is being considered and may be recommended within a few days, Lt. Gov. Ed Reinecke disclosed yesterday.

Drilling in the bay, bounded by marshlands that are home to a host of wildlife, was suspended several years ago in the wake of the oil spill in Santa Barbara Channel.

Reinecke, acting governor during Ronald Reagan's tour of Australia and Asia, said resumption of drilling in the bay is being studied by the staffs of the State Lands Commission and California Energy Planning Council. He is chairman of the council and a member of the commission.

Speaking at the Marin Property Owners Association's annual luncheon, Reinecke did not indicate how he, as a member of the two agencies, would vote on the issue. He noted, however, that he strongly favored resumption of the controversial drilling in the Santa Barbara Channel.

(Reinecke's Sacramento staff told the Independent-Journal that resumption of drilling in Suisun Bay may take special legislation. The Legislature thus presumably would not get to the proposal until it returns to regular session in January.)

Reinecke's half-hour speech before almost 200 persons at Dominic's Harbor Restaurant dealt largely with the energy problem. He stressed the need for voluntary steps by everyone "to conserve energy in every way we possibly can."

He later told the I-J he had instructed the driver of his 2.5-ton luxury sedan not to exceed 50 miles an hour on the trip from Sacramento.

The lieutenant governor said the energy crunch would have come anyway in a year or two even if the Arabs had not cut off U.S. supplies. "They did us a favor by forcing us to look at the issue," he said, adding "it's a good thing that this nation finally is stopping its rampant use of natural resources."

He recalled his speeches on the coming crisis five years ago, saying "audiences weren't interested then and the press wouldn't print it."

The problem "is not a phony — it is real and it is here," he declared. "We're in real trouble," he said.

But it is "no reason for panic," Reinecke assured the audience. In five to eight years the nation will have developed enough of its domestic sources of energy to be independent of foreign politics, he predicted.

A probable candidate for the Republican nomination next June for governor, he also touched on environmental controls, commenting "we've hit the impasse: Do we want to protect the environment or turn off the lights?"

He praised the property owners association, asserting that "ownership of private property is just about the most fundamental principle we have."

In other business, the association reelected its 1973 slate of officers to a second year. Elected were: Neils Schultz Jr., president; Bill Corbett, Jack E. Eddy, Walter F. Freitas and Bryan R. McCarthy, vice presidents; Lee R. Ceccotti, secretary, and William Barboni, treasurer. Fifty-six directors also were reelected.

Approval Of Expansion Of Nuclear Plant Urged

SACRAMENTO (UPI) — Lt. Gov. Ed Reinecke has called on the California Coastal Commission to approve plans today to enlarge the nuclear power plant at San Onofre to help ease the energy crunch.

Reinecke in a letter to the commission said the operation of San Onofre units No. 2 and No. 3 "will reduce our need for fuel oil by 24 million barrels per year. This is equivalent to 34 per cent of Southern California Edison's total 1974 requirement of some 71 million barrels of oil."

Reinecke also said an electrical capacity margin of 15 to 20 per cent was considered necessary to assure that brownouts and blackouts will not occur during failures.

The state Air Resources Board, Reinecke added, "has expressed a policy favoring the development of nuclear power as a measure to reduce the air pollution impact associated with fossil fuel for the generation of electrical energy."

Alfalfa juice is projected as being able to boost the protein content of breads, pastries, pastas, soups, stews, gravies, milk substitutes, ground meats and other processed foods.

ACT Scores In Moliere's 'Miser'

By GERALD GENESE

THE MISER — A Moliere comedy in two acts, translated by Donald M. Frame and presented by the American Conservatory Theater of San Francisco. Directed by Allen Fletcher. Scenery, Ralph Funicello; Costumes, Robert Blackman; Lighting, F. Mitchell, and Music, Conrad Susa. The cast: Harpagon, Ray Reinhardt; Cleante, Charles Lanyer; Elise, Claire Malis; Valere, James R. Winker; Mariane, Deborah May; Anselme, William Paterson; La Fleche, Ronald Boussom; Frosine, Elizabeth Huddle; Master Simon, Raye Birke; Master Jacques, Charles Hallahan; Mistress Calude, Patricia Ann Pickens; Brindavoine, Robert Mooney; LaMerluche, Sabin Epstein; police commissioner, Andy Backer; his clerk, Ross Graham; lackeys, James Arrington and Phillip Beck.

SAN FRANCISCO — There are so many very good moments in the American Conservatory Theater production of Moliere's 17th Century farce, "The Miser," which opened last night at the Geary Theater that it is surprising to find something other than Harpagon's gold is missing.

Ray Reinhardt's Harpagon is the epitome of greed and possessiveness. But Reinhardt explores so many possibilities and invests his character with so many human quirks, that you can't help but like his outrageously human ways in comparison to his romantically stuffy children.

He whines uncontrollably at the prospect of giving up so much as one franc of his money, falls to the floor in a catatonic state when his son Cleante tricks him into giving Harpagon's intended fiance, Mariane, a diamond ring.

Few, in and out of Harpagon's household, are a match for his cunning ways, except LaFleche, Cleante's servant and Frosine, a match maker.

Played by Ronald Boussom, LaFleche is the artful dodger countering every move made by Harpagon. He enters one door while Harpagon leaves through another; appears out of a roll top desk at the right moments, and is able to drink the old man's liquor without retribution. All the while keeping an eye on the old man's money box.

As the matchmaker, Frosine, who has the impossible task of arranging old Harpagon's marriage to his son's secret love, Marianne, Elizabeth Huddle beautifully cons the old man into believing he is the perfect match for the young girl. In spite of her persuasive ways she can not make Harpagon part with any of his money, so she leaves the scene with a bust of William Shakespeare in her arms as partial payment for her services.

The remainder of the cast is very good, but they are too numerous to mention.

Throughout the play there are a number of stage bits that are delightful. One, is at the beginning of the play when Valere, Harpagon's steward, unlocks a butter dish. Enough said.

On the surface director Allen Fletcher has staged a very handsome play. He has transposed this 17th Century farce to the Paris of the 19th Century depicted in Honore Daumier's paintings. The costuming by Robert Blackman, is Dickensian in style and color. Many of the characters appear as if they had stepped out of a Dickens novel. Both the setting and costumes work nicely.

Beneath the surface of this attractive exterior a cohesiveness of style is missing. Reinhardt as Harpagon, portrays his character in a realistic, nonstylized fashion, while the remainder of the cast are at times highly stylized in their acting. This creates a number of gaps in the play, because it is difficult for actors to relate when they are using different styles. It imparts an uneasy feeling that something is missing.

"The Miser" now enters ACT's repertoire for the season at the Geary Theater.

Height Minimum For Policemen

SAN FRANCISCO (UPI) — The city's Civil Service Commission voted Monday to reinstate a height minimum for new policemen despite an opinion that it would violate civil rights laws.

Beranrd Orsi, civil service general manager, had rescinded the limitation because he believed it violated the 1964 federal Civil Service Rights Act because it discriminates against Orientals and Latin Americans.

The old limit was 5 feet, 7 inches and the new one is 5 feet, 6 inches.

That Ephemeral Department Of Corrections

"If you want to kill any idea in the world today, get a committee working on it." — Charles F. Kettering.

There are, of course, committees and committees. Some smother ideas to death by talk and no action. Others dispose of the ideas they are appointed to investigate by substitution notions of their own.

The latter was the case with a committee which stampeded Marin County supervisors last June into an action about which they now are having considerable second thoughts.

THIS PARTICULAR committee was appointed at the time when the state had announced plans to close San Quentin Prison. It was set up to investigate possible uses of the Point San Quentin site if and when the prison went out of business.

However, at budget time this year, it came in with an idea of its own — or, at least, of its leader, former Municipal Court Judge Hadden W. Roth — which had nothing to do with the San Quentin site study. It proposed complete restructuring of the county's jail and probation system, with a new department of corrections to take over jail, honor farm, and, to some extent, probation.

SERVING ALL OF MARIN COUNTY

The board, without first calling for study by the judges, sheriff and probation department, authorized the new department, even redoing the budget at the last minute to provide for it.

Sheriff Louis P. Mountanos promptly announced he would not give up the jail, for which he is responsible under state law. So the supervisors put off that part of the change indefinitely.

Chief Probation Officer Arthur W. Brewer objected to involvement of the new department in the probation system, which is under court jurisdiction. So the supervisors amended the plan a little more.

THE JUDGES were slower to react. But last month, they made themselves heard, through Presiding Judge E. Warren McGuire of Marin Superior Court. He told the board that supervision of the honor farm and work furlough program by the new department would fragment responsibility for county prisoners and would be unworkable.

So last week, the supervisors decided not to put the work furlough program under the new department of corrections — although those on work furlough were to be incarcerated at the honor farm.

This left the new department with operation of an honor farm, yet only partial responsibility for some of its prisoners.

AT THAT POINT, one might think that the ridiculousness of the whole thing would have become apparent to the supervisors and they would simply throw away the idea. After all, the department is not yet in operation — in fact, according to County Administrator John F. Barrows, it is not yet even structured.

But no! Like the U.S. government trying to "save face" in Vietnam, the board of supervisors must try to "save face" for its "bold new experiment" — which was wished on it by a persuasive committee chairman.

Yes, there are committees and committees. Sometimes those which accomplish nothing are to be preferred.

THE PEOPLE'S SCHOOLS: Law In Classroom

By BRYCE W. ANDERSON

Watergate may turn out to benefit American education.

The American Bar Association, disturbed over the scandals, has stepped up promotion of law studies in the schools — something sadly lacking, as the ABA has become aware.

In announcing a two-day clinic on the subject last month in San Francisco, Thomas J. Gradel of the ABA's public information department wrote:

" 'The Watergate Affair' and all its related scandals may possibly cause as large and pervasive a revolution in the social sciences as the Soviet launching of Sputnik in 1957 caused in math and the physical sciences.

"Already, the unfolding of the extraordinary series of infringements on basic democratic rights and the flouting of the rule of law itself has awakened many people to the need to strengthen our vigilance against usurpation and subversion of the Constitution."

THE ABA'S PRESS department may be leaping to unwarranted conclusions on the basis of insufficient evidence. But the interest of the ABA in teaching elementary and high school students something about law is a healthy sign.

It is promoting such teaching through its special committee on youth education for citizenship, which was formed two years ago but has stepped up its activity sharply as a result of Watergate.

Two hundred school systems throughout the United States are participating in this ABA-sponsored effort so far, according to the bar association. In California, the program as sponsored by the state bar is called "Law in a Free Society." Two of the participating California districts — San Jose and Oakland — were represented at the San Francisco seminar.

PRE-WATERGATE attempts by local, state and national bar groups to get some legal teaching into the schools had rather mixed reception. The San Mateo County Bar Association worked out a program for high schools several years ago, but no San Mateo County district was listed by ABA as now having such instruction.

In this year's legislature, a bill by Assemblyman John E. Thurman, D-Modesto (AB 1704) to require a course including the U.S. Constitution in community colleges was killed in the Assembly Education Committee.

Many California educators apparently believe that sufficient instruction in law and citizenship is provided by the required high school course in American government.

However, this was cut from the previously required full year to a one-semester course in many high schools as soon as that became permissible under the George Miller Jr. Act. And the amount of citizenship and law instruction included in it varies widely from school to school and from teacher to teacher.

AN APPROACH perhaps more basic than that of the ABA is being pushed in some California high schools under a program conceived by Peter C. Meyer, who heads the Marin County elections department. This is the "New Voter" program, which Meyer started, in collaboration with some local educators, soon after passage of the 18-year voting law.

In the New Voter magazine which Meyer publishes for use in the classes, fundamental civics is stressed. The latest issue, for example, explains in detail — and in interesting fashion — why building permits are required, who issues them, and how to go about applying for them. Previous issues have dealt with registration and voting procedures, basic constitutional rights, etc. This program introduces the law as a basic part of citizenship rather than as a separate study.

So far, "New Voter" classes are offered only as electives. The ABA believes — and has evidence to back its belief — that some sort of education in law and citizenship should be required, beginning in the elementary schools.

Perhaps Watergate will give such studies sufficient glamor — or "relevance" — to increase interest in them among school people.

Two Happy Endings In Single Column From Nation's Capital

WASHINGTON — In the never-never city of Washington, D.C., where they ask you to believe wild tales about extortion, distortion and secretary-contortionists, it is restorative to find something straightforward and realistic to take your mind off fantasy for a couple of hours.

It is there at Ford's Theater, where you can alternate between presidential reflections (Lincoln's bunting-draped box looks down just as it did that April evening in 1865) and the world as perceived by John Philip Sousa in 1898.

WE KNOW "EL CAPITAN" today as one of Sousa's most optimistic marches. But back then, it was the title of his operetta about events on the tiny island of Guaru, off the coast of Cuba, on the very day when Admiral Sampson defeated Cervera's fleet at Santiago.

It goes like this:

The handsome Don Medigua has been appointed viceroy of Guaru, but his predecessor is trying to regain power. Don Medigua, who is not pugnaciously inclined, fears assassination. So he secretly exterminates the rebels' dauntless leader, El Capitan, and disguises himself as El Capitan, with the intention of leading the rebels to defeat, then revealing his true identity and hanging the rebel chiefs.

Medigua's masguerade succeeds, and, in the confusion, Princess Marghanza and Isabel, his wife and daughter, plead for the release of Pozzo, his right-hand man, who has been imprisoned by the rebels in his stead. Estrelda, the former viceroy's sexy daughter, becomes enamored of El Capitan-Medigua, to the dismay of her jealous lover, Scaramba, who is one of the rebels. Not only that, but the former viceroy's right-hand man, Verrano, falls in love with the delicate Isabel. In the end, just as the victorious rebels are about to execute everybody, the U.S. Marines arrive under the leadership of Verrano, who was an undercover man all the time. Then they sing, "Semper Fidelis" and everybody lives happily ever after.

TRUTH, AS YOU CAN see, rings like a bell throughout. The words "tape recording" or "foot pedal" or "Operation Candor" or "inoperative" or "Ron Ziegler" are not mentioned all evening. Nowhere else in town can you get back in touch with sanity while being treated to a rip-roaring, flag-waving entertainment that predates and outdoes George M. Cohan himself.

As a sober footnote to this review, I had intended to comment on how sad it was that Sousa, the March King, who could stir in Americans so much laughter and innocent chauvinism, was resting today in overgrown neglect in Washington's Congressional Cemetery.

CONGRESSIONAL is a historic 30 acres of the capital totally ignored by visitors and even most Washingtonians, mainly because it is in a high-crime area alongside the Anacostia River.

Founded in 1807, it has been the burial place for seven dozen senators and congressmen plus secretaries of state, attorneys general, commodores, Push-Ma-Ta-Ha, the Choctaw chief — and John Philip Sousa. In recent years, it has been vandalized repeatedly, with some gravestones overturned, others lopsided with age. The other day, Sousa's grandchildren on the west coast wrote the local paper in understandable indignation about the cemetery's reported condition.

But it is not so bad as reported. Sousa's square is marked by "a small but exquisitely proportioned exedra," as a guidebook describes it, which bears a harp above his identification as leader of the Marin Gand 1880-1892. The grave is covered by a slab bearing a stone wreath and baton and four bars of music which I wish I could read. The whole is enclosed by well-clipped hedges, and in one corner leans a fading but elegant floral wreath, wrapped in silk of red, white and blue.

Which is, of course, as it should be for the man who wrote "The Stars and Stripes Forever." And now I have given you two happy endings in one column, which is more than anyone can expect out of Washington these days.

NATO Is Not Falling Apart; Alliance Might Save Israel

WASHINGTON — The news is laden with reports that the NATO allinace is about to fall apart because of the differences between the European allies and the United States over the Middle East.

Fortunately, it isn't working out that way.

There are significant differences between Western Europe and the United States. The principal difference is this: For the Common Market countries, dependence on Arab oil is a matter of survival, while for the United States it is a matter of discomfort.

AS THE EUROPEAN Economic Community becomes stronger and more independent, it expects close and continuous consultation with the United States on decisions which affect the Common Market's welfare and is deeply distressed when this doesn't occur.

Such distress was acutely evident when the American government suddenly began to resupply Israel with arms and put its military forces around the world on a standby alert.

Not having all the facts in their possession, particularly the information of the Soviet note threatening to put Russian forces into combat in the Arab-Israeli war, the NATO nations felt precariously isolated from what the United States was doing.

This experience underlines that the United States cannot successfully remain a part-time partner and neglect the role of partner when it is convenient to do so. Our European allies are not demanding any veto over American actions, but they feel they have a right to be consulted or informed — and they have.

But far from the NATO alliance falling apart, there are new moves by the European countries to make it stronger. Unexpectedly, the one nation which, under Charles de Gaulle, did most to weaken NATO is now taking the lead to strengthen it.

THOUGH AT FIRST resisting Sec. of State Henry Kissinger's proposal for an updated Atlantic Charter, the French are now urging that the alliance be refurbished and made more relevant to today's problems.

De Gaulle used to disdain the trustworthiness of United States commitment to the common defense. But his successor, Georges Pompidou, is playing different music. The last thing the French want is to see the United States "go it alone" and withdraw from peace-keeping alliances.

The collective commitment of the European countries to treat an attack on any member of the alliance as an attack on itself is valuable to the defense of the United States.

President Nixon is lowering the U.S. presence in different parts of the world on the premise of helping smaller nations to defend themselves, but he is not abandoning the peace of the world to willful agressors. The leaders of the principal non-Communist nations would be dismayed if he did.

IT IS IMPORTANT not to let our experience in Vietnam distort what may be sound for the United States to do where our interests are more vital.

It is revealing to find that Sen. J. William Fulbright, D-Ark., one of the strongest opponents of our involvement in Vietnam, favors the United States joining with the Soviet Union in a guarantee to secure a peace settlement between the Arab states and Israel.

His view is that Israel ought to be willing to accept boundaries which it might otherwise deem unsafe if those boundaries are guaranteed by the United States and the Soviet Union. He sees the United States as already committed de facto to the defense of Israel and believes that, if a treaty commitment would bring about a peace settlement, the United States would be better served to turn a firm though unstated commitment into a treaty commitment.

Gas Rationing To Protect Israel's 1969 Borders

Until very recently Americans have been the most misinformed people on earth concerning the Arab-Israel situation. Congress has a blank check to support any Israel cause which has no benefit whatever to this country. An example would be the U.S. picking up the full tab for the Jewish migration from Russia to Israel. This has come to over $50 million since April. And, of course, there is the literally billions of dollars given to Israel in the name of lend-lease.

Now we are asked to face drastic gas rationing and many of our citizens will be cold this winter. All this in the name of protecting Israel's 1967 conquests. This position has left us virtually alone in the world.

Surely it is time for the American people to question the wisdom of all this, it is time for the news media to take a neutral position and, most important, it is time for our politicians to think less of their campaign donations and more of our national interests.

Ouster Of Lunding Seen As Democratic

Faith Vogel may have been "aghast" when she read of the firing of Mr. Jorgen Lunding from the San Rafael Planning Commission by the San Rafael City Council majority. . .

In reading the Independent Journal's account, it appears Mr. Lunding was trying to have the commission control the city general plan instead of using "the public scrutiny" of the 60-member citizens advisory committee delegated to the public review of the plan. Mr. Lunding has been unsuccessful in his attempts to influence the city council on its approach to the general plan review process, and he was finally removed from the commission by the democratic process (3-2 in favor of firing is a majority). He still has the opportunity to make his views known on the general plan as a citizen of San Rafael.

I very seriously doubt that Councilmen Miskimen, Mulryan, and Nixon "are trying to railroad a general plan," when there is a 60-member citizens advisory committee reviewing and making recommendations to the council, along with public hearings on the general plan. . .

Milk Price Increase Not Due To Advertising

The increase in milk prices on Nov. 1 was due first to an increase in dairy feed costs, second to an increase in other operational costs — and not in any way to the cost of advertising as letterwriter Sarah Mizel of Petaluma contends.

Dairymen have participated in a program for the past two years which allocates one per cent of their sales to promotion. This amounts to less than 1/5 of a penny per quart. Thus, if all advertising was eliminated the current price of milk would not be reduced.

It is also important to note that the dairy industry as a whole spends relatively little for milk product promotion. For example, the Internal Revenue Service study of 1972 expenditures by various industry groups shows the beer industry spent 5.33 per cent of sales, the soft drink industry, 5.01 per cent, and the dairy industry 1.5 per cent.

Postponement Likely On Rebuilding Schools

By EARL G. WATERS

As the arbitrary deadline for 100 per cent compliance with the earthquake safety standards for schools approaches, many school districts are facing monumental problems. For the legislature has decreed that school buildings not meeting the standards may not be occupied after July 1, 1975.

In their efforts to comply, many districts have been compelled to call the voters to the polls repeatedly in attempts to win approval for bonds. Despite these repetitive elections, some within weeks after a voter turndown, many are still without funds. Others, who ultimately succeed in getting the message across or wearing resistance down, still will be unable to get new construction fast enough to meet the mid-summer 1975 date.

ASIDE FROM the natural tendency of voters to oppose measures which will add to their tax burdens' there has been some resistance because voters felt school administrators had seized upon the earthquake requirements as a device to build excessively. They believed some had incorporated many perhaps desirable but non-essential features into the rebuilding plans.

Also there has been opposition based upon belief that the quake problems were being used to achieve racial integration. That seems to have been more than mere suspicion, at least in Sacramento County. Here the voters, just after granting long-sought bonding approval, were greeted immediately after the election with a county counsel opinion holding that rebuilding may be done only if the plans are aimed at achieving racial balance.

In any event, and for whatever reasons, a substantial number of school buildings throughout the state will not have been rebuilt or replaced by the deadline.

ASSEMBLYMAN Leroy Greene D-Sacramento, recognized this would be the case and authored legislation early this year to extend the time for two years. The measure is still pending in the Senate.

Greene, a civil engineer, is not calloused to earthquake hazards. He was simply being realistic.

There have been others who have had reservations about the deadline and even the need.

At a hearing of the Senate Education Committee recently, school administrators pleaded their case for a time extension. Some, like San Francisco's officials where the district would be thrown into utter chaos unless the time is extended. Others said they simply didn't have the money.

The concensus is that the Greene time-delay measure will eventually be approved, although some legislators want to keep the pressure on for early compliance as long as possible.

Board Takes Roundabout Way To Squeeze Out Department Head

A shortcoming with the current Marin County Board of Supervisors is that it insists on taking the long way around personnel issues — in this case, the long way around dumping Chief Probation Officer John W. Brewer.

Rather than take the political heat that an open and above board dismissal would generate, supervisors have shrouded the issue in reorganization plans for three departments and creation of a fourth.

ON ONE HAND, Betty L. Presley, director of health and human services, is studying how probation department administration and programs can be consolidated with health and welfare.

On the other hand, the board named Ralph Merola to launch the new department of corrections with the implied intent of eventually placing all custody and rehabilitation of jail inmates under one department.

Brewer appears to be the odd man out.

As Superior Court Judge Henry J. Broderick told supervisors last week: "You've got Betty grabbing him (Brewer) from the top and Ralph grabbing him from the bottom."

BRODERICK, A MAN who doesn't mince words, questioned why the new corrections department was being formed, since its functions could easily fall under the existing probation department, where some already are.

"If the baord of supervisors feels there is something wrong in the probation department, then let's take a look at it," Broderick told the board.

No supervisor responded directly to Broderick's comment. It was skirted with promises of upcoming studies to deal with the probation department's future.

To have opened it up as Broderick suggested would have forced supervisors to contend with arguments from the court that the chief probation officer is an adequate administrator, liked and trusted by the judiciary.

By not opening it up, supervisors can quietly reorganize Brewer out, avoid a public confrontation with judges, and keep away from ugly implications of firing the county's only black department head, who also is fighting a severe illness.

THIS IS NOT to say Brewer is the only reason for the reorganization or the department of corrections. But his ouster is part of it, whether supervisors care to publicly admit it or not.

If they had faith in Brewer, there would be no department of corrections as such.

But given the board's reluctance to deal with personnel matters head-on, we can all sit back and watch the board take the costly and painful long way around.

Last Of Old Guard Is Leaving Nixon Administration Posts

By GODFREY SPERLING JR.
The Christian Science Monitor
News Service

WASHINGTON, D.C. — Presidential counselor Bryce Harlow is ready now to leave the Nixon administration.

Thus, the two veterans who were brought back by the President early last summer as key replacements in his post-Watergate White House reorganization — Melvin Laird and Harlow — now appear to be on their way out.

Laird has announced that he is leaving soon. The timing of Harlow's departure is not certain, although he wants to wind up his work and get back to the Proctor and Gamble Corp. as soon as possible. He is edging toward the door.

Harlow's reasons for leaving would be the same as those given by Laird — the imminent arrival of Gerald Ford into the vice presidency.

Ford is expected to take over the White House liaison-with-Congress functions that have, for the last few months, been handled by Laird and Harlow.

Harlow told a group of reporters recently that he had to be "braced three times" by Nixon before he finally agreed to return.

Laird had told the same group earlier, and only a few months after he had resigned as Secretary of Defense, that nothing or nobody could get him back into the administration.

He, too, changed his mind — but only after heavy persuasion from the President.

Japanese Money Flowing To Universities In U.S.

By TRUDY RUBIN
The Christian Science Monitor
News Service

CAMBRIDGE, Mass. — When Edwin O. Reischauer returned from Japan in October, he brought news of the third $1 million contribution to Harvard University's Japanese studies programs by a Japanese industrial giant. Asian scholars say they will not be surprised if a just-concluded November trip results in more gifts.

The Japanese generosity spells more than great respect for Professor Reischauer, a former U.S. Ambassador to Japan: It is part of an unprecedented flow of money from both the Japanese government and its industrial giants into Japanese studies programs at major American universities, through which the contributors hope to improve American understanding of Japan.

Asian scholars here say the Japanese feel that many of the tensions that have arisen between the two superpowers are due to a basic misunderstanding of their country by the Americans. They feel it is important that they do something about it.

Professor Reischauer, whose struggle to focus American attention on Japan is legendary, insists the need for communication has never been greater.

"There is a desperate need for better knowledge of Japan in this country," he said in a recent interview.

"It, along with Western Europe and the U.S., is part of the great industrial trade area of the world, and within that area the biggest problems are between the U.S. and Japan because of the difference in cultural concepts. Their rapid growth makes increased comprehension more important than ever before.

In August, 1973, Japanese Premier Kakuei Tanaka announced during a visit to the United States that his government would grant $10 million to 10 American universities preeminent in Asian studies to encourage Japanese studies here.

In addition, the Nissan Motor Company, Ltd. (makers of Datsun cars and trucks) and the Toyota Motor Company, gave Harvard $1 million each this fall toward its proposed Japanese Institute. The Sumitomo industrial group gave Yale University $2 million in June, 1973, and the Mitsubishi group of industries started gifts in September, 1972, by presenting Harvard Law School with $1 million to set up a chair in Japanese law.

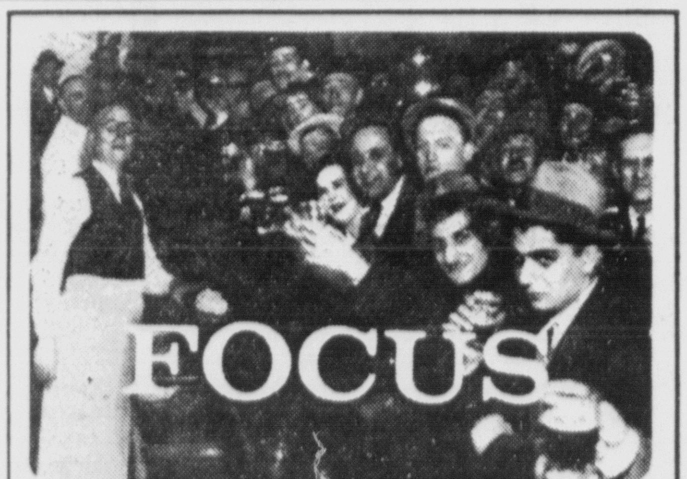
On Ag Board

SACRAMENTO (UPI) — J. Cordner Gibson, dean of the school of agriculture at California Polytechnic State University at San Luis Obispo, was named yesterday to the state Board of Agriculture.



End Of An Era

Forty years ago today, glasses were raised to toast the end of the nation's "Noble Experiment." The 18th Amendment prohibited "the manufacture, sale, or transportation of intoxicating liquors." It did not specifically prohibit consumption of them, however. During the 13 years of Prohibition, millions of Americans frequented speakeasies. Bootleggers like Al Capone and Dutch Schultz won fame and fortune keeping them supplied. Finally the nation concluded it had made a mistake. The repealer amendment specifically guaranteed the validity of state liquor laws, however, and the "Noble Experiment" continues in some areas.

DO YOU KNOW — Which Amendment repealed Prohibition?

TUESDAY'S ANSWER — Mohammed was born in Mecca in what is now Saudi Arabia.

CONTENTED CAT — Most cats purr when they're contented, but purrs can have other meanings, a German doctor has found.
(Christian Science Monitor Photo)

Doctor Concludes Cat Sounds Are Purrfectly Fascinating

1973 The Christian Science
Publishing Society

Dr. Paul Layhausen of the Max Planck Institute, in West Germany, has been trying to find out what makes cats tick. Or rather purr, for it's through the purr that we really get to know a cat.

He has studied all types of cats, analyzing the purring noises they made and trying to discover the reasons for them. They are not always as obvious as they may seem.

It appears that a cat's purr is rather like a person's smile: It usually means they are happy, friendly, relaxed — though there can be other, less attractive meanings.

An oddly irregular purr can be the sign of what Dr. Layhausen calls a "crazy, mixed-up cat." An older cat, wise and resigned, may be simply playing at being a kitten when he purrs. "That's a sure sign of regression," says Dr. Layhausen.

Some cats purr solely to gain advantage from a human being (usually food or some special privilege) or even from another cat.

(It seems there are cats, low down in the feline scale, which will curry favor with a higher-class cat by employing a "snob" or "diplomatic" purr. In fact, there is quite a lot of status-seeking in the catty scheme of things).

A real aristocrat among cats often owns a purr that's different, marking him out from the common herd. Yet at times he will use an ordinary purr to show other cats he's not really stuck up at all.

If you can't interpret your cat's purr, however, don't worry. According to Dr. Layhausen, many of the variations are put on for special occasions.

Most of the time an ordinary, well-fed, well-balanced cat purrs simply out of a lovable mixture of contentment, friendliness, and affection.

A $1 Million Suit Filed By Inventor

Inventor Arnold Mills of Novato is suing three former business associates and their firm, that he claims switched off his profits from a circular fluorescent light mills invented and patented.

Mills seeks $1,036,000 damages from Alvin Corkland, Alan Sapiro and Henry Warschow, their firm the Ava-Watt Industries, Inc. and other associated business operations, in the suit filed in Marin Superior Court.

The suit claims that on Dec. 3, 1971, Mills signed a contract with Corkland that in return for use of Mills' invention he would be given stock shares in a new corporation and be made vice president of the firm at $18,000 a year.

Corkland and the others, Mills claimed, never formed the company, paid him only $400, and then formed another firm excluding him from participation, but using his patent.

The program will include works by Richard Strauss, Gustav Holst, Roger Nixon, Carl Maria Von Weber, W. Francis McBeth and Hector Berlioz.

Moth Inspection Of Trees Asked

SACRAMENTO (UPI) — California's border quarantine stations have been alerted to prohibit entry of Christmas trees which contain egg masses of tussock moths from infested areas of Washington, Oregon, Montana and Idaho.

The state Food and Agriculture Department said Monday all trees from the four states will be checked and any infested ones will be turned back at border stations or rejected at destination.

The tussock moth has caused heavy destruction of timber in the states by defoliation of trees.

Gay Suspected In Corona Case

VACAVILLE, Calif. (UPI) — The knife attack that cost mass slayer Juan Corona his left eye may have been prompted by a homosexual's hurt feelings, according to investigators.

Corona, 40, serving a life term for the slayings of 25 itinerant farm workers, was stabbed repeatedly last Saturday night. Doctors who removed the eye report that Corona is now in satisfactory condition despite more than 30 wounds.

At least three suspects are being closely questioned about the attack.

Guard Capt. Ernest Brawley said yesterday.

Brawley said a homosexual not involved directly in the attack felt Corona had been "obnoxious" to him in the past and his boyfriend may have attacked Corona for the insult.

Draft Sign-Ups Are Still Must

Marin males nearing their 18th birthday were reminded today they must register with the selective service even though no draft calls are being made under present law.

Joy M. Kinzer, executive secretary of Selective Service Local Board No. 25 in San Rafael, said all men must register with the board between 30 days before and 30 days after their 18th birthday.

She warned that a failure to register is a felony, punishable under the federal Selective Service Act.

Lottery numbers are assigned to individuals during the year of their 19th birthday at age 20 they are eligble for the draft if it is resumed in an emergency.

Local Board No. 25 serves all of Marin and 18-year-olds can register at the board's office, 910 D Street, San Rafael, from 8 a.m. to 5 p.m. Monday through Friday.

Applicants need only bring a driver's license or birth certificate as proof of the date of their birth.

FTC Oath Taken In The Hospital

WASHINGTON (UPI) — It was the day Mary Elizabeth Sanford was supposed to be sworn as a member of the Federal Trade Commission (FTC), but she was in a hospital bed for treatment of a back injury she suffered in a car accident several years ago.

However, Miss Sanford, 37, did not miss the ceremony. FTC Chairman Lewis Engman and other members of the commission went to her bedside at Georgetown University Hospital for the swearing in ceremony yesterday.

Contract Can't Be Played In A Vacuum For A Victory

The correct play of a suit does not exist in a vacuum. It may depend, among other things, on how many tricks you can afford to lose.

South	West	North	East
1 ♠	Pass	2 ♣	Pass
2 ◇	Pass	3 ◇	Pass
3 ♠	Pass	4 ♠	All Pass

Opening lead — ♡ K

HEART ACTION

West opened the king of hearts and continued with another heart. South ruffed and drew trumps with the ace and king.

This left two trumps out, the queen and the jack. South likewise had two trumps, the nine and the eight. How should he proceed? Should he lead another trump, or should he go about his business in the other suits?

ANOTHER TRUMP

South was tempted to lead another trump. If each opponent held on of the two missing trumps, they would both fall on the same trick. Then South would make an overtrick.

There was a great danger. If one opponent held both of the missing trumps (as was actually the case), he would take them both, drawing South's trumps. Then the defenders could take the rest of their hearts and South would be set three tricks.

CORRECT PLAY

The correct play depended on how many tricks South needed. He would make either seven or 11 tricks if he led a third trump, depending on how the trumps broke. He would make exactly 10 tricks if he abandoned the trumps.

In this case, South needed 10 tricks. Hence he decided to forget about the trumps after taking the first two rounds.

He went after the clubs, and West eventually ruffed with the jack of spades. West could then take the queen of spades, but South was sure of the rest.

DAILY QUESTION

As dealer, you hold:
♠ - A K 9 8 3
♥ - 8
♦ - K J 9 5
♣ - 6 4 3.

What do you say?

ANSWER: Bid one spade.

The hand is worth an opening bid even though you have only 11 points in high cards. The major suit is strong, and the distribution is good.

ALMANAC

By U. P. INTERNATIONAL

Today is Wednesday, Dec. 5, the 339th day of 1973 with 26 to follow.

The moon is approaching its full phase. The morning stars are Mercury and Saturn. The evening stars are Venus, Mars and Jupiter.

American movie-maker Walt Disney was born Dec. 5, 1901.

On this day in history:

In 1848, President James Polk confirmed the discovery of gold in California, leading to the famed "Gold Rush" of 1848 and '49.

In 1933, Prohibition was abolished when Utah became the 30th state to ratify the 21st Amendment to the U.S. Constitution.

A thought for the day: American historian Henry Brooks Adams said, "Accident counts for much in companionship as in marriage."

HOW TO KEEP WELL

By DR. THEODORE R. VAN DELLEN

High-Rise Heels And Platform Soles A Hazard To The Wearer

Safety officials tell us that the shoes with high-rise heels and platforms should be "recalled" because they are a hazard when driving. The heel gets caught on the bottom of the brake, and there is a marked loss of the sense of touch when wearing platform soles.

Stopping time is measured in fractions of seconds, and a driver is in trouble if he or she catches the thick sole on the edge of the brake pedal. If platforms, clogs, clunkers, or 'uglies' are your thing, keep a pair of ordinary shoes in the car for driving.

WEARERS OF these shoes should know that the risk of falling when walking is high. Many physicians have reported treating sprains and fractures caused by paltform shoes. The thick sole is rigid and easily caught on a curb or a step. In addition to bone and ligament injuries, the height of the heels causes the toes to draw up into a claw. The outcome may be a hammer toe.

Riding a bicycle with these shoes also is dangerous. The heels catch in the pedals and nothing can be done in case of a fall or accident.

AN ARTICLE in Medical World News tells of a rather sticky problem involving the newer, fast-acting cyanocrylate glues. These adhesives really work and bond a variety of substances, including rubber, metal, and glass. But what happens to the skin and other tissues if the glue accidentally gets between the fingers? Can they be pried apart? Can the eyelids or lips be separated if the glue gets into the eye or the mouth? All of this is pure conjecture because, to my knowledge, the manufacturers have not had trouble along this line.

SINCE THESE glues take effect in seconds, flush the skin, eyes, and mouth with plenty of water should contact be made. Keep the eyelids separated if the adhesive gets into the eye, and the same applies to the mouth. Meanwhile, call your physician who probably will apply acetone. Acetone dissolves the bond and is preferred to forcibly pulling apart the glued surfaces, because the top layers of skin will go with it.

We hesitate to mention the consequences of swallowing the glue. Binding could occur even if it accidentally enters the throat. And the material gets hot when it polymerizes, adding to the discomfort. In any event, keep it out of reach of children.

Questions on medical topics will be answered by mail if stamped, self-addressed envelope accompanies request to Dr. Van Delln, c/o the Independent-Journal, PO Box 330, 1040 B St., San Rafael, Ca. 94902. Telephone inquiries will not be answered.

COMFORTERS

C. L. writes: Do all psychiatrists give psychotherapy?

REPLY

Yes, but so does everyone who helps an emotionally disturbed person or supplies the answers to his problems. This includes the comfort and reassurance given by the clergy, the family doctor, friends, and relatives. The psychiatrist differs only in his ability to give a more specialized type of advice. Furthermore, he knows what will aggravate the disturbance.

PERICARDITIS

T. S. writes: What is the outlook for a young woman who has been in bed for two months with pericarditis?

REPLY

The outlook in this condition usually is good but the answer depends upon the reason why the sac surrounding the heart became irritated and filled with fluid. In other words, the cause of the pericarditis determines the outcome. These causes vary from tuberculosis to rheumatic fever.

DRY-CLEANED HAIR

A. M. writes: Please advise the proper care of human hair. How often should it be washed? Is dry cleaning best or would corn meal or another grain-like material be preferable(

REPLY

I do not have the answer if you are referring to a wig. Consult those who make and sell wigs. As to how often human hair should be washed, this depends on the environment in which the persons live and work. The same applies to how often a wig needs laundering.

PETITE WOMAN

Miss T. writes: I'm 47 years old and less than 5 feet tall. Can I be made taller by injections?

REPLY

This is doubtful unless your shortness is caused by a recent glandular disorder. Forget it, if you are otherwise healthy. Why not get a pair of high heels or platforms?

POT AND PREGNANCY

P. T. writes: I am beginning my fifth month of pregnancy. About twice a month I smoke two joints (marijuana). Will this have an effect on my unborn child? If so, in what way?

REPLY

Little work has been done on the cytogenetic effects of marijuana. However, all cannabis preparations should be avoided during pregnancy and lactation. The use of any drug substance is unwise by women in the childbearing years.

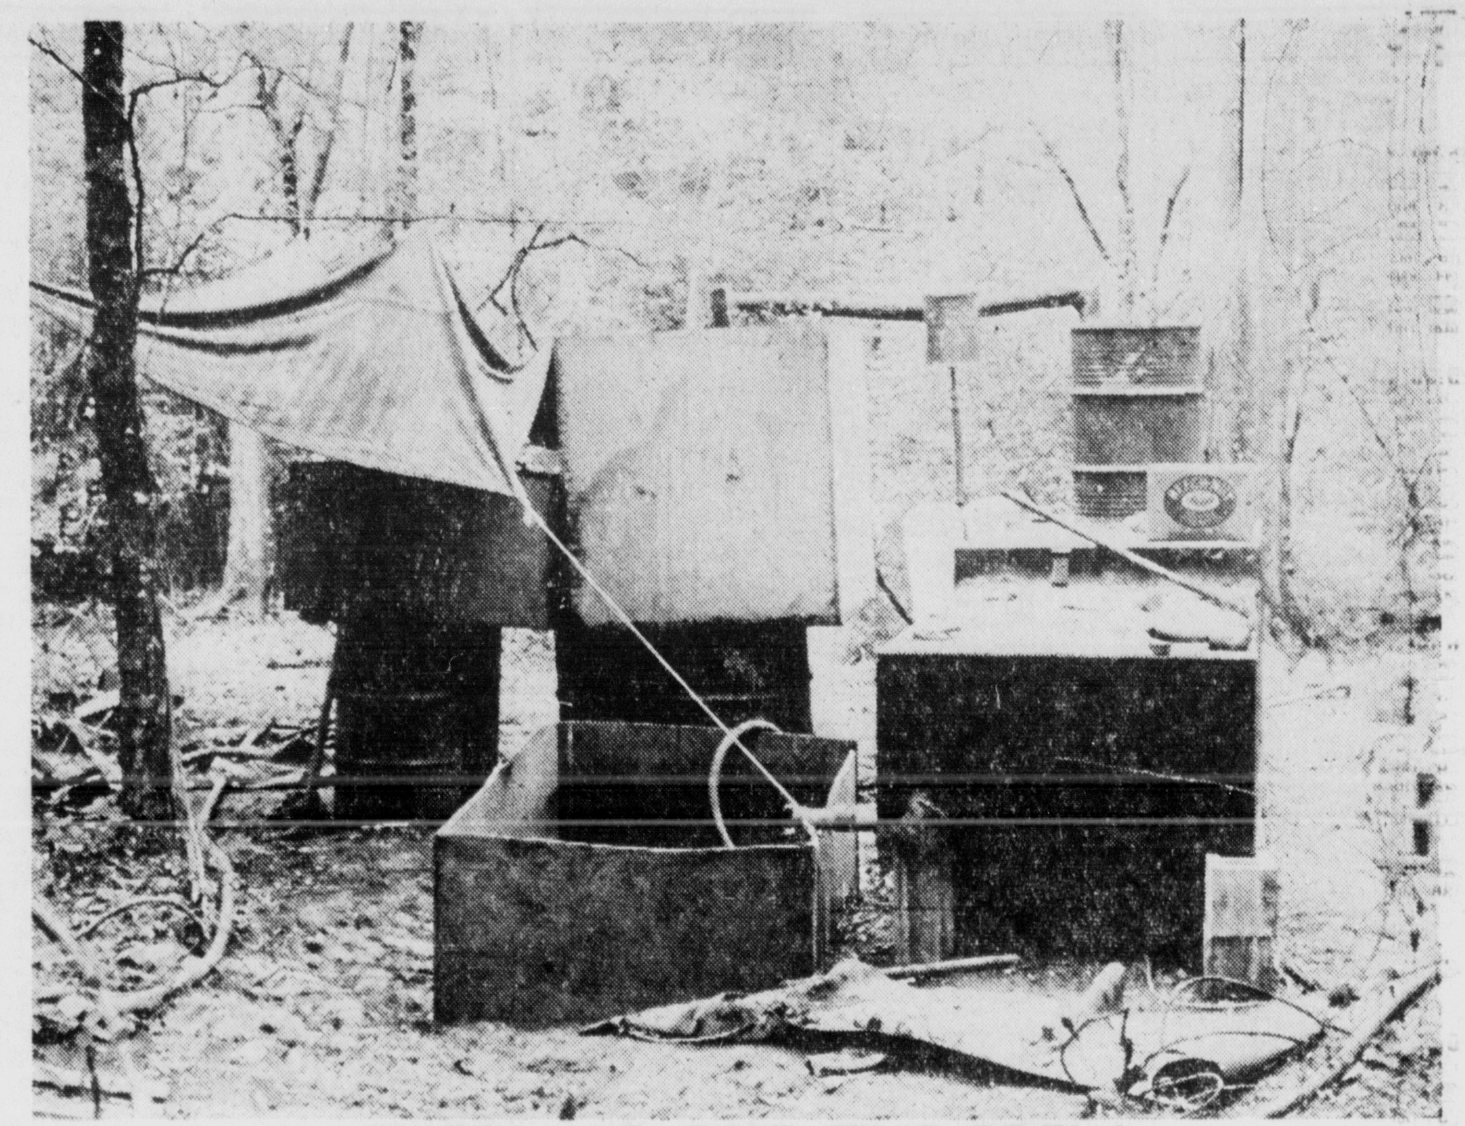
Never had I realized how lonely life could be. Knowing how much this has hurt me, please stop my suffering and send the TV back. Rick."



BUBBLING OUT THE BREW

Moonshine stills, like the one above with its 250-gallon cookers, once were a familiar sight to Brenton G. Thorne, special agent who heads the Bureau of Alcohol, Firearms and Tobacco in San Francisco. As a young agent, he spent about 10 years hunting bootleggers in New Jersey nearly 20 years after the repeal of Prohibition. See story, picture, page 1.

Man Draws Jail Time On Charges

A one-year jail sentence and three years probation, plus a string of other conditions, were imposed today on Aldo Barberini, who pleaded guilty to two bad check counts.

Judge Charles Read Best of Marin Superior Court told the 41-year-old San Rafael man to abstain from alcohol, get a job and avoid "persons of ill repute."

Barberini, who admitted cashing four bad checks for a total of $450 at a San Anselmo poultry market between July 11 and 13, must repay the money, Best said.

A second charge of cashing two bad checks for $244 at a San Rafael men's store Aug. 29 was dismissed.

A report from the California Medical Facility at Vacaville, where Barberini was evaluated before sentencing, recommended he not be sent to prison.

Boessenecker In Council Race In Mill Valley

Incumbent Edward J. Boessenecker announced today that he will seek another term next spring on the Mill Valley City Council.

Boessenecker was appointed to the council in October 1969 to fill out six months of an unexpired term and then was elected in 1970 to a full term.

Before joining the council, he served six years on the planning commission and was president of the Mill Valley Commuters Club.

Boessenecker said today in his candidacy announcement that with a new city manager coming to the city, "I feel that I can contribute needed experience and continuity to our city government.

"The general plan study, the new public safety building, the Northridge open space progarm and the renovation of our sanitary system are all projects which I helped institute and which I would like to see through to successful conclusions."

Probe Shows No Need For Recall Of Fords

WASHINGTON (UPI) — The government said today an investigation showed no reason to recall 5.5 million Ford cars for a safety defect critics charged could cause the front wheel to fall off.

The National Highway Traffic Safety Administration checked more than 700 reports involving a control arm in the front wheels of 1965 through 1969 fullsized Ford and Mercury cars, 1967-69 Thunderbirds and 1969 Continental Mark III cars.

"Numerous alleged cases of serious injuries or deaths attributed to lower control arm failure in such vehicles were investigated, and, with one exception appear to be without substance," the safety agency said.

But it did warn owners to inspect the control arms "immediately" if the cars have been involved in accidents involving sharp impact to the front end.

The Center for Auto Safety and consumer advocate Ralph Nader have been urging action since 1970 when Ford recalled 85,000 police cars for control arm failures.

Ford claimed the failures were the result of severe impact to the control arms caused by such things as police cars jumping median strips at high speeds.

If Ford had been forced to recall the other 5.5 million cars, it was estimated replacement of the control arm would have cost the firm about $200 million.

In announcing its decision, the safety agency said it found no need for Ford to recall the cars. But it warned owners that if the cars had been involved in front end collisions "or have encountered wheel impacts sufficiently severe to blow front tires or dent front wheel rims, or any other severe impact" they are "possible candidates for eventual control arm failure."

But the agency claimed its investigation showed that the failures, which were blamed on metal fatigue, "generally occur at low speeds, typically while parking, approaching a stop sign or turning into a driveway."

Southern Presbyterians Found New Denomination

BIRMINGHAM, Ala. (UPI) — Conservatives within the Presbyterian Church in the U.S. founded a new denomination last night and elected a leader who declared the group had raised "a fresh, clear banner" of Christianity.

The conservatives, holding their first General Assembly here Tuesday through Friday, planned today to name the new denomination, comprised of 75,000 worshippers from 275 churches in 14 Southern and border states.

The 338 delegates, all of them men and all but one of them white, elected Jack Williamson of Greenville, Ala., moderator by acclamation. Williamson, a lawyer, had been temporary presiding officer.

"Today we raise a fresh, clear banner of the truth of our living Lord Jesus Christ before this watching world," Williamson told the delegates packed into Briarwood Presbyterian Church, a modern A-frame structure lighted by chandeliers.

He said the church "shall stand out distinctive in contrast to many false religious societies which bear his name."

The conservatives contend the one-million member Presbyterian Church in the U.S. has strayed from the scriptures by taking liberal positions on abortion, divorce and other social issues and by agreeing to ordain women.

"This separation has forced division among families, friends and local congregations," Williamson said.

"It has been heartrending and with many tears. Separation from foes is not easy, but separation from fellow Christian friends is traumatic."

The conservatives believe in the authority of the Bible and the virgin birth and consider the Westminster Confession of 1648 as the authoritative guide to interpreting the scripture.

They oppose a proposal to merge the Presbyterian Church in the U.S., which operates in Southern and border states, with the Northern and more liberal United Presbyterian Church in the U.S.A.

Sullivan Elected By Bonsai Club

William Sullivan was elected president of the Marin Bonsai Club at the Club's Christmas party Sunday at the Marinwood Community Center.

Other officers elected with him were Mrs. Robert Krohn, first vice president; John Wells, second vice president; Dorothy Broehm, recording secretary; Diane Darling, corresponding secretary and Orin Riley, treasurer.

Dog's Owner Being Sought

Dr. Gregory J. Graham of 1615 Hill Road, Novato, is seeking the owners of a dog which bit him on the left leg while he was hiking on Mount Tamalpais about a half-mile below Rock Spring junction at about 3 p.m. Sunday.

Dr. Graham said he was bitten by a small to medium sized brown and white dog with collie-like markings which had a red bandana around its neck, and possibly is named "Spunky.

He said the owners were nearby and "the woman was wearing a black and red parka."

If he doesn't hear from them, he will have to have antirabies shots, he said. He asked that the owners telephone him to let him know if the dog had been immunized.

Kissinger Asked To Intercede For Sakharov

SAN FRANCISCO (UPI) — The Bay Area Council on Soviet Jewry has urged Secretary of State Henry Kissinger to demand that Russia allow physicist Arndrei Sakharov to accept an invitation to lecture at Princeton University.

Council Chairman Harold B. Light wrote in a wire to Kissinger yesterday that Sakharov's appearance would be "a major test of Soviet intentions in detente" as specified in the U.S.-Soviet accord signed the past summer.

Light said the accords and Kissinger's "quiet diplomacy" have produced "a Soviet-sponsored war in the Middle East and increased harassment of the human rights movement in Russia.

Narcotic Charge Hearing Is Slated

Sherry Lee Kimble, 26, of San Francisco, will have a preliminary hearing Tuesday in Marin Municipal Court on a felony charge of having a forced prescription for a dangerous drug.

The woman, arrested Friday by Sausalito police, also faces a misdemeanor count of possessing a hypodermic syringe and needle. She pleaded innocent to both counts yesterday before Municipal Court Judge David R. Baty.

Acid Cloud Of Venus Is Advanced

WASHINGTON (UPI) — The brilliant tops of the dense clouds surrounding the planet Venus appear to consist of droplets of sulfuric acid.

That is the conclusion of Dr. James B. Pollack, of NASA's Ames Research Center, Mountain View, and it agrees with suggestions of other researchers.

They have said sulfuric acid solutions could account for the low amount of water vapor seen near the cloud tops.

Pollack's fidings, reported yesterday by the space agency, were based on telescopic observations made from a specially equipped high flying jet.

Pollack matched the spectrum of infrared sunlight reflected from Venus with computer-generated spectra derived from laboratory studies of various possible cloud constituents, and only sulfuric acid matched. He said the acid concentrations are at least 75 per cent—stronger than the acid in a car battery.

No Benefit Loss For Guardsmen

WASHINGTON (UPI) — The Pentagon said yesterday that firms employing 50 per cent of the 82 million working people in the country have now promised their employees will not lose out on vacation time or promotion opportunities by membership in the National Guard and Reserves.

J. M. Roche, former board chairman of General Motors, heads the committee which has been seeking the pledges for the past 12 months. He said he is also asking employers to make up the difference between an employee's regular pay and his smaller military salary while on active duty.

While it is not part of the pledge, Roche said "far more than half" of the firms signing on had agreed to do so.

Strauss Changes His Thinking

LAS VEGAS, Nev. (UPI) — Making the switch from practicing law to politics required changes in his thinking, Robert Strauss, national Democratic Party chairman, said yesterday.

"In our law firm we hire secretaries who can type 80 words a minute—and in politics they have to be able to erase 80 words a minute," he said.

'Bloodsport' Is Good Portrayal Of Football

NEW YORK (AP) — At about this time of year, we get mighty sick of anything involving televised football. It's a glut on the market. But we have to make an exception tonight for a football movie.

It's called "Bloodsport," is on ABC-TV and studies the pressure of high school football stardom when said stardom only aims at college and pro ball and the subsequent good life such can offer.

You ought to watch this 90-minute show, particularly if you have a better-than-average high school footballer in the family and especially if he dreams of playing college and pro ball some day.

The movie, featuring Ben Johnson as the father of a teenager groomed from childhood for football stardom, isn't one of those flailing indictments of the game that usually come equipped with sniggering locker-room banter about sex and beer busts.

It's instead an intelligent look at growing up in small town football and is as understated and low-key as "The Last Picture Show" that earned Johnson an Oscar a few years back.

In "Bloodsport," Johnson plays a basically decent man who works with his older son at a local factory; his obsessive dream is to keep his youngest son out of the factory and in the football limelight.

The boy, sensitively portrayed by Gary Busey, is softspoken, modest and a good student. But like his father, he believes only in the power of the pigskin.

He sums it up after the sympathetic factory owner, asking if he hasn't other ambitions, points out that thousands of excellent high school footballers never made the professional ranks.

"Well, what you say is probably true," the kid replies. "But I can't let myself think that way. I mean, my grades are okay, but I'm not winning any scholarships because of them.

"Football is the only way I'm going to make it. Otherwise, I'm going to be working in your factory alongside my brother and father."

And he's pushed in this goal of winning by his gum-chewing, hard-charging, prayer-spouting coach — Larry Hagman — who's the sort who encourages the victim of a broken leg to run until the pain eases.

The dream starts falling apart when the youth is invited to a college campus — and finds himself amid 36 other high school prospects, 15 of them star quarterbacks like himself.

But the reality of football mania doesn't fully hit him until near the end of a winning season, when a gasping, grossly obese teammate drops dead, apparently from an undetected heart condition, during a grueling practice session.

The fact of the lad's death only is used as another reason to win the Big Game. It's noted at a school pep rally amid cheers, a victory prayer from the coach, a blare of brass and a bonfire in which past opponents are burned in effigy.

"Bloodsport," filmed in Woodland, has the small town football scene down to a T and rings true nearly all the time.

Where do you want the freezer in your new Amana refrigerator...

on the side? on the bottom? on the top?
Amana gives you a choice
If you want your zero degree freezer on the side, there's the Amana Side-by-Side. Or you can have it on the top or the bottom. They're all Free-O-Frost in both the refrigerator and freezer.
And every Amana has two independent temperature controls, one for the freezer, one for the refrigerator. There's a "refrigerator-within-a-refrigerator" that keeps meat fresh up to twice as long as an ordinary meat keeper. And a high-humidity compartment that keeps vegetables fresh up to three weeks.
Come and look at the choices Amana has for you. Then choose the one you want from gold, avocado, coppertone or white.

FAMINE PROBLEM — Tegre and Wallo provinces in northern Ethiopa are suffering severe famines, with starvation deaths numbering in the tens of thousands.

(Christian Science Monitor map by Tom Brown)

Thousands Are Starving In Ethiopian Provinces

By HENRY S. HAYWARD
The Christian Science Monitor
News Service

NAIROBI, Kenya — Ethiopia remains reluctant to admit the extent of the famine rural people in its northern provinces have been facing.

This reluctance is attributed by outsiders first to a strong sense of national pride and second to fear on the part of Ethiopian officials of accepting blame for their handling of food distribution.

Recent visitors to Ethiopia point out the contrast between the ample stocks of food on display in the stores of Addis Ababa and the critical shortages still existing in the northern countryside, where up to two million people are starving.

The lowest estimate on the dead is between 10,000 and 20,000 persons, while one United Nations report put the figure at between 50,000 and 100,000.

Despite these reports, Ethiopian officials still tend to play down the dimensions of the crisis. One such official arriving in Nairobi thanked the Kenya people for their contribution of foodstuffs but gave the impression the situation was under control.

A three-year failure of the rains is basically responsible, although historic poverty, poor communications, and primitive farming methods also contributed.

The first year of drought, the farmers ate their food surpluses and emergency storage items in the expectation that the next year would enable them to replace these stores.

The second year, they ate their seed grain and began selling or eating their cattle and livestock, which were dying from lack of food and water, anyhow.

The third year, most of the remainder of the livestock were finished by drought or slaughtered for food by starving residents, and widespread starvation ensued.

Aside from Kenya's contribution, not much of the expected foreign aid has yet arrived in Ethiopia. Deliveries in some cases are believed to have been delayed by Mideast war dislocations and fuel shortages.

Freedom Is New Word In Fashion

The fashion news is out for the season, anything goes for women from smooth and slinky satin to recycled blue jeans, for the day or night life. The fashion world has tumbled over in this new rush of fashion ideas. Women all over the world are enjoying more freedom which is obvious in their manner of dress.

For the American women who are totally involved in at-home activities in addition to clubs and occupations, the new and relaxed image in pantsuits and coordinates make her everyday busy schedule more viable. This is especially true of the holiday season when she is at her busiest.

Several of the various business owners in Strawberry's Town & Country Village, Mill Valley, were consulted about the fashion trends during this Christmas-winter season, and if fashion trends in Marin were a reflection of what's happening across the US and in Europe.

Fashion news from the Little Daisy manager, Patty Marsh, and Littlechix manager, Lee Pearson, was all about denim.

Recycled denim sewn into skirts, long and short, patchwork outfits, sequined jackets, purses and tops. "Denim is especially brightened with anything that sparkles or glitters, and can easily be worn during a day of Christmas shopping or out to a fast paced party," reports Mrs. Pearson. She also indicated that corduory which has been recycled will also become popular due to the over demand on denim material. Littlechix carries many styles for the petite sizes 3 through 13.

"The current women's fashion trend," says Miss Marsh of Little Daisy, "is the '40s look, and has hit the US both east coast and west at approximately the same time."

She also reports that emphasis in dress is also on the variety of top designs from sequin details to low cut halter style worn with the new wooden bead look in jewelry.

The 1940 styles are also being carried through in maternity wear reported Motherhood Maternity in Town & Country Village. They indicate that low-cut necklines on long skirted, lame dresses are very popular now. For the clothes-aware mother-to-be, coordinates are recommended as the most versatile because of the many events planned for the holidays.

In footwear fashion Village Shoe Den owner, Ed Nahigan, reported that thick, chunky, round-toed shoes are definitely worn more frequently now during day and evening both. He said that with the taboos lifted on all of the what-to-wear-when styles; shoes have followed suit. Navy and brown in natural chunky leathers, clogs in a variety of styles, and ankle laced styles are all extremely popular, and have replaced the boot-look, wearing comfortably and well with the new looks in fashion design.

John Statzer, buyer and co-owner of King's Closet, one of the only stores in Marin which caters to the big and tall man, said that the Gatsby look has found popularity with the oversized person.

King's Closet suggests that the tall man looks exceptionally good in the Gatsby look due to the straight cut of the pants pocket. Because of the fashion awareness of the big or tall man, Art Vogue San Francisco 1932 will soon make available a new and exciting shirt line in a light knit. King's Closet will be the exclusive retailer of the shirt in Marin.

To complete the fasion trends for the season, Mrs. Virginia Farlatti, co-owner of the Golden Strawberry Beauty Salon, was consulted about new hair styles. She reports that the trends are strongly away from the long, straight hair so recently observed. Curls, slicks, the blower cut page boy, and the bouncy look of the feather cut are now popular. Many of these new styles look charming with the polo jackets or fur trimmed coats now worn by many women, she said.

Mrs. Farlatti recommends the new body wave, Redken's Trichoperm, as one of the best of the busy life of the Christmas woman.

BEAUTY QUEEN IS A WORKING GIRL

Terri Banducci pours an aromatic blend of coffee beans into the oversized coffee grinder which sits in the Caravansary, the coffee, tea and spice store in Strawberry's Town & Country Village. The Caravansary, in addition to fresh coffee blends, carries many items to help stock the gourmet's holiday kitchen larder. Terri won a free vacation to Mexico when she qualified as Miss Mexico City in 1972.

MAKE CHRISTMAS MORE EXCITING

The Christmas season is rapidly becoming a popular vacation time of year. Many singles and families are escaping the often hectic rush of Christmas and are enjoying better seasonal rates in many places of the world. However, Talbot of Tiburon, southern Marin travel experts in Strawberry's Town & Country Village, reports many popular resort spots such as Aspen are heavily booked at this time but cruises on the Island Princess to Hawaii or Mexico cruises are still available. Lois Ehrenfeld enjoys the sun deckside instead of busily working at James Sears of Marin.

THE CONTINENTAL LOOK

The new French look in pants is worn by Betty Heyman, co-owner of Gigi's Inc., in Strawberry Town & Country Village. She chose the no-crease pants to be worn with a black print blouse in acrylic knit. Her vest is hand crocheted exclusively for Gigi's in a bright yellow, open-work, diamond pattern — a contemporary fashion look for the holidays.

King's Closet Helps Fit Big And Tall

For the family who wonders where to purchase clothing gifts for Christmas that will fit the big and tall men in their family, the problem has recently been solved.

Recently a new business was opened in the Strawberry Town & Country village called King's Closet, run by John Statzer, David Williams and Knut Noraas. They report that it is the only store of its kind in Marin that specializes in casual clothes by such big brand name manufacturers as Arrow, MacGregor, Van Heusen, Levi, etc., for big and tall men.

Mrs. Dorothy Shollenberger, owner of Queen's Closet locations in Petaluma and Santa Rosa, offers fashionable fitting of the "extra-sized" women in Northern California, and helped establish King's Closet.

President of this new firm is Statzer who, after completion of his academic work at California State Polytechnic University, decided to follow his family's tradition in the clothing business.

Noraas, born in St. Louis and currently living in Mill Valley, after discharge from the Air Force, became a partner in the King's Closet and serves as secretary-treasurer.

TULSA, Okla. (UPI) — Carl Albert of Oklahoma, at the age of 63, became the first Speaker of the U.S. House of Representatives to be born in the 20th Century.

DRESSING FOR HOLIDAYS

Dressed warmly for the winter months ahead, Frank Rudolph gets a free push in his fire engine by sister, Lauren. Both children recently visited Patton's Children's Clothing and Toys in Town & Country Village to select their outfits, and think over what toys they might find in their Christmas stockings this year.

She's Loyal To American Flags

NEW YORK (UPI) — Big city vignette:

Elderly lady, at stamp window of post iffice: "Fifty 8-cent stamps, please—the ones with the American flag."

Clerk: "Don't have any flags right now, but here's 50 8-cent stamps. What's the difference?"

Elderly lady: "Most of my mail goes to relatives in Poland. I want them to see the flag that has done so much for me."

Clerk: "Wait a minute. ("Hey"—to clerk at next window — "got any flag stamps?") Here you are lady, 50 flag stamps. Thank you."

CHARMING AND STYLISH

Warm winter wool takes us back many years to the natural fabrics. Jayne Martin, model for the Littlechix Shop in Strawberry's Town & Country Village, wears a delightfully large plaid, high waist skirt. The plaid is in Christmas colors of dark red and green on white. It is accented by her dark velvet green jacket worn over a white turtleneck sweater. Wooden beads complement the outfit. Littlechix is one of the few stores in Marin which carries petite sizes three through nine.

Reduce Traffic Jams For Saving Of Fuel

TITUSVILLE, Pa. (UPI) — One billion gallons of auto fuel —1 per cent of total vehicle gas consumption—could be saved each year by eliminating traffic bottlenecks and resulting tieups, according to an oil company executive.

John P. Wendell, executive vice president of United Refining Co., told a transportation group here that "gasoline-wasting urban traffic jams represent the largest single untapped area of potential fuel savings."

Pearls Make An Exciting Gift

The beauty and tradition of gifts of pearls begins with the mystery and timelessness of the sea.

Leo Bell, owner of deBeau's Jewelry and Fine Gifts, reports some of the story behind the cultivation and supply of cultured pearls:

Cultured pearls are produced by living oysters grown on undersea "farms" located along sheltered, coastal bays. Pearl farms have been developed primarily in the southwestern waters off Japan, Australia, Burma, Okinawa and other South Pacific areas.

A pearl is formed when an irritating foreign object, such as a grain of sand, becomes logged next to the soft body of the mollusk. The irritating object becomes coated with secretions called nacre or mother-of-pearl. Only pearl oysters secrete a nacre so pure as to produce a valued gem.

Bell suggests following some of the rules when selecting pearls:

Look for a high lustre in the pearl.

Color does not necessarily affect cost, but size does. However, a fine quality, small pearl can often cost more than a medium quality, larger sized pearl.

"Pearl necklaces, for example, are a careful blend of pearls which appear to look alike in color, lustre and size," Bell said.

AN EXCELLENT STYLE

Little Daisy in Strawberry's Town & Country Village has selected a variety of styles and textures in party-coordinates for their patrons. One of the ever popular styles is worn by Michelle Fairlie, a San Rafael resident. It is a long, eye-dazzling, black and silver dress by Arjon. The patterned blouse bodice contrasts nicely with the fluidity of the long skirt.

MATERNITY FASHION WORLD

Mrs. Joanne Golyn of Larkspur has selected this long, blue dress of polyester for the Christmas evening party scene. Manager of the Motherhood Maternity store in Strawberry's Town & Country Village, Sonja Morais, states that expectant women will look their best this year due to the ew and exciting styles designed especially for them.

Communes Get Medical Aid

SAN FRANCISCO (UPI) — The University of California's School of Nursing is providing hippie communes with medical information by means of a small camper truck manned by three women.

It's called the "Traveling Medicine Show" and provides reading matter, films and slides but not health care itself.

So far the van has visited more than 100 communes in rural areas between Big Sur and Mendocino County.

New, Old Holiday Gifts

Exciting quadraphonic sound recordings are now available to the public.

Jane Zoslaw of Marin Music Center in Strawberry's Town & Country Village recommends a gift of music for any family member as a perpetual gift of enjoyment, and that quadraphonic records may also be played on standard stereo systems.

For a gift in keeping with the current energy crisis, and especially for the man of the house, Peter Straube, owner of Town & Country Village TV, suggests a popular item now marketed, a rechargeable, battery powered television. It is a portable model in black and white, and many people have been buying it to help conserve energy use at home.

For the children a fine selection of new educational toys are on the market. Emphasis in the toy field is now on learning, developing creativity, and, of course, safety.

"A new doll on the market," says the owner of Patton's Toys and Clothing, "is Baby Alive. She does almost everything a real child does including requiring a change of diapers."

Also, she reports a tip to the safety conscious is to read the instructions accompanying every toy and select a gift from only those recommended for the age group the gift is intended for.

Food is also a traditional gift especially the gift packs of food. Bob Lee has announced a new cheese — grapine — is being gift packed at Hickory Farms of Ohio in Town & Country Village. He said that is a sherry wine flavored cheese for dessert, and recommends serving it with liquer or with in-season fruit.

Peter Sterner was consulted at Decorator Waterbeds concerning the gift to give young marrieds or the single person who is furnishing a new apartent. He suggests a fun Christmas gift would be a poof chair which is available in a variety of materials including fur.

For the person you think has everything, a visit to collectors' corner will be of interest to the gift giver. This business recently opened in the Village and carries many unique and unusual gifts such an antique jewelry, gem stones, signs of the Zodiac, and oil paintings and watercolors.

Of course, if you are in doubt, candy and flowers are sentimental gifts — always cherished for their special connotations. The Village Sweet Shoppe carries a wide variety of homemade assorted candies.

Confusing Food Claims Are Made

BERKELEY, Calif. (UPI) — A University of California scientist warned that confusing and conflicting claims being made by unqualified people make it amost impossible for the consumer to know what good nutrition is.

Dr. George M. Briggs of the Berkeley Campus' Nutritional Sciences Department advised consumers to contact local public health officials and community medical associations when in need of sound nutritional advice.

Post Office Is Urging: 'Mail Early'

Trying to help during the energy crisis as much as possible, shop owners such as Bob Lee of Hickory Farms of Ohio are urging customers to mail Christmas gifts as early as possible.

Each year Hickory Farms of Ohio receives many orders for their Christmas gift packs of cheeses and condiments and usually recommends early mail posting. Lee reports that Marin County post offices are now urging residents to post mail earlier than the recommended schedule on time arrival.

	Letters	Parcels
Domestic Mail (except Alaska and Hawaii)
Surface	Dec. 15	Dec. 10
Airmail	Dec. 20	Dec. 20
Alaska and Hawaii
Surface	Dec. 15	Nov. 30
Airmail	Dec. 20	Dec. 20

Specific mailing information for foreign mailing and APO-FPO's may be obtained at substation office.

The Tillamook Fire

TILLAMOOK, Ore. (UPI) — August marked the 40th anniversary of one of the West's most famous forest fires—the Tillamook Burn. Starting on Aug. 14, 1933, the fire burned 40,000 acres within 10 days. After it was brought almost under control, the blaze erupted again and in total burned 310,000 acres.
